R E A D E R.

Believe I have attempted a branch of Cookery, which nobody has yet thought worth their while to write upon: but as I have both seen, and sound, by experience, that the generality of servants are greatly wanting in that point, therefore I have taken upon me to instruct them in the best manner I am capable; and, I dare say, that every servant who can but read will be capable of making a tolerable good cook, and those who have the least notion of Cookery cannot miss of being very good ones.

If I have not wrote in the high polite style, I hope I shall be forgiven; for my intention is to instruct the lower sort, and therefore must treat them in their own way. For example: when I bid them lard a fowl, if I should bid them lard with large lardoons, they would not know what I meant; but when I say they must lard with little pieces of bacon, they know what I mean. So, in many other things in Cookery, the great cooks bave such a high way of expresfing themselves, that the poor girls are at a loss to know what they mean: and in all Receipt Books yet printed, there are such an odd jumble of things as would quite spoil a good dish; and indeed some things so extravagant, that it would be almost a shame to make use of them, when a dish can be made full as good, or better, without them. For example: when you entertain ten or twelve people, you shall use for a cuilis, a leg of veal and ham; which, with the other ingredients, makes it very expensive, and all this only to mix with other fauce. And again, the effence of ham for fauce to one dish; when I will prove it, for about three shillings I will make as rich and high a sauce as all that will be, when done, for example:

A 2 Take

Take a large deep stew pan, half a pound of bacon, fat and lean together, cut the fat and lay it over the bottom of the pan; then take a pound of veal, cut it into thin flices, beat it well with the back of a knife. lay it all over the bacon; then have fix pennyworth of the coarse lean part of the beef cut thin and well beat, lay a layer of it all over, with some carrot, then the lean of the bacon cut thin and laid over that: then cut two onions and strew over, a bundle of sweet-herbs, four or five blades of mace, fix or feven cloves, a fpoonful of whole pepper, black and white together, half a nutmeg beat, a pigeon beat all to pieces, lay that all over, half an ounce of truffles and morels, then the rest of your keef, a good crust of bread toasted very brown and dry on both fides: you may add an old cock beat to pieces; cover it close, and let it stand over a flow fire two or three minutes, then pour on boiling water enough to fill the pan, cover it close, and let it stew till it is as rich anyou would have it, and then strain off all that sauce. Put all your ingredients together again, fill the pan with boiling water, put in a fresh onion, a blade of mace, and a piece of carrot; cover it close, and let it sew till it is as strong as you want it. This will be full as good as the effence of ham for all forts of fowls, or indeed most made-dishes, mixed with a glass of wine, and two or three spoonfuls of catchup. When your first gravy is cool, skim off all the fat, and keep it for use.-This falls far short of the extreme of a leg of veal and bam, and answers every purpose you want.

If you go to market, the ingredients will not come to above half a crown, or for about eighteen-pence you may make as much good gravy as will serve twenty people.

Take twelve penny worth of coarse lean beef, which will be fix or seven pounds, cut it all to pieces, flour it well, take a quarter of a pound of good butter, put it into a little pot or large deep stew-pan, and put in your beef: keep stirring it, and when it begins to look a little brown, pour in a pint of boiling water; stir it all together, put in a large onion, a bundle of sweet fweet herbs, two or three blades of mace, five or fix cloves, a spoonful of whole pepper, a crust of bread toasted, and a piece of carrot; then pour in four or five quarts of water, stir all together, cover close, and let it stew till it is as rich as you would have it; when enough, strain it off, mix it with two or three spoonfuls of catchup, and half a pint of white wine; then put all the ingredients together again, and put in two quarts of boiling water, cover it close, and let it boil till there is about a pint; strain it off well, add it to the first, and give it a boil together. This will make a great deal of rich good gravy.

You may leave out the wine, according to what use you want it for; so that really one might have a genteel entertainment, for the price the sauce of one dish comes to: but if gentlemen will have French cooks, they must pay for French tricks.

A Frenchman in his own country will dress a fine dinner of the enty dishes, and all genteel and pretty, for the expence he will put an English lord to for dressing one dish. But then there is the little petty prosit. I have beard of a cook that used six pounds of butter to fry twelve eggs; when every body knows (that understands cooking) that half a pound is full enough, or more than need be used: but then it would not be French. So much is the blind folly of this age, that they would rather be imposed on by a French booby, than give encouragement to a good English cook!

I doubt I shall not gain the esteem of those gentlemen; bowever, let that be as it will, it little concerns me; but should I be so bappy as to gain the good opinion of my own sex, I desire no more; that will be full recompence for all my trouble; and I only beg the favour of every lady to read my Book throughout before they censure me, and then I statter myself I shall have their approbation.

I shall not take upon me to meddle in the physical way farther than two receipts, which will be of use to the public in general: one is for the bite of a mad dog: and the other, if a man should be near where the plague is, be A 3 shall shall be in no danger; which, if made use of, would be found of very great service to those who go abroad.

Nor shall I take upon me to direct a lady in the according of her family; for every mistress does, or at least ought to know, what is most proper to be done there; therefore I shall not fill my Book with a deal of nonsense of that kind, which I am very well assured none will have regard to.

I have indeed given some of my dishes French names to distinguish them, because they are known by those names: and where there is great variety of dishes and a large table to cover, so there must be variety of names for them; and it matters not whether they be called by a French, Dutch, or English name, so they are good, and done with as little expence as the dish will allow of.

I shall say no more, only bope my Book will answer the ends I intend it for; which is to improve the servants, and save the ladies a great deal of trouble.

MADE

PLAIN and EASY.

C H A P. I.

Of ROASTING, BOILING, &c.

THAT professed cooks will find fault with touching upon a branch of cookery which they never thought worth their notice, is what I expect; however, this I know, it is the most necessary part of it; and few servants there are that know how to roast and boil to perfection.

I do not pretend to teach professed cooks, but my design is to instruct the ignorant and unlearned (which will likewise be of great use in all private samilies) and in so plain and full a manner, that the most illiterate and ignorant person, who can but read, will know how to do every thing in cookery well.

I shall first begin with roast and boiled of all forts, and must defire the cook to order her fire according to what she is to dress; if any thing very little or thin, then a pretty little brisk fire, that it may be done quick and nice; if a very large joint, then be sure a good fire be laid to cake. Let it be clear at the bottom; and when your meat is half done, move the dripping-pan and spit a little from the fire, and stir up a good brisk fire; for according to the goodness of your fire, your meat will be done sooner or later.

B E E F.

If beef, be fure to paper the top, and baste it well all the time it is roasting, and throw a handful of salt on it. When you see the smoak draw to the fire, it is near enough; then take off the paper, baste it well, and drudge it with some flour to make a fine froth. Never salt your roast meat before you lay it to the fire, for that draws out all the gravy. If you would keep it a few days before you dress it, dry it very well with a clean cloth, then slour it all over, and hang it where the air will come to it; but be sure always to mind that there is no damp place about it, if there is you must dry it well with a cloth. Take up your meat, and garnish your dish with nothing but horse-radish.

MUT

The ART of COOKERY.

MUTTON and LAMB.

As to roasting of mutton; the loin, the saddle of muttons (which is the two loins) and the chine (which is the two necks) must be done as the beef above. But all other forts of mutton and lamb must be roasted with a quick clear fire, and without paper; baste it when you lay it down, and just before you take it up, drudge it with a little flour; but be sure not to use too much, for that takes away all the fine taste of the meat. Some chuse to skin a loin of mutton, and roast it brown without paper: but that you may do just as you please, but be sure always to take the skin off a breast of mutton.

V E A L.

As to veal, you must be careful to roast it of a sine brown; if a large joint, a very good fire; if a small joint a pretty little brisk fire; if a sillet or loin, be sure to paper the fat, that you lose as little of that as possible. Lay it some distance from the fire till it is soaked, then lay it near the fire. When you lay it down, baste it well with good butter, and when it is near enough, baste it again, and drudge it with a little flour. The breast you must roast with the caul on till it is enough; and skewer the sweetbread on the backside of the breast. When it is nigh enough, take off the caul, baste it, and drudge it with a little flour.

PORK.

Pork must be well done, or it is apt to surfeit. When your roast a loin, take a sharp penknife and cut the skin across to make the crackling eat the better. The chine you must not cut at The best way to roast a leg is first to par-boil it, then skin it and roast it; baste it with butter, then take a little sage shred fine, a little pepper and falt, a little nutmeg, and a few crumbs of bread; throw these over it all the time it is roading, then have a little drawn gravy to put in the dish with the crumbs that dropfrom it. Some love the knuckle stuffed with onion and fage shred fmall, with a little pepper and falt, gravy and apple fauce to it. This they call a mock goofe. The fpring, or hand of pork if very young, roasted like a pig, eats very well, otherwise it is better boiled. The sparerib should be basted with a little bit of butter, a very little dust of flour, and some sage shred small: but we never make any fauce to it but apple fauce. The best way to drefs pork grifkin is to roaft them, bafte them with a little butter and crumbs of bread, fage, and a little pepper and falt. Few eat any thing with these but mustard.

To roaft a Pig.

Spir your pig and lay it to the fire, which must be a very good one at each end, or hang a flat iron in the middle of the grate. Before you lay your pig down, take a little sage shred small, a piece of butter as big as a walnut, and a little pepper and salt; put them into the pig and sew it up with coarse thread, then flour it all over very well, and keep flouring it till the eyes drop out, or you find the crackling hard. Be sure to save all the gravy that comes out of it, which you must do by setting basons or pans under the pig in the dripping-pan, as soon as you find the gravy begins to run. When the pig is enough, stir the fire up brisk; take a coarse cloth, with about a quarter of a pound of butter in it, and rub the pig all over till the crackling is quite crisp, and then take it up. Lay it in your dish, and with a sharp knife cut off the head, and then cut the pig in two, before you draw out the spit. Cut the ears off the head and lay at each end, and cut the under jaw in two and lay on each side; melt some good butter, take the gravy you saved and put into it, boil it, and pour it into the dish with the brains brussed sine, and the sage mixed all together, and then send it to table.

Different forts of Sauce for a Pig.

Now you are to observe that there are several ways of making fauce for a pig. Some don't love any fage in the pig, only a crust of bread; but then you should have a little dried fage rubbed and mixed with the gravy and butter. Some love bread fauce in a bason; made thus: take a pint of water, put in a good piece of crumb of bread, a blade of mace, and a little whole pepper; boil it for about five or fix minutes, and then pour the water off; take out the spice, and beat up the bread with a good piece of butter. Some love a few currants boiled in it, a glass of wine, and a little fugar: but that you may do just as you like it. Others take half a pint of good beef gravy, and the gravy which comes out of the pig, with a piece of butter rolled in flour, two spoonfuls of catchup, and boil them all together; then take the brains of the pig and bruise them fine, with two eggs boiled hard and chopped; put these together, with the sage in the pig, and pour into your When you have not gravy enough dish. It is a very good sauce. comes out of your pig with the butter for fauce, take about half a pint of veal gravy and add to it: or flew the petty-toes, and take as much of that liquor as will do for fauce, mixed with the other.

To roast the hind-quarter of Pig, Lamb Fashion.

At the time of the year when house-lamb is very dear, take the hind-quarter of a large pig; take off the skin and roast it, and it will eat like lamb with mint sauce, or with sallad, or Sevilleorange. Half an hour will roast it.

To bake a Pig.

Ir you should be in a place where you cannot roast a pig, lay it in a dish, flour it all over well, and rub it over with butter, butter the dish you lay it in, and put it into an oven, when it is enough draw it out of the oven's mouth, and rub it over with a buttery cloth; then put it into the oven again till it is dry, take it out, and lay it in a dish; cut it up, take a little veal gravy, and take off the fat in the dish it was baked in, and there will be some good gravy at the bottom; put that to it, with a little piece of butter rolled in flour; boil it up, and put it into the dish with the brains and sage in the belly. Some love a pig brought whole to table, then you are only to put what sauce you like into the dish.

To

In melting of butter you must be very careful; let your saucepan be well tinned, take a spoonful of cold water, a little dust of flour, and your butter cut to pieces: be sure to keep shaking your pan one way, for sear it should oil; when it is all melted, let it boil, and it will be smooth and sine. A silver pan is best, if you have one.

To roaft Geefe, Turkies, &c.

When you roast a goose, turkey, or fowls of any sort, take care to finge them with a piece of white paper, and baste them with a piece of butter; drudge them with a little flour, and when the smoak begins to draw to the fire, and they look plump, baste them again, and drudge them with a little flour, and take them up.

Sauce for a Goofe.

For a goofe make a little good gravy, and put it into a bason by itself, and some apple-sauce in another.

Sauce for a Turkey.

For a turkey good gravy in a dish, and either bread or onion-fauce in a bason.

Sauce for Fowls.

To fowls you should put good gravy in the dish, and either bread or egg-sauce in a bason.

Sauce for Ducks.

For ducks a little gravy in the dish, and onion in a cup is liked.

Sauce for Pheafants and Partridges.

PHEASANTS and partridges should have gravy in the dish, and bread-sauce in a cup.

Sauce for Larks.

LARKS, roast them, and for sauce have crumbs of bread; done thus: take a sauce-pan or stew-pan and some butter; when melted, have a good piece of crumb of bread, and rub it in a clean cloth to crumbs, then throw it into your pan; keep stirring them about till they are brown, then throw them into a sieve to drain, and lay them round your larks.

To roaft Woodcocks and Snipes.

Put them on a little spit; take a round of a threepenny loaf and toast it brown, then lay it in a dish under the birds, baste them with a little butter, and let the trale drop on the toast. When they are roasted put the toast in the dish, lay the woodcocks on it, and have about a quarter of a pint of gravy; pour it into a dish, and set it over a lamp or chasing-dish for three minutes, and send them to table. You are to observe we never take any thing out of a woodcock or snipe,

To roaft a Pigeon.

TAKE some parsley shred sine, a piece of butter as big as a walnut, a little pepper and salt; tie the neck-end tight; tie a string round the legs and rump, and sasten the other end to the top of the chimney-piece. Baste them with butter, and when they are enough lay them in the dish, and they will swim with gravy. You may put them on a little spit, and then tie both ends close.

To broil a Pigeon.

When you broil them, do them in the same manner, and take care your fire is very clear, and set your gridiron high, that they may not burn, and have a little melted butter in a cup. You may split them, and broil them with a little pepper and salt: and you may roast them only with a little parsley and butter in a dish.

Directions for Geese and Ducks.

As to geese and ducks, you should have some sage shred fine, and a little pepper and salt, and put them into the belly; but never put any thing into wild ducks.

To roaft a Hare.

Take your hare when it is cased, and make a pudding; take a quarter of a pound of suet, and as much crumbs of bread, a little parsley shred sine, and about as much thyme as will lie on a six-pence, when shred; an anchovy shred small, a very little peoper and salt, some nutmeg, two eggs, and a little lemon-peel. Mix all these together, and put it into the hare. Sew the belly, spit it, and lay it to the fire, which must be a good one. Your dripping-pan must be very clean and nice. Put in two quarts of milk and half a pound of butter into the pan: keep bassing it all the while it is roassing, with the butter and milk, till the whole is used, and your hare will be enough. You may mix the liver in the pudding, if you like it. You must first parboil it, and then chop it sine.

Different sorts of Sauce for a Hare.

Take for fauce, a pint of cream and half a pound of fresh butter; put them in a fauce-pan, and keep stirring it with a spoon till the butter is melted, and the fauce is thick; then take up the hare, and pour the sauce into the dish. Another way to make sauce for a hare, is to make good gravy, thickened with a little piece of butter rolled in slour, and pour it into your dish. You may leave the butter out, if you don't like it, and have some currant jelly warmed in a cup, or red wine and sugar boiled to syrup; done thus: take half a pint of red wine, a quarter of a pound of sugar, and set over a slow sire to simmer for about a quarter of an hour. You may do half the quantity, and put it into your sauce-boat or bason.

To broil Steaks.

First have a very clear brisk fire: let your gridiron be very clean; put it on the fire, and take a chassing-dish with a few hot coals out of the fire. Put the dish on it which is to lay your steaks on, then take fine rump steaks about half an inch thick; put a little pepper and salt on them, lay them on the gridiron, and (if you like it) take a shalot or two, or a sine onion and cut it sine; put it into your dish. Don't turn your steaks till one side is done, then when you turn the other side there will soon be sine gravy lie on the top of the steak, which you must be careful not to lofe. When the steaks are enough, take them carefully off into your dish, that none of the gravy be lost; then have ready a hot dish and cover, and carry them hot to table, with the cover on,

Directions concerning the Sauce for Steaks.

If you have pickles or horfe-radish with steaks, never garnish your dish, because both the garnishing will be dry, and the steaks will be cold, but lay those things on little plates, and carry to table. The great nicety is to have them hot and full of gravy.

General directions concerning Broiling,

As to mutton or pork steaks, you must keep them turning quick on the gridiron, and have your dish ready over a chasing-dish of hot coals, and carry them to table covered hot. When you broil fowls or pigeons, always take care your fire is clear; and never baste any thing on the gridiron, for it only makes it smoked and burnt.

General directions concerning Boiling.

As to all forts of boiled meats, allow a quarter of an hour trevery pound; be fure the pot is very clean, and skim it well, for every thing will have a scum rise, and if that boils down it makes the meat black. All sorts of fresh meat you are to put in when the water boils, but salt meat when the water is cold.

To boil a Ham.

When you boil a ham, put it into a copper, if you have one; let it be about three or four hours before it boils, and keep it well ikimmed all the time; then if it is a small one, one hour and a half will boil it, after the copper begins to boil; and if a large one; two hours will do; for you are to consider the time it it has been heating in the water, which softens the ham, and makes it boil the sooner.

To boil a Tongue.

A TONGUE, if salt, put it in the pot over night, and don't let it boil till about three hours before dinner, and then boil all that three hours; if fresh out of the pickle, two hours, and put it in when the water boils,

To boil Fowls and House-Lamb.

Fowns and house-lamb boil in a pot by themselves, in a good deal of water, and if any scum arises take it off. They will be both sweeter and whiter than if boiled in a cloth. A little chicken will be done in sisteen minutes, a large chicken in twenty minutes, a good fowl in half an hour, a little turkey or goose in an hour, and a large turkey in an hour and a half.

Sauce for a boiled Turkey.

The best sauce to a boiled turkey is this: take a little water, or mutton gravy, if you have it, a blade of mace, an onion, a little bit of thyme, a little bit of lemon-peel, and an anchovey; boil all these together, strain them through a sieve, melt some butter and add to them, fry a few sausages and lay round the dish. Garnish your dish with lemon.

Sauce for a boiled Goofe.

SAUCE for a boiled goose must be either onions or cabbages, first boiled, and then stewed in butter for five minutes.

Sauce for boiled Ducks or Rabbits.

To boiled ducks or rabbite, you must pour boiled onions over them, which do thus; take the onions, peel them, and boil them in a great deal of water; shift your water, then let them boil about two hours, take them up and throw them into a cullender to drain. then with a knife chop them on a board; put them into a faucepan, just shake a little flour over them, put in a little milk or cream, with a good piece of butter; fet them over the fire, and when the butter is melted they are enough. But if you would have onion-fauce in half an hour, take your onions, peel them, and cut them in thin flices, put them into milk and water, and when the water boils they will be done in twenty minutes, then throw them into a cullender to drain, and chop them and put' them into a fauce-pan; shake in a little flour, with a little cream if you have it, and a good piece of butter; stir all together over the fire till the butter is melted, and they will be very fine. This fauce is very good with roast mutton, and it is the best way of boiling onions.

To roaft Venison.

TAKE a haunch of venison, and spit it. Take four sheets of white paper, butter them well, and roll about your venison, then tie your paper on with a small string, and baste it very well all the time it is roasting. If your fire is very good and brisk, two hours will do it; and, if a small haunch, an hour and a half. The neck and shoulder must be done in the same manner, which will take an hour and a half, and when it is enough take off the paper, and drudge it with a little flour just to make a froth; but you must be very quick, for fear the fat should melt. You must not put any sauce in the dish but what comes out of the meat, but have some very good gravy and put in your sauce-boat or bason. You must always have a sweet sauce with your venison in another bason. If it is a large haunch, it will take two hours and a half.

Different forts of Sauce for Venison.

You may take either of these sauces for venison. Currant jelly warmed; or half a pint of red wine, with a quarter of a pound of sugar, simmered over a clear fire for sive or six minutes: or half a pint of vinegar, and a quarter of a pound of sugar, simmered till it is a syrup.

To reast Mutton, Venison Fashion.

TAKE a hind-quarter of fat mutton, and cut the leg like a haunch; lay it in a pan with the backfide of it down, pour a bottle of red wine over it, and let it lie twenty-four hours, then spit it, and baste it with the same liquor and butter all the time it is roasting at a good quick fire, and an hour and a half will do it. Have a little good gravy in a cup, and sweet sauce in another. A good fat neck of mutton eats finely done thus.

To keep Venison or Hares sweet; or to make them fresh when they slink.

Ir your venison be very sweet, only dry it with a cloth, and hang it where the air comes. If you would keep it any time, dry it very well with clean cloths, rub it all over with beaten ginger, and hang it in an airy place, and it will keep a great while. If it stinks, or is musty, take some lukewarm water, and wash it clean: then take fresh milk and water lukewarm, and wash it again; then dry it in clean cloths very well, and rub it all over with beaten ginger, and hang it in an airy place. When you roast it, you need only wipe it with a clean cloth, and paper it, as before-mentioned. Never do any thing else to venison, for all other things spoil your venison, and take away the sine slavour, and this preserves it better than any thing you can do. A hare you may manage just the same way.

To roaft a Tongue or Udder.

PARBOIL it first, then roast it, stick eight or ten cloves about it; baste it with butter, and have some gravy and sweet sauce. An udder eats very well done the same way.

To roast Rabbits

BASTE them with good butter, and drudge them with a little flour. Half an hour will do them, at a very quick clear fire, and, if they are very small, twenty minutes will do them. Take the liver, with a little bunch of parsley, and boil them, and then chop them very fine together. Melt some good butter, and put half the liver and parsley into the butter; pour it into the dish, and garnish the dish with the other half. Let your rabbits be done of a fine light brown.

To roast a Rabbit Hare Fashion.

LARD a rabbit with bacon; roast it as you do a hare, and it eats very well. But then you must make gravy-sauce; but if you don't lard it, white sauce.

Turkics, Pheafants, &c. may be larded,

You may lard a turkey or pheasant, or any thing, just as you like it.

To roast a Fowl Pheasant Fashion.

Ir you should have but one pheasant, and want two in a dish, take a large full-grown fowl, keep the head on, and truss it just as you do a pheasant; lard with bacon, but don't lard the pheasant, and nobody will know it.

RULES to be observed in ROASTING.

In the first place, take great care the spit be very clean; and be sure to clean it with nothing but sand and water. Wash it clean, and wipe it with a dry cloth; for oil, brick-dust, and such thinks will spoil you meat.

B E E F

To roast a piece of beef about ten pounds will take an hour and a half, at a good fire. Twenty pounds weight will take three hours, if it be a thick piece; but if it be a thin piece of twenty pounds pounds weight, two hours and a half will do it; and fo on according to the weight of your meet, more or less. Observe, in frosty weather your beef will take half an hour longer.

MUTTON.

A leg of mutton of fix pounds will take an hour at a quick fire; if frosty weather an hour and a quarter; nine pounds an hour and a half, a leg of twelve pound will take two hours: if frosty two hours and a half; a large saddle of mutton will take an hour and a half, and so on, according to the size; a breast will take half an hour at a quick fire; a neck, if large, an hour; if very small, little better than half an hour, a shoulder much about the same time as a leg.

PORK.

Pork must be well done. To every pound allow a quarter of an hour: for example; a joint of twelve pounds weight three hours, and so on; if it be a thin piece of that weight, two hours will roast it.

Directions concerning Beef, Mutton, and Pork:

These three you may baste with fine nice dripping. Be sure your fire be very good and brisk; but don't lay your meat too near the fire, for fear of burning or scorching.

VEAL.

VEAL takes much the fame time roafting as pork; but the functo paper the fat of a loin or fillet, and batte your veal with good butter.

HOUSE-LAMB.

Ir a large fore-quarter, an hour and a half; if a finall one, an hour. The out-fide must be papered, basted with good butter, and you must have a very quick fire. If a leg, about three quarters of an hour; a neck, a breast or shoulder, three quarters of an hour; if very small, ha f an hour will do.

A PIG.

If just killed, an hour; if killed the day before, an hour and a quarter; if a very large one, an hour and a half. But the best way to judge, is when the eyes drop out, and the skin is grown very hard; then you must rub it with a coarse cloth, with a good piece of butter rolled in it, till the crackling is crisp and of a fine light brown.

A HARE.

You must have a quick fire. If it be a small hare, put three pints of milk and half a pound of fresh butter in the dripping-pan, which must be very clean and nice; if a large one, two quarts of milk and half a pound of fresh butter. You must baste your hare well with this all the time it is roasting; and when the hare has soaked up all the butter and milk it will be enough.

ATURKET.

A middling turkey will take an hour; a very large one, an hour and a quarter; a fmall one, three quarters of an hour. You must must paper the breast till it is near done enough, then take the paper off and froth it up. Your fire must be very good.

OBSERVE the same rules.

FOWLS.

A large fowl, three quarters of an hour; a middling one, half an hour; very small chickens, twenty minutes. Your fire must be very quick and clear when you lay them down.

TAMEDUCKS.

OBSERVE the fame rules.

WILD DUCKS.

TEN minutes at a very quick fire will do them; but if you love them well done, a quarter of an hour.

TEAL, WIGEON, &c

OBSERVE the fame rules.

WOODCOCKS, SNIPES, and PARTRIDGES,

THEY will take twenty minutes.

PIGEONS and LARKS,

THEY will take fifteen minutes

Directions concerning Poultry.

Ir your fire is not very quick and clear when you lay your poultry down to roaft, it will not eat near fo fweet, or look fo beautiful to the eye.

To keep Meat hot.

The best way to keep meat hot, if it be done before your company is ready, is to set the dish over a pan of boiling water; cover the dish with a deep cover so as not to touch the meat, and throw a cloth over all. Thus you may keep your meat hot a long time, and it is better than over-roasting and spoiling the meat. The steam of water keeps the meat hot, and don't draw the gravy out, or dry it up; whereas if you set a dish of meat any time over a chasing-dish of coals, it will dry up all the gravy, and spoil the meat.

To dress GREENS, ROOTS, &c.

ALWAYS be very careful that your greens be nicely picked and washed. You should lay them in a clean pan, for fear of sand or dust, which is apt to hang round wooden vessels. Boil all your greens in a copper sauce-pan by themselves, with a great quantity of water. Boil no meat with them, for that discolours them. Use no iron pans, &c. for they are not proper; but let them be copper, brass, or filver.

To drefs Spinach.

Pick it very clean, and wash it in five or fix waters; put it in a sauce-pan that will just hold it, throw a little salt over it, and cover the pan close. Don't put any water in, but shake the pan often. You must put your sauce-pan on a clear quick fire. As soon as you find the greens are shrunk and fallen to the bottom.

and that the liquor which comes out of them boils up, they are enough. Throw them into a clean fieve to drain, and just give them a little squeeze. Lay them in a plate, and never put any butter on it, but put it in a cup.

To drefs Cabbages, &c.

CABBAGE, and all forts of young sprouts, must be boiled in a great deal of water. When the stalks are tender, or fall to the bottom, they are enough; then take them off, before they lose their colour. Always throw salt in your water before you put your greens in. Young sprouts you send to table just as they are, but cabbage is best chopped and put into a sauce-pan with a good piece of butter, stirring it for about sive or six minutes, till the butter is melted, and then send it to table.

To drefs Carrots.

LET them be fcraped very clean, and when they are enough rub them in a clean cloth, then flice them into a plate, and pour fome melted butter over them. If they are young fpring carrots, half an hour will boil them; if large, an hour; but old Sandwich carrots will take two hours.

To drefs Turnips.

They eat best boiled in the pot, and when enough take them out and put them in a pan and mash them with butter and a little salt, and send them to table. But you may do them thus: pare your turnips, and cut them into dice, as big as the top of one's singer, put them into a clean sauce-pan, and just cover them with water. When enough, throw them into a sieve to drain, and put them into a sauce-pan with a good piece of butter; stir them over the sire for sive or six minutes, and send them to table.

To drefs Parsnips.

THEY should be boiled in a great deal of water, and when you find they are soft (which you will know by running a fork into them) take them up, and carefully scrape all the dirt off them, and then with a knife scrape them all fine, throwing away all the slicky parts; then put them into a sauce-pan with some milk, and stir them over the fire till they are thick. Take care they don't burn, and add a good piece of butter and a little salt, and when the butter is melted send them to table.

To drefs Brockala.

STRIP all the little branches off till you come to the top one, then with a knife peel off all the outside skin, which is on the stalks and little branches, and throw them into water. Have a stew-pan of water with some salt in it: when it boils put in some brockala, and when the stalks are tender it is enough, then send it to table with butter in a cup. The French cat oil and vinegar with it.

To drefs Potatoes.

You must boil them in as little water as you can, without burning the sauce-pan. Cover the sauce-pan close, and when the kin begins to crack they are enough. Drain all the water out, and and let them stand covered for a minute or two; then peel them, lay them in your plate, and pour some melted butter over them. The best way to do them is, when they are peeled to lay them on a gridiron till they are of a fine brown, and send them to table. Another way is to put them into a sauce-pan with some good beef dripping, cover them close, and shake the sauce-pan often for sear of burning to the bottom. When they are of a fine brown and crisp, take them up in a plate, then put them into another for sear of the sat, and put butter in a cup.

To dress Caulistowers

Take your flowers, cut off all the green part, and then cut the flowers into four, and lay them into water for an hour: then have some milk and water boiling, put in the cauliflowers, and be sure to skim the sauce-pan well. When the stalks are tender, take them carefully up, and put them into a cullender to drain: then put a spoonful of water into a clean stew-pan with a little dust of flour, about a quarter of a pound of butter, and shake it round till it is all finely melted, with a little pepper and salt: then take half the cauliflower, and cut it as you would for pickling, lay it into the stew-pan, turn it, and shake the pan round. Ten minutes will do it. Lay the stewed in the middle of your plate, and boiled round it. Pour the butter you did it in over it, and send it to table.

To dress French Beans.

FIRST string them, then cut them in two, and afterwards across: but if you would do them nice, cut the bean into four, and then across, which is eight pieces. Lay them into water and salt, and when your pan boils put in some salt and the beans: when they are tender they are enough; they will be soon done. Take care they do not lose their sine green. Lay them in a plate, and have butter in a cup.

To dress Artichokes.

WRING off the stalks, and put them into the water cold, with the tops downwards, that all the dust and fand may boil out. When the water boils, an hour and a half will do them.

To dress Asparagus.

Scrape all the stalks very carefully till they look white, then cut all the stalks even alike, throw them into water, and have ready a stew-pan boiling. Put in some salt, and tie the asparagus in little bundles. Let the water keep boiling, and when they are a little tender take them up. If you boil them too much you lose both colour and taste. Cut the round of a small loaf about half an inch thick, toast it brown on both sides, dip it in the asparagus liquor, and lay it on your dish: pour a little butter over the toast, then lay your asparagus on the toast all round the dish, with the white tops outward. Don't pour butter over the asparagus, for that makes them greasy to the singers, but have your butter in a bason, and send it to table.

Directions

Directions concerning Garden things.

Most people spoil garden things by over-boiling them. All things that are green should have a little crispness, for if they are over boiled they never have any sweetness or beauty.

To dress Beans and Bacon.

When you dress beans and bacon, boil the bacon by itself, and the beans by themselves, for the bacon will spoil the colour of the beans. Always throw some salt into the water, and some parsley nicely picked. When the beans are enough, (which you will know by their being tender) throw them into a cullender to drain. Take up the bacon and skin it; throw some raspings of bread over the top, and if you have an iron make it red-hot and hold over it, to brown the top of the bacon: if you have not one, set it before the fire to brown. Lay the beans in the dish, and the bacon in the middle on the top, and send them to table with butter in a bason.

To make Gravy for a Turkey, or any fort of Fowls.

TAKE a pound of the lean part of the beef, hack it with a knife, flour it well, have ready a flew-pan with a piece of fresh butter. When the butter is melted put in the beef, fry it till it is brown, and then pour in a little boiling water; shake it round, and then fill up with a tea-kettle of boiling water: shir it altogether, and put in two or three blades of mace, four or five cloves, fome whole pepper, an onion, a bundle of sweet herbs, a little crust of bread baked brown, and a little piece of carrot. Cover it close, and let it sew till it is as good as you would have it. This will make a pint of rich gravy.

To draw Mutton, Becf, or Veal Gravy.

TAKE a pound of meat, cut it very thin, lay a piece of bacom about two inches long, at the bottom of the stew-pan or sauce-pan, and lay the meat on it. Lay in some carrot, and cover it close for two or three minutes, then pour in a quart of boiling water, some spice, onion, sweet herbs, and a little crust of bread toasted. Let it do over a flow sire, and thicken it with a little piece of butter rolled in flour. When the gravy is as good as you would have it, season it with salt, and then strain it off. You may, omit the bacon, if you dislike it.

To burn Butter for thickening Sauce.

SET your butter on the fire, and let it boil till it is brown, then shake in some flour, and stir it all the time it is on the fire, till it is thick. Put it by, and keep it for use. A little piece is what the cooks use to thicken and brown their sauce; but there are few stomachs it agrees with, therefore seldom make use of it.

To make Gravy.

If you live in the country, where you cannot always have gravy, meat, when your meat comes from the butcher's take a piece of beef, a piece of veal, and a piece of mutton: cut them into as small pieces as you can, and take a large deep sauce-pan with sever.

cover, lay your beef at bottom, then your mutton, then a very little piece of bacon, a flice or two of carrot, fome mace, cloves, whole pepper black and white, a large onion cut in flices, a bundle of fweet herbs, and then lay in your veal. Cover it close over a flow fire for fix or feven minutes, shaking the sauce-pan now and then, then shaking some flour in, and have ready some boiling water; pour it in till you cover the meat and something more. Cover it close, and let it stew till it is quite rich and good; then season it to your taste with salt, and then strain it off. This will do for most things.

To make Gravy for Soups, &c.

TAKE a leg of beef, cut and hack it, put it into a large earthen pan; put to it a bundle of fweet herbs, two onions stuck with a few cloves, a blade or two of mace, a piece of carrot, a spoonful of whole pepper black and white, and a quart of stale beer. Cover it with water, tie the pot down close with brown paper rubbed with butter, fend it to the oven, and let it be well baked. it comes home. strain it through a coarse sieve; lay the meat into a clean dish, as you strain it, and keep it for use. It is a fine thing in the house, and will serve for gravy, thickened with a piece of butter, red wine, catchup, or whatever you have a mind to put in, and is always ready for foups of most forts. If you have peas ready boiled, your foup will foon be made: or take fome of the broth and some vermicelli, boil it together, fry a french roll and put in the middle, and you have good foup. You may add a few truffles and morels, or celery stewed tender, and then you are always ready.

To bake a Leg of Beef.

Do it just in the same manner as before directed in the making gravy soups, &c. and when it is baked strain it through a coarse sieve. Pick out all the sinews and fat, put them into a sauce-pan with a few spoonfuls of the gravy, a little red wine, a little piece of butter rolled in slour, and some mustard, shake your sauce-pan often, and when the sauce is hot and thick, dish it up, and send it to table. It is a pretty dish.

To bake an Ox's Head.

Do just in the same manner as the leg of beef is directed to be done in making the gravy for soups, &c. and it does full as well for the same uses. If it should be too strong for any thing you want it for, it is only putting some hot water to it. Cold water will spoil it.

To boil pickled Pork.

Be fure you put it in when the water boils. If a middling piece, an hour will boil it; if a very large piece, an hour and a half, or two hours. If you boil pickle pork too long, it will go to a jelly.

CHAP. II:

MADE DISHES.

To dress Scotch Collops.

TAKE veal, cut it thin, beat it well with the back of a knife or rolling pin, and grate some nutmeg over them; dip them in the yolk of an egg, and fry them in a little butter till they are of a fine brown, then pour the butter from them, and have ready half a pint of gravy, a little piece of butter rolled in flour, a few mushrooms, a glass of white wine, the yolk of an egg and a little cream mixed together. If it wants a little falt put it in. Stir it altogether, and when it is of a fine thickness dish it up. It does very well without the cream, if you have none; and very well without gravy, only put in just as much warm water, and either red or white wine.

To drefs White Scotch Collops.

Do not dip them in egg, but fry them till they are tender, but not brown. Take your meat out of the pan, and pour all out, then put in your meat again, as above, only you must put in some cream.

To dress a Fillet of Veal with Collops.

For an alteration, take a small fillet of veal, cut what collops, you want, then take the udder and fill it with force meat, roll it round, tie it with packthread across, and roast it: lay your collops in the dish, and lay your udder in the middle. Garnish your dishes with lemon.

To make Force Meat Balls.

Now you are to observe, that force meat balls are a great addition to all made dishes; made thus: take half a pound of veal, and half a pound of suet, cut fine, and beat in a marble mortar or wooden bowl; have a few sweet herbs shred fine, a little mace dried and beat fine, a small nutmeg grated, or half a large one, a little lemon peel cut very fine, a little pepper and salt, and the yolks of two eggs; mix all these well together, then roll them in little round balls, and some in little long balls; roll them in flour, and fry them brown. If they are for any thing of white sauce, put a little water on in a sauce-pan, and when the water boils put them in, and let them boil for a few minutes, but never fry them for white sauce.

Truffles and Morels good in Sauces and Soups.

TAKE half an ounce of truffles and morels, simmer them in two or three spoonfuls of water for a few minutes, then put them with the liquor into the sauce. They thicken both sauce and soup, and give it a fine slavour.

To stew Ox-Palates.

STEW them very tender; which must be done by putting them in cold water, and let them stew very softly over a slow fire till they they are tender, then cut them into pieces and put them either into your made-dish or foup; and cocks-combs and artichoke bottoms, cut small, and put into the made-dish. Garnish your dishes with lemon, sweetbreads stewed or white dishes, and fried for brown ones, and cut in little pieces.

To ragoo a Leg of Mutton.

TAKE all the skin and fat off, cut it very thin the right way of the grain, then butter your stew-pan, and shake some flour into it; slice half a lemon and half an onion, cut them very small, a little bundle of sweet herbs, and a blade of mace. Put all together with your meat in the pan, stir it a minute or two, and then put in tix spoonfuls of gravy, and have ready an anchovy minced small; mix it with some butter and flour, stir it altogether for six minutes, and then dish it up.

To make a Brown Fricasey.

You must take your rabbits or chickens and skin them, then cut them into small pieces, and rub them over with yolks of eggs. Have ready some grated bread, a little beaten mace, and a little grated nutmeg mixed together, and then roll them in it: put a little butter into your stew-pan, and when it is melted put in your meat. Fry it of a fine brown, and take care they don't stick to the bottom of the pan, then pour the butter from them, and pour in half a pint of gravy, a glass of red wine, a few mushrooms, or two spoonfuls of the pickle, a little salt (if wanted) and a piece of butter rolled in flour. When it is of a fine thickness dish it up, and send it to table.

To make a White Fricasey.

You may take two chickens or rabbits, skin them and cut them into little pieces. Lay them into warm water to draw out all the blood, and then lay them in a clean cloth to dry: put them into a stew-pan with milk and water, stew them till they are tender, and then take a clean pan, put in half a pint of cream, and a quarter of a pound of butter; stir it together till the butter is melted, but you must be sure to keep it stirring all the time or it will be greasy, and then with a fork take the chickens or rabbits out of the stew-pan and put them into the sauce-pan to butter and cream. Have ready a little mace dried and beat sine, a very little nutmeg, a few mushrooms, shake all together for a minute or two, and dish it up. If you have no mushrooms, a spoonful of the pickle does full as well, and gives it a pretty tartness. This is a very pretty sauce for a breast of veal roussed.

To fricasey Chickens, Rabbits, Lamb, Veal, &c. Do them the same way.

A second way to make a White Fricasey.

You must take two or three rabbits or chickens, skin them, and lay them in warm water, and dry them with a clean cloth. Put them into a stew-pan with a blade or two of mace, a little bundle of sweet herbs, and do but just cover them with water: stew them till till they are tender, then with a fork take them out, strain the liquor, and put them into the pan again with half a pint of the liquor and half a pint of cream, the yolks of two eggs beat well, half a nutmeg grated, a glass of white wine, a little piece of butter rolled in flour, and a gill of mushrooms; keep stirring all together, all the while one way, till it is smooth and of a fine thickness, and then dish it up. Add what you please.

A third way of making a White Fricasey.

TAKE three chickens, skin them, cut them into small pieces; that is, every joint asunder; lay them in warm water, for a quarter of an hour, take them out and dry them with a cloth, then put them into a stew-pan with milk and water, and boil them tender: take a pint of good cream, a quarter of a pound of butter, and stir it till it is thick, then let it stand till it is cool, and put to it a little beaten mace, half a nutmeg grated, a little salt, a gill of white wine, and a few mushrooms; stir all together, then take the chickens out of the stew-pan, throw away what they are boiled in, clean the pan and put in the chickens and sauce together: keep the pan shaking round till they are quite hot, and dish them up. Garnish with lemon. They will be very good without wine.

To fricasey Rabbits, Lamb, Sweetbread, or Tripe.

Do them the fame way.

Another way to fricasey Tripe.

TAKE a piece of double tripe, cut it into flices two inches long, and half an inch broad, put them into your flew-pan, and sprinkle a little falt over them; then put in a bunch of fweet herbs, a little lemon-peel, an onion, a little anchovy pickle, and a bay-leaf; put all these to the tripe, then put in just water enough to cover them, and let them stew till the tripe is very tender: then take out the tripe and strain the liquor out, shred a spoonful of capers, and put to them a glass of white wine, and half a pint of the liquor they were stewed in. Let it boil a little while, then put in your tripe, and beat the yolks of three eggs; put into your eggs. a little mace, two cloves, a little nutmeg dried and beat fine, a small handful of parsley picked and shred fine, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and a quarter of a pint of cream: mix all thefe well together, and put them into your stew-pan, keep them stirring one way all the while, and when it is of a fine thickness and fmooth, dish it up, and garnish the dish with lemon. You are to observe that all fauces which have eggs or cream in, you must keep stirring one way all the while they are on the fire, or they would turn to curds. You may add white walnut-pickle, or mushrooms, in the room of capers, just to make your sauce a little tart.

To ragoo Hogs Feet and Ears.

TAKE your feet and ears out of the pickle they are foused in, or boil them till they are tender, then cut them into little long thin bits about two inches long, and about a quarter of an inch thick a put them into your stew-pan with half a pint of good gravy, a glass glass of white wine, a good deal of mustard, a good piece of butter rolled in slour, and a little pepper and salt: stir it all together till it is of a fine thickness, and then dish it up.

Note, they make a very pretty dish fried with butter and mustard, and a little good gravy, if you like it. Then only cut the feet and ears in two. You may add half an onion, cut small.

To fry Tripe.

Cur your tripe into pieces about three inches long, dip them in the yolk of an egg and a few crumbs of bread, fry them of a fine brown, and then take them out of the pan and lay them in a diffi to drain. Have ready a warm diffi to put them in, and fend them to table, with butter and mustard in a cup.

To Stew Tripe.

Cut it just as you do for frying, and set on some water in a sauce-pan, with two or three onions cut into slices, and some salt. When it boils, put in your tripe. Ten minutes will boil it. Send it to table with the liquor in the dish, and the onions. Have butter and mustard in a cup, and dish it up. You may put in as many onions as you like to mix with your sauce, or leave them quite out, just as you please. Put a little bundle of sweet-herbs, and a piece of lemon-peel into the water, when you put in your tripe.

A fricasey of Pigeons.

Take eight pigeons, new killed, cut them into small pieces, and put them into a stew-pan with a pint of claret and a pint of water. Season your pigeons with falt and pepper, a blade or two of mace, an onion, a bundle of sweet-herbs, a good piece of butter just roll'd in a very little flour: cover it close, and let them stew till there is just enough for sauce, and then take out the onion and sweet-herbs, beat up the yolks of three eggs, grate half a nutmeg in, and with your spoon push the meat all to one side of the pan and the gravy to the other side, and shir in the eggs; keep them stirring for sear of turning to curds, and when the sauce is sine and thick shake all together, put in half a spoonful of vinegar, and give them a shake; then put the meat into the dish, pour the sauce over it, and have ready some slices of bacon toasted, and fryed oysters; throw the oysters all over, and lay the bacon round. Garnish with lemon.

A fricasey of Lamb-stones and Sweetbreads.

HAVE ready fome lamb stones blanched, parboiled and sliced, and flour two or three sweetbreads; if very thick, cut them in two, the yolks of six hard eggs whole; a few pistachio-nut kernels, and a few large oysters: fry these all of a sine brown, then pour all the butter, and add a pint of drawn gravy, the lamb-stones, some asparagus tops about an inch long, some grated nutmeg, a little pepper and salt, two shalots shred small, and a glass of white wine. Stew all these together for ten minutes, then add the yolks of six eggs beat very sine, with a little white wine, and a little beaten mace; stir altogether till it is of a sine thickness, and then dish it up. Garnish with lemon.

To hash a Calf's Head.

Boxt the head almost enough, then take the best half and with a sharp knife take it nicely from the bone, with the two eyes. Lav it in a little deep dish before a good fire, and take great care no ashes fall into it, and then hack it with a knife cross and cross: grate some nutmeg all over, a very little pepper and falt, a few iweet herbs, some crumbs of bread, and a little lemon-peel chopped very fine, baste it with a little butter, then baste it again, and pour over it the yolks of two eggs; keep the dish turning that it may be all brown alike: cut the other half and tongue into little thin bits, and fet on a pint of drawn gravy in a fauce-pan, a little bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, a little pepper and falt, a glass of red wine, and two shalots, boil all these together a few minutes; then strain it through a fieve, and put it into a clean stew-pan with the hash. Flour the meat before you put it in, and put in a few mushrooms, a spoonful of the pickle, two spoonfuls of catchup, and a few truffles and morels; stir all these together for a few minutes, then beat up half the brains, and stir into the stew-pan, and a little piece of butter rolled in flour. Take the other half of the brains and beat them up with a little lemon-peel cut fine, a little nutmeg grated, a little beaten mace, a little thyme shred fmall, a little parfley, the yolk of an egg, and have fome good dripping boiling in a stew-pan; then fry the brains in little cakes, about as big as a crown piece. Fry about twenty oysters dipped in the yolk of an egg, toast some slices of bacon, fry a few force meat balls, and have ready a hot dish; if pewter, over a few clear coals; if china, over a pan of hot water. Pour in your hash, then lay in your toasted head, throw the force meat-balls over the hash, and garmish the dish with fryed oysters, the fryed brains, and lemon; throw the rest over the hash, lay the bacon round the dish, and send it to table.

To bash a calf's Head white.

TAKE half a pint of gravy, a large wine glass of white wine, a little beaten mace, a little nutmeg, and a little falt; throw into your hash a few mushrooms, a few truffles and morels first parboiled, a few artichoke bottoms, and asparagus tops, if you have them, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, the yolks of two eggs, half a pint of cream, and one spoonful of mushroom catchup; stir it all toge her very carefully till it is of a fine thickness; then pour it into your dish, and lay the other half of the head as before mentioned, in the middle, and garnish it as before directed, with fryed oysters, brains, lemon, and force-meat balls fried.

To bake a Calf's Head.

Take the head, pick it and wash it very clean; take an earthen dish large enough to lay the head on, rub a little piece of butter all over the dish, then lay some long iron skewers across the top of the dish, and lay the head on them; skewer up the meat in the middle that it don't lie in the dish; then grate some nutmeg all over it, a few sweet herbs shred small, some crumbs of bread, a little lemon-peel cut sine, and then shour it all over: stick pieces of

of butter in the eyes and all over the head, and flour it again. Let it be well baked, and of a fine brown; you may throw a little pepper and falt over it, and put into the dish a piece of beef cut small, a bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, some whole pepper, a blade of mace, two cloves, a pint of water, and boil the brains with some sage. When the head is enough, lay it on a dish, and fet it to the fire to keep warm, then stir all together in the dish, and boil it in a sauce-pan; strain it off, put it into the sauce-pan again, add a piece of butter rolled in flour, and the sage in the brains chopped fine, a spoonful of catchup, and two spoonfuls of red wine; boil them together, take the brains beat them well, and mix them with the sauce: pour it into the dish, and send it to table. You must bake the tongue with the head, and don't cut it out. It will lie the handsomer in the dish.

To bake a Sheep's Head.

Do it the same way, and it eats very well.

To drefs a Lamb's Head.

Boil the head and pluck tender but don't let the liver be too much done. Take the head up, hack it cross and cross with a knife, grate some nutmeg over it and lay it in a dish before a good fire; then grate fome crumbs of bread, fome fweet herbs rubbed, a little lemon-peel chopped fine, a very little pepper and falt, and baste it with a little butter: then throw a little flour over it, and just as it is done do the same, baste it and drudge it. Take half the liver, the lights, the heart, and tongue, chop them very small with fix or eight spoonfuls of gravy or water; first shake fome flour over the meat, and stir it together, then put in the gravy or water, a good piece of butter rolled in a little flour, a little pepper and falt, and what, runs from the head in the dish; finmer all together a few minutes, and add half a spoonful of vinegar, pour it into your dish, lay the head in the middle of the mince-meat, have ready the other half of the liver cut thin, with some flices of bacon broiled, and lay round the head. Garnish the dish with lemon, and send it to table.

To ragoo a Neck of Veal.

Cut a neck of veal into steaks, flatten them with a rolling-pin, season them with falt, pepper, cloves and mace, lard them with bacon, lemon-peel, and thyme, dip them in the yolks of eggs, make a sheet of strong cap-paper up at the four corners in form of a dripping-pan; pin up the corners, butter the paper and also the gridiron, and set it over a fire of charcoal; put in your meat, let it do leisurely, keep it basting and turning to keep in the gravy; and when it is enough, have ready half a pint of strong gravy, feason it high, put in mushrooms and pickles, force-meat balls dipped in the yolks of eggs, oysters stewed and fried, to lay round and at the top of your dish, and then serve it up. If for a brown ragoo, put in red wine. If for a white one, put in white wine, with yolks of eggs beat up with two or three spoonfuls of cream.

To ragoo a Breast of Veal. .

TAKE your breast of veal, put it into a large stew-pan, put in a bundle of sweet-herbs, an onion, some black and white pepper, a blade or two of mace, two or three cloves, a very little piece of lemon-peel, and just cover it with water: when it is tender take it up, bone it, put in the bones, boil it up up till the gravy is good, then strain it off, and if you have a little rich beef gravy add a quarter of a pint, put in half an ounce of trusses and morels, a spoonful or two of catchup, two or three spoonfuls of white wine, and let them all boil together: in the mean time flour the veal, and fry it in butter till it is of a fine brown, then drain out all the butter and pour the gravy you are boiling to the veal, with a few mushrooms: boil all together till the sauce is rich and thick, and cut the sweetbread into sour. A few forcemeat balls is proper in it. Lay the veal in the dish, and pour the sauce all over it. Garnish with lemon.

Another way to ragoo a Breast of Veal,

You may bone it nicely, flour it, and fry it of a fine brown, then pour the fat out of the pan, and the ingredients as above, with the bones; when enough, take it out, and strain the liquor, then put in your meat again, with the ingredients, as before directed.

A breast of Veal in Hodge-podge.

TAKE a breast of year, cut the briscuit into little pieces, and every bone afunder, then flour it, and put half a pound of good butter into a stew-pan: when it is hot, throw in the veal, fry it all over of a fine light brown, and then have ready a tea-kettle of water boiling; pour it into the stew-pan, fill it up and stir it round, throw in a pint of green peas, a fine lettuce whole, clean washed, two or three blades of mace, a little whole pepper tied in a muslin rag, a little bundle of fweet herbs, a small onion stuck with a few cloves, and a little falt. Cover it close, and let it stew an hour, or till it is boiled to your palate, if you would have foup made of it; if you would only have fauce to eat with the veal, you must stew it till there is just as much as you would have for fauce, and season it with falt to your palate; take out the onion, fweet-herbs and spice, and pour it altogether into your dish. It is a fine dish. If you have no peafe, pare three or four cucumbers, scoup out the pulp, and cut it into little pieces, and take four or five heads of celery, clean washed, and cut the white part small; when you have no lettuces, take the little hearts of favoys, or the little young sprouts that grow on the old cabbage stalks about as big as the top of your thumb,

Note, If you would make a very fine dish of it, fill the inside of your lettuce with force-meat, and tie the top close with a thread; slew it till there is but just enough for sauce, set the lettuce in the middle, and the veal round, and pour the sauce all over it. Garnish your dish with rasped bread, made into sigures with your singers. This is the cheapest way of dressing a breast of yeal to be good, and serve a number of people.

To collar a Breast of Veal.

TAKE a very sharp knife, and nicely take out all the bonds. but take great care you do not cut the meat through; pick all the fat and meat off the bones, then grate some nutmeg all over the infide of the veal, a very little beaten mace, a little pepper and falt, a few sweet herbs shred small, some parsley, a little lemonpeel shred small, a few crumbs of bread and the bits of fat picked off the bones; roll it up tight, slick one skewer in to hold it together, but do it clever, that it stand upright in the dish: tie 2 packthread across it to hold it together, spit it, then roll the caul all round it, and roast it. An hour and a quarter will do it. When it has been about an hour at the fire take off the caul, drudge it with flour, baste it well with fresh butter, and let it be of a fine brown. For fauce take two penny-worth of gravy beef, cut it and hack it well, then flour it, fry it a little brown, then pour into your stew-pan two parts full of water, put in an onion, a bundle of fweet herbs, a little crust of bread toasted, two or three blades of mace, four cloves, fome whole pepper, and the veal. Cover it close, and let it stew till it is quite rich and thick; then strain it, boil it up with some truffles and morels, a few mushrooms, a spoonful of catchup, two or three bottoms of artichokes, if you have them; add a little falt, just enough to season the gravy, take the packthread off the veal, and fet it upright in the dish; cut the sweet-bread into four, and broil it of a fine brown, with a few force-meat-balls fried; lay these round the dish, and pour in the fauce. Garnish the dish with lemon, and fend it to table.

To collar a Breaft of Mutton.

Do it the fame way, and it eats very well. But you must take off the skin.

Another good way to dress a Breast of Mutton.

Collar it as before, roast it, and baste it with half a pint of red wine, and when that is all soaked in, baste it well with butter, have a little good gravy, set the mutton upright in the dish, pour in the gravy, have some sweet sauce as for venison, and send it to table. Don't garnish the dish, but be sure to take the skin off the mutton.

The infide of a furloin of beef is very good done this way. If you don't like the wine, a quart of milk, and a quarter of a pound of butter, put into the dripping-pan, does full as well to baste it.

To force a Leg of Lamb.

WITH a sharp knife, carefully take out all the meat, and leave the skin whole and the fat on it; make the lean you cut out into force-meat thus: to two pound of meat, add three pound of beeffuet cut fine, and beat in a marble mortar till it is very fine, and take away all the skin of the meat and suet, then mix with it four spoonfuls of grated bread, eight or ten cloves, sive or six large blades of mace dried and beat fine, half a large nutmeg grated, a little pepper and salt, a little lemon-peel cut fine, a very little shyme, some parsley and sour eggs; mix all together, put it into the skin again just as it was, in the same shape, sew it up, roast

It, baste it with butter, cut the loin into steaks and fry it nicely, lay the leg in the dish and the loin round it, with stewed caulissower (as in page 17) all round upon the loin; pour a pint of good gravy into the dish, and send it to the table. If you don't like the caulissower, it may be omitted.

To boil a Leg of Lamb.

LET the leg be boiled very white. An hour will do it. Cut the loin into fleaks, dip them into a few crumbs of bread and egg, fry them nice and brown, boil a good deal of fpinage and lay in the difh, put the leg in the middle, lay the loin round it, cut an orange in four and garnish the dish, and have butter in a cup. Some love the spinage boiled, then drained, put into a sauce-pan with a good piece of butter, and stewed.

To force a large Fowl.

Cut the skin down the back, and carefully slip it up so as to take out all the meat, mix it with one pound of beef-suet, cut it small, and beat them together in a marble mortar: take a pint of large oysters cut small, two anchovies cut small, one shalot cut sine, a few sweet-herbs, a little pepper, a little nutmeg grated, and the yolks of sour eggs; mix all together and lay this on the bones, draw over the skin and sew up the back, put the soul into a bladder, boil it an hour and a quarter, stew some oysters in good gravy thickened with a piece of butter rolled in slour, take the soul out of the bladder, lay it in your dish and pour the sauce over it. Garnish with lemon.

It eats much better with the fame fauce.

To roaft a Turkey the genteel way.

First cut it down the back, and with a sharp penknise bone it, then make your force-meat thus: Take a large fowl, or a pound of veal, as much grated bread, half a pound of suet cut and beat very fine, a little beaten mace, two cloves, half a nutmeg grated, about a large tea-spoonful of lemon-peel, and the yolks of two eggs; mix all together, with a little pepper and salt, sill up the places where the bone came out, and fill the body, that it may look just as it did before, sew up the back, and roast it. You may have oyster-sauce, celery-sauce, or just as you please; but good gravy in the dish, and garnish with lemon, is as good as any thing. Be sure to leave the pinions on.

To stew a Turkey or Fowl.

First let your pot be very clean, lay four clean skewers at the bottom, lay your turkey or fowl upon them, put in a quart of gravy, take a bunch of celery, cut it small, and wash it very clean, put it into your pot, with two or three blades of mace, let it stew softly till there is just enough for sauce, then add a good piece of butter rolled in flour, two spoonfuls of red wine, two of catchup, just as much pepper and salt as will season it, lay your sowl or turkey in the dish, pour the sauce over it and send it to table. If the sowl or turkey is enough before the sauce, take it up, and keep it up till the fauce is boiled enough, then put it in, let it boil a minute or two, and dish it up.

To flew a Knuckle of Veal.

BE fure let the pot or fauce-pan be very clean, lay at the bottom four clean wooden skewers, wash and clean the knuckle very well, then lay it in the pot with two or three blades of mace, a little whole pepper, a little piece of thyme, a small onion, a crust of bread, and two quarts of water. Cover it down close, make it boil, then only let it simmer for two hours, and when it is enough take it up; lay it in a dish, and strain the broth over it.

Another way to flew a Knuckle of Veal.

CLEAN it as before directed, and boil it till there is just enough for fauce, add one spoonful of catchup, one of red wine, and one of walnut pickle, some truffles and morels, or some dried mushrooms cut small, boil it all together, take up the knuckle, lay it in a dish, pour the sauce over it, and send it to table.

Note, It eats very well done as the turkey, before directed,

To ragoo a Piece of Beef.

TAKE a large piece of the flank, which has fat at the top cut square, or any piece that is all meat, and has fat at the top, but no bones. The rump does well. Cut all nicely off the bone (which makes fine foup) then take a large stew-pan, and with a good piece of butter fry it a little brown all over, flouring your meat well before you put it into the pan, then pour in as much gravy as will cover it, made thus: take about a pound of coarse beef, a little piece of veal cut small, a bundle of sweet-herbs, an onion, fome whole black pepper and white pepper, two or three large blades of mace, four or five cloves, a piece of carrot, a little piece of bacon steeped in vinegar a little while, a crust of bread toasted brown; put to this a quart of water, and let it boil till half is wasted. While this is making, pour a quart of boiling water into the stew-pin, cover it close, and let it be stewing softly; when the gravy is done strain it, pour it into the pan where the beef is, take an ounce of truffles and morels cut small, some fresh or dried mushrooms cut small, two spoonfuls of catchup, and cover it close, Let all this stew till the sauce is rich and thick: then have ready fome criichoke-bottoms cut in four, and a few pickled mushrooms, give them a boil or two, and when your meat is tender and your fauce quite rich, lay the meat into a dish and pour the sauce over it. You may add a sweetbread cut in six pieces, a palate slewed tender cut into little pieces, some cocks-combs, and a few forcemeat balls. These are a great addition, but it will be good without.

Note, For variety, when the beef is ready and the gravy put to it, add a large bunch of celery cut small and washed clean, two spoonfuls of catchup, and a glass of red wine. Omit all the other ingredients. When the meat and celery are tender, and the sauce rich and good, serve it up. It is also very good this way: take fix large cucumbers, scoop out the seeds, pare them, cut them into slices, and do them just as you do the celery.

To force the infide of a Surloin of Becf.

TAKE a sharp knise, and carefully list up the fat of the inside, take out all the meat close to the bone, chop it small, take a pound of suet, and chop sine, about as many crumbs of bread, a little thyme and lemon-peel, a little pepper and salt, half a nutmeg grated, and two shalots chopped sine; mix all together, with a glass of red wine, then put it into the same place, cover it with the skin and sat, skewer it down with sine skewers, and cover it with paper. Don't take the paper off till the meat is on the dish. Take a quarter of a pint of red wine, two shalots shred small, boil them, and pour into the dish, with the gravy which comes out of the meat; it eats well. Spit your meat before you take out the inside.

- Another way to force a Surloin.

When it is quite roasted, take it up, and lay it in the dish with the inside uppermost, with a sharp knife lift up the skin, hack and cut the inside very fine, shake a little pepper and salt over it, with two shalots, cover it with the skin, and send it to table. You may add red wine or vinegar, just as you like.

To force the inside of a Rump of Beef.

You may do it just in the same manner, only lift up the outside skin take the middle of the meat, and do as before directed; put it into the same place, and with sine skewers pot it down close,

A rolled Rump of Beef.

Cur the meat all off the bone whole, flit the infide down from top to the bottom, but not through the skin, spread it open, take the flesh of two fowls and beef-suet, an equal quantity, and as much cold boiled ham, if you have it, a little pepper, an anchovy, a nutmeg grated, a little thyme, a good deal of parfley, a few mushrooms, and chop them all together, beat them in a mortar, with a half-pint bason full of crumbs of bread; mix all these together, with four yolks of eggs, lay it into the meat, cover it up, and roll it round, stick one skewer in, and tie it with a packthread cross and cross to hold it together; take a pot or large fauce-pan that will just hold it, lay a layer of bacon and a layer of beef cut in thin flices, a piece of carrot, some whole pepper. mace, sweet-herbs, and a large onion, lay the rolled beef on it, just put water enough to the top of the beef: cover it close, and let it flew very foftly on a flow fire for eight or ten hours, but not too fast. When you find the beef tender, which you will know by running a skewer into the meat, then take it up, cover it up hot, boil the gravy till it is good, then strain it off, and add some mushrooms chopped, some truffles and morels cut small, two spoonfuls of red or white wine, the yolks of two eggs a piece of butter rolled in flour; boil it together, set the meat before the fire, baste it with butter, and throw crumbs of bread all over it; when the fauce fauce is enough, lay the meat into the dift, and pour the fauce over it. Take care the eggs do not curd.

To boil a Rump of Beef the French Fashion.

TAKE a rump of beef, boil it half an hour, take it up, lay it into a large deep pewter dish or stew-pan, cut three or four gashes in it all along the side, rub the gashes with pepper and salt, and pour into the dish a pint of red wine, as much hot water, two or three large onions cut small, the hearts of eight or ten lettuces cut small, and a good piece of butter rolled in a little slour; lay the sleshy part of the meat downwards, cover it close, let it stew an hour and a half over a charcoal sire, or a very slow coal sire. Observe that the butcher chops the bone so close, that the meat may lie as slat as you can in the dish. When it is enough, take the beef, lay it in the dish, and pour the sauce over it.

Note, When you do it in a pewter diffi, it is best done over a chasing-dish of hot coals, with a bit or two of charcoal to keep it alive.

Beef Escarlot.

TAKE a briscuit of beef, half a pound of coarse sugar, two ounces of bay salt, a pound of common salt; mix all together, and rub the beef, lay it in an earthen pan, and turn it every day. It may lie a fortnight in the pickle; then boil it, and serve it up either with savoys or pease pudding.

Note, It cats much finer cold, cut into slices, and sent to table.

Beef a la Daub.

You may take a buttock or a rump of beef, lard it, fry it brown in some fiveet butter, then put it into a pot that will just hold it; put in some broth or gravy hot, some pepper, cloves, mace, and a bundle of sweet-herbs, stew it sour hours till it is tender, and season it with salt; take half a pint of gravy, two sweetbreads tut into eight pieces, some trusses and morels, palates, artichoke-bottoms, and mushrooms, boil all together, lay your beef in a dish: strain the liquor into the sauce, and boil all together. If it is not thick enough, roll a piece of butter in flour, and boil in it: pour this all over the beef. Take force-meat rolled in pieces half as long as one's singer; dip them into batter made with eggs, and fry them brown; fry some sipped into batter cut three corner-ways, stick them into the meat, and garnish with the force-meat.

Beef a la Mode in Pieces,

You must take a buttock of beef, cut it into two-pound pieces, lard them with bacon, fry them brown, put them into a pot that will just hold them, put in two quarts of broth or gravy, a few sweet-herbs, an onion, some mace, cloves, nutmeg, pepper and salt; when that is done, cover it close, and stew it till it is tender, skim off all the fat, lay the meat in the dish, and strain the sauce over it. You may serve it up hot or cold.

Beef a la Mode, the French Way.

TAKE a piece of buttock of beef, and some fat bacon cut into little long bits, then take two tea-spoonfuls of salt, one tea-spoonful ful of beaten pepper, one of beaten mace, and one of nutmeg; mix all together, have your landing-pins ready, first dip the bacon in vinegar, then roll it in your spice, and lard your beef very thick and nice; put the meat into a pot with two or three large onions, a good piece of lemon-peel, a bundle of herbs, and three or four spoonfuls of vinegar; cover it down close, and put a wet cloth round the edge of the cover, that no steam can get out, and set it over a very slow fire: when you think one side is done enough, turn the other, and cover it with the rind of the bacon; cover the pot close again as before, and when it is enough (which it will be when quite tender) take it up and lay it in a dish, take off all the fat from the gravy, and pour the gravy over the meat. If you chuse your beef to be red, you may rub it with saltpetre over night.

Note, You must take great care in doing your beef this way that your fire is very slow; it will at least take six hours doing, if the piece be any thing large. If you would have the sauce very rich, boil half an ounce of truffles and morels in half a pint of good gravy, till they are very tender, and add a gill of pickled mushrooms, but fresh ones are best; mix all together with the gravy of the meat, pour it over your beef. You must mind and beat all you spices very fine; and if you have not enough, mix some more, according to the bigness of your beef.

Beef Olives.

TAKE a rump of beef, cut into steaks half a quarter long, about an inch thick, let them be square; lay on some good force-meat made with veal, roll them, tie them once round with a hard knot, dip them in eggs, crumbs of bread, and grated nutmeg, and a little pepper and salt. The best way is to roast them, or fry them brown in fresh butter, lay them every one on a bay-leaf, and cover them every one with a piece of bacon toasted, have some good gravy, a few trusses and morels, and mushrooms; boil all together, pour into the dish, and send it to table.

Veal Olives.

They are good done the fame way, only roll them narrow at one end and broad at the other. Fry them of a fine brown. Omit the bay leaf, but lay little bits of bucon about two inches long on them. The fame fauce. Garnish with lemon.

Beef Collops.

Cut them into thin pieces about two inches long, beat them with the back of a knife very well, grate some nutmeg, slour them a little, lay them in a stew-pan, put in as much water as you think will do for sauce, half an onion cut small, a bundle of sweet herbs, a little pepper and salt, a piece of butter rolled in a little flour. Set them on a slow sire; when they begin to simmer, stir them now and then; when they begin to be hot, ten minutes will do them, but take care they do not boil. Take out the sweet herbs, pour it into the dish, and fend it to table.

Note, You may do the infide of a fur-loin of beef in the fame manner, the day after it is roafted, only do not beat them, but cut them thin.

N. B; You

Garnish your dish with that and lemon.

To make a Ragoo of Lamb.

TAKE a fore-quarter of lamb, cut the knuckle-bone off, lard it with little thin bits of bacon, flour it, fry it of a fine brown, and then put it into an earthen-pot or stew-pan; put to it a quart of broth or good gravy, a bundle of herbs, a little mace, two or three cloves, and a little whole pepper; cover it close, and let it stew pretty fast for half an hour, pour the liquor all out, strain it, keep the lamb hot in the pot till the sauce is ready. Take half a pint of oysters, flour them, fry them brown, drain out all the fat clean that you fryed them in, skim all the fat off the gravy, then pour it into the oysters, put in an anchovy, and two spoonfuls of either red or white wine; boil all together till there is just enough for sauce, add some fresh mushrooms (if you can get them) and some pickled ones, with a spoonful of the pickle, or the juice of half a lemon. Lay your lamb in the dish, and pour the sauce over it. Garnish with lemon.

To flew a Lamb's or Calf's Head.

FIRST wash it, and pick it very clean, lay it in water for an hour, then take out the brains, and with a sharp penknife carefully take out out the bones and the tongue, but be careful you don't break the meat, then take out the two eyes, and take two pounds of veal and two pounds of beef fuet, a very little thyme, a good piece of lemon-peel minced, a nutmeg grated, and two anchovies, chop all very well together, grate two stale rolls, and mix all together with the yolks of four eggs: fave enough of this meat to make about twenty balls, take half a pint of fresh mushrooms clean peel'd and wash'd, the yolks of six eggs chopp'd, half a pint of ovsters clean wash'd, or pickled cockles; mix all these together, but first slew your oysters, and put to it two quarts of gravy, with a blade or two of mace. It will be proper to tie the head with a packthread, cover it close, and let it stew two hours: in the mean time beat up the brains with fome lemon-peel cut fine, a little parfley chopped, half a nutmeg grated, and the yolk of an egg; have fome dripping boiling, fry half the brains in little cakes, and fry the Balls, keep them both hot by the fire; take half an ounce of truffles and morels, then strain the gravy the head was stew'd in. put the truffles and morels to it with the liquor, and a few mushrooms; boil all together, then put in the rest of the brains that are not fry'd, flew them together for a minute or two, pour it over the head, and lay the fry'd brains and balls round it: Garnish with lemon. You may fry about twelve oysters.

To dress Veal a la Bourgoise.

Cut pretty thick flices of veal, lard them with bacon, and feason them with pepper, salt, beaten mace, cloves, nutmeg, and chopp'd parsley, then take the stew-pan and cover the bottom with slices of fat bacon, lay the veal upon them, cover it, and set it over a very flow fire for eight or ten minutes, just to be hot and no more, then brisk up your fire and brown your veal on both sides, then shake some flour over it and brown it; pour in a quart of good broth or gravy, cover it close, and let it stew gently till it is enough: when enough, take out the slices of bacon, and skim all the fat off clean, and beat up the yolks of three eggs with some of the gravy; mix all together, and keep it stirring one way till it is smooth and thick, then take it up, lay your meat in the dish, and pour the sauce over it. Garnish with lemon.

A diffuifed Leg of Veal and Bacon.

LARD your veal all over with slips of bacon and a little lemonpeel, and boil it with a piece of bacon; when enough, take it up, cut the bacon into slices, and have ready some dry'd sage and pepper rubb'd fine, rub over the bacon, lay the veal in the dish and the bacon round it, strew it all over with fry'd parsley, and have green sauce in cups, made thus: take two handfuls of forrel, pound it in a mortar and squeeze out the juice, put it into a sauce-pan with some melted butter, a little sugar, and the juice of lemon. Or you may make it thus: Beat two handfuls of sorrel in a mortar with two pippins quarter'd, squeeze the juice out with the juice of a lemon or vinegar, and sweeten it with sugar.

A Pillaw

A Pillaw of Veal.

Take a neck or breast of veal, half roast it, then cut it into fix pieces, season it with pepper, salt and nutmeg: Take a pound of rice, put to it a quart of broth, some mace, and a little salt, do it over a stove or very slow sire till it is thick, but butter the bottom of the dish or pan you do it in; beat up the yolks of six eggs and stir into it, then take a little round deep dish, butter it, lay some of the rice at the bottom, then lay the veal on a round heap, and cover it all over with the rice, wash it over with the yolks of eggs, and bake it an hour and a half, then open the top and pour in a pint of rich gravy. Garnish with Seville orange cut in quarters, and send it to table hot.

Bombarded Veal.

You must get a fillet of veal, cut out of it five lean pieces as thick as your hand, round them up a little, then lard them very thick on the round fide with little narrow thin pieces of bacon, and lard five sheeps tongues (being first boiled and blanched) lard them here and there with very little bits of lemon-peel, and make a well-feafon'd force-meat of veal, bacon, ham, beef-fuet, and an anchovy beat well; make another tender force-meat of veal. beef-fuet, mushrooms, spinach, parsley, thyme, sweet marjoram, winter favoury, and green onions. Season with pepper, falt and mace; beat it well, make a round ball of the other force-meat and stuff in the middle of this, roll it up in a veal caul, and bake it; what is left, tie up like a Bolognia sausage and boil it, but first rub the caul with the yolk of an egg; put the larded veal into a flew-pan with some good gravy, and when it is enough skim off all the fat, put in some truffles and morels, and some mushrooms, Your force-meat being baked enough, lay it in the middle, the veal round it, and the tongues fry'd and laid between, the boil'd cut into flices and fry'd, and throw all over. Pour on them the fauce. You may add artichoke bottoms, sweetbreads, and cockscombs, if you please. Garnish with lemon.

Veal Rolls.

Take ten or twelve little thin slices of veal, lay on them some force-meat according to your fancy, roll them up, and tie them just across the middle with coarse thread, put them on a bird spit, rub them over with the yolks of eggs, flour them, and baste them with butter. Half an hour will do them. Lay them into a dish, and have ready some good gravy, with a few trussless and morels, and some mushrooms. Garnish with lemon.

Olives of Veal, the French way.

Garnish with lemon.

To make a favory Dish of Veal.

Cut large collops out of a leg of veal, spread them abroad on a dresser, hack them with the back of a knife, and dip them in the yolks of eggs; season them with cloves, mace, nutmeg and pepper, beat fine; make force-meat with some of your veal, beeffuet, onsters chopped, sweet herbs shred sine, and the aforesaid spice, strew all these over the collops, roll and tie them up, put them on skewers, tie them to a spit and roast them; to the rest of your force meat add a raw egg or two, roll them in balls and fry them, put them in your dish with your meat when roasted, and make the sauce with strong broth, an anchovy, a shalot, a little white wine, and some spice. Let it stew, and thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour, pour the sauce into the dish, lay the meat in, and garnish with lemon.

Scotch Collops Larded.

PREPARE a fillet of veal, cut it into thin flices, cut off the skin and fat, lard them with bacon, fry them brown, then take them out and lay them in a dish, pour out all the butter, take a quarter of a pound of butter and melt it in the pan, then strew in a handful of flour; stir it till it is brown, and pour in three pints of good gravy, a bundle of sweet herbs, and an onion, which you must take out soon; let it boil a little, then put in the collops, let them stew half a quarter of an hour, put in some force-meat balls fryed, the yolks of two eggs, a piece of butter, and a few pickled mushrooms; stir all together for a minute or two till it is thick; and then dish it up. Garnish with lemon.

To do them White.

AFTER you have cut your veal in thin flices, lard it with bacon; feason it with cloves, mace, nutmeg, pepper and salt, some grated bread, and sweet herbs. Stew the knuckle in as little liquor as you can, a bunch of sweet herbs, some whole pepper, a blade of mace, and sour cloves; then take a pint of the broth, stew the cutlets in it, and add to it a quarter of a pint of white wine, some mushrooms, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and the yolks of two eggs, stir all together till it is thick, and then dish it up. Garnish with lemon.

Veal

Veal Blanquets.

Roast a piece of veal, cut off the skin and nervous parts, cut it into little thin bits, put some butter into a stew-pan over the stree with some chopped onions, fry them a little, then add a dust of flour, stir it together and put in some good broth, or gravy, and a bundle of sweet herbs; season it with spice, make it of a good taste, and then put in your veal, the yolks of two cggs beat up with cream and grated nutmeg, some chopped parsley, a shalot, some lemon peel grated, and a little juice of lemon. Keep it stirring one way; when enough, dish it up.

A Shoulder of Veal a la Piemontoife.

TAKE a shoulder of veal, cut off the skin that it may hang at one end, then lard the meat with bacon and ham, and season it with pepper, salt, mace, sweet herbs, parsley and lemon-peel; cover it again with the skin, stew it with gravy, and when it is just tender take it up; then take forrel, some lettuce chopped small, and stew them in some butter with parsley, onions, and mushrooms: the herbs being tender, put to them some of the liquor, some sweetbreads, and some bits of ham. Let all stew together a little while, then lift up the skin, lay the stewed herbs over and under, cover it with the skin again, wet it with metted butter, strew it over with crumbs of bread, and send it to the oven to brown; serve it hot, with some good gravy in the dish. The French strew it over with parmesan before it goes to the oven.

A Calf's Head Surprife.

You must bone it, but not split it, cleanse it well, fill it with a ragoo (in the form it was before) made thus: take two fweetbreads, each sweetbread being cut into eight pieces, an ox's palate boiled tender, and cut into little pieces, fome cocks-combs, half an ounce of truffles and morels, some mushrooms, some artichoke bottoms and asparagus tops; stew all these in half a pint of good gravy, feafon it with two or three blades of mace, four cloves, half a nutmeg, a very little pepper, and some falt, pound all these together, and put them into the ragoo: when it has stewed about half an hour, take the yolks of three eggs beat up with two spoonfuls of cream and two of white wine, put it to the ragoo, keep it stirring one way for fear of turning, and stir in a piece of butter rolled in flour; when it is very thick and fmooth fill the head, make a force-meat with half a pound of veal, half a pound of beef fuet, as much crumbs of bread, a few sweet herbs, a little lemon-peel, and some pepper, falt, and mace, all beat fine together in a marble mortar; mix it up with two eggs, make a few balls (about twenty) put them into the ragoo in the head, then fasten the head with fine wooden skewers, lay the force-meat over the head, do it over with the yolks of two eggs, and fend it to the oven to bake. It will take about two hours baking. must lay pieces of butter all over the head, and then flour it. when it is baked enough lay it in your dish, and have a pint of good fryed gravy. If there is any gravy in the dish the head was baked

baked in, put it to the other gravy, and boil it up; pour it into your dish, and garnish with lemon. You may throw some mush-rooms over the head.

Sweetbreads of Veal a la Dauphine,

TAKE the largest sweetbreads you can get, open them in such a manner as you can stuff in force-meat, three will make a fine dish: make your force-meat with a large fowl or young cock, Ikin it, and pick off all the flesh, take half a pound of fat and lean bacon, cut these very fine and beat them in a mortar; season it with an anchovy, fome nutmeg, a little lemon-peel, a very little thyme and some parsley: Mix these up with the yolk of an egg, fill your fweetbreads and fasten them with fine wooden skewers; take the stew-pan, lay layers of bacon at the bottom of the pan, season them with pepper, falt, mace, cloves, fweet herbs, and a large onion fliced, upon that lay thin flices of veal, and then lay on your fweetbreads; cover it close, let it stand eight or ten minutes over a flow fire, and then pour in a quart of boiling water or broth; cover it close, and let it stew two hours very foftly, then take out the sweetbreads, keep them hot, strain the gravy, skim all the fat off, boil it up till there is about half a pint, put in the sweetbreads and give them two or three minutes stew in the gravy, then lay them in the dish, and pour the gravy over them. Garnish with lemon.

Another way to dress Sweetbreads.

Don't put any water or gravy into the stew-pan, but put the same veal and bacon over the sweetbreads, and season as under directed; cover them close, put fire over as well as under, and when they are enough, take out the sweetbreads, put in a ladleful of gravy, boil it and strain it, skim off all the fat, let it boil till it jellies, and then put in the sweetbreads to glaze; lay essence of ham in the dish, and lay the sweetbreads upon it; or make a very rich gravy with mushrooms, truffles and morels, a glass of white wine, and two spoonfuls of catchup. Garnish with cocks-combs forced and stewed in the gravy.

Note, you may add to the first truffles, morels, mushrooms, cocks-combs, palates, artichoke bottoms, two spoonfuls of white wine, two of catchup, or just as you please.

N. B. There are many ways of dreffing fweetbreads: you may lard them with thin flips of bacon, and roaft them with what fauce you pleafe; or you may marinate them, cut them into thin flices, flour them and fry them. Serve them up with fried parfley, and either butter or gravy. Garnish with lemon.

Calf's Chitterlins or Andouilles.

TAKE fome of the largest calf's guts, cleanse them, cut them in pieces proportionable to the length of the puddings you design to make, and tie one end of these pieces; then take some bacon, with a calf's udder and chaldron blanched, and cut into dice or slices, put them into a stew-pan, and season with fine spice pounded, a bay-leaf, some salt, pepper and shalot cut small, and about half a piat of cream; toss it up, take off the pan and thicken your mixture mixture with four or five yolks of eggs and some crumbs of bread, then fill up your chitterlins with the stuffing, keep it warm, tie the other ends with packthread, blanche and boil them like hog's chitterlins, let them grow cold in their own liquor before you serve them up; boil them over a moderate fire, and serve them up pretty hot. These sort of andouilles, or puddings, must be made in summer, when hogs are seldom killed.

To dress Calf's Chitterlins curiously.

Cut a calf's nut in flices of its length, and the thickness of a finger, together with some ham, bacon, and the white of chickens, cut after the same manner; put the whole into a stewpan, seasoned with salt, pepper, sweet herbs and spice, then take the guts cleansed, cut and divide them in parcels, and fill them with your slices; then lay in the bottom of a kettle or pan some slices of bacon and veal, season them with some pepper, salt, a bay leaf and an onion, and lay some bacon and veal over them; them put in a pint of white wine, and let it stew softly, close covered, with fire over and under it, if the pot or pan will allow of it; then broil the puddings on a sheet of white paper well buttered on the inside.

To dress a Ham a la Braisc.

CLEAR the knuckle, take off the fwerd, and lay it in water to freshen; then tie it about with a string, take slices of bacon and beef, beat and season them well with spice and sweet herbs; then lay them in the bottom of a kettle with onions, parsnips, and carrots sliced, with some cives and parsley: lay in your ham the fat side uppermost, and cover it with slices of beef, and over that slices of bacon, then lay on some sliced roots and herbs, the same as underit: cover it close, and stop it close with passe, put sire both under it and over it, and let it stew with a very slow fire twelve hours; put it in a pan, drudge it well with grated bread, and brown it with a hot iron; then serve it up on a clean napkin, garnished with raw parsley.

Note, If you eat it hot, make a ragoo thus: take a veal sweet-bread, some livers of sowls, cocks-combs, mushrooms, and truffles; toss them up in a pint of good gravy, seasoned with spice as you like, thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour, and a glass of red wine; then brown your ham as above, and let it stand a quarter of an hour to drain the fat out; take the liquor it was stewed in, strain it, skim all the fat off, put it to the gravy and boil it up. It will do as well as the essence of ham. Sometimes you may serve it up with a ragoo of Craw-sish, and sometimes with Carp fauce.

To reast a Ham or Gammon.

TAKE off the swerd, or what we call the skin, or Rind, and lay it in luke-warm water for two or three hours; then lay it in a pan, pour upon it a quart of canary, and let it steep in it for ten or twelve hours. When you have spitted it, put some sheets of white paper over the fat side, pour the eanary it was soaked in, into the dripping-dripping-pan, and baste it with it all the time it is roasting; when it is roasted enough pull off the paper and drudge it well with crumbed bread and partley shred fine; make the fire brisk, and brown it well. If you eat it hot garnish it with raspings of bread; if cold, serve it on a clean napkin, and garnish it with green partley for a second course.

To fluff a Chine of Pork.

Make a stuffing of the fat leaf of pork, parsley, thyme, sage, eggs, crumbs of bread, season it with pepper, salt, shalot, and autmeg, stuff it thick; then roast it gently, and when it is about a quarter roasted, cut the skin in slips, and make your sauce with apples, lemon-peel, two or three cloves, and a blade of mace; sweeten it with sugar, put some butter in it, and have mustard in a cup.

Various ways of dressing a Pig.

FIRST skin your pig up to the ears whole, then make a good plumb-pudding batter, with good beef fat, fruit, eggs, milk, and flour, fill the skin, and sew it up, it will look like a pig; but you must bake it, flour it very well, and rub it all over with butter, and when it is near enough draw it to the oven's mouth, rub it dry, and put it in again for a few minutes; lay it in the dift. and let the fauce be small gravy, and butter in the dish: cut the other part of the pig into four quarters, roast them as you do lamb, throw mint and parfley on it as it roafts; then lay them on watercresses, and have mint-sauce in a bason. Any one of these quarters will make a pretty fide-dish: or take one quarter and roaft, cut the other into steaks, and fry them fine and brown. Have stewed fpinach in the dish, and lay the roast upon it, and the fryed in the middle. Garnish with hard eggs, and Seville oranges cut into quarters, and have some butter in a cup: or for change, you may have good gravy in the dish and garnish with fry'd pariley and lemon; or you may make a ragoo of sweetbreads, artichoke bottoms, truffles, morels, and good gravy, and pour over them. Garnish with lemon. Either of these will do for a top dish of a first course, or bottom dishes of a second course. You may fricafey it white for a second course at top, or a side-dish.

You may take a pig, skin him, and fill him with force-meat made thus: take two pounds of young pork, fat and all, two pounds of veal the same, some sage, thyme, parsley, a little lemon-peel, pepper, salt, mace, cloves, and a nutmeg; mix them and beat them fine in a mortar, then fill the pig and sew it up. You may either roast or bake it. Have nothing but good gravy in the dish. Or you may cut it into slices, and lay the head in the middle. Save the head whole with the skin on, and roast it by itself; when 'tis enough cut it in two, and lay in your dish: have ready some good gravy and dried sage rubbed in it, thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour, take out the brains, beat them up with the gravy, and pour them into the dish. You may add a hard egg chopped, and put into the fauce.

Note,

Note, You may make a very good pie of it, as you may fee in the directions for pies, which you may either make a bottom or fide-diff.

You must observe in your white fricasey that you take off the sat; or you may make a very good dish thus: Take a quarter of pig skinned, cut it into chops, season them with spice, and wash them with the yolks of eggs, butter the bottom of a dish, lay these steaks on the dish, and upon every steak lay some forcement the thickness of a half crown, made thus: Take half a pound of veal, and of fat pork the same quantity, chop them very well together, and beat them in a mortar fine; add some sweethers and sage, a little lemon-peel, nutneg, pepper and salt, and a little beaten mace; upon this lay a layer of bacon, or ham, and then a bay-leaf; take a little sine skewer and slick just in about two inches long, to hold them together, then pour a little melted butter over them, and send them to the oven to bake; when they are enough lay them in your dish, and pour good gravy over them, with mushrooms, and garnish with lemon.

A Pig in Jelly.

Cut it into quarters, and lay it in your stew-pan, put in one calf's foot and the pig's feet, a pint of Rhenish wine, the juice of four lemons, and one quart of water, three or four blades of mace, two or three cloves, some salt, and a very little piece of lemon-peel; stove it, or do it over a slow sire two hours: then take it up, lay the pig into the dish you intended it for, then strain the liquor, and when the jelly is cold, skim off the fat, and leave the settling at bottom. Warm the jelly again, and pour over the pig; and then serve it up cold in the jelly.

To dress a Pig the French way.

Spir your pig, lay it down to the fire, let it roast till it is thoroughly warm, then cut it off the spit, and divide it in twenty pieces. Set them to stew in half a pint of white wine, and a pint of strong broth, season'd with grated nutmeg, pepper, two onions cut small, and some stripp'd thyme. Let it stew an hour, then put to it half a pint of strong gravy, a piece of butter roll'd in slour, some anchovies, a spoonful of vinegar, or mushroompickle: When it is enough, lay it in your dish, and pour the gravy over it; then garnish it with orange and lemon.

To dress a Pig au Pere-douillet.

Cut off the head, and divide it into quarters, lard them with bacon, feason them well with mace, cloves, pepper, nutmeg and salt. Lay a layer of fat bacon at the bottom of a kettle, lay the head in the middle, and the quarters round; then put in a bay-leaf, one rocambole, an onion sliced, lemon, carrots, parsings, parsley and cives; cover it again with bacon, put in a quart of broth, stew it over the fire for an hour, and then take it up, put your pig into a stew-pan or kettle, pour in a bottle of white wine, cover it close, and let it stew for an hour very softly. If you would serve it cold, let it stand till it is cold; then drain well, and wipe it, that it may look white, and lay it in a dish with with the head in the middle, and the quarters round, then throw fome green parsley all over: Or any one of the the quarters is a very pretty little dish, laid on water-cresses. If you would have it hot, whilst your pig is stewing in the wine, take the first gravy it was stew'd in and strain it, skim off all the fat, then take a sweetbread cut into five or six slices, some trustles, morels, and mushrooms; stew all together till they are enough, thicken it with yolks of two eggs, or a piece of butter roll'd in flour, and when your pig is enough take it out, and lay it in your dish, and put the wine it was stew'd in into the ragoo; then pour all over the pig, and garnish with lemon.

A Pig Matelote. GUT and scald your pig, cut off the head and petty-toes, then cut your pig in four quarters, put them with the head and toes into cold water; cover the bottom of a stew-pan with slices of bacon, and place over them the faid quarters, with the petty-toes and the head cut in two. Seafon the whole with pepper, falt, thyme, bay-leaf, an onion, and a bottle of white wine; lay over more flices of Bacon, put over it a quart of water, and let it boil. Take two large eels, skin and gut them, and cut them about five or fix inches long; when your pig is half done put in your eels, then boil a dozen of large craw-fish, cut off the claws, and take off the shells of the tails: and when your pig and eels are enough, lay first your pig and the petty-toes round it, but don't put in the head (it will be a pretty dish cold) then lay your cels and craw-fith over them, and take the liquor they were stew'd in, skim off all the fat, then add to it half a pint of strong gravy thicken'd with a little piece of burnt butter, and pour over it; then garnish with craw-fish and lemon. This will do for a first course, or Fry the brains and lay round, and all over the dish.

To dress a Pig like a fat Lamb.

Take a fat pig, cut off his head, slit and truss him up like a lamb; when he is slit through the middle and skinned, parboil him a little, then throw some parsley over him, roast it and drudge it. Let your sauce be half a pound of butter and a pint of cream, stirred all together till it is smooth; then pour it over, and send it to table.

To roast a Pig with the Hair on.

DRAW your pig very clean at the vent, then take out the guts, liver and lights; cut off his feet and truss him, prick up his belly, spit him, lay him down to the fire, but take care not to scorch him, when the skin begins to rise up in blisters, pull of the skin, hair and all: When you have clear'd the pig of both, scotch him down to the bones, and baste him with butter and cream, or half a pound of butter, and a pint of milk, 'put it into the dripping-pan, and keep basting it well; then throw some salt over it, and drudge it with crumbs of bread till it is half an inch or an inch thick. When it is enough, and of a fine brown, but not scorch'd, take it up, say it in your dish, and let your sauce be good grary thick'd with butter roll'd in a little flour, or else make the following sauce: take half a pound of butter and a pint of cream.

put them on the fire, and keep them stirring one way all the time; when the butter is melted, and the fauce thickened, pour it into the dish. Don't garnish with any thing, unless some raspings of bread; and then, with your finger, figure it as you fancy.

To roaft a Pig with the Skin on.

LET your pig be newly killed, draw him, flea him, and wipe him very dry with a clo h; then make a hard meat with a pint of cream, the yolks of fix eggs, grated bread and beef fuet, feafoned with falt, pepper, mace, nutmeg, thyme, and lemon-peel; make of this a pretty stiff pudding, stuff the belly of the pig, and few it up; then spit it, and lay it down to roast: let your dripping-pan be very clean, then pour into it a pint of red wine, grate some nutmeg all over it, then throw a little falt over, a little thyme, and some lemon-peel minced; when it is enough, shake a little flour over it, and baste it with butter to have a fine froth. Take it up and lay it in a dish, cut off the head, take the sauce which is in your dripping-pan, and thicken it with a piece of butter; then take the brains, bruise them, mix them with the sauce, rub in a little dry'd sage, pour it into your dish, and serve it up. Garnish with hard eggs cut into quarters, and if you have not fauce enough, add half a pint of good gravy.

Note, you must take care no ashes fall into the dripping-pan, which may be prevented by having a good fire, which will not want any flirring.

To make a pretty dish of a Breast of Venison.

Take half a pound of butter, flour your venison, and fry it of a fine brown on both sides; then take it up and keep it hot covered in the dish: take some flour, and stir it into the butter till it is quite thick and brown (but take great care it don't burn) stir in half a pound of lump sugar beat fine, and pour in as much red wine as will make it of the thickness of a ragoo, squeeze in the juice of a lemon, give it a boil up, and pour it over the venison. Don't garnish your dish, but send it to table.

To boil a Haunch or Neck of Venison.

Lay it in falt for a week, then boil it in a cloth well floured; for every pound of venison, allow a quarter of an hour for the boiling. For fauce you must boil some caulislowers pulled into little sprigs in milk and water, some sine white cabbage, some turnips cut into dice, with some beat root cut into long narrow pieces about an inch and a half long, and half an inch thick; lay a sprig of caulislower, and some of the turnips mashed with some cream and a little butter; let your cabbage be boiled, and then beat in a sauce-pan with a piece of butter and salt, lay that next the caulissower, then the turnips, then cabbage, and so on till the dish is full; place the beet-root here and there just as you fancy; it looks very pretty, and is a fine dish. Have a little melted butter in a cup, if wanted.

Note, A leg of mutton cut venison fashion, and dressed the same way is a pretty dish: or a fine neck, with the scrag cut off.

This cats well broiled or hashed, with gravy and sweet sauce the next day.

To boil a Leg of Mutton like Venison.

TAKE a leg of mutton cut venison sashion, boil it in a cloth well slowered; and have three or sour caulislowers boiled, pulled into sprigs, stewed in a sauce-pan with butter, and a little pepper and salt; then have some spinach picked and washed clean, put it into a sauce-pan with a little salt, covered close and stewed a little while; then drain the liquor, and pour in a quarter of a pint of good gravy, a good piece of butter rolled in sour, and a little pepper and salt; when stewed enough, lay the spinach in the dish, the mutton in the middle, and the caulissower over it; then pour the butter the caulissower was stew'd in over it all: But you are to observe in stewing the caulissower, to melt your butter nicely, as for sauce, before the caulissower goes in. This is a genteel dish for a first course at bottom.

To roaft Tripes

Cur your tripe in two square pieces, somewhat long, have a force-meat made of crumbs of bread, pepper, salt, nutmeg, sweet herbs, lemon-peel, and the yolks of eggs mixt all together; spread it on the sat side of the tripe, and lay the other sat side next it; then roll it as light as you can, and tie it with a packthread; spit it, roast it, and baste it with butter; when roasted lay it in your dish, and for sauce melt some butter, and add what dropped from the tripe. Boil it together, and garnish with raspings.

TO DRESS POULTRY.

To roast à Turkey.

THE best way to roust a turkey is to loosen the skin on the breast of the turkey, and fill it with force-meat, made thus: take a quarter of a pound of beef-fuet, as many crumbs of bread, a little lemon-peel, an anchovy, fome nutmeg, pepper, partley, and a little thyme. Chop and beat them all well together, mix them with the yolk of an egg; and stuff up the breast; when you have no fuet, butter will do; or you may make your force-meat thus: spread bread and butter thin, and grate some nutmeg over it; when you have enough, roll it up, and stuff the breast of the turkey; then roalt it of a fine brown, but be fure to pin fome white paper on the breast till it is near enough. You must have; good gravy in the dish, and bread sauce made thus : take a good piece of crumb, put it into a pint of water, with a blade or two of mace, two or three cloves, and some whole pepper. Boil it up five or fix times, then with a spoon take out the spice, you had before put in, and then you must pour off the water, (you may boil an onion in it if you please) then beat up the bread with a good piece of butter and a little falt; or onion fauce made thus: take some onlons, peel them and cut them into thin slices, and boil them half an hour in milk and water, then drain the water from them, and beat them up with a good piece of butter; shake a little little flour in, and stir it all together with a little cream, if you have it, (or milk will do) put the fauce into boats, and garnish with lemon.

Another way to make fauce: take half a pint of oysters, strain the liquor, and put the oysters with the liquor into a sauce-pan with a blade or two of mace; let them just plump, then pour in a glass of white wine, let it boil once, and thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour. Serve this up in a bason by itself, with good gravy in the dish, for every body don't love oyster-sauce. This makes a pretty side-dish for supper, or a corner-dish of a table for dinner. If you chase it in the dish, add half a pint of gravy to it, and boil it up together. This sauce is good either with boiled or roasted turkies or sowls; but you may leave the gravy out, adding as much butter as will do for sauce, and garnishing with lemon.

To make a Mock Oyster-Sauce, either for Turkies or Fowls boil'd.

Force the turkies or fowls as above, and make your fauce thus: take a quarter of a pint of water, an anchovy, a blade or two of mace, a piece of lemon-peel, and five or fix whole pepper corns, boil these together, then strain them, add as much butter with a little flour as will do for fauce; let it boil, and lay sausages round the fowl or turkey. Garnish with lemon.

To make Mushroom-Sauce for White Fowls of all sorts.

Take a pint of mushrooms, wash and pick them very clean, and put them into a sauce-pan, with a little salt, some nutmeg, a blade of mace, a pint of cream, and a good piece of butter roll'd in flour. Boil these all together, and keep stirring them; then pour your sauce into your dish, and garnish with lemon.

Musbroom-Sauce for White Fowls boiled.

Take half a pint of cream, and a quarter of a pound of butter, für them together one way till it is thick; then add a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, pickled mushrooms, or fresh, if you have them. Garnish only with lemon.

To make Celery-fauce, either for roafted or boil'd Fowls, Turkies, Partridges, or any other Game.

TAKE a large bunch of celery, wash and pare it vory clean, cut it into little thin bits, and boil it softly in a little water till it is tender; then add a little beaten mace, some nutmeg, pepper and salt, thicken'd with a good piece of butter rolled in flour; then boil it up, and pour into your dish.

You may make it with cream thus: boil your celery as above, and add fome mace, nutmeg, a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour, and half a pint of cream; boil them all together, and you may add, if you will, a glass of white wine, and a spoonful of catchup.

To make Brown Celery Sauce.

Stew the celery as above, then add mace, nutning, pepper, falt, a piece of butter rolled in flour, with a glass of red wine, a fpoonful of catchup, and half a pint of good gravy, boil all these together, and pour into the dish. Garnish with lemon.

To flew a Turkey or Fowl in Celery Sauce.

You must judge according to the largeness of your turkey or fowl, what celery or sauce you want. Take a large sowl, put it into a sauce-pan or pot, and put to it one quart of good broth or gravy, a bunch of celery washed clean and cut small, with some mace, cloves, pepper, and allspice tied loose in a muslin-rag; put in an onion and a spring of thyme; let these stew softly till they are enough, then add a piece of butter rolled in slour; take up your fowl, and pour the sauce over it. An hour will do a large fowl, or a small turkey; but a very large turkey will take two hours to do it softly. If it is overdone or dry it is spoiled; but you may be a judge of that, if you look at it now and then. Mind to take out the onion, thyme, and spice, before you send it to table.

Note, A neck of veal done this way is very good, and will take two hours doing.

To make Egg Sauce proper for roafted Chickens.

MELT your butter thick and fine, chop two or three hardboiled eggs fine, put them into a bason, pour the butter over them, and have good gravy in the dish.

Shalot Sauce for roafted Fowls.

TAKE five or fix shalots peeled and cut small, put them into a fauce-pan, with two spoonfuls of white wine, two of water, and two of vinegar; give them a boil up, and pour them into your dish, with a little pepper and salt. Fowls roasted and laid on water-cresses is very good, without any other sauce.

Shalot-Sauce for a Scraig of Mutton boiled.

TAKE two spoonfuls of the liquor the mutton is boiled in, two spoonfuls of vinegar, two or three shalots cut fine, with a little salt; put it into a sauce-pan, with a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in a little flour; stir it together, and give it a boil. For those who love shalot, it is the prettiest sauce that can be made to a scraig of mutton.

To drefs Livers with Mushroom-Sauce.

TAKE some pickled or fresh mushrooms, cut small; both if you have them, and let the livers be bruised fine, with a good deal of parsley chopp'd small, a spoonful or two of catchup, a glass of white wine, and as much good gravy as will make sauce enough; thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour. This does either for roast or boil'd.

A pretty little Sauce.

TAKE the liver of the fowl, bruife it with a little of the liquor, cut a little lemon-peel fine, melt fome good butter, and mix the liver by degrees; give it a boil, and pour it into the dish.

To make Lemon-Sauce for boiled Fowls.

TAKE a lemon, pare off the rind, then cut it into flices, and cut it fmall; take all the kernels out, bruife the liver with two or three spoonfuls of good gravy, then melt some butter, mix it all E 2 together, give them a boil, and cut in a little lemon-peel very fmall.

A German Way of dressing Fowls.

TAKE a turkey or a fowl, stuff the breast with what force-meat you like, and fill the body with roasted chefnuts peel'd. Roast it, and have some more roasted chefnuts peel'd, put them in half a pint of good gravy, with a little piece of butter rolled in flour; boil these together, with some small turnips, and sausages cut in slices, and fry'd or boil'd. Garnish with chefnuts.

Note, You may dress ducks the same way.

To drefs a Turkey or Fowl to Perfection.

Bone them, and make a force-meat thus: take the flesh of a fowl, cut it small, then take a pound of veal, beat it in a mortar, with half a pound of beef-suet, as much crumbs of bread, some mushrooms, truffles and morels cut small, a few sweet-herbs and partiey, with some nutmeg, pepper and salt, a little mace beaten, some lemon-peel cut sine; mix all these together, with yolks of two eggs, then sill your turkey, and roast it. This will do for a large turkey, and so in proportion for a sowl. Let your sauce be good gravy, with mushrooms, truffles and morels in it; then garnish with lemon, and for variety sake you may lard your sowler turkey.

To flew a Turkey Brown.

TAKE your turkey after it is nicely pick'd and drawn, fill the skin of the breast with force-meat, and put an anchovy, a smalot, and a little thyme in the belly, lard the breath with bacon, then put a good piece of butter in the stew-pan, flour the turkey, and fry it just of a fine brown; then take it out, and put it into a deep flew-pan, or little pot, that will just hold it, and put in asmuch gravy as will barely cover it, a glass of red wine, some whole pepper. mace, and two or three cloves, and a little bundle of fweet-herbs: cover it close, and slew it for an hour, then take up the turkey. and keep it hot cover'd by the fire, and boil the fauce to about a pint, itrain it off, add the yolks of two eggs, and a piece of butter rolled in flour; stir it till it is thick, and then lay your rurkey in the dish, and pour your fauce over it. You may have ready fome little French loaves, about the bigness of an egg, cut off the tops, and take out the crumb, then fry them of a fine brown, fill them with flewed oysters, lay them round the dish, and garnish with lemon.

To flow a Turkey Brown the nice Way.

Bone it, and fill it with force meat made thus: take the flesh of a fowl, half a pound of veal, and the flesh of two Pigeons, with a well pickled or dried tongue, peel it, and chop it all together, then beat it in a mortar, with the marrow of a Beef bone, or a pound of the fat of a loin of veal; season it with two or three blades of mace, two or three cloves, and half a numer dried at a good distance from the fire and pounded, with a little pepper and salt: mix all this well together, fill your turkey, fry them of a fine brown, and put it into a little pot that will just hold hold it: lay four or five skewers at the bottom of the pot, to keep the turkey from slicking; put in a quart of good beef and veal gravy, wherein was boiled spice and sweet-herbs, cover it close, and let it stew half an hour; then put in a glass of red wine, one spoonful of catchup, a large spoonful of pickled mushrooms, and a few fresh ones, if you have them, a few truffles and morels. piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour; cover it close. and let it stew half an hour longer: get the little French rolls ready fry'd, take some oysters and strain the liquor from them, then put the ovsters and liquor into a sauce-pan, with a blade of mace. a little white wine, and a piece of butter rolled in flour; let them flew till it is thick, then fill the loaves, lay the turkey in the diff. and pour the fauce over it. If there is any fat on the gravy take it off, and lay the loaves on each fide of the turkey. Garnish with lemon when you have no loaves, and take oysters dipt in batter and frv'd.

Note, The same will do for any white fowl.

A Forel a la Braise.

Truss your fowl, with the legs turned into the belly, feafon it both infide and out, with beaten mace, nutmeg, pepper and falt, lay a layer of bacon at the bottom of a deep stew pan, then a layer of veal, and after the fowl, then put in an onion, two or three cloves stuck in a little bundle of sweet herbs, with a piece of carrot, then put at the top a layer of Bacon, another of veal, and a third of beef, cover it close, and let it stand over the fire for two or three minutes, then pour in a pint of broth, or hot water; cover it close, and let it stew an hour, afterwards take up your fowl, strain the sauce, and after you have skimm'd off the fat, thicken it with a little piece of butter. You may add just what you please to the fauce. A ragoo of fweet-herbs, cocks-combs, truffles and morels, or mushrooms, with force-meat balls, looks very pretty, Tarkey or or any of the fauces above. To Force a Fowl.

TAKE a good fowl, pick and draw it, slit the skin down the back, and take the slesh from the bones, mince it very small, and mix it with one pound of beef suet shred, a pint of large oysters chopped, two anchovies, a shalot, a little grated bread, and some sweet herbs, shred all this very well, mix them together, and make it up with the yolks of eggs, then turn all these ingredients on the bones again, and draw the skin over again, then sew up the back, and either boil the fowl in a bladder an hour and a quarter, or roast it, then stew some more oysters in gravy, bruise in a little of your force-meat, mix it up with a little fresh butter, and a very little flour; then give it a boil, lay your sowl in the dish, and pour the sauce over it, garnishing with lemon.

To roaft a Fowl with Chefnuts,

First take some chesnuts, roast them very carefully, so as not to burn them, take off the skin and peel them, take about a dozen of them cut small, and bruise them in a mortar; parboil the liver of the sowl, bruise it, cut about a quarter of a pound of ham or bacon, and pound it; then mix them all together, with a good deal of parsley chopp'd fine, a little sweet herbs, some mace, pepper, salt and nutmeg; mix these together and put into your sowl, and roast it. The best way of doing it is to tie the neck, and hang it up by the legs to roast with a string, and baste it with butter. For sauce take the rest of the chesnuts peel'd and skinn'd, put them into some good gravy, with a little white wine, and thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour; then take up your sowl, lay it in the dish, and pour in the sauce. Garnish with lemon.

Pullets a la Sainte Menebout.

AFTER having truss'd the legs in the body, slit them along the back, spread them open on a table, take out the thigh bone, and beat them with a rolling-pin: then feafon them with pepper, falt, mace, nutmeg and sweet-herbs; after that take a pound and a half of veal, cut it into thin flices, and lay it in a stew-pan of a convenient fize to stew the pullets in: cover it, and set it over a stove or flow fire, and when it begins to cleave to the pan, stir in a little flour, shake the pan about till it be a little brown, then pour in as much broth as will stew the fowls, stir it together, put in a little whole pepper and an onion, and a little piece of bacon or ham; then lay in your fowls, cover them close, and let them stew half an hour; then take them out, lay them on the gridiron to brown on the infide, then lay them before the fire to do on the outfide: strew them over with the yolk of an egg, some crumbs of bread, and baste them with a little butter: let them be of a fine brown. and boil the gravy till there is about enough for fauce, strain it, put a few mushrooms in, and a little piece of butter rolled in flour : lay the pullets in the dish, and pour in the sauce. Garnish with

Note, You may brown them in the oven, or fry them, which you please.

Chicken Surprize.

Ir a small dish one large fowl will do, roast it, and take the lean from the bone, cut it in thin slices, about an inch long, tofs it up with fix or feven spoonfuls of cream, and a piece of butter rolled in flour, as big as a walnut. Boil it up, and fet it to cool; then cut fix or seven thin slices of bacon round, place them in a petty-pan, and put some force-meat on each side, work them up into the form of a French roll, with a raw egg in your hand, leaving a hollow place in the middle; put in your fowl, and cover them with some of the same force-meat, rubbing them smooth with your hand with a raw egg; make them of the height and bigness of a French roll, and throw a little fine bread over them, bake them three quarters of an hour in a gentle oven, or under a baking cover, till they come to a fine brown, and place them on your mazarine, that they may not touch one another, but place them fo that they may not fall flat in the baking; or you may form them on your table with a broad kitchen knife, and place them on the thing you intend to bake them on. You may put the leg of a chicken into one of the loaves you intend for the middle. Let your fauce be gravy thickened with butter and a little juice of lemon. This is a pretty fide dish for a first course, summer or winter, if you can get them.

Mutton Chops in Difguise.

TAKE as many mutton chops as you want, rub them with pepper, falt, nutmeg, and a little parlley; roll each chop in half a fheet of white paper, well buttered on the infide, and rolled on each end close. Have some hog's lard or beef dripping boiling in a stew-pan, put in the steaks, fry them of a fine brown, lay them in your dish, and garnish with fry'd parsley; throw some all over, have a little good gravy in a cup, but take great care you don't break the paper, nor have any fat in the dish, but let them be well drained.

Chickens roafted with Force-meat and Cucumbers.

TAKE two chickens, dress them very neatly, break the breast bone, and make a force-meat thus: take the flesh of a fowl and of two pigeons, with some slices of ham or bacon, chop them all well together, take the crumb of a penny loaf foaked in milk and boiled, then fet it to cool; when it is cool mix it all together. season it with beaten mace, nutmeg, pepper, and a little salt, a very little thyme, some parsley, and a little lemon-peel, with the yolks of two eggs: then fill your fowls, fpit them, and tie them at both ends; after you have paper'd the breast, take four cucumbers, cut them in two, and lay them in falt and water two or three hours before; then dry them, and fill them with some of the force-meat (which you must take care to save) and tie them with a packthread, flour them, and fry them of a fine brown; when your chickens are enough, lay them in the dish, and untie your cucumbers, but take care the meat don't come out; then lay them round the chickens with the flat fide downwards, and the narrow end upwards. You must have some rich fry'd gravy, and pour into the dish; then garnish with lemon.

Note, One large fowl done this way, with the cucumbers laid round it looks very pretty, and is a very good dish.

Chickens a la Braise.

You must take a couple of fine chickens, lard them, and season them with pepper, salt and mace; then lay a layer of veal in the bottom of a deep stew-pan, with a slice or two of bacon, an onion cut to pieces, a piece of carrot and a layer of beef; then lay in the chickens with the breast downward, and a bundle of sweet herbs; after that lay a layer of beef, and put in a quart of broth or water; cover it close, let it stew very softly for an hour after it begins to simmer. In the mean time, get ready a ragoo thus: take a good veal sweetbread, or two, cut them small, set them on the fire, with a very little broth or water, a few cockscombs, truffles and morels, cut small, with an ox-palate, if you have it; stew them all together till they are enough, and when your chickens are done, take them up, and keep them hot; then strain the liquor they were stew'd in, skim the fat off and pour into your ragoo; add a glass of red wine, a spoonful of catchup, and a few mushrooms; then boil all together with a few artichoke-bottoms cut in four, and asparagus-tops. If your sauce is not thick thick enough, take a little piece of butter roll'd in flour, and when enough lay your chickens in the dish, and pour the ragoo over them. Garnish with lemon.

Or you may make your fauce thus, take the gravy the fowls were stew'd in, strain it, skim off the fat, have ready half a pint of oysters, with the liquor strained, put them to your gravy with a glass of white wine, a good piece of butter rolled in flour; then boil them all together, and pour over your fowls, Garnish with lemon.

To marinate Fowls.

TAKE a fine large fowl or turkey, raise the skin from the breastbone with your singer, then take a veal sweetbread and cut it small, a few oysters, a few mushrooms, an anchovy, some pepper, a little nutmeg, some lemon-peel, and a little thyme; chop all together small, and mixed with the yolk of an egg, stuff it in between the skin and the slesh, but take great care you don't break the skin, and then stuff what oysters you please into the body of the sowl. You may lard the breast of the sowl with bacon, if you chuse it. Paper the breast, and roast it. Make good gravy, and garnish with lemon. You may add a few mushrooms to the sauce.

To broil Chickens.

SLIT them down the back, and feafon them with pepper and falt, lay them on a very clear fire, and at a great distance. Let the inside lie next the fire till it is above half done; then turn them, and take great care the siesny side don't burn, throw some fine raspings of bread over it, and let them be of a fine brown, but not burnt. Let your sauce be good gravy, with mushrooms, and garnish with lemon and the livers broiled, the gizzards cut, slashed, and broiled with pepper and salt.

Or this fauce: Take a handful of forrel, dip it in boiling water, drain it, and have ready half a pint of good gravy, a shalot shred small, and some parsley boiled very green; thicken it with a picce of butter rolled in flour, and add a glass of red wine, then lay your forrel in heaps round the fowls, and pour the sauce over them,

Garnish with lemon.

Note, You may make just what sauce you fancy.

Pulled Chickens.

Take three chickens, boil them just sit for eating, but not too much; when they are boiled enough, slea all the skin off, and take the white slesh off the bones, pull it into pieces about as thick as a large quill, and half as long as your singer. Have ready a quarter of a pinn of good cream and a piece of fresh butter about as big as an egg, slir them together till the butter is all melted, and then put in your chickens with the gravy that came from them, give them two or three tosses round on the sire, put them into a dish, and send them up hot.

Note, the leg makes a very pretty dish by itself, broiled very nicely with some pepper and salt; the livers being broiled and the gizzards broiled, cut, and slashed, and laid round the legs, with good gravy-fauce in the dish. Garnish with lemon,

A pretty way of flowing Chickens.

Take two fine chickens, half boil them, then take them up in a pewter or filver dish, if you have one; cut up your fowls, and separate all the joint-bones one from another, and then take out the breast-bones. If there is not liquor enough from the sowls, add a few spoonfuls of water they were boiled in, put in a blade or two of mace, and a little salt; cover it close with another dish, set it over a stove or chassing-dish of coals, let it stew till the chickens are enough, and then send them hot to the table in the same dish they were stewed in.

Note, This is a very pretty dish for a fick person, or for a lyingin Lady. For change it is better than butter, and the sauce is very agreeable and pretty.

N. B. You may do rabbits, partridges, or more game this way.

Chickens Chringrate.

Cur off their feet, break their breait-bone flat with a rolling-pin, but take care you don't break the skin; flour them, fry them of a fine brown in butter, then drain all the fat out of the pan, but leave the chickens in. Lay a pound of gravy beef cut very thin over your chickens, and a piece of veal cut very thin, a little mace, two or three cloves, some whole pepper, an onion, a little bundle of sweet herbs, and a piece of carrot, and then pour in a quart of boiling water; cover it close, let it slew for a quarter of an hour, then take out the chickens and keep them hot; let the gravy boil till it is quite rich and good, then itrain it off and put it into your pan again, with two spoonfuls of red wine, and a few mushrooms; put in your chickens to heat, then take them up, lay them into your dish, and pour your sauce over them. Garnish with lemon, and a few slices of cold ham warm'd in the gravy.

Note, You may fill your chickens with force-meat, and lard them with bacon, and add truffles, morels and sweetbreads cut finall, but then it will be a very high dish.

Chickens boiled with Bacon and Celery.

Boil two chickens very white in a pot by themselves, and a piece of ham, or good thick bacon; boil two bunches of celery tender, then cut them about two inches long, all the white part, put it into a sauce-pan with half a pint of cream, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and some pepper and salt; set it on the fire, and shake it often: when it is thick and fine, lay your chickens in the dish and pour the sauce in the middle, that the celery may lay between the sowls, and garnish the dish all round with slices of ham or bacon.

Note, If you have cold ham in the house, that cut into slices and broiled does full as well, or better, to lay round the dish.

Chickens with Tongues. A good dish for a great deal of company.

TAKE fix small chickens boiled very white, fix hogs tongues boiled and peeled, a cauliflower boiled very white in milk and water whole, and a good deal of spinach boiled green; then lay your cauliflower in the middle, the chickens close all round, and the tongues.

tongues round them with the roots outwards, and the spinach in littic heaps between the tongues. Garnish with little pieces of bacon toasted, and lay a little bit on each of the tongues.

Scotch Chickens.

First wash your chickens, dry them in a clean cloth, and finge them, then cut them into quarters; put them into a stew-pan or fauce-pan, and just cover them with water, put in a blade or two of mace, and a little bundle of parsley; cover them close, and let them stew half an hour, then chop half a handful of clean washed parsley and throw in, and have ready fix eggs, whites and all, beat fine. Let your liquor boil up, and pour the egg all over them as it boils; then send all together hot in a deep dish, but take out the bundle of parsley first. You may be sure to skim them well before you put in your mace, and the broth will be fine and clear.

Note, This is also a very pretty dish for sick people, but the Scotch gentlemen are very fond of it.

To marinate Chickens.

Cut two chickens into quarters, lay them in vinegar for three or four hours, with pepper, falt, a bay-leaf, and a few cloves, make a very thick batter, first with half a pint of wine and flour, then the yolks of two eggs, a little melted butter, some grated nutmeg and chopp'd parsley; beat all very well together, dip your fowls in the batter, and fry them in a good deal of hog's-lard, which must first boil before you put your chickens in. Let them be of a fine brown, and lay them in your dish like a pyramid, with stry'd parsley all round them. Garnish with lemon, and have some good gravy in boats or basons.

To stew Chickens.

Take two chickens, cut them into Quarters, wash them clean, and then put them into a sauce-pan; put to them a quarter of a pint of water, half a pint of red wine, some mace, pepper, a bundle of sweet-herbs, an onion, and a few raspings; cover them close, let them stew half an hour, then take a piece of butter about as big as an egg rolled in flour, put it in and cover it close for five or fix minutes, shake the sauce-pan about, and then take out the sweet-herbs and onion. You may take the yolks of two eggs, beat and mix'd with them; if you don't like it, leave them out. Garnish with lemon.

Ducks a la Mode.

Take two fine ducks, cut them into quarters, fry them in butter a little brown, then pour out all the fat, and throw a little flour over them; add half a pint of good gravy, a quarter of a pint red wine, two shalots, an anchovy, and a bundle of sweet-herbs; cover them close, and let them slew a quarter of an hour; take out the herbs, skim off the fat, and let your sauce be as thick as cream. Send it to table, and garnish with lemon.

To drefs a Wild Duck the best Way.

FIRST half roast it, then lay it in a dish, carve it, but leave the joints hanging together, throw a little pepper and salt, and squeeze fqueeze the juice of a lemon over it, turn it on the breast, and press it hard with a plate, then add to it its own gravy, and two or three spoonfuls of good gravy; cover it close with another dish, and set it over a stove ten minutes, then send it to table hot in the dish it was done in, and garnish with lemon. You may add a little red wine, and a shalot cut small, if you like it, but it is apt to make the duck eat hard, unless you first heat the wine and pour it in just as it is done.

To boil a Duck or Rabbit with Onions.

BoIL your duck or rabbit in a good deal of water, be fure to skim your water, for there will always rise a skim, which if it boils down will discolour your fowls, &c. They will take about half an hour boiling; for sauce, your onions must be peel'd, and throw them into water as you peel them, then cut them into thin slices, boil them in milk and water, and skim the liquor. Half an hour will boil them. Throw them into a clean sieve to drain them, put them into a sauce-pan and chop them small, shake in a little slour, put to them two or three spoonfuls of cream, a good piece of butter, stew all together over the fire till they are thick and sine, lay the duck or rabbit in the dish, and pour the sauce all over; if a rabbit, you must cut off the head and cut it in two, and lay it on each side the dish.

Or you may make this fauce for change: take one large onion, cut small, half a handful of parsley clean washed and picked, chop it small, a lettuce cut small, a quarter of a pint of good gravy, a good piece of butter rolled in a little flour; add a little juice of lemon, a little pepper and salt, let all stew together for half an hour, then add two spoonfuls of red wine. This sauce is most proper for a duck; lay your duck in the dish, and pour your sauce over it.

To dress a Duck with Green Peas.

Pur a deep stew-pan over the fire, with a piece of fresh butter, finge your duck and flour it, turn it in the pan two or three minutes, then pour out all the fat, but let the duck remain in the pan; put to it half a pint of good gravy, a pint of peas, two lettuces cut small, a small bundle of sweet-herbs, a little pepper and salt, cover them close, and let them stew for half an hour, now and then give the pan a shake; when they are just done, grate in a little nutmeg, and put in a very little beaten mace, and thicken it either with a piece of butter rolled in flour, or the yolk of an egg beat up with two or three spoonfuls of cream; shake it all together for three or sour minutes, take out the sweet herbs, lay the duck in the dish, and pour the sauce over it. You may garnish with boiled mint chopp'd, or let it alone.

To dress a Duck with Cucumbers.

TAKE three or four cucumbers, pare them, take out the feeds, cut them into little pieces, lay them in vinegar for two or three hours before, with two large onions peeled and fliced, then do your duck as above; then take the duck out, and put in the cucumbers and onions, first drain them in a cloth, let them be a little brown, shake a little flour over them, in the mean time let your duck be stewing in the sauce-pan with half a pint of gravy for a quarter of an hour, then add to it the cucumbers and onions, with pepper and salt to your palate, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, and two or three spoonfuls of red wine; shake all together, and let it stew togeher for eight or ten minutes, then take up your duck and pour the sauce over it.

Or you may roast your duck, and make this sauce and pour over it, but then a quarter of a pint of gravy will be enough.

To drefs a Duck a la Braise.

TAKE a duck, lard it with little pieces of bacon, feafon it infide and out, with pepper and falt, lay a layer of bacon, cut thin, in the bottom of a stew-pan, and then a layer of lean beef cut thin, then lay on your duck with fome carrot, and onion, a little bundle of fiveet herbs, a blade or two of mace, and law a thin layer of beef over the duck; cover it close, and fer it over a flow fire for eight or ten minutes, then take off the cover and foaks in a little flour, give the pan a shake, pour in a pint of small broth or boiling water; give the pan a shake or two, cover it close a sain, and let it flew half an hour, then take off the cover, take out the duck and keep it hot, let the fauce boil till there is about a quarter of a pint or little better, then strain it and put is the stew-pan again, with a glass of red wine; put in your duck, shake the pan and let it flew four or five minutes; then lav your duck in the dish and pour the fauce over it, and garnish with lemon. If you love your duck very high, you may fill it with the following ingredients: take a veal sweetbread cut in eight or ten pieces, a few truffles, some oysters, a little sweet herbs and parsley chopp'd fine, a little pepper, falt, and beaten mace; fill your duck with the above ingredients, tie both ends tight, and dress as above; or you may fill it with force-meat made thus: take a little piece of veal, take all the skin and fat off, beat in a mortar with as much fuet, and an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, a few sweet herbs, some parsley chopp'd, a little lemon-peel, pepper, falt, beaten mace and nutmeg, and mix it up with the yolk of an egg.

You may flew an ox's palate tender, and cut it into pieces, with fome artichoke-bottoms cut into four, and toffid up in the fauce. You may lard your duck or let it alone, just as you please; for my part I think it best without.

To boil Ducks the French Way.

Let your ducks be larded and half roasted, then take them off the spit, put them into a large earthen pipkin, with half a pint of red wine, and a pint of good gravy, some chesnuts, first roast, ed and peeled, half a pint of large ovsters, the liquor strained and the beards taken off, two or three little onions minced small, a very little stripped thyme, mace, pepper, and a little ginger beat sine; cover it close, and let them stew half an hour over a flow sire, and the crust of a French roll grated when you put in your gravy and wine; when they are enough take them up, and pour the sauce over them.

To drefs a Goofe with Onions or Cabbage.

SALT the goofe for a week, then boil it. It will take an hour. You may either make onion fauce as we do for ducks, or cabbage boiled, chopped, and stewed in butter, with a little pepper and salt; lay the goose in the dish, and pour the sauce over it. It eats very good with either.

Directions for Roafting a Goofe.

TAKE fage, wash it, pick it clean, chop it small, with pepper and salt; roll them with butter, and put them into the belly; never put onion into any thing, unless you are sure every body loves it; take care that your goose be clean picked and washed. I think the best way is to scald a goose, and then you are sure it is clean, and not so throng: Let your water be scalding hot, dip in your goose for a minute, then all the feathers will come off clean: when it is quite clean wash it with cold water, and dry it with a cloth; roast it and baste it with butter, and when it is half done throw some flour over it, that it may have a sine brown. Three quarters of an hour will do it at a quick fire, if it is not too large, otherwise it will require an hour. Always have good gravy in a bason, and apple-sauce in another.

A Green Goose.

Never put any feasoning into it, unless desired. You must either put good gravy, or green-sauce in the dish, made thus: take a handful of sorrel, beat in a mortar, and squeeze the juice out, add to it the juice of an orange or lemon, and a little sugar, beat it in a pipkin, and pour it into your dish; but the best way is to put gravy in the dish, and green-sauce in a cup or boat. Or made thus: take half a pint of the juice of sorrel, a spoonful of white wine, a little grated nutmeg, a little grated bread; boil these a quarter of an hour softly, then strain it and put it into the sauce-pan again, and sweeten it with a little sugar, give it a boil, and pour it into a dish or bason; some like a little piece of butter rolled in flour, and put into it.

To dry a Goofe.

GET a fat goose, take a handful of common salt, a quarter of an ounce of salt-petre, a quarter of a pound of coarse sugar, mix all together, and rub your goose very well, let it lie in this pickle a fortnight, turning and rubbing it every day, then roll it in bran, and hang it up in a chimney where wood-smoke is for a week. If you have not that conveniency send it to the bakers, the smoke of the oven will dry it; or you may hang it in your own chimney, not too near the sire, but make a fire under it, and and lay horse-dung and saw-dust on it, and that will smother and smoke-dry it; when it is well dried keep it in a dry place, you may keep it two or three months or more; when you boil it put it in a good deal of water, and be sure to skim it well

Note, You may boil turnips, or cabbage boiled and stewed in butter, or onion-fauce.

To dress a Goose in Rageo.

FLAT the breast down with a cleaver, then press it down with your hand, skin it, dip it into scalding water, let it be cold, lard it with bacon, season it well with pepper, salt, and a little beaten mace, then flour it all over, take a pound of good beef-suet cut small, put it into a deep stew-pan, let it be melted, then put in your goose, let it be brown on both sides; when it is brown put in a pint of boiling water, an onion or two, a bundle of sweetherbs, a bay-leaf, some whole pepper, and a few cloves; cover it close, and let it stew softly till it is tender. About half an hour will do it, if small; if a large one, three quarters of an hour: In the mean time make a ragoo, boil some turnips almost enough, some carrots and onions quite enough; cut them all into little pieces, put them into a sauce-pan with half a pint of good beefgravy, a little pepper and salt, a piece of butter rolled in sour, and let this stew all together a quarter of an hour. Take the goose and drain it well, then lay it in the dish, and pour the ragoo over it.

Where the onion is disliked, leave it out. You may add cabbage boiled and chopped small.

A Goose a la Mode.

TAKE a large fine goose, pick it clean, skin it, and cut it = 1 down the back, bone it nicely, take the fat off, then take a dried tongue, boil it and peel it: take a fowl and do it in the fame manner as the goofe, feafon it with pepper, falt and beaten mace, roll it round the tongue, season the goose with the same, put the tongue and sowl in the goose, and sew the goose up again in the same form it was before; put it into a little pot that will just hold it, put to it two quarts of beef gravy, a bundle of sweet herbs and an onion; put some slices of ham, or good bacon, between the fowl and goose; cover it close, and let it stew an hour v over a good fire: When it begins to boil let it do very foftly, then take up your goofe and skim off all the fat, strain it, put in a glass of red wine, two spoonfuls of catchup, a veal sweetbread cut small, some truffles, morels and mushrooms, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and some pepper and falt, if wanted; put in the goose again, cover it close, and let it stew half an hour longer. then take it up and pour the ragoo over it. Garnish with lemon.

Note, This is a very fine difth. You must mind to save the bones of the goose and fowl, and put them into the gravy when it is first set on, and it will be better if you roll some beef marrow between the tongue and sowl, and between the fowl and goose, it will make them mellow and eat fine. You may add six or seven yolks of hard eggs, whole in the dish, they are a pretty addition.

Take care to skim off the fat.

To Stew Giblets.

LET them be nicely scalded and picked, break the two pinion bones in two, cut the head in two, and cut off the nostrils; cut the liver in two, the gizzard in four, and the neck in two; slip off the skin of the neck, and make a pudding with two hard eggs chopp'd chopp'd fine, the crumb of a French roll steeped in new milk two or three hours, then mix it with the hard egg, a little autmeg, pepper, salt, and a little sage chopped sine, a very little meked butter, and stir it together: tie one end of the skin, and sill it with the ingredients, tie the other end tight, and put all together in the sauce-pan, with a quart of good mutton broth, a bundle of sweet-herbs, an onion, some whole pepper, mace, two or three cloves ty'd up loose in a muslin rag, and a very little piece of lemon-peel; cover them close and let them sew till quite tender, then take a small French roll toasted brown on all sides, and put it into the sauce-pan, give it a shake, and let it sew till there is just gravy enough to eat with them, then take out the onion, sweet herbs and spices, lay the roll in the middle, the giblets round, the pudding cut in slices and laid round, and them put the sauce over all.

Another Way.

TAKE the giblets clean pick'd and wash'd, the feet skinn'd and bill cut off, the head cut in two, the pinion bones broke into two, the liver cut in two, the gizzard cut into four, the pipe pulled out of the neck, the neck cut in two: put them into a pipkin with half a pint of water, some whole pepper, black and white, a blade of mace, a little spring of thyme, a small onion, a little crust of bread, then cover them close, and set them on a very slow fire. Wood embers is best. Let them stew till they are quite tender, then take out the herbs and onions, and pour them into a little dish. Season them with salt.

To Roaft Pigeons.

FILL them with parsley clean wash'd and chopp'd, and some pepper and salt rolled in butter; fill the bellies, tie the neck-end close, so that nothing can run out, put a skewer through the legs, and have a little iron on purpose, with six hooks to it, and on each hook hang a pigeon; sasten one end of the string to the chimacy, and the other end to the iron (this is what we call the poor man's spit) flour them, baste them with butter, and turn them gently for fear of hitting the bars. They will roast nicely, and be sully of gravy. Take care how you take them off, not to lose any of the liquor. You may melt a very little butter, and put into the dish. Your pigeons ought to be quite fresh, and not too much done. This is by much the best way of doing them, for then they will swim in their own gravy, and a very little melted butter will do.

When you roast them on a spit all the gravy runs out, or if you stuff them and broil them whole you cannot save the gravy so well, though they will be very good with parsley and butter in the dish, or split and broiled with pepper and salt.

· To Boil Pigeons ..

Boil them by themselves, for fifteen minutes, then boil a handfome square piece of bacon and lay in the middle; stew some spinach to lay round, and lay the pigeons on the spinach. Garaish your dish with parsley laid in a plate before the fire to crisp.

To dress a Calf's Liver in a Caul.

TAKE off the under skins and shred the liver very small, then take an ounce of truffles and morels chopped small with parfley; roast two or three onions, take off their outermost coats, pound fix cloves, and a dozen coriander feeds, add them to the onions, and pound them together in a marble mortar; then take them out and mix them with the liver, take a pint of cream, half a pint of milk, and seven or eight new-laid eggs; beat them together, boil them, but do not let them curdle, shred a pound of suer as small as you can, half melt it in a pan, and pour it into your egg and cream, then pour it in your liver, then mix all well together, season it with pepper, salt, nutmeg and a little thyme, and let it stand till it is cold: spread a caul over the bottom and fides of the stew-pan, and put in your hashed liver and cream all together, fold it up in the caul in the shape of a calf's liver, then turn it up-fide down carefully, lay it in a dish that will bear the oven, and do it over with beaten egg, drudge it with grated bread, and Serve it up hot for a first course. bake it in an oven.

To roaft Calf's Liver.

LARD it with bacon, spit it first, and roast it; serve it up with good gravy.

To roast Partridges

LET them be nicely roasted but not too much, drudge them with a little flour, and baste them moderately; let them have a fine froth, let there be good gravy-sauce in the dish and bread-sauce in basons, made thus: Take a pint of water, put in a good thick piece of bread, some whole pepper, a blade or two of mace; boil it five or fix minutes till the bread is soft, then take out all the spice and pour out all the water, only just enough to keep it moist, beat it with a spoon soft, throw in a little salt, and a good piece of fresh butter; shir it well together, set it over the sire for a minute or two, then put it into a boat.

To boil Partridges.

BOIL them in a good deal of water, let them boil quick, and fifteen minutes will be sufficient. For sauce take a quarter of a pint of cream, and a piece of fresh butter as big as a large walnut; thir it one way till it is melted, and pour it into the dish.

Or this fauce: take a bunch of celery clean wash'd, cut all the white very small, wash it again very clean, put it into a Saucepan with a blade of mace, a little beaten pepper, and a very little salt; put to it a pint of water, let it boil till the water is just wasted away, then add a quarter of a pint of cream, and a piece of butter rolled in flour; stir all together, and when it is thick and fine pour it over the birds.

Or this fauce: take the livers and bruife-them fine, fome parfley chopp'd fine, melt a little nice fresh butter, than add the livers and parsley to it, squeeze in a little lemon, just give it a boil, and pour over your birds.

Or this fauce: take a quarter of a pint of cream, the yolk of an egg beat fine, a little grated nutmeg, a little beaten mace, a piece of butter as big as a nutmeg rolled in flour, and one spoonful of white wine; stir all together one way, when fine and thick pour it over the birds. You may add a few mushrooms.

Or this fauce: take a few mushrooms, fresh peel'd and wash them clean, put them in a sauce-pan with a little salt, put them over a very quick fire, let them boil up, then put in a quarter of a pint of cream and a little nutmeg; shake them together with a very little piece of butter rolled in flour, give it two or three shakes over the fire, three or four minutes will do; then pour it over the birds.

Or this fauce: boil half a pound of rice very tender in beef gravy; feafon with pepper and falt, and pour over your birds. These fauces do for boiled fowls; a quart of gravy will be enough, and let it boil till it is quite thick.

To dress Partridges a la Braise.

TAKE two brace, truss the legs into the bodies, lard them, season them with beaten mace, pepper and salt; take a stew-pan, lay flices of bacon at the bottom, then flices of beef, and then flices of veal, all cut thin, a piece of carrot, an onion cut small, a bundle of fweet herbs, and some whole pepper: lay the partridges with the breasts downward, lay some thin slices of beef and veal over them, and some parsley shred fine; cover them and let them stew eight or ten minutes over a very slow fire, then give your pan a shake and pour in a pint of boiling water; cover it close, and let it stew half an hour over a little quicker fire; then take out your birds, keep them hot, pour into the pan a pint of thin gravy, let them boil till there is about half a pint, then strain it off and skim off all the fat; in the mean time, have a veal sweetbread cut small, truffles, morels, cocks-combs, and fowls-livers stewed in a pint of good gravy half an hour, some artichokebottoms and asparagus-tops, both blanch'd in warm water, and a few mushrooms, then add the other gravy to this, and put in your Partridges to heat; if it is not thick enough, take a piece of butter rolled in flour, and tofs up in it; if you will be at the expence, thicken it with veal and ham cullis, but it will be full as good without.

To make Partridges Pains.

TAKE two roasted partridges and the slesh of a large fowl, a little parboil'd bacon, a little marrow or sweet suet chopp'd very sine, a few mushrooms and morels chopp'd sine, trustles and artichoke-bottoms, season with beaten mace, pepper, a little nutmeg, falt, sweet-herbs chopp'd sine, and crumb of a two-penny loas soaked in hot gravy; mix all well together with the yolks of two eggs, make your pains on paper, of a round sigure, and of the thickness of an egg, at a proper distance one from another, dip the point of a knife in the yolk of an egg, in order to shape them; bread them neatly, and bake them a quarter of an hour in a quick oven:

observe that the truffles and morels be tender boiled in the gravy you foak the bread in. Serve them up for a side-dish, or they will serve to garnish the above dish, which will be a very sine one for a first course.

Note, When you have cold fowls in the house, this makes a pretty addition in an entertainment.

To roaft Pheafants.

Pick and draw your pheasants, and singe them, lard one with bacon but not the other, spit them, roast them fine, and paper them all over the breast; when they are just done flour and baste them with a little nice butter, and let them have a fine white froth; then take them up, and pour good gravy in the dish and bread sauce in plates.

Or you may put water-creffes nicely pick'd and wash'd, and just scalded, with gravy in the dish, and lay the creffes under the phea-fants.

Or you may make celery fauce stew'd tender, strain'd and mix'd with cream, and poured into the dish.

If you have but one pheasant, take a large fine fowl about the bigness of a pheasant, pick it nicely with the head on, draw it and truss it with the head turn'd as you do a pheasant's, lard the fowl all over the breast and legs with a large piece of bacon cut in little pieces; when roasted put them both in a dish, and no body will know it. They will take an hour in doing, as the fire must not be too brisk. A Frenchman would order fish sauce to them, but then you quit spoil your pheasants.

A stewed Pheasant.

Take your pheasant and stew it in veal gravy, take artichoker-bottoms parboiled, some chesnuts roasted and blanched; when your pheasant is enough (but it must stew till there is just enough for sauce, then skim it) put in the chesnuts and artichoke-bottoms, a little beaten mace, pepper and salt, just enough to season it, and a glass of white wine, and if you don't think it thick enough, thicken it with a little piece of butter rolled in slower; squeeze in a little lemon, pour the sauce over the pheasant, and have some force-meat balls fry'd and put into the dish.

Note, A good fowl will do full as well, truffed with the head on like a pheafant. You may fry faufages instead of force-meat balls.

To dress a Pheasant a la Braise.

LAY a layer of beef all over your pan, then a layer of veal, a little piece of bacon, a piece of carrot, an onlon stuck with fix cloves, a blade or two of mace, a spoonful of pepper, black and white, and a bundle of sweet herbs; then lay in the pheasant, lay a layer of veal, then a layer of beef to cover it, set it on the fire five or fix minutes, then pour in two quarts of boiling water; cover it close, and let it sew very softly an hour and a half, then take up your pheasant and keep it hot, and let the gravy boil till there is about a pint; then strain it off, and put it in again, and put in a yeal sweetbread, first being stewed with the pheasant, then then put in some truffles and morels, some livers of sowls, artichoke-bottoms and asparagus-tops, if you have them; let all these simmer in the gravy about sive or six minutes, then add two spoonfuls of catchup, two of red wine, and a little piece of butter rolled in flour, shake all together, put in your pheasant, let them stew all together with a few mushrooms about sive or six minutes more, then take up the pheasant and pour your ragoo all over with a few force-meat balls. Garnish with lemon. You may lard it if you chuse.

'To boil a Pheasant.

TAKE a fine pheasant, boil it in a good deal of water, keep your water boiling, half an hour will do a finall one, and three quarters of an hour a large one. Let your fauce be celery stewed and thickened with cream, and a little piece of butter rolled in flour; take up the pheasant, and pour the sauce all over. Garnish with lemon. Observe to stew your celery so, that the liquor will be all washed away before you put your cream in; if it wants salt, put in some to your palate.

To roaft Snipes or Woodcocks.

Spir them on a small bird-spit, flour them and base them with a piece of butter, then have ready a slice of bread toasted brown, lay it in a dish, and set it under the snipes for the trail to drop on; when they are enough, take them up and lay them on a toast; have ready, for two snipes, a quarter of a pint of good beef gravy hot, pour it into the dish, and set it over a chasing-dish two or three minutes. Garnish with lemon, and send them hot to table.

Snipes in a Surtout, or Woodcocks.

Take force-meat, made with veal, as much beef fuet chopp'd and beat in a mortar, with an equal quantity of crumbs of bread: mix in a little beaten mace, pepper and falt, some parsley, and a little sweet herbs, mix it with the yolk of an egg, lay some of this meat round the dish, then lay in the snipes, being first drawn and half roasted. Take care of the trail. Chop it, and throw it all over the dish.

Take some good gravy, according to the bigness of your surtout, some trustles and morels, a few mushrooms, a sweetbread cut into pieces, and artichoke-bottoms cut small; let all stew together; shake them, and take the yolks of two or three eggs, according as you want them, beat them up with a spoonful or two of white wine, stir all together one way, when it is thick take it off, let it cool, and pour it into the surtout: have the yolks of a few hard eggs, put in here and there, season with beaten mace, pepper and salt, to your taste; cover it with the force-meat all over, rub the yolks of eggs all over to colour it, then send it to the oven. Half an hour does it, and send it hot to table.

To boil Snipes or Woodcocks.

Boil them in good strong broth, or beef gravy, made thus: take a pound of beef, cut it into little pieces, put it into two quarts of water, an onion, a bundle of sweet herbs, a blade or F 4 two of mace, fix cloves, and some whole pepper, cover it close, let it boil till about half wasted, then strain it off, put the gravy into a sauce-pan with salt enough to season it, take the snipes and gut them clean (but take care of the guts) put them into the gravy and let them boil, cover them close, and ten minutes will boil them, if they keep boiling. In the mean time, chop the guts and liver small, take a little of the gravy the snipes are boiling in, and stew the guts in with a blade of mace. Take some crumbs of bread, and have them ready fry'd in a little fresh butter crisp, of a fine light brown. You must take about as much bread as the inside of a stale roll, and rub them small into a clean cloth; when they are done, let them stand ready in a plate before the fire.

When your snipes are ready, take about half a pint of the liquor they are boiled in, and add to the guts two spoonfuls of red wine, and a piece of butter, about as big as a walnut, roll'd in a little flour; set them on the fire, shake your sauce-pan often (but don't stir it with a spoon) till the butter is all melted, then put in the crumbs, give your sauce-pan a shake, take up your birds, lay them in the dish, and pour this sauce over them. Garnish with lemon.

To dress Ortolans.

Spir them fideways, with a bay-leaf between; baste them with butter, and have fry'd crumbs of bread round the dish. Dress quails the same way.

To dress Ruffs and Reifs.

THEY are Lincolnshire birds, and you may fatten them as you do chickens, with white bread, milk and sugar: they feed fast, and will die in their fat if not killed in time; truss them cross legg'd as you do a snipe, spit them the same way, but you must gut them, and you must have good gravy in the dish thicken'd with butter and toast under them; serve them up quick.

To drefs Larks.

SPIT them on a little bird-spit, roast them, when enough have a good many crumbs of bread fry'd and throw all over them, and lay them thick round the dish.

Or they make a very pretty ragoo with fowls livers; first fry the larks and livers very nicely, then put them into some good gravy to stew, just enough for sauce, with a little red wine. Garnish with lemon.

To dress Plovers.

To two plovers take two artichoke-bottoms boiled, fome chefnuts roasted and blanched, some skirrets boiled, cut all very small, mix it with some marrow or beef suet, the yolks of two hard eggs, chop all together, season with pepper, falt, nutmeg and a little sweet herbs, sill the body of the plover, lay them in a saucepan, put to them a pint of gravy, a glass of white wine, a blade or two of mace, some roasted chesnuts blanched, an artichoke-bottom cut in a quarters, two or three yolks of hard eggs, and a little juice of lemon; cover them close, and let them stew very softly an hour. If you find the sauce is not thick enough, take a picce piece of butter relled in flour, and put it into the fauce, shake it round, and when it is thick take up your plovers and pour the sauce over them. Garnish with roasted chesnuts.

Ducks are very good done this way.

Or you may roaft your plover as you do any other fowl, and have gravy fauce in the dish.

Or boil them in good celery fauce, either white or brown, just as you like.

The same way you may dress Wigeons.

To dress Larks Pear Fashion.

You must trus the larks close, and cut off the legs, season them with salt, pepper, cloves and mace, make a force-meat thus, take a veal sweetbread, as much beef suet, a few morels and mushrooms, chop all fine together, some crumbs of bread, and a few sweet herbs, a little lemon-peel cut small, mix all together with the yolk of an egg, wrap up every lark in force-meat, and shape them like a pear, stick one leg in the top like the stalk of a pear, rub them over with the yolk of an egg and crumbs of bread, bake them in a gentle oven, serve them without sauce; or they make a good garnish to a very fine dish.

You may use veal, if you have not sweetbread.

To dress a Hare.

As to roasting of a hare, I have given full directions in the beginning of the book.

A jugged Hare.

Cut it into little pieces, lard them here and there with little flips of bacon, feafon them with a very little pepper and falt, put them into an earthen jugg, with a blade of mace, an onion stuck with cloves, and a bundle of sweet-herbs; cover the jugg or jar you do it in so close that nothing can get in, then set it in a pot of boiling water, keep the water boiling, and three hours will do it; then turn it out into the dish, and take out the onion and sweet-herbs, and send it to table hot. If you don't like it larded, leave it out.

To scare a Hare. .

LARD your hare and put a pudding in the belly; put it into a pot or fish-kettle, then put to it two quarts of strong draw'd gravy, one of red wine, a whole lemon cut, a faggot of sweetherbs, a nutmeg, pepper, a little salt and fix cloves; cover it close, and stew it over a very slow fire, till it is three parts done then take it up, put it into a dish, and strew it over with crumbs of bread, a few sweet-herbs chopp'd fine, some lemon-peel grated and half a nutmeg; set it before the fire, and base it till it all of a sine light brown. In the mean time take the fat of your gravy, and thicken it with the yolk of an egg; take six eggs boil'd hard and chopped small, some pickled cucumbers cut very thin; mix these with the sauce, and pour it into the dish.

A fillet of mutton or neck of venifon may be done the fame way.

Note,

Note, You may do rabbits the fame way, but it must be veal gravy and white wine; adding mushrooms for cucumbers.

To stew a Hare.

Cur it to pieces, put it into a stew-pan, with a blade or two of mace, some whole pepper, black and white, an onion stuck with cloves, an anchovy, a bundle of sweet herbs and a nutmeg cut into pieces, and cover it with water; cover the stew-pan close, let it stew till the hare is tender, but not too much done; thentake it up, and with a fork take out the hare into a clean pan, strain the sauce through a coarse sieve, empty all out of the pan, put in the hare again with the sauce, take a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in slour, and put in likewise one spoonful of catchup, and one of red wine; stew all together (with a few fresh mushrooms, or pickled ones, if you have any) till it is thick and smooth; then dish it up, and send it to table. You may cut a hare in two, and stew the fore-quarters thus, and roast the hind-quarters with a pudding in the belly.

A Hare Civet.

BONE the hare and take out all the finews, then cut one half in thin flices, and the other half in pieces an inch thick, flour them and fry them in a little fresh butter as collops quick, and have ready some gravy made good with the bones of the hare and beef, put a pint of it into the pan to the hare, some mustard, and a little elder vinegar; cover it close, and let it do softly till it is as thick as cream, then dish it up with the head in the middle.

Portuguese Rabbits.

I HAVE in the beginning of my book given directions for boiled and roasted. Get some rabbits, truss them chicken fashion, the head must be cut off, and the rabbit turned with the back upwards, and two of the legs stripped to the claw end, and so trussed with two skewers. Lard them, and roast them with what sauce you please. If you want chickens and they are to appear as such, they must be dress'd in this manner; but if otherwise, the head must be skewered back and come to the table on, with liver, butter and parsley, as you have for rabbits, and they look very pretty boiled and trussed in this manner, and smothered with onions; or if they are to be boiled for chickens, cut off the head and cover them with white cellery sauce, or rice sauce tossed up with cream.

Rabbits Surprize.

Roast two half-grown rabbits, cut off the heads close to the shoulders and the first joints; then take off all the lean meat from the back bones, cut it small and toss it up with six or seven spoonfuls of cream and milk, and a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour, a little nutmeg and a little salt, shake all together till it is as thick as good cream, and set it to cool: then make a sorce-meat with a pound of veal, a pound of suet, as much crumbs of bread, two anchovies, a little piece of lemon-peel cut sine, a little sprig of thyme, and a nutmeg grated; let the veal and fuet be chopped very fine, and beat in a mortar, then mix it all together with the yolks of two raw eggs, place it all round the rabbits, leaving a long trough in the back bone open, that you think will hold the meat you cut out with the fauce, pour it in and cover it with the force-meat, smooth it all over with your hand as well as you can with a raw egg, square at both ends, throw on a little grated bread, and butter a mazarine, or pan, and take them from the dresser where you formed them, and place them on it very carefully. Bake them three quarters of an hour till they are of a fine brown colour. Let your sauce be gravy thickened with butter and the juice of a lemon; lay them into the dish, and pour in the sauce. Garnish with orange cut into quarters, and serve it up for a first course.

To boil Rabbits.

Taves them for boiling, boil them quick and white: for fauce take the livers, boil and shred them, and some parsley shred fine, and pickled astertian buds chopped fine, or capers; mix these with half a pint of good gravy, a glass of white wine, a little beaten mace and nutmeg, a little pepper and salt if wanted, a piece of butter as big as a large walnut rolled in flour; let it all boil together till it is thick, take up the rabbits and pour the sauce over them. Garnish with lemon. You may lard them with bacon if it is liked.

To dress Rabbits in Casserole.

DIVIDE the rabbits into quarters. You may lard them or let them alone, just as you please, shake some flour over them, and fry them with lard or butter, then put them into an earthen pipkin with a quart of good broth, a glass of white wine, a little pepper and salt, if wanted, a bunch of sweet herbs, and a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour; cover them close and let them stew half an hour, then dish them up, and pour the sauce over them. Garnish with Seville orange cut into thin slices and notched; the peel that is cut out lay prettily between the slices.

Mutton Kebob'd.

Take a loin of mutton, and joint it between every bone; featon it with pepper and falt moderately, grate a small nutmeg all over, dip them in the yolks of three eggs, and have ready trumbs of bread and sweet herbs, dip them in and clap them together in the same shape again, and put it on a small spit, roast them before a quick fire, set a dish under and baste it with a little piece of butter, and then keep basting with what comes from it, and throw some crumbs of bread all over them as it is roasting; when it is enough take it up, and lay it in the dish, and have ready half a pint of good gravy, and what comes from it; take two spoonfuls of catchup, and mix a tea-spoonful of slour with it and put to the gravy, stir it together and give it a boil, and pour over the mutton.

Note, You must observe to take off all the fat of the inside, and the thin of the top of the meat, and some of the fat, if there be too much. When you put in what comes from your meat intethe gravy, observe to pour out all the fat.

A Neck of Mutton, called the Hafty Dift.

TAKE a large pewter or filver dish, made like a deep soup-dish, with an edge about an inch deep on the infide, on which the lid fixes (with a handle at top) fo fast that you may lift it up full by that handle, without falling. This dish is called a necromancer. Take a neck of mutton about fix pounds, take off the skin, cut it into chops, not too thick, flice a French roll thin, peel and flice a very large onion, pare and flice three or four turnips, lay a row of mutton in the dish, on that a row of roll, then a row of turnips, and then onions, a little falt, then the meat, and so on; put in a little bundle of fweet herbs, and two or thee blades of mace; have a tea-kettle of water boiling, fill the dish and cover it close, hang the dish on the back of two chairs by the rim, have ready three sheets of brown paper, tear each sheet into five pieces. and draw them through your hand, light one piece and hold it under the bottom of the dish, moving the paper about; as fast as the paper burns light another till all is burnt, and your meat will be enough. Fifteen minutes just does it. Send it to table hot in the dish.

Note, This dish was first contrived by Mr. Rich, and is much admired by the nobility.

To dress a Loin of Pork with Onions.

TAKE a fore-loin of pork, and roast it as at another time, peel a quarter of a peck of onions, and slice them thin, lay them in the dripping-pan, which must be very clean, under the pork, let the fat drop on them; when the pork is nigh enough, put the onions into the sauce-pan, let them simmer over the fire a quarter of an hour, shaking them well, then pour out all the fat as well as you can, shake in a very little flour, a spoonful of vinegar, and three tea-spoonfuls of mustard, shake all well together, and stir in the mustard, set it over the fire for four or sive minutes, lay the pork in a dish, and the onions in a bason. This is an admirable dish to those who love onions.

To make a Currey the Indian way.

TAKE two small chickens, skin them and cut them as for a fricasey, wash them clean, and stew them in about a quart of water, for about five minutes, then strain off the liquor and put the chickens in a clean dish; take three large onions, chop them small and fry them in about two ounces of butter, then put in the chickens and fry them together till they are brown, take a quarter of an ounce of Turmerick, a large spoonful of ginger and beaten pepper together, and a little salt to your palate; strew all these ingredients over the chickens whilst it is frying, then pour in the liquor, and let it stew about half an hour, then put in a quarter of a pint of cream, and the juice of two lemons, and serve it up. The ginger, pepper and turmerick must be beat very sine.

To boil Rice.

Pur two quarts of water to a pint of rice, let it boil till you think it is done enough, then throw in a spoonful of salt, and turn it out into a cullender; then let it stand about five minutes before the fire to dry, and serve it up in a dish by itself. Dish it up and send it to table, the rice in a dish by itself.

To make a Pellow the Indian way.

Take three pounds of rice, pick and wash it very clean, put it into a cullender, and let it drain very dry; take three quarters of a pound of butter, and put it in a pan over a very slow fire till it melts, then put in the rice and cover it over very close, that it may keep all the steam in; add to it a little salt, some whole pepper, half a dozen blades of mace, and a few cloves. You must put in a little water to keep it from burning, then stir it up very often, and let it sew till the rice is soft. Boil two sowls and a fine piece of bacon, of about two pounds weight, as common, cut the bacon in two pieces, lay it in the dish with the fowls, cover it over with the rice, and garnish it with about half a dozen hard eggs and a dozen onions fryed whole and very brown.

Note, This is the true Indian way of dressing them.

Another way to make a Pellow.

TAKE a leg of veal about twelve or fourteen pounds weight, an eld cock skinned, chop both to pieces, put it into a pot with five or fix blades of mace, some whole white pepper, and three gallons of water, half a pound of bacon, two onions, and fix cloves; cover it close, and when it boils, let it do very softly till the meat is good for nothing and above two thirds is wasted, then strain it, the next day put this soup into a sauce-pan, with a pound of rice, set it over a very slow fire, take great care it don't burn; when the rice is very thick and dry, turn it into a dish. Garnish with hard eggs cut in two, and have roasted sowls in another dish.

Note, You are to observe, if your rice simmers too fast it will burn, when it comes to be thick. It must be very thick and dry, and the rice not boiled to a mummy.

To make Essence of Ham.

TAKE off the fat of a ham, and cut the lean in flices, beat them well and lay them in the bottom of a stew-pan, with slices of carrots, parsnips and onions; cover your pan, and set it over a gentle fire: let them stew till they begin to slick, then sprinkle on a little flour, and turn them, then moisten with broth and veal gravy. Season them with three or four mushrooms, as many truffles, a whole leek, some parsley, and half a dozen cloves; or instead of a leek, a clove of garlick. Put in some cruss of bread, and let them simmer over a fire for a quarter of an hour; strain it, and set it away for use. Any pork or ham does for this, that is well made.

Rules to be abserved in all Made-dishes.

First, that the stew-pans, or fauce-pans and covers be very clean, free from fand, and well tinned; and that all the white fauces fauces have a little tartness, and be very smooth and of a fine thickness, and all the time any white sauce is over the fire keep flirring it one way.

And as to brown fauce, take great care no fat fwims at the top, but that it be all smooth alike, and about as thick as good cream, and not to taste of one thing more than another. As to pepper and falt, season to your palate, but don't put too much of either, for that will take away the fine slavour of every thing. As to most made dishes, you may put in what you think proper to inlarge it, or make it good; as mushrooms, pickled, dryed, fresh, or powder'd; trussles, morels, cocks-combs stewed, ox-palates cut in little bits, artichoke-bottoms, either pickled, fresh boiled, or dryed ones softened in warm water, each cut in sour pieces, asparagus-tops, the yolks of hard eggs, force-meat balls, &c. The best things to give a sauce a tartness, are mushroom-pickle, white walnut-pickle, elder-vinegar, or lemon-juice.

C H A P. III.

Read this Chapter, and you will find how expensive a French Cook's Sauce is.

The French way of dreffing Partridges.

THEN they are newly picked and drawn, finge them: you must mince their livers with a bit of butter, some scraped bacon, green truffles, if you have any, parfley, chimbol, falt, pepper, fweet herbs and alfpice. The whole being minced together, put it in the infide of your partridges, then stop both ends of them, after which give them a fry in the stew-pan; that being done, spit them, and wrap them up in slices of bacon and paper; then take a stew-pan, and having put in an onion cut into slices, a carrot cut into little bits, with a little oil, give them a few toffes over the fire; then moissen them with gravy, cullis, and a little effence of ham. Put therein half a lemon cut into flices, four cloves of garlick, a little fweet bafil, thyme, a bay-leaf, a little parsley, chimbol, two glasses of white wine, and four of the carcaffes of the partridges; let them be pounded, and put them in When the fat of your cullis is taken away be careful this fauce. to make it relishing; and after your pounded livers is put into your cullis, you must strain them through a sieve. Your partridges being done, take them off; as also take off the bacon and paper, and lay them in your dish with your sauce over them.

This dish I do not recommend; for I think it an odd jumble of trash; by that time the cullis, the effence of ham, and all other ingredients are reckoned, the partridges will come to a fine penny. But such receipts as this, is what you have in most books of cookery yet printed.

To make Effence of Ham.

Take the fat off a Westphalia Hem, cut the lean in slices, beat them well and lay them in the bottom of a stew-pan, with slices of carrots, parsnips, and onions; cover your pan, and set it over a gentle fire. Let them stew till they begin to stick, then sprinkle on a little flour, and turn them; then moisten with broth and veal gravy; season with three or four mushrooms, as many trussles, a whole leek, some basil, parsley, and half a dozen cloves; or instead of the leek you may put a clove of garlic. Put in some crusts of bread, and let them simmer over the fire for three quarters of an hour. Strain it, and set it by for use.

A Cullis for all forts of Ragoo.

HAVING cut three pounds of lean veal, and half a pound of ham, into flices, lay it into the bottom of a stew-pan, put in earrots and parsnips, and an onion sliced; cover it, and set it a stewing over a stove: when it has a good colour, and begins to stick, put to it a little melted butter, and shake in a little flour, keep it moving a little while till the flour is fried; then moissen it with gravy and broth, of each a like quantity, then put in some parsley and basil, a whole leek, a bay-leaf, some mushrooms and trusses minced small, three or four cloves, and the crust of two Furch rolls: let all this simmer together for three quarters of an hour; then take out your slices of veal; and strain it, and keep it for all sorts of ragous. Now compute the expence, and see if this dish cannot be dressed full as well without this expence.

A Cullis for all forts of Butcher's meat.

You must take meat according to your company. If ten or twelve, you cannot take lefs than a leg of yeal and a ham, with all the fat and skin and outside cut off. Cut the leg of veal in pieces, about the bigness of your fift, place them in your stew-pan, and then the flices of ham, two carrots, an onion cut in two; cover it close, let it stew softly at first, and as it begins to be brown, take off the cover, and turn it to colour it on all fides the same; but take care not to burn the meat. When it has a pretty brown colour, moisten your cullis with broth made of beef, or other meat; feafon your cullis with a little fweet bafil, fome cloves, with fome garlick; pare a lemon, cut it into flices, and put it into your cullis, with fome mushrooms. Put into a stew-pan a good lump of butter, and set it over a slow fire; put into it two or three handfuls of flour, stir it with a wooden-ladle, and let it take a colour; if your cullis be pretty brown, you must put in some flour. Your flour being brown, with your cullis, then pour it very foftly into your cullis, keeping your cullis stirring with a wooden-ladle; then let your cullis stew softly, and skim off all the fat, put in two glasses of champaign, or other white wine; but take care to keep your cullis very thin, so that you may take the fat well off, and clarify it. To clarify it, you must put it in a stove that draws well, and cover it close, and let it boil without uncovering, till it boils over; then uncover it, and take off the fat that is round the stew-pan, then wipe it off the the cover also, and cover it again. When your cullis is done, take out the meat, and strain your cullis through a filk strainer. This cullis is for all forts of ragoos, fowls, pies and terrines.

Cullis the Italian Way.

Put into a stew-pan half a handful of cullis, as much effence of ham, half a ladleful of gravy, as much of broth, three or four onions cut into slices, four or five cloves of garlick, a little beaten coriander-seed, with a lemon pared and cut into slices, a little sweet basil, mushrooms, and good oil; put all over the fire; let it stew a quarter of an hour, take the fat well off, let it be of a good taste, and you may use it with all sorts all meat and sish, particularly with glazed sish. This sauce will do for two chickens, six pigeons, quails, or ducklings, and all sorts of tame and wild sow. Now this Italian, or French sauce, is saucy.

Cullis of Craw-Fifb.

You must get the middling sort of craw-sish, put them over the fire, season'd with salt, pepper, and onion cut in slices; being done take them out, pick them, and keep the tails after they are scaled, pound the rest together in a mortar; the more they are pounded, the siner your cullis will be. Take a bit of veal, the bigness of your sist, with a small bit of ham, an onion cut into sour, put it in to sweat gently; if it slicks but a very little to the pan, powder it a little. Moisten it with broth, put in it some cloves, sweet basil in branches, some mushrooms, with lemon pared and cut in slices: being done, skim the sat well, let it be of a good taste, then take out your meat with a skimmer, and go on to thicken it a little with essence of ham; then put in your craw-sish, and strain it off. Being strained, keep it for a first course of craw-sish.

A White Cullis.

TAKE a piece of veal, cut it into small bits, with some thin slices of ham, and two onions cut into four pieces; moisten it with broth, season'd with mushrooms, a bunch of parsley, green onions, three cloves, and so let it stew. Being stewed, take out all your meat and roots with a skimmer, put in a few crumbs of bread, and let it stew softly: take the white of a fowl, or two chickens, and pound it in a mortar: being well pounded, mix it in your cullis, but it must not boil, and your cullis must be very white; but if not white enough you must pound two dozen of sweet almonds blanched, and put into your cullis; then boil a glass of milk, and put it in your cullis: let it be of a good taste, and strain it off; then put it in a small kettle, and keep it warm. You may use it for white loaves, white crust of bread and bisquets.

Sauce for a brace of Partridges, Pheafants, or any thing you please.

ROAST a partridge, pound it well in a mortar with the pinions of four turkeys, with a quart of strong gravy, and the liver of the partridges and some truffles, let it simmer till it be pretty thick, let it stand in a dish for a while, then put two glasses of Burgundy into a stew-pan, with two or three slices of onions, a clove or two of Garlick, and the above fauce. Let it fimmer a few minutes, then press it through a hair-bag into a stew-pan, add the essence of a ham, let all boil for some time, season it with good spices and pepper, lay your partridges, &c. in the dish, and pour your sauce in.

They will the as many fine ingredients to stew a pigeon, or fowl, as will make a very fine dish, which is equal with boiling a leg of mutton in champaign.

It would be needless to name any more; though you have much more expensive sauce than this. However I think here is enough to shew the folly of these sine French cooks. In their own country, they will make a grand entertainment with the expence of one of these dishes; but here they want the little petty prosit; and by this fort of legerdemain, some fine estates are juggled into France.

C H A P. IV.

To make a number of pretty little dishes, fit for a supper, or side-dish, and little corner-dishes for a great table; and the rest you have in the CHAPTER for Lent.

Hogs Ears forced.

TAKE four hogs ears and half boil them, or take them foused; make a force-meat thus: take half a pound of beef fuet, as much crumbs of bread, an anchovy, some sage, boil and chop very fine a little parfley, flit all together with the yolk of an egg, a little pepper, flit your ears very carefully to make a place for your stuffing, fill them, flour them, and fry them in fresh butter till they are of a fine brown; then pour out all the fat clean, and put to them half a pint of gravy, a glass of white wine, three tea spoonfuls of mustard, a piece of butter as big as a nutmeg rolled in flour, a little pepper, a fmall onion whole; cover them close and let them stew foftly for half an hour, shaking your pan now and then. When they are enough, lay them in your dish, and pour your fauce over them: but first take out the onion. This makes a very pretty dish; but if you would make a fine large dish, take the feet, and cut all the meat in small thin pieces, and stew with the ears. Season with falt to your palate.

To force Cocks-Combs.

PARBOIL your cocks-combs, then open them with the point of a knise at the great end: take the white of a sowl, as much bacon and beef marrow, cut these small, and beat them fine in a marble mortar; season them with salt, pepper and grated nutmeg, and mix it with an egg; sill the cocks-combs, and stew them in a little strong gravy sortly for half an hour, then slice in some fresh mush.

mushrooms, and a few pickled ones; then beat up the yolk of and egg in a little gravy, stirring it. Season with falt. When they are enough, dish them up in little dishes or plates.

To preferve Cocks-Combs.

LET them be well cleaned, then put them into a pot, with fome melted bacon, and boil them a little. About half an hour after, add a little bay falt, fome pepper, a little vinegar, a lemon fliced, and an onion fluck with cloves. When the bacon begins to flick to the pot, take them up, put them into the pan you would keep them in, lay a clean linen cloth over them, and pour melted butter clarified over them, to keep them close from the air. These make a pretty plate at a supper.

To preserve or pickle Pigs Feet and Ears.

TAKE yout feet and ears fingle, and wash them well, split the feet in two, put a bay-leaf between every foot, put in almost as much water as will cover them. When they are well steemed, add to them cloves, mace, whole pepper and ginger, coriander feed and salt, according to your discretion; put to them a bottle or two of Rhenish wine, according to the quantity you do, half a score bay-leaves, and a bunch of sweet herbs. Let them boil fostly till they are very tender, then take them out of the liquor, lay them in an earthen pot, then strain the liquor over them; when they are cold, cover them down close, and keep them for use.

You should let them stand to be cold; skim off all the fat, and then put in the wine and spice.

They eat well cold; or at any time heat them in the jelly, and thicken it with a little piece of butter rolled in flour; makes a very pretty dish; or heat the ears, and take the feet clean out of the jelly and roll in the yolk of an egg, or melted butter, and then in crumbs of bread and broil them; or fry them in fresh butter, lay the ears in the middle and the feet round, and pour the sauce over; or you may cut the ears in long slips, which is better: And if you chuse it, make a good brown gravy to mix with them, a glass of white wine and some mustard, thicken'd with a piece butter rolled in flour,

To pickle Ox-Palates.

TAKE your palates and wash them well with salt and water, and put them in a pipkin with water and some salt; and when they are ready to boil, skim them well, and put to them pepper, cloves, and mace, as much as will give them a quick taste. When they are boiled tender (which will require four or five hours) peel them and cut them into small pieces, and let them cool; then make the pickle of white wine and vinegar, an equal quantity; boil the pickle, and put in the spicces that were boiled in the palates: When both the pickle and the palates are cold, lay your palates in a jar, and put to them a few bay-leaves and a little fresh spice; pour the pickle over them, cover them close, and keep them for use.

Of these you may at any time make a pretty little dish, either with brown fauce or white; or butter and mustard, and a spoonful of white wine; or they are ready to put in made-dishes.

To stew Cucumbers.

PARE twelve cucumbers, and flice them as thick as a crownpiece, and put them to drain, and then lay them in a coarse cloth, till they are dry, flour them and fry them brown in butter; pour out the fat, then put to them some gravy, a little claret, some pepper, cloves and mace, and let them stew a little, then roll a bit of butter in flour, and toss them up; season with falt; you may add a very little mushroom-pickle.

To Ragoo Cucumbers.

TAKE two eucumbers, two onions, flice them, and fry them in a little butter; then drain them in a fieve, put them into a fauce-pan, add fix spoonfuls of gravy, two of white wine, a blade of mace: let them stew five or six minutes; then take a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour, shake them together, and when it is thick dish them up.

A Fricasey of Kidney Beans.

TAKE a quart of the feed, when dry, foak them all night in river water, then boil them on flow fire till quite tender; take a quarter of a peck of onions, flice them thin, fry them in butter till brown; then take them out of the butter, and put them in a quart of strong draw'd gravy. Boil them till you may mash them fine, then put in your beans, and give them a boil or two. Seafon with pepper, falt, and nutmeg.

To drefs Windfor Beans.

TAKE the feed, boil them till they are tender; then blanch them, and fry them in clarified butter. Melt butter, with a drop of vinegar, and pour over them. Stew them with falt, pepper, and nutmeg.

Or you may eat them with butter, fack, fugar, and a little powder of cinnamon.

To make Jumballs.

TAKE a pound of fine flour and a pound of fine powder-fugar, make them into light paste, with whites of eggs beat fine; then add half a pint of cream, half a pound of fresh butter melted, and a pound of blanched almonds well beat. Knead them all together thoroughly, with a little rose-water, and cut out your jumballs in what figures you fancy; and either bake them in a gentle oven, or fry them in fresh butter, and they make a pretty fide or corner dish. You may melt a little butter with a spoonfull of fack, and throw fine fugar all over the dish. make them in pretty figures, they make a fine little dish.

To make a Ragoo of Onions.

TAKE a pint of little young onions, peel them and take four large ones, peel them and cut them very small: put a quarter of a pound of good butter into a stew pan; when it is melted and G 2 done done making a noise, throw in your onions, and fry them till they begin to look a little brown; then shake in a little flour, and shake them round till they are thick; throw in a little salt, a little beaten pepper, a quarter of a pint of good gravy, and a tea-spoonful of mustard. Stir all together, and when it is well tasted and of a good thickness, pour it into your dish, and garnish it with fryed crumbs of bread and raspings. They make a pretty little dish, and are very good. You may strew raspings instead of slour if you please.

A Ragoo of Oysters.

Open twenty large oysters, take them out of their liquor, save the liquor, and dip the oysters in a batter made thus: take two eggs, beat them well, a little lemon-peel grated, a little nutmeg grated, a blade of mace pounded fine, a little parfley chopped fine; beat all together with a little flour, have ready fome butter or dripping in a stew-pan; when it boils dip in your oysters, one by one, into the batter, and fry them of a fine brown; then with an egg-flice take them out and lay them in a dish before the fire. Pour the fat out of the pan, and shake a little flour over the bottom of the pan, then rub a little piece of butter as big as a small walnut, all over with your knife, whilst it is over the fire; then pour in three spoonfuls of the oyster-liquor strained, one spoonful of white wine, and a quarter of a pint of gravy; grate a little nutmeg, stir all together, throw in the oysters, give the pan a tofs round, and when the fauce is of a good thickness, pour all into the dish, and garnish with raspings.

A Ragoo of Asparagus.

Scrape a hundred of grass very clean, and throw it into cold water. When you have scraped all, cut as far as is good and green, about an inch long, and take two heads of endive clean washed and picked, cut it very small, a young lettuce clean washed and cut small, a large onion peeled and cut small; put a quarter of a pound of butter in a stew-pan; when it is melted throw in the above things: toss them about, and fry them ten minutes; then season them with a little pepper and salt, shake in a little flour, toss them about, then pour in half a pint of gravy. Let them stew till the sauce is very thick and good; then pour all into your dish. Save a few of the little tops of the grass to garnish the dish.

A Ragoo of Livers.

TAKE as many livers as you would have for your dish. A turkey's liver and fix sowls livers will make a pretty dish. Pick the galls from them, and throw them into cold water; take the six livers, put them in a sauce-pan, with a quarter of a pint of gravy, a spoonful of mushrooms, either pickled or fresh, a spoonful of catchup, a little bit of butter as big as a nutmeg rolled in stour; season with pepper and salt to your palate. Let them stew softly ten minutes; in the mean while broil the turkey's liver nicely, lay it in the middle, and the stewed livers round. Pour the sauce all ver, and garnish with lemon.

To Ragoo Cauliflowers.

LAY a large cauliflower in water, then pick it to pieces, as if for pickling: take a quarter of a pound of butter, with a fpoonful of water, and melt it in a ftew-pan, then throw in your cauliflowers, and shake them about often till they are quite tender; then shake in a little flour, and toss the pan about. Season them with a little pepper and salt, pour in half a pint of good gravy, let them stew till the sauce is thick, and pour it all into a little dish. Save a few little bits of cauliflower, when stewed in the butter to garnish with.

Sterved Peas and Lettuce.

TAKE a quart of green peas, two nice lettuces clean washed and picked, cut them small across, put all into a sauce-pan, with a quarter of a pound of butter, pepper and salt to your palate; cover them close, and let them stew softly, shaking the pan often. Let them stew ten minutes, then shake in a little flour, toss them round, and pour in half a pint of good gravy; put in a little bundle of sweet-herbs and an onion, with three cloves, and a blade of mace stuck in it. Cover it close, and let them siew a quarter of an hour; then take out the onions and sweet herbs, and turn it all into a dish. If you find the sauce not thick enough, shake in a little more flour, and let it simmer, then take it up.

Cod-Sounds broiled with Gravy.

SCALD them in hot water, and rub them with falt well; blanch them, that is take off the black dirty skin, then set them on in cold water, and let them simmer till they begin to be tender; take them out and flour them, and broil them on the gridiron. In the mean time take a little good gravy, a little mustard, a little bit of butter rolled in flour, give it a boil, season it with pepper and salt, lay the sounds in your dish, and pour the sauce over them.

A forced Cabbage. TAKE a fine white-hart cabbage, about as big as a quarter of a peck, lay it in water two or three hours, then half boil it, fet it in a cullender to drain, then very carefully cut out the heart, but take great care not to break off any of the outfide leaves, fill it with force-meat made thus: take a pound of veal, half a pound of bacon, fat and lean together, cut them small and beat them fine in a mortar, with four eggs boiled hard. Season with pepper and falt, a little beaten mace, a very little lemon-peel cut fine, some parsley chopped fine, a very little thyme, and two anchovies: when they are beat fine, take the crumb of a stale roll, some mushrooms, if you have them, either pickled or fresh, and the Mix all toheart of the cabbage you cut out chopped very fine. gether with the yolk of an egg, then fill the hollow part of the cabbage, and tie it with a packthread, then lay some slices of bacon in the bottom of a stew-pan or fauce-pan, and on that a pound of coarse lean beef, cut thin; put in the cabbage, cover it close and let it stew over a flow fire till the bacon begins to stick to the pan, shake in a little flour, pour in a quart of broth, an onion stuck with cloves, two blades of mace, some whole pepper, a little bundle G 3 dle of sweet herbs; cover it close, and let it stew very softly an hour and a half, put in a glass of red wine, give it a boil, then take it up, lay it in the dish, and strain the gravy and pour over, untie it first. This is a fine side-dish, and the next day makes a fine hash, with a veal steak nicely broiled and laid on it.

Stewed Red Cabbage.

Take a red cabbage, lay it in cold water an hour, then cut it into thin flices across, and cut it into little pieces. Put it into a flew-pan, with a pound of sausages, a pint of gravy, a little bit of ham or lean bacon; cover it close, and let it stew half an hour; then take the pan off the fire, and skim off the fat, shake in a little flour, and set it on again. Let it stew two or three minutes, then lay the sausages in your dish, and pour the rest all over. You may before you take it up, put in half a spoonful of vinegar.

Savoy's forced and stewed.

TAKE two savoys, fill one with force-meat, and the other without. Stew them with gravy; season them with pepper and salt, and when they are near enough take a piece of butter as big as a large walnut rolled in flour, and put in. Let them stew till they are enough, and the sauce thick; then lay them in your dish, and pour the sauce over them. These things are best done on a stove.

To force Cucumbers.

TAKE three large cucumbers, scoop out the pith, fill them with fryed oysters, seasoned with pepper and salt; put on the piece again you cut off, sew it with coarse thread, and fry them in the butter the oysters were fryed in; then pour out the butter, and shake in a little flour, pour in half a pint of gravy, shake it round and put in the cucumbers. Season it with a little pepper and salt; let them stew softly till they are tender, then lay them in a plate, and pour the gravy over them: or you may force them with any fort of force-meat you fancy, and fry them in hog's lard, and then stew them in gravy and red wine.

Fryed Saufages.

Take half a pound of fausages, and six apples; slice sour about as thick as a crown, cut the other two in quarters, fry them with the sausages of a sine light brown, lay the sausages in the middle of the dish, and the apples round. Garnish with the quartered apples.

Stewed cabbage and sausages fryed is a good dish; then heat cold peas pudding in the pan, lay it in a dish and the sausages round, heap the pudding in the middle, and lay the sausages all round thick up edge-ways, and one in the middle at length.

Collops and Eggs.

Cut either bacon, pickled beef, or hung mutton into thin flices; broil them nicely, lay them in a dish before the fire, have ready a stew-pan of water boiling, break as many eggs as you have collops, break them one by one in a cup, and pour them into the stew-pan. When the whites of the eggs begin to harden, and all look of a clear white, take them up one by one in an egg-slice, and lay them on the collops.

To dress cold Fowl or Pigeon.

Cur them in four quarters, beat up an egg or two, according to what you drefs, grate a little nutmeg in, a little falt, fome parfley chopped, a few crumbs of bread, beat them well together, dip them in this batter, and have ready fome dripping hot in a flew-pan, in which fry them of a fine light brown; have ready a little good gravy thickened with a little flour, mixt with a fpoonful of catchup; lay the fry in the dish, and pour the fauce over. Garnish with lemon, and a few mushrooms, if you have any. A cold rabbit eats well done thus.

To mince Veal.

Cur your veal as fine as possible, but don't chop it; grate a little nutmeg over it, shred a little lemon-peel very fine, throw a very little salt on it, drudge a little slour over it. To a large plate of veal, take four or five spoonfuls of water, let it boil, then put in the veal, with a piece of butter as big as an egg, stir it well together; when it is all thorough hot, it is enough. Have ready a very thin piece of bread toasted brown, cut it in three corner sippits, lay it round the plate, and pour in the veal. Just before you pour it in, squeeze in half a lemon, or half a spoonful of vinegar. Garnish with lemon. You may put gravy in the room of water, if you love it strong, but it is better without.

To fry cold Veal.

Cur it in pieces about as thick as half a crown, and as long as you pleafe, dip them in the yolk of an egg, and then in crumbs of bread, with a few sweet herbs, and shred lemon-peel in it; grate a little nutmeg over them, and fry them in fresh butter. The butter must be hot, just enough to fry them in: in the mean time make a little gravy of the bone of the veal; when the meat is fryed take it out with a fork, and lay it in a dish before the fire, then shake a little flour into the pan, and stir it round; then put in the gravy, squeeze in a little lemon, and pour it over the veal. Garnish with lemon.

To tofs up cold Veal white.

Cut the veal into little thin bits, put milk enough to it for fauce, grate in a little nutmeg, a very little falt, a little piece of butter rolled in flour; to half a pint of milk, the yolks of two eggs well beat, a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, stir all together till it is thick; then pour it into your dish, and garnish with lemon.

Cold fowl skinned, and done this way, eats well; or the best end of a cold breast of yeal; first fry it, drain it from the fat, then pour this sauce to it.

To halb cold Mutton.

Cut your mutton with a sharp knife in very little bits, as thin as possible; then boil the bones with an onion, a little sweet herbs a blade of mace, a very little whole pepper, a little salt, a piece of crust roasted very crisp: let it boil till there is just enough for sauce, strain it, and put it into a sauce-pan, with a piece of butter butter rolled in flour; put in the meat, when it is very hot it is enough. Have ready some thin bread toasted brown, cut three corner ways, lay them round the dish, and pour in the hash. As to walnut-pickle, and all forts of pickles, you must put in according to your fancy. Garnish with pickles. Some love a small onion peeled and cut very small, and done in the hash.

To hash Mutton like Venison.

Cur it very thin as above; boil the bones, as above: strain the liquor, when there is just enough for the hash. To a quarter of a pint of gravy, put a large spoonful of red wine, an onion pecled and chopped fine, a very little lemon-peel shred fine, a piece of butter as big as a small walnut rolled in slour; put it into a sauce-pan with the meat, shake it all together, and when it is shorough hot, pour it into your dish. Hash beef the same way.

To make Collops of cold Beef.

Ir you have any cold infide of a firloin of beef, take off all the fat, cut it very thin in little bits, cut an onion very small, boil as much water as you think will do for sauce, season it with a little pepper and salt, and a bundle of sweet herbs. Let the water boil, then put in the meat, with a good piece of butter rolled in flour, shake it round and stir it. When the sauce is thick, and the meat done, take out the sweet herbs, and pour it into your dish. They do better than fresh meat.

To make a Florendine of Veal,

TAKE two Kidneys of a loin of veal, fat and all, and mince it very fine, then chop a few herbs and put to it, and add a few eurrants; feafon it with cloves, mace, nutmeg, and a little falk, four or five yolks of eggs chopped fine, and some crumbs of bread, a pippin or two chopped, some candied lemon-peel cut small, a little sack, and orange-flour water. Lay a sheet of puff passe at the bottom of your dish, and put in the ingredients, and cover it with another sheet of puff passe. Bake it in a stack oven, scrape sugar on the top, and serve it up hot.

To make Salamongundy.

TARE two or three Roman or cabbage lettuces, and when you have washed them clean, swing them pretty dry in a cloth; then beginning at the open end, cut them cross-ways, as sine as a good big thread, and lay the lettuces so cut, about an inch thick all over the bottom of a dish. When you have thus garnished your sish, take two cold roasted pullets or chickens, and cut the sless of the breasts and wings into slices, about three inches long and a quarter of an inch broad, and as thin as a shilling; lay them upon the lettuce round the end to the middle of the dish, and the other towards the brim; then having boned and cut six anchovies, each into eight pieces, lay them all between each slice of the fowls, then cut the lean meat off the legs into dice, and cut a lemon into small dice; then mince the yolks of sour eggs, three or sour anchovies, and a little parsley, and make a round heap of these in your dish, pilling it up in the form of a sugar-loas, and garnish it with onlone.

as big as the yolks of eggs, boiled in a good deal of water very tender and white. Put the largest of the onions in the middle on the top of the salamongundy, and lay the rest all round the brim of the dish, as thick as you can lay them: then beat some salad oil up with vinegar, salt and pepper, and pour over it all. Garnish with grapes just scalded, or French beans blanched, or stertian-slowers, and serve it up for a first course.

Another Way.

MINCE two chickens, either boiled or roassed, very fine, or veal, if you please; also mince the yorks of hard eggs very small, and mince the whites very small by themselves; shred the pulp of two or three lemons very small, then lay in your dish a layer of mince meat, and a layer of yolks of eggs, a layer of whites, a layer of anchovies, a layer of your shred lemon-pulp, a layer of pickles, a layer of forrel, a layer of spinach, and shalots shred small. When you have filled a dish with the ingredients, set an orange or lemon on the top; then garnish with horse-raddish scraped, barberries, and sliced lemon. Beat up some oil, with the juice of lemon, salt, and mustard thick; and serve it up for a second course, side-dish, or middle-dish for supper.

A third Salamongundy.

Mince veal or fowl very small, a pickled herring boned and picked small, cucumber minced small, apples minced small, an onion peeled and minced small, some pickled red cabbage chopped small, cold pork minced small, or cold duck or pigeons minced small, boiled parsley chopped small, or celery cut small, the yolks of hard eggs chopped small, and the whites chopped small, and either lay all the ingredients by themselves separate on saucers, or in heaps in a dish. Dish them out with what pickles you have, and sliced lemon nicely cut; and if you can get sterian-slowers lay round it, make a fine middle-dish for supper; but you may always make salamongundy of such things as you have, according to your sancy. The other forts you have in the chapter of salts.

To make little Pasties.

Take the kidney of a loin of veal cut very fine, with as much of the fat, the yolks of two hard eggs, feafoned with a little falt, and half a small nutmeg. Mix them well together, then roll it up in a puff paste crust, make three of it, and fry them nicely in hog's lard or butter.

They make a pretty little dish for change. You may put in some carrots, and a little sugar and spice, with the juice of an orange, and sometime apples, first boiled and sweetened, with a little juice of lemon, or any fruit you pleafe.

Petit Pasties for garnishing of Dishes.

Make a short crust, roll it thick, make them about as big as the bowl of a spoon, and about an inch deep: take a piece of weal, enough to fill the patty, as much bacon and beef suet, shred them all very sine, season them with pepper and falt, and a little sweet herbs; put them into a little stew-pan, keep turning them about about, with a few mushrooms chopped small, for eight or ten minutes; then fill your petit patties, and cover them with some crust. Colour them with the yolk of an egg, and bake them. Sometimes fill them with oysters for sish, or the melts of the sish pounded, and seasoned with pepper and salt; fill them with lobiters, or what you sancy. They make a sine garnishing, and give a dish a sine look: if for a calf's-head, the brains seasoned is most proper, and some with oysters.

Ox-Palates baked.

When you falt a tongue, cut off the root, and take some oxpalates, wash them clean, cut them into six or seven pieces, put them into an earthen pot, just cover them with water, put in a blade or two of mace, twelve whole pepper-corns, three or sour cloves, a little bundle of sweet herbs, a small onion, half a spoonful of raspings; cover it close with brown paper, and let it be well baked. When it comes out of the oven, season it with salt to your palate,

C H A P. V,

To dress F I S H.

A S to boiled fish of all forts, you have full directions in the Lent chapter. But here we can fry fish much better, bu-cause we have beef dripping, or hog's lard.

Observe always in the frying of any sort of fish; first, that you dry your sish very well in a clean cloth; then slour it. Let your stew-pan you fry them in be very nice and clean, and put in as much beef dripping, or hog's lard, as will almost cover your sish; and be sure it boils before you put in your sish. Let it fry quick, and let be a fine light brown, but not too dark a colour. Have your sish slice ready, and if there is occasion turn it; when it is enough, take it up, and lay a coarse cloth on a dish, on which lay your sish to drain all the grease from it: if you fry parsley do it quick, and take great care to whip it out of the pan so soon as it is crisp, or it will lose its sine colour. Take great care that your dripping be very nice and clean. You have directions in the eleventh chapter, how to make it sit for use, and have it always in readiness.

Some love fish in batter; then you must beat an egg fine, and dip your fish in just as you are going to put it in the pan; or as good a batter as any, is a little ale and flour beat up, just as you are ready for it, and dip the fish, so fry it.

Fish-sauce with Lobster.

For falmon or turbet, broiled cod or haddock, &c. nothing is better than fine butter melted thick: and take a lobster, bruise the body of the lobster in the butter, and cut the flesh

Into little pieces; flew it all together, and give it a boil. If you would have your fauce very rich, let one half be rich beef gravy, and the other half melted butter with lobiter; but the gravy, I think, takes away the sweetness of the butter and a lobiter, and the fine flavour of fish.

To make Shrimp Sauce.

Take a pint of beef gravy, and half a pint of shrimps, thicken it with a good piece of butter rolled in flour. Let the gravy be well feasoned, and let it boil.

To make Oyster Sauce.

Take half a pint of large oysters, liquor and all; put them into a sauce-pan, with two or three blades of mace, and twelve whole pepper-corns; let them simmer over a slow sire, till the oysters are sine and plump, then carefully with a fork take out the oysters from the liquor and spice, and let the liquor boil sive or six minutes; then strain the liquor, wash out the sauce-pan clean, and put the oysters and liquor in the sauce-pan again, with half a pint of Gravy, and half a pound of butter just rolled in a little flour. You may put in two spoonfuls of white wine, keep it string till the sauce boils, and all the butter is melted.

To make Anchovy Sauce

TAKE a pint of gravy, put in an anchovy, take a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in a little flour, and stir all together till it boils. You may add a little juice of lemon, catchup, red wine, and walnut liquor, just as you please.

Plain butter melted thick, with a fpoonful of walnut-pickle, or catchup, is good fauce, or anchovy: In short, you may put as many things as you fancy into the sauce; all other sauce for fish, you have in the Lent chapter.

To drefs a Brace of Carp.

First, knock the carp on the head, fave all the blood you can, scale it, and then gut it, and wash the carp in a pint of red wine, and the rows; have some water boiling, with a handful of falt, a little horse-radish, and a bundle of sweet herbs; put in your carp, and boil it foftly. When it is boiled, drain it well over the hot water; in the mean time, strain the wine through a fieve, put it and the blood into a fauce-pan, with a pint of good gravy, a little mace, twelve corns of black and twelve of white pepper, fix cloves, an anchovy, an onion, and a little bundle of fweet herbs. Let them simmer very softly a quarter of an hour, then strain it, put it into the sauce-pan again, and add to it two spoonfuls of catchup, and a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in a little flour, half a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, if you have it; if not, the same quantity of lemon-juice, stir it all together, and let it boil. Boil one half of the rows; the other half beat up with an egg, half a nutmeg grated, a little lemon-peel cut fine and a little falt. Beat all well together, and have ready some nice beef dripping boiling in a stew-pan, into which drop your row and fry them in little cakes, about as big as a crown-piece, of a fine fine light brown, and some sippets cut three-corner-ways, and fry'd crisp; a few oysters, if you have them, dipped in a little batter and fry'd brown, and a good handful of particy fry'd green.

Lay the fish in the dish, the boiled rows on each side, the sippets standing round the carp, pour the sauce boiling hot over the fish; lay the fry'd rows and oysters, with parsley and scraped horse-radish and lemon between, all round the dish; the rest of the cakes and oysters lay in the dish, and send it to table hot. If you would have the sauce white, put in white wine, and good strong yeal gravy, with the above ingredients. Dressed as in the Lent chapter, is full as good, if your beer is not bitter.

As to dreffing pike, and all other fish, you have it in the Lent chapter, only this, when you dress them with a pudding, you may add a little beef suct cut very fine, and good gravy in the sauce. This is a better way, than stewing them in the gravy.

C H A P. VI.

Of SOUPS and BROTHS.

To make strong Broth for Soups or Gravy.

TAKE a leg of beef, chop it to pieces, fet it on the fire in four gallons of water, scum it clean, season it with black and white pepper, a few cloves, with a bundle of sweet herbs. Let it boil till two parts is wasted, then season it with falt; let it boil a little while, then strain it off, and keep it for use.

When you want very strong gravy, take a slice of bacon, lay it in a stew-pan; take a pound of beef, cut it thin, lay it on the bacon, slice a good piece of carrot in, an onion sliced, a good crust of bread, a few sweet herbs, a little mace, cloves, nutmeg, and whole pepper, an anchovy; cover it, and set it on a slow five five or six minutes, and pour in a quart of the above beef gravy; cover it close, and let it boil softly till half is wasted. This will be a rich, high brown sauce for sish or fowl, or ragoo.

Gravy for White Sauce.

Take a pound of any part of the veal, cut it into small pieces, boil it in a quart of water, with an onion, a blade of mace, two cloves, and a few whole pepper-corns. Boil it till it is as rich so you would have it.

Gravy for Turkey, Fowl or Ragoo.

TAKE a pound of lean beef, cut and hack it well, then flour it well, put a piece of butter as big as a hen's egg in a stew-pan: when it is melted, put in your beef fry it on all sides a little brown, then pour in three pints of boiling water, and a bundle of sweet herbs, two or three blades of mace, three or four cloves, twelve whole pepper-corns, a little bit of earrot, a little piece of crust of bread bread toasted brown; cover it close, and let it boil till there is about a pint or less; then season it with falt, and strain it off.

Gravy for a Fowl, when you have no meat nor gravy ready.

Take the neck, liver and gizzard, boil them in half a pint of water, with a little piece of bread toasted brown, a little pepper and-salt, and a little bit of thyme. Let it boil till there is about a quarter of a pint, then pour in half a glass of 1ed wine, boil it and strain it, then bruise the liver well in, and strain it again; thicken it with a little pièce of butter rolled in flour, and it will be very good.

An ox's kidney makes a good gravy, cut all to pieces, and boiled with spice, &c. as in the foregoing receipts.

You have a receipt in the beginning of the book, in the preface, for gravies.

To make Mutton or Vcal Gravy,

Cur and hack your veal well, fet it on the fire with water, fweet herbs, mace and pepper. Let it boil till it is as good as you would have it, then strain it off. Your fine cooks always, if they can, chop a partridge or two, and put into gravies.

To make a strong Fish Gravy.

Take two or three eels, or any fish you have, skin or scale them, and gut them and wash them from grit; cut them into little pieces, put them into a sauce pan, cover them with water, a little crust of bread toasted brown, a blade or two of mace and some whole pepper, a few sweet herbs, a very little bit of lemenpeel. Let it boil till it is rich and good, then have ready a piece of butter, according to your gravy; if a pint, as big as a walnut. Melt it in the sauce-pan, then shake in a little flour, and toss it about till it is brown, and then strain in the gravy to it. Let it boil a few minutes, and it will be good.

To make Plumb Porridge for Christmas.

TAKE a leg and shin of beef, put to them eight gallons of water and boil them till they are very tender, and when the broth is strong strain it out; wipe the pot and put in the broth again; then flice fix penny loaves thin, cut off the top and bottom, put fome of the liquor to it, cover it up and let it stand a quarter of an hour, boil it and strain it, and then put it into your pot. Let it boil a quarter of an hour, then put in five pounds of currants clean washed and picked; let them boil a little, and put in five pound of raisins of the sun stoned, and two pounds of Pruens. and let them boil till they swell; then put in three quarters of an ounce of mace, half an ounce of cloves, two nutmegs, all of them beat fine, and mix it with a little liquor cold, and put them in a very little while, and take off the pot; then put in three pounds of fugar, a little falt, a quart of fack, a quart of claret. and the juice of two or three lemons. You may thicken with fago, instead of bread, if you please; pour them into earthen pans, and keep them for use. You must boil two pounds of pruens pruens in a quart of water till they are tender, and strain there into the pot, when it is boiling.

To make strong Broth to keep for Use.

TAKE part of a leg of beef, and the scraig-end of a neck of mutton, break the bones in pieces, and put to it as much water as will cover it, and a little salt; and when it boils, skim it clean, and put into it a whole onion stuck with cloves, a bunch of sweet herbs, some pepper, a nutmeg quartered. Let these boil till the meat is boiled in pieces, and the strength boiled out of it; then put to it three or sour anchovies, and when they are dissolv'd, train it out and keep it for use.

A Craw-fish Soup.

TAKE a gallon of water, and fet it a boiling; put in it a bunch of fweet herbs, three or four blades of mace, an onion fluck with cloves, pepper and falt; then have about two hundred craw-fish, fave out about twenty, then pick the rest from the shells, save the tails whole; the body and shells beat in a mortar, with a pint of peas, green or dry, first boiled tender in fair water, put your boiling water to it, and straining it boiling hot through a cloth till you have all the goodness out of it; set it over a slow fire or stewhole, have ready a French roll cut very thin, and let be very dry, put it to your foup, let it stew till half is wasted, then put a piece of butter as big as an egg into a fauce pan, let it simmer till it has done making a noise, shake in two tea spoonfuls of flour, firring it about, and an onion; put in the tails of the fish, give them a shake round, put to them a pint of good gravy, let it boil four or five minutes foftly, take out the onion, and put to it a pint of the foup, stir it well together and pour it all together, and let it fimmer very foftly a quarter of an hour; fry a French roll very nice and brown, and the twenty craw-fish, pour your soup into the dish, and lay the roll in the middle, and the craw-fish round the dish.

Fine cooks boil a brace of carp and tench, and may be a lobster or two, and many more rich things, to make a craw-fish soup; but the above is full as good, and wants no addition.

A good Gravy Soup.

TAKE a pound of beef, a pound of veal, and a pound of mutton cut and hacked all to pieces, put it into two gallons of water, with an old cock beat to pieces, a piece of carrot, the upper crust of a penny loaf toasted very crisp, a little bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, a tea spoonful of black pepper and one of white pepper, four or five blades of mace, and four cloves; cover it, and let it stew over a flow fire till half is wasted, then strain it off and put it into a clean sauce-pan, with two or three large spoonfuls of raspings clean sisted, half an ounce of trustles and morels, three or four heads of celery washed very clean and cut small, an ox's palate, first boiled tender and cut in pieces, a few cocks-combs, a few of the little hearts of young savoys; cover it close, and let it simmer very softly over a flow fire two hours; then have ready ready a French roll fry'd and a few force-meat balls fry'd, put shem in your dish and pour in your foup. You may boil a leg of veal, and leg of beef, and and as many fine things as you please; but I believe you will find this rich and high enough.

You may leave out the cocks-combs, and palates, truffles, &c. if you don't like them, it will be good foup without them; and if you would have your foup very clear, don't put in the rafpings.

Observe, if it be a china dish not to pour your soup in boilinghot off the fire, but set it down half a minute, and put a ladleful in first to warm the dish, then put it in; for if it be a frost, the bottom, of your dish will sly out. Vermicelli is good in it, an ounce put in just before you take it up, let it boil four or five minutes.

You may make this foup of beef, or veal alone, just as you fancy. A leg of beef will do either without veal, mutton, or fowl.

A Green Peas Sonp.

Take a small knuckle of veal, about three or four pounds, chop it all to pieces, set it on the fire in fix quarts of water, a little piece of lean bacon, about half an ounce, steeped in vinegar an hour, four or sive blades of mace, three or four cloves, twelve pepper-corns of black pepper, twelve of white, a little bundle of sweet herbs and parsley, a little piece of upper crust toasted crisp, cover it close, and let it boil softly over a slow fire till half is wasted; then strain it off, and put to it a pint of green peas and a lettuce cut small, four heads of celery cut very small, and washed clean: cover it close, and let it stew very softly over a slow fire two hours; in the mean time boil a pint of old peas in a pint of-water very tender, and strain them well through a coarse hair-sieve and all the pulp, then pour it into the soup, and let it boil together. Season with salt to your palate, but not too much, fry a French roll crisp, pour it into your dish, and pour your soup in. Be sure there be full two quarts.

Mutton gravy will do, if you have no veal; or a fin of beef chopped to pieces. A few asparagus-tops are very good in it.

A White Peas Soup.

TAKE about three pounds of thick flank of beef, or any lean part of the leg chopped to pieces; fet it on the fire in three gallons of water, about half a pound of bacon, a finall bundle of fweet herbs, a good deal of dried mint, and thirty or forty corns of pepper; take a bunch of celery, wash it very clean, put in the green tops, and a quart of split peas, cover it close and let it boil till two parts is wasted; then strain it off, and put it into a clean fauce-pan, five or fix heads of celery cut small and washed clean, cover it close and let it boil till there is about three quarts; then cut some fat and lean bacon in dice, some bread in dice, and fry them just crisp; throw them into your dish, season your soup with falt and pour it into your dish, rub a little dried mint over it, and fend it to table. You may add force-meat balls fry'd, cockscombs boiled in it, and an ox's palate stewed tender and cut small. Stewed spinach well drained, and laid round the dish is very pretty. Another

Another Way to make it.

When you boil a leg of pork, or a good piece of beef, fave the liquor. When it is cold take off the fat, the next day boil a leg of mutton, fave the liquor, and when it is cold take off the fat, fet it on the fire, with two quarts of peas. Let them boil till they are tender, then put in the pork or beef liquor, with the ingredients as above, and let it boil till it is as thick as you would have it, allowing for the boiling again; then strain it off, and add the ingredients as above. You may make your foup of veal or mutton gravy if you please, that is according to your fancy.

A Chefnut Soup.

TAKE half a hundred of chesnuts, pick them, put them in an earthen pan, and fet them in an oven half an hour; or roast them gently over a flow fire, but take care they don't burn; then peel them, and fet them to flew in a quart of good beef, veal, or mutton broth, till they are quite tender. In the mean time, take a piece or flice of ham, or bacon, a pound of veal, a pigeon beat to pieces, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, a little pepper and mace, and a piece of carrot; lay the bacon at the bottom of a slew-pan, and lay the meat and ingredients at top. Set it over a flow fire till it begins to stick to the pan, then put in a crust of bread, and pour in two quarts of broth. Let it boil foftly till one third is wasted; then strain it off, and add to it the chesnuts. Scason it with salt, and let it boil till it is well tasted, stew two pigeons in it, and a fry'd French roll crifp; lay the roll in the middle of the dish, and the pigeons on each side; pour in the foup, and fend it away hot.

A French cook will beat a pheasant and brace of partridges to pieces, and put to it. Garnish your dish with hot chesnuts.

To make Mutton Broth.

Take a neck of mutton about fix pounds, cut it in two, boil the feraig in a gallon of water, skim it well, then put in a little bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, and a good crust of bread. Let it boil an hour, then put in the other part of the mutton, a turnip or two, some dried marigolds, a few chives chopped sine, a little parsley chopped small; put these in about a quarter of an hour before your broth is enough. Season it with salt; or you may put in a quarter of a pound of barley or rice at first. Some love it thickened with oatmeal, and some with bread; and some love it season'd with mace, instead of sweet herbs and onion. All this is fancy, and different palates. If you boil turnips for sauce, don't boil all in the pot, it makes the broth too strong for them, but boil them in a sauce-pan.

Beef Broth.

TAKE a leg of beef, crack the bone in two or three parts, wash it clean, put it into a pot with a gallon of water, skim it well, then put in two or three blades of mace, a little bundle of parsley and a good crust of bread. Let it boil till the beef is quite tender, and the sinews. Toast some bread and cut it in dice, and lay in your dish; lay in the meat, and pour the soup in,

To make Scotch Barley Broth.

TAKE a leg of beef, chop it all to pieces, boil it in three gal lons of water, with a piece of carrot, and a crustof bread, till it is half boiled away; then strain it off, and put it into the pot again, with half a pound of barley, four or five heads of celery washed clean and cut small, a large onion, a bundle of sweet herbs, a little partley chopped small, and a few marigolds. Let this boil an hour. Take a cock or large sowl, clean picked and washed, and put into the pot; boil it till the broth is quite good, then season with salt, and send it to table, with the fowl in the middle. This broth is very good without the fowl. Take out the onion and sweet herbs, before you fend it to table.

Some make this broth with a sheep's head, instead of a leg of beef, and it is very good; but you must chop the head all to pieces. The thick slank, about six pounds to six quarts of water, makes good broth; but then put the barley in with the meat, first skim it well, boil it an hour very softly, then put in the above ingredients, with turnips and carrots clean scraped and pared, and cut in little pieces. Boil all together softly, till the broth is very good; then season it with salt, and send it to table, with the beef in the middle, turnips and carrots round, and pour the broth over all.

To make Hodge-podge.

TAKE a piece of beef, fat and lean together about a pound, a pound of veal, a pound of scraig of mutton, cut all into little pieces, fet it on the fire, with two quarts of water, an ounce of barley, an onion, a little bundle of sweet herbs, three or four heads of celery washed clean and cut small, a little mace, two or three cloves, some whole pepper, tied all in a muslin rag, and put to the meat three turnips pared and cut in two, a large carrot fcraped clean and cut in fix pieces, a little lettuce cut small, put all in the pot, and cover it close. Let it stew very foftly over a slow fire five or fix hours; take out the spice, sweet herbs, and onion, and pour all into a foup dish, and send it to table; first season it with falt. Half a pint of green peas, when it is the feafon for them, is very good. If you let this boil fast it will waste too much; therefore you cannot do it too flow, if it does but simmer. All other stews you have in the foregoing chapter; and soups in the chapter of Lent.

To make Pocket Soups

TAKE a leg of veal, strip off all the skin and fat, then take all the muscular or fleshy parts clean from the bones. Boil this flesh in three or four gallons of water till it comes to a strong jelly, and that the meat is good for nothing. Be suite to keep the put close covered, and not do too fast; take a little out in a spoon now and then, and when you find it is a good rich jelly, strain it through a sieve into a clean earthen pan, when it is cold take off all the skim and fat from the top, then provide a large deep stew-pan with water boiling over a stove, then take some deep china cupe, or well glazed earthen ware, and fill these tups with the jelly, which you must take clear from the fettling at the bottom, and then them in the stew-pan of water. Take great care that none of the water gets into the cups; if it does it will spoil it. Keep the water boiling gently all the time till the jelly becomes as thick as glew, take them out and let them stand to cool, and then turn the glew out into some new coarse stannel, which draws out all the moisture, turn them in fix or eight hours on fresh stannel, and so do till they are quite dry. Keep it in a dry warmplace, and in a little time it will be like a dry hard piece of glew, which you may carry in your pocket without getting any harm. The best way is to put it into little tim boxes. When you use it boil about a pint of water, and pour it on a piece of glew about as big as a small walnut, stirring it all the time till it is melted. Season with salt to your palate; and if you chuse any herbs or spice, boil them in the water sirst, and then pour the water over the glew.

To make Portable Soup.

TAKE two legs of beef about fifty pounds weight, take off all the skin and fat as well as you can, then take all the meat and finews clean from the bones, which mert put into a large pot, and put to it eight or nine gallons of fost water; first make it boil, then put in twelve anchovies, an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, an ounce of whole pepper, black and white together, fix large onions peeled and cut in two, a little bundle of thyme, fweet-majoram, and winter-favory, the dry hard crust of a two-penny loaf, stir it altogether, and cover it close, lay a weight on the cover to keep it close down, and let it boil softly for eight or nine hours, then uncover it, and shir it together; cover it close again, and let it boil till it is a very rich good jelly, which you will know by taking a little out now and then, and letting it When you think it is a thick jelly, take it off, strain it through a coarse hair bag, and press it hard; then strain it through a hair fieve into a large earthen pan; when it is quite cold take off all the skim and fat, and take the fine jelly clear from the fettlings at bottom, and then put the jelly into a large deep well-tinnell stew-pan. Set it over a stove with a slow fire, keep stirring it often, and take great care it neither slicks to the pan or burns. When you find the jelly very stiff and thick, as it will be in lumps about the pan, take it out, and put it into large deep china cups, or well glazed earthen ware. Fill the pan two thirds full with water, and when the water boils, fet in your cups. fure no water gets into the cups, and keep the water boiling foftly all the time till you find the jelly is like a stiff glew; take out the cups, and when they are cool, turn but the glew into a coaffe new flannel. Let it lay eight or nine hours, keeping it in a dry warm place, and turn it on fresh flannel till it is quite dry, and the glew will be quite hard; put it into clean new stone pots, keep it close covered from dust and dirt, in a dry place, and where no damp can come to it.

When you use it, pour boiling water on it, and stir it all the time till it is mested. Season it with salt to your palate. A piece as big as a large walnut will make a pint of water very rich; but

The to that you are to make it as good as you please: if for soup, fry a French roll and lay in the middle of the dish, and when the glew is dissolved in the water, give it a boil, and pour it into a dish. If you chuse it for change, you may boil either rice, or barley, vermicelli, celery cut small, or trusses or morels; but let them be very tenderly boiled in the water before you stir in the glew, and then give it a boil altogether. You may, when you would have it very sine, add force-meat balls, cock's combs, or a palate boiled very tender, and cut into little bits; but it will be very rich and good without any of these ingredients.

If for gravy, pour the boiling water on to what quantity you think proper; and when it is dissolved, add what ingredients you please, as in other sauces. This is only in the room of a rich good gravy. You may make your sauce either weak or strong, by adding more or less.

Rules to be observed in making Soups or Broths.

First take great care the pots, or fauce-pans and covers be very clean and free from all greafe and fand, and that they be well tinned, for fear of giving the broths and foups any braffy taffe. If you have time to stew as softly as you can, it will both have a finer flavour, and the meat will be the tenderer. But then observe when you make foups or broth for present use, if it is to be done foftly, don't put much more water then you intend to have four or broth; and if you have the convenience of an earthen pan or pipkin, and fet it on wood embers till it boils, then skim it, and put in your feasoning; cover it close, and set it on embers, so that it may do very foftly for some time, and both the meat and broths will be delicious. You must observe in all broths and foups, that one thing does not tafte more than another; but that the taste be equal, and it has a fine agreeable relish, according to what you defign it for; and you must be sure, that all the greens and herbs you put in be cleaned, washed, and picked.

C H A P. VII:

Of PUDDINGS.

An Oat Pudding to bake.

F cats decocticated take two pounds, and of new milk enough to drown it, eight ounces of raisins of the sun stoned, an equal quantity of currants neatly picked, a pound of sweet suct finely shred, fix new-laid eggs well beat, seasoned with nutmeg, beaten ginger and salt; mix it all well together, it will make a better pudding than rice.

To make a Calf's Foot Pudding.

Take of calves feet one pound minced very fine, the fat and the brown to be taken out, a pound and a half of fuet, pick off all the skin and shred it small, six eggs, but half the whites, beat them well, the c umb of a half-penny roll grated, a pound of currants clean picked, and washed and rubbed in a cloth; milk, as much as will moisten it with the eggs, a handful of flour, a little salt, nutmeg, and sugar, to season it to your taste. Boil it nine hours with your meat; when it is done, lay it in your dish, and pour melted butter over it. It is very good with white wine and sugar in the butter.

H 2 off

To make a Pith Pudding.

Take the quantity of the pith of an ox, and let it lay all night in water to foak out the blood; the next morning strip it out of the skin, and beat it with the back of a spoon in orange water till it is as sine as pap; then take three pints of thick cream, and boil in it are or three blades of mace, a nutmeg quartered, a slick of cinnamon; then take half a pound of the best Jordan Almonds, blanched in cold water, then beat them with a little of the cream, and as it dries put in more cream, and when they are all beaten, strain the cream from them to the pith; then take the yolks of ten eggs, the whites of but two, beat them very well, and put them to the ingredients: take a spoonful of grated bread, or Naples biscuit, mingle all these together, with half a pound of sine sugar, and the marrow of sour large bones, and a little salt; fill them in a small ox or hog's guts, or bake it in a dish, with a puffpushe under it and round the edges.

To make a Marrow Pudding.

TAKE a quart of cream, and three Naples Biscuits, a nutmeg grated, the yolks of ten eggs, the whites of five well beat, and sugar to your taste; mix all well together, and put a little bit of butter in the bottom of your sauce-pan, then put in your stuff and set it over the fire, and stir it till it is pretty thick, then pour it into your pan, with a quarter of a pound of currants, that have been plumped in hot water, stir it together, and let it stand all night. The next day put some sine passe and lay at the bottom of your dish, and round the edges; when the oven is ready, pour in your stuff, and lay long pieces of marrow on the top. Half an hour will bake it. You may use the stuff when cold.

A boiled Suct Pudding.

TAKE a quart of milk, a pound of fuet shred small, four eggs, two spoonfuls of beaten ginger, or one of beaten pepper, a tea-spoonful of salt; mix the eggs and slour with a pint of the milk very thick, and the seasoning mix in the rest of the milk and the suet. Let your batter be pretty thick, and boil it two hours.

A boiled Plumb Pudding.

TAKE a pound of fuet cut in little pieces not too fine, a pound of currants, and a pound of raisins stoned, eight eggs, half the whites, the crumb of a penny loaf grated fine, half a nutmeg grated, and a tea-spoonful of beaten ginger, a little salt, a pound of slour, a pint of milk; beat the eggs first, then half the milk, beat them together, and by degrees itir in the flour and bread together, together, then the fuet, spice and fruit, and as much milk as will mix it well together very thick. Boil it five hours.

A Yorksbire Pudding.

TAKE a quart of milk, four eggs, and a little falt, make it up into a thick batter with flour like a pancake batter. You must have a good piece of meat at the fire, take a stew-pan and put some dripping in, set it on the fire; when it boils, pour in your pudding; let it bake on the fire till you think it is nigh enough, then turn a plate upside-down in the dripping-pan, that the dripping may not be blacked; set your stew-pan on it under your meat, and let the dripping drop on the pudding, and the heat of the fire come to it, to make it of a fine brown. When your meat is done and sent to table, drain all the fat from your pudding, and set it on the fire again to dry a little; then slide it as dry as you can into a dish, melt some butter, and pour into a cup, and set in the middle of the pudding. It is an exceeding good pudding; the gravy of the meat eats well with it.

A Steak Pudding.

MAKE a good crust, with suet shred fine with slour, and mix it up with cold water; season it with a little salt, and make a pretty stiff crust, about two pounds of suet, to a quarter of a peck of slour, Let your steaks be either beef or mutton, well seasoned with pepper and salt, make it up as you do an apple-pudding, tie it in a cloth, and put it into the water boiling. If it be a large pudding, it will take sive hours; if a small one three hours. This is the best crust for an apple pudding. Pigeons eat well this way.

A Vermicella Pudding with Marrow.

FIRST make your vermicella; take the yolks of two eggs, and mix it up with just as much flour as will make it to a stiff paste, roll it out as thin as a wafer, let it lie to dry till you can roll it up close without breaking, then with a sharp knife cut it very thin, beginning at the little end. Have ready some water boiling, . into which throw the vermicella; let it boil a minute or two at most, then throw it into a sieve, have ready a pound of marrow, lay a layer of marrow, and a layer of vermicella, and fo on till all is laid in the dish. When it is a little cool, beat it up very well together, take ten eggs, beat them and mix them with the other, grate the crumb of a penny loaf, and mix with it a gill of fack, brandy, or a little rose water, a reaspoonful of salt, a small nutmeg grated, a little grated lemon-peel, two large blades of mace well dried and beat fine, half a pound of currants clean washed and picked, half a pound of raisins stoned, mix all well together, and sweeten to your palate; lay a good thin crust at the bottom and fides of your dish, pour in the ingredients, and bake it an hour and a half in an oven not too hot. You may either put marrow or beef fuet shred fine, or a pound of butter, which you please. When it comes out of the oven, strew some fine sugar over it, and fend it to table. You may leave out the fruit if H 3 you please, and you may for change add half an ounce of citron, and half an ounce of candied orange-peel shred fine.

Suet Dumplins.

Take a pint of milk, four eggs, a pound of fuet, and a pound of currants, two tealpoonfuls of falt, three of ginger; first take that the milk, and mix it like a thick batter, then put the eggs, and the salt and ginger, then the rest of the milk by degrees, with the suet and currants, and flour to make it like a light paste. when the water boils, make them in rolls as big as a large turkey's egg, with a little flour; then flat them, and throw them into boiling water. Move them softly, that they don't stick together, keep the water boiling all the time, and half an hour will boil them.

An Oxford Pudding.

A quarter of a pound of biscuit grated, a quarter of a pound of currents clean washed and picked, a quarter of a pound of sues shred small, half a large spoonful of powder sugar, a very little salt, and some grated nutmeg; mix all well together, then take two yolks of eggs, and make it up in balls as big as a turkey's egg. Fry them in fresh butter of a fine light brown; for sauce have melted butter and sugar, with a little sack or white wine. You must mind to keep the pan shaking about, that they may be all of a fine light brown.

All other puddings you have in the Lent chapter.

Rules to be observed in making Puddings, &c.

In boiled puddings, take great care the bag or cloth be very clean, and not foapy, and dipped in hot water, and then well floured. If a bread-pudding, tie it loofe; if a batter-pudding, tie it close, and be fure the water boils when you put the pudding in, and you should move your puddings in the pot now and then, for fear they stick. When you make a batter pudding, first mix the flour well with a little milk, then put in the ingredients by degrees, and it will be smooth and not have lumps; but for a plain batter-pudding, the best way is to strain it through a coarse hair sieve, that it may neither have lumps, nor the treadles of the eggs: and all other puddings, strain the eggs when they are beat. It you boil them in wooden bowls, or china dishes, butter the inside before you put in your batter; and all baked puddings, butter the pan or dish, before the pudding is put in.

C H A P. VIII.

Of PIES.

To make a very fine sweet Lamb or Veal Pye.

EASON your lamb with falt, pepper, cloves, mace, and nutmeg, all beat fine, to your palate. Cut your lamb or veal into little pieces, make a good puff-passe crust, lay it into your dish, then lay in your meat, strew on it some stoned raising and currants clean washed, and some sugar; then lay on it some forced-meat balls made sweet, and in the summer some artichoke bottoms boiled, and scalded grapes in the winter. Boil Spanish potatoes cut in pieces, candied citron, candied orange and lemon-peel, and three or sour blades of mace; put butter on the top, close up your pye and bake it. Have ready against it comes out of the oven, a caudle made the take a pint of white wine and mix in the yolks of three eggs, stir it well together over the fire, one way, all the time till it is thick; then take it off, stir in sugar enough to sweeten it, and squeeze in the juice of a lemon; pour it hot into your pye, and close it up again. Send it hot to table.

To make a pretty sweet Lamb or Veal Pye.

First make a good crust, butter the dish, and lay in your bottom and side crust; then cut your meat into small pieces; season with a very little salt, some mace and nutmeg beat sine and strewed over; then lay a layer of meat, and strew according to your fancy, some currants clean washed and picked, and a few raisins stoned all over the meat; lay another layer of meat, put a little butter at the top, and a little water just enough to bake it and no more. Have ready against it comes out of the oven, a white wine caudle made very sweet, and send it to table bot.

A Savoury Veal Pye.

TAKE a breast of veal, cut it into pieces, season it with pepper and salt, lay it all into your crust, boil fix or eight eggs hard, take only the yolks, put them into the pye here and there, fill your dish almost full of water, put on the lid, and bake it well.

To make a savoury Lamb or Veal Pye.

Make a good puff-paste crust, cut your meat into pieces, seafon it to your palate with pepper, salt, mace, cloves, and nutmeg finely beat; lay it into your crust with a sew lambstones and sweetbroads seasoned as your meat, also some oysters and forcemeat balls, hard yelks of eggs, and the tops of asparagus two inches long, first boiled green; put butter all over the pye, put on the lidand set it is a quick oven an hour and a half, and then have ready the liquor, made thus: take a pint of gravy, the eyster liquor, a gill of red wine, and a little grated nutmeg: mix all together with the yolks of two or three eggs beat, and keep it stirring all one way all the time. When it boils, pour it into your pye; put on the lid again. Send it hot to table. You must make liquor according to your pye.

To make a Calf's Foot Pye.

First, fet four calves feet on in a sauce-pan in three quarts of water, with three or four blades of mace; let them boil softly till there is about a pint and a half, then take out your feet, strain the liquor, and make a good crust; cover your dish, then pick off the slesh from the bone, lay half in the dish, strew half a pound of currants clean washed and picked over, and half a pound of raisins stoned; lay on the rest of the meat, then skim the liquor, sweeten it to the palate, and put in half a pint of white wine; pour it into the dish, put on your lid, and bake it an hour and a half.

To make an Olive Pye.

Make your crust ready, then take the thin collops of the best end of a leg of veal, as many as you think will fill your pye. Hack them with the back of a knife, and feason them with falt, pepper, cloves and mace; wash over your collops with a bunch of feathers dipped in eggs, and have in readiness a good handful of fweet herbs shred small. The herbs must be thyme, parsley and spinach, the yolks of eight hard eggs minced, and a few oysters parboiled and chopped, some beef suet shred very fines mix these together, and strew them over your collops, then sprinkle a little orange-flower water over them, and roll the collops up very close, and lay them in your pye, strewing the seasoning over that is left, put butter on the top, and close your pye. When it comes out of the oven, have ready fome gravy hot, and pour into your pye, one anchovy diffolved in the gravy, pour it in boil-You may put in artichoke-bottoms and chefnuts, if you please. You may leave out the orange-flower water, if you don't like it.

To season an Egg Pye

Boil twelve eggs hard, and shred them with one pound of beef suet, or marrow shred sine. Season them with a little cinnamon and nutmeg beat sine, one pound of currants clean washed and picked, two or three spoonfuls of cream, and a little sack and rose water mixt all together, and fill the pye. When it is baked, stir in half a pound of fresh butter, and the juice of a lemon.

To make a Mutton Pye.

TAKE a loin of mutton, take off the skin and fat of the infide, cut it into seaks; season it well with pepper and salt to your jalate. Lay it into your crust, fill it, pour in as much water as will almost fill the dish; then put on the crust, and bake it well.

A Beef Steak Pye.

Take fine rump steaks, beat them with a rolling-pin, then season them with pepper and salt, according to your palate, make a good crust, lay in your steaks, fill your dish, then pour in a much rruch water as will half fill the dish. Put on the crust, and bake at well.

A Ham Pye.

Take some cold boiled ham, and slice it about half an inch thick, make a good crust, and thick, over the dish, and lay a layer of ham, shake a little pepper over it, then take a large young fowl clean picked, gutted, washed and singed; put a little pepper and falt in the belly, and rub a very little falt on the outside; lay the fowl on the ham, boil fome eggs hard, put in the yolks and cover all with ham, then shake some pepper on the ham, and put on the top-crust. Bake it well, have ready when it comes out of the oven some very rich beef gravy, enough to fill the pye; lay an the crust again, and send it to table hot. A fresh ham will not be so tender; so that I always boil my ham one day and bring it to table, and the next day make a pye of it. It does better than an unboiled ham. If you put two large fowls in they will make a fine pye; but that is according to your company, more or less. The larger the pye, the finer the meat eats. The crust must be the same you make for a venison-pasty. You should pour a little strong gravy into the pye when you make it. just to bake the meat, and then fill it up when it comes out of the Boil some truffles and morels and put into the pye, which is a great addition, and some fresh mushrooms, or dried ones.

To make a Pigeon Pye.

Make a puff-paste crust, cover your dish, let you pigeons be very nicely picked and cleaned, season them with pepper and salt, and put a good piece of fine fresh butter with pepper and salt in their bellies; lay them in your pan, the necks, gizzards, livers, pinions and hearts lay between, with the yolk of a hard egg and and a beef steak in the middle; put as much water as will almost fill the dish, lay on the top-crust, and bake it well. This is the best way to make a pigeon pye; but the French fill the pigeons with a very high force-meat, and lay force-meat balls round the inside, with asparagus-tops, artichoke-bottoms, mushrooms, trusfless and morels, and season high; but that is according to different palates.

To make a Gibblet Pye.

Take two pair of gibblets nicely cleaned, put all but the livers into a fauce-pan, with two quarts of Water, twenty corns of whole repper, three blades of mace, a bundle of fweet herbs, and a large onion; cover them close, and let them stew very softly till they are quite tender, then have a good crust ready, cover your dish, lay a fine rump steak at the bottom, season'd with pepper and salt; then lay in your gibblets with the livers, and strain the liquor they were stewed in. Season it with salt, and pour into your pye; put on the lid, and bake it an hour and a half,

To make a Duck Pye.

MAKE a puff-paste crust, take two ducks, scald them and make them very clean, cut off the feet, the pinions, the neck and head, all clean picked and scalded, with the gizzards, livers and hearts: pick out all the fat of the infide, lay a crust all over the dish, season the ducks with pepper and salt, inside and out, lay them in your dish, and the gibblets at each end seasoned; put in as much water as will almost fill the pye, lay on the crust, and bake it, but not too much.

To make a Chicken Pye.

Make a puff-paste crust, take two young chickens, cut them to pieces, scason them with pepper and salt, a little beaten mace, lay a force-meat made thus round the fide of the dish: Take half a pound of veal, half a pound of fuet, beat them quite fine in a marble mortar, with as many crumbs of bread; feafon it with a little pepper and falt, an anchovy with the liquor, cut the anchovy to pieces, a little lemon-peel cut very fille and shred small, a very little thyme, mix all together with the yolk of an egg, make some into round balls about twelve, the rest lay round the dish. Lay in one chicken over the bottom of the dish, take two fweetbreads, cut them into five or fix pieces, lay them all over, season them with pepper and fals, strew over them half an ounce of truffies and morels, two or three artichoke-bottoms cut to pieces, a few cocks-combs, if you have them, a palate boiled tender and cut to pieces; then lay on the other part of the chicken. put half a pint of water in, and cover the pye. Bake it well, and when it comes out of the oven, fill it with good gravy, lay on the crust, and send it to table.

To make a Cheshire Pork Pye.

TAKE a loin of pork, skin it, cut it into steaks, season it with salt, nutmeg, and pepper; make good crust, lay a layer of pork, then a large layer of pippins pared and cored, a little sugar, enough to sweeten the pye, then another layer of pork; put in half a pint of white wine, lay some butter on the top, and close your pye. If your pye be large, it will take a pint of white wine.

To make a Devonshire Squab Pye.

MAKE a good crust, cover the dish all over, put at the bottom a layer of sliced pippens, strew over them some sugar, then a layer of mutton-steaks cut from the loin, well seasoned with pepper and salt, then another layer of pippins; peel some onions and slice them thin, lay a layer all over the apples, then a layer of mutton, then pippins and onions, pour in a pint of water, so close your pye and bake it.

To make an Ox Cheek Pye.

FIRST bake your ox check as at other times, but not too much, put in the oven over night and then it will be ready the next day; make fine puff-passe crust, and let your side and top-crust be thick; let your dish be deep to hold a good deal of gravy, cover your dish with crust, then cut off all the siesh, kernels and fat of the head, with the palate cut in pieces, cut the meat into little pieces as you do for a hash, lay in the meat, take an ounce of trusses and morels and throw them over the meat, the yolks of six eggs boiled hard, a gill of pickled mushrooms, or fresh ones are better, if you have them; put in a good many force-meat balls, a few artichoke-bottoms and afparagus-tops, if you have any. Season your pye with pepper and talt to your palate, and fill the pye with the gravy it was baked in. If the head be rightly feasoned when it comes out of the oven, it will want very little more; put on the lid, and bake it. When the crust is done, your pye will be enough.

To make a Shropshire Pye.

First make a good puff-passe crust, then cut two rabbits to pieces, with two pounds of fat pork cut in little pieces; season both with pepper and salt to your liking, then cover your dish with crust, and lay in your rabbits. Mix the pork with them, take the livers of the rabbits, parboil them, and beat them in a mortar, with as much sat bacon, a little sweet herbs, and some oysters, if you have them. Season with pepper, salt and nutmeg; mix it up with the yolk of an egg, and make it into balls. Lay them here and there in your pye, some artichoke-bottoms cut in dice, and cocks-combs, if you have them; grate a small nutmeg over the meat, then pour in half a pint of red wine, and half a pint of water. Close your pye, and bake it an hour and a half in a quick oven, but not too sierce an oven.

To make a Yorkshire Christmas Pye,

FIRST make a good standing crust, let the wall and bottom be very thick: bone a turkey, a goofe, a fowl, a partridge, and a pigeon. Season them all very well, take half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, and half an ounce of black pepper, all beat fine together, two large spoonfuls of falt, and then mix them together. Open the fowls all down the back, and bone them; first the pigeon, then the partridge, cover them, then the fowl, then the goose, and then the turkey, which must be large, season them all well first, and lay them in the crust, so as it will look only like a whole turkey: then have a hare ready cased, and wiped with a clean cloth. Cut it to pieces; that is, jointed; feafon it, and lay it as close as you can on one fide; on the other fide woodcocks, more game, and what fort of wild fowl you can get. Seafon them well, and lay them close; put at least four pounds of butter into the pye, then lay on your lid, which must be a very thick one, and let it be well baked. It must have a very hot oven, and will take at least four hours.

This crust will take a bushel of flour. In this chapter you will see how to make it. These pies are often sent to London in a box is presents, therefore the wall must be well built.

To make a Goose Pye.

HALF a peck of flour will make the walls of a goofe-pye, made as in the receipts for crust. Raise your crust just big enough to hold a large goose; first have a pickled dried tongue boiled tender enough to peel, cut off the foot, bone a goose and a large fowl; take half a quarter of an ounce of mase beat fine, a large tea spoonful of beaten pepper, three tea spoonfuls of salt; mix all together, season your sowl and goose with it, then lay the sowl in the goose, and the tongue in the fowl, and the goose in the same form as if whole. Put half a pound of butter on the top, and lay on the lid. This pye is delicious, either hot or cold, and will keep a great while. A slice of this pye cut down a-cross makes a pretty little side-dish for supper.

To make a Venison Pasty.

TAKE a neck and breast of venison, bone it, season it with pepper and salt according to your palate. Cut the breast in two or three pieces; but don't cut the fat of the neck if you can help it. Lay in the breast and neck-end first, and the best end of the neck on the top, that the fat may be whole; make a good rich pussible crust, let it be very thick on the sides, a good bottom crust, and thick top; cover the dish, then lay in your venison, put in half a pound of butter, about a quarter of a pint of water, close your pasty, and let it be baked two hours in a very quick oven. In the mean time set on the bones of the venison in two quarts of water, with two or three blades of mace, an onion, a little piece of crust baked crisp and brown, a little whole pepper; cover it close, and let it boil softly over a flow fire till above half is wasted, then strain it off. When the pasty comes out of the oven, lift up the lid, and pour in the gravy.

When your venision is not fat enough, take the fat of a loin of mutton, fleeped in a little rap vinegar and red wine twentyfour hours, then lay it on the top of the venison, and close your pailty. It is a wrong notion of some people, to think venison cannot be baked enough, and will first bake it in a false crust, and then bake it in the pasty; by this time the fine flavour of the wenison is gone. No, if you want it to be very tender, wash it in warm milk and water, dry it in clean cloths till it is very dry, then rub it all over with vinegar, and hang it in the air. Keep it as long as you think proper, it will keep thus a fortnight good; but be sure there be no moistness about it; if there is, you must dry it well and throw ginger over it, and it will keep a long time. When you use it, just dip it in luke warm water, and dry it. Bake it in a quick oven; if it is a large pasty, it will take three hours; then your venison will be tender, and have all the fine flavour. The shoulder makes a pretty pasty, boned and made as above with the mutton fat.

A loin of mutton makes a fine pasty: Take a large fat loin of mutton, let it hang four or five days, then bone it, leaving the meat as whole as you can, lay the meat twenty-four hours in half a pint of red wine and half a pint of rap vinegar; than take it out of the pickle, and order it as you do a pasty, and boil the bones in the same manner to fill the pasty, when it come out of the oven.

To make Calf's Head Pye.

CLEANSE your head very well, and boil it till it is tender; then carefully take off the flesh as whole as you can, take out the eyes and slice the tongue; make a good puff-paste crust cover.

the dish, lay in your meat, throw over the tongue, lay the eyes cut in two, at each corner. Season it with a very little pepper and falt, pour in half a pint of the liquor it was boiled in, lay a thin top-crust on, and bake it an hour in a quick oven. In the mean time boil the bones of the head in two quarts of the liquor, with two or three blades of mace, half a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper, a large onion, and a bundle of sweet herbs. Let it boil till there is about a pint, then strain it off, and add two spoonfuls of catchup, three of red wine, a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour, half an ounce of truffles and morels. Season with falt to your palate. Boil it, and have half the brains boiled with fome fage; beat them, and twelve leaves of fage chopped fine; stir all together, and give it a boil; take the other part of the brains, and beat them up with some of the sage chopped fine, a little lemon-peel minced fine, and half a small nutmeg grated. Beat it up with an egg, and fry it in little cakes of a fine light brown, boil fix eggs hard, take only the yolks; when your pye comes out of the oven, take off the lid, lay the eggs and cakes over it, and pour the fauce all over. Send it to table hot without the lid. This is a fine dish; you may put in it as many fine things as you please, but it wants no more addition.

To make a Tort.

First make a fine puff-paste, cover your dish with the crust, make a good force-meat thus: Take a pound of veal, and a pound of beef suet, cut them small, and beat them sine in a mortar-Season it with a small nutmeg grated, a little lemon-peel shred sine, a few sweet herbs, not too much, a little pepper and salt, just enough to season it, the crumb of a penny-loaf rubbed sine; mix it up with the yolk of an egg, make one third into balls, and the rest lay round the sides of the dish. Get two sine large veal sweetbreads, cut each in four pieces; two pair of lambstones, each cut in two, twelve cocks-combs, half an ounce of trusses and morels, four artichoke-bottoms cut each into four pieces, a few asparagustops, some fresh mushrooms, and some pickled; put all together in your dish.

Lay first your sweetbreads, then the artichoke-bottoms, then the cocks-combs, then the truffles and morels, then the asparagus, then the mushrooms, and then the force-meat balls. Season the sweetbreads with pepper and salt; fill your pye with water, and put on the crust. Bake it two hours.

As to fruit and fish-pies, you have them in the chapter for Lent.

In make Mince Pyes the best way.

Take three pounds of fact fired very fine, and chopped as small as possible, two pounds of raisins stoned, and chopped as fine as possible, two pounds of currents nicely picked, washed, rubbed, and dried at the fire, half a hundred of fine pippins, pared, cored, and chopped small, half a pound of fine sugar pounded fine, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, two large nutmegs, all beat fine; put all together into a great pan, and mix it well together with half a pint of brandy, and half half a pint of fack; put it down close in a stone-pot, and it will keep good four months. When you make your pies, take a little dish, something bigger than a soup-plate, lay a very thin crust all over it, lay a thin layer of a meat, and then a thin layer of citron cut very thin, then a layer of mince met, and a thin layer of orange-peel cut hin, over that a little meat, squeeze half the juice of a sine Seville orange or lemon, and pour in three spoontuls of red wine; lay on your crust, and bake it nicely. These pies cat finely cold. If you make them in little patties, mix your meat and sweet meats acc rdingly. If you chuse meat in your pies, parboil a neat's tongue, peel it, and shop the meat as sine as possible, and mix with the rest; or two pounds of the inside of a surl in of beef boiled.

Tort de Moy.

MAKE puff-passe, and lay round your dish, then a layer of biscuit, and a layer of butter and marrow, and then a layer of all sorts of sweet meats, or as many as you have, and so do till your dish is full; then boil a quart of cream, and thicken it with four eggs, and a spoonful of orange-flower water. Sweeten it with sugar to your palate, and pour over the rest. Half an hour will bake it.

To make Orange or Lemon Tarts.

TAKE fix large lemons, and rub them very well with falt, and put them in water for two days, with a handful of falt in it; then change them into fresh water every day (without falt) for a fortnight, then boil them for two or three hours till they are tender, then cut them into half quarters, and then cut them three-corner-ways, as thin as you can: take fix pippins pared, cored and quartered, and a pint of fair water. Let them boil till the pippins break; put the liquor to your orange or lemon, and half the pulp of the pippins well broken, and a pound of fugar. Boil these together a quarter of an hour, then put it in a gallipot, and squeeze an orange in it: if it be a lemon tart, squeeze a lemon; two spoonfuls is enough for a tart. Your pattypans must be small and shallow. Put fine puff-paste, and very thin; a little while will bake it. Just as your tarts are going into the oven, with a feather, or brush, do them over with melted butter, and then fift double-refined fugar over them; and this is a pretty iceing on them.

To make different forts of Tarts.

Ir you bake in tin-patties, butter them, and you must put a little crnst all over, because of the taking them out; if in china, or glass, no crust but the top one. Lay sine sugar at the bottom, then your plumbs, cherries, or any other fort of fruit, and sugar at top; then put on your lid, and bake them in a slack oven. Mince pies must be baked in tin-patties, because of taking them out, and pust-passe is best for them. All sweet tarts the beaten crust is best; but as you fancy. You have the receipt for the crusts in this chapter. Apple, pear, apricot &c. make thus: apples and pears, pare them, cut them into quarters, and core them; eut the quarters across again, set them on in a sauce-pan with just just as much water as will barely cover them, let them fimmer on a flow fire just till the fruit is tender; put a good piece of lemonpeel in the water with the fruit, then have your patties ready. Lay fine fugar at bottom, then your fruit, and a little fugar at top; that you must put in at your discretion. Pour over each tart a tea spoonful of lemon-juice, and three tea spoonfuls of the liquor they were boiled in; put on your lid, and bake them in a flack oven. Apricots do the same way, only don't use lemon.

As to preferve tarts, only lay in your preferved fruit, and put a very thin crust at top, and let them be baked as little as possible; but if you would make them nice, have a large party, the fine you would have your tart. Make your fugar-crust, roll it as thick as a halfpenny; then butter your patties, and cover it. Shape your upper-crust on a hollow thing on purpose, the size of your patty, and mark it with a marking-iron for that purpose in what shape you please, to be hollow and open to fee the fruit through; then bake your crust in a very flack oven, not to discolour it, but to have it crisp. When the crust is cold, very carefully take it out. and fill it with what fruit you please, lay on the lid, and it is done; therefore if the tart is not eat, your sweet meat is not the worfe, and it looks genteel.

Paste for Tarts.

ONE pound of flour, three quarters of a pound of butter; mix up together, and beat with a rolling-pin.

Another Paste for Tarts.

HALF a pound of butter, half a pound of flour, and half a pound of fugar; mix it well together, and beat it with a rollingpin well, then roll it out thin.

Puff-Pafte.

Take a quarter of a peck of flour, rub fine half a pound of butter, a little falt, make it up into a light paste with cold water. just stiff enough to work it well up; then roll is out, and slick pieces of butter all over, and strew a little flour; roll it up, and roll it out again; and so do nine or ten times, till you have rolled in a pound and a half of butter. This crust is mostly used for all forts of pies.

A good Crust for great Pies.

To a peck of flour the yolks of three eggs; then boil some water, and put in half a pound of tryed fuet, and a pound and a half of butter, skim of the butter and suet, and as much of the liquor as will make it a light good crust; work it up well and roll it out.

A flanding Crust for great Pies.

TAKE a peck of flour, and fix pounds of butter, boiled in a gallon of water, skim it off into the flour, and as little of the liquor as you can; work it well up into a paste, then pull it into pieces till it is cold, then make it up in what form you will have it. This is fit for the walls of a goose pye.

A Cold Cruft.

To three pounds of flour, rub in a pound and a half of butter, · break in two eggs, and make it up with cold water.

A Dripping Crust.

TAKE a pound and a half of beef-dripping, boil it in water, frain it, then let it stand to be cold, and take off the hard fat; ferape it, boil it so four or five times; then work it well up into three pounds of flour, as fine as you can, and make it up into passe with cold water. It makes a very fine crust.

A Crust for Custards.

Take half a pound of flour, fix ounces of butter, the yolks of two eggs, three spoonfuls of cream; mix them together, and let them stand a quarter of an hour, then work it up and down, and roll it very thin.

Paste for Crackling Crust.

Blanch four handfuls of Almonds, and throw them into water, then dry them in a cloth, and pound them in a mortar very fine, with a little orange-flour water, and the white of an egg. When they are well pounded, pass them through a coarse hair-sieve, to clear them from all the lumps or clods; then spread it on a dish till it is very pliable; let it stand for a while, then roll out a piece for the under crust, and dry it in the oven on the pye-pan, while other pastry works are making; as knots, cyphers, &c. for garnishing your pies.

C H A P. IX.

For a Fast Dinner; a number of good dishes, which you may make use of for a table at any other time.

A Peas-soup.

BOIL a quart of split peas in a gallon of water; when they are quite soft, put in half a red herring, or two anchovies, a good deal of whole pepper, black and white; two or three blades of mace, four or five cloves, a bundle of sweet herbs, a large onion, and the green tops of a bunch of celery, a good bundle of dried mint, cover them close, and let them boil softly till there is about two quarts; then strain it off, and have ready the white part of the celery washed clean and cut small, and stewed tender in a quart of water, some spinach picked and washed clean, put to the celery; let them stew till the water is quite wasted, and put it to your soup.

Take a french roll, take out the crumb, fry the crust brown in a little fresh butter, take some spinach, stew it in a little butter, after it is boiled, and fill the roll; take the crumb, cut it to pieces, beat it in a mortar with a raw egg, a little spinach, and a little forrel, a little bea en mace, and a little nutmeg, and an anchovy; then mix it up with your hand, and roll them into balls with a little flour, and cut some bread into dice, and fry them criss; pour your your foup into your dish, put in the balls and bread, and the roll in the middle. Garnish your dish with spinach; if it wants salt, you must season it to your palate, rub in some dried mint.

A green Peafe Soup.

Take a quart of old green peas, and boil them till they are quite tender as pap, in a quart of water; then strain them through a sieve, and boil a quart of young peas in that water. In the mean time put the old peas into a sieve, pour half a pound of melted butter over them, and strain them through the sieve with the back of a spoon, till you have got all the pulp. When the young peas are boiled enough, add the pulp and butter to the young peas and liquor; stir them together till they are smooth, and season with pepper and salt. You may fry a french roll, and let it swim in the dish. If you like it, boil a bundle of mint in the peas.

Another green Peafe Soup.

Take a quart of green peas, boil them in a gallon of water, with a bundle of mint, and a few sweet herbs, mace, cloves and whole pepper, till they are tender; then strain them, liquor and all, through a coarse sieve, till all the pulp is strained. Put this liquor into a sauce-pan, put to it sour heads of celery clean washed and cut small, a handful of spinach clean washed and cut small, a lettuce cut small, a fine leek cut small, a quart of green peas, a little salt; cover them, and let them boil very softly till there is about two quarts, and that the celery is tender. Then send it to table.

If you like it, you may add a piece of burnt butter to it, about a quarter of an hour before the foup is enough.

Soup Meagre.

Take half a pound of butter, put it into a deep stew-pan, shake it about, and let it stand till it has done making a noise; then have ready fix middling onions peeled and cut small, throw them in, and shake them about. Take a bunch of celery clean washed and picked, cut it in pieces half as long as your finger, a large handful of spinach clean washed and picked, a good lettuce clean washed, if you have it, and cut small, a little bundle of parsley chopped fine; shake all this well together in the pan for a quarter of an hour, then shake in a little flour, stir all together, and pour into the stew-pan two quarts of boiling water; take a handful of dry hard crust, throw in a tea spoonful of beaten pepper, three blades of mace beat fine, stir all together and let it boil foftly half an hour; then take it off the fire, and beat up the volks of two eggs and stir in, and one spoonful of vinegar; pour it into the foup-dish, and send it to table. If you have any green peas, boil half a pint in the foup for change.

To make an Onion Soup.

Take half a pound of butter, put it into a stew-pan on the fire, let it all melt, and boil it till it has done making any noise; then have ready ten or a dozen middling onions peeled and cut simall, throw them into the butter, and let them fry a quarter of an hour; then shake in a little flour, and stir them round; shake your pan, and let them do a few minutes longer, then pour in a quart or three pints of boiling water, stir them round, take a piece of upper-crust, the stalest bread you have, about as big as the top of a penny-loaf cut small, and throw it in. Season with salt to your palate. Let it boil ten minutes, stirring it often; then take it off the fire, and have ready the yolks of two eggs beat sine, with half a spoonful of vinegar; mix some soup with them, then stir it into your soup and mix it well, and pour it into your dish. This is a delicious dish.

To make an Eel Soup.

Take cels according to the quantity of foup you would make: a pound of eels will make a pint of good foup; so to every pound of eels, put a quart of water, a crust of bread, two or three blades of mace, a little whole pepper, an onion, and a bundle of sweet herbs; cover them close, and let them boil till half the liquor is wasted; then strain it, and toast some bread, and cut it imall, lay the bread into the dish, and pour in your soup. If you have a stew-hole, set the dish over it for a minute, and send it to table. If you find your soup not rich enough, you must let it boil till it is as strong as you would have it. You may make this soup as rich and good as if it was meat: you may add a piece of carrot to brown it.

To make a Crawfish Soup.

Salamangundy for a Middle-Dish at Supper.

In the top plate in the middle, which should stand higher than the rest, take a fine pickled herring, bone it, take off the head and mince the rest fine. In the other plates round, put the following things: in one, pare a cucumber and cut it very thin; in another, apples pared and cut small; in another, an onion pecked and cut small; in another, two hard eggs chopped small, the whites in one, and the yolks in another; picked gerkins in another cut small; in another, celery cut small; in another, pickled red cabbage chopped sine; take some water-cresses. You must have oil and vinegar, and lemon to eat with it. If it is prettily set out, it will make a pretty sigure in the middle of the table, or you may lay them in heaps in a dish. If you have not all these ingredients, set out your plates or saucers with just what you faney, and in the room of a pickled herring you may mince anchovies.

To make a Tansey.

Take ten eggs, break them into a pan, put to them a little falt, beat them very well, then put to them eight ounces of loaffugar fugar beat fine, and a pint of the juice of spinach. Mix them well together, and strain it into a quart of cream; then grate in eight ounces of Naples biscuit or white bread, a nutmeg grated, a quarter of a pound of Jordan almonds, beat in a mortar, with a little juice of tansey to your taste: mix these all together, put it into a stew-pan, with a piece of butter as large as a pippin. Set it over a slow charcoal fire, keep it stirring till it is hardened very well, then butter a dish very well, put in your tansey, bake it, and when it is enough turn it out on a pye-plate; squeeze the juice of an orange over it, and throw sugar all over. Garnish with orange cut into quarters, and sweet-meats cut into little long bits, and lay all over it.

Another Way.

TAKE a pint of cream and half a pound of blanched almonds beat fine, with rose and orange-slower water, stir them together over a flow fire; when it boils take it off, and let it stand till cold; then beat in ten eggs, grate in a small nutmeg, four Naples biscuits, a little grated bread, and a grain of musk. Sweeten to your taste, and if you think it is too thick, put in some more cream, the juice of spinach to make it green; stir it well together, and either fry it or bake it. If you fry it, do one side first, and then with a dish turn the other side.

To make Hedge-Hog.

Take two quarts of fweet blanched almonds, beat them well in a mortar, with a little canary and orange-flower water, to keep them from oiling. Make them into a stiff paste, then beat in the yolks of twelve eggs, leave out five of the whites, put to it a pint of cream, sweeten it with sugar, put in half a pound of sweet butter melted, set it on a furnace or slow fire, and keep continually stirring till it is stiff enough to be made into the form of a hedge-hog; then stick it full of blanched almonds slit, and stuck up like the brissels of a hedge-hog, then put it into a dish. Take a pint of cream and the yolks of sour eggs beat up, and mix with the cream; sweeten to your palate, and keep them stirring over a flow fire all the time till it is hot, then pour it into your dish round the hedge-hog, let it stand till it is cold, and serve it up.

Or you may make a fine hartshorn jelly, and pour into the dish, which will look very pretty. You may eat wine and sugar with it, or eat it without.

Or cold cream sweetened, with a glass of white wine in it and the juice of a Seville orange, and pour it into the dish. It will be pretty for change.

This is a pretty fide dish at a second course, or in the middle for supper, or in a grand desert. Plump two currants for the eyes.

Or make it thus for Change.

Take two quarts of sweet almonds blanched, twelve bitter ones, beat them in a marble mortar well together, with canary and orange-flower water, two spoonfuls of the tincture of saffron, two spoonfuls of the juice of sorrel, beat them into a sine paste, put in half a pound of melted butter, mix it up well, a little nutmeg and beaten mace, an ounce of citron, an ounce of orange-peel, both cut fine, mix them in the yolks of twelve eggs and half the whites, beat up and mixed in, half a pint of cream, half a pound of double-refined fugar, and work it up all together. If it is not ftiff enough to make up into the form you would have it, you must have a mould for it; butter it well, then put in your ingredients, and bake it. The mould must be made in fuch a manner, as to have the head peeping out; when it comes out of the oven, have ready fome almonds blanched and slit, and boiled up in sugar till brown. Stick it all over with the almonds; and for fauce, have red wine and sugar made hot, and the juice of an orange. Send it hot to table for a first course.

You may leave out the faffron and forrel, and make it up like chickens, or any other shape you please, or alter the sauce to your fancy. Butter, sugar and white wine is a pretty sauce, for either baked or boiled, and you may make the sauce of what colour you please; or put it into a mould, with half a pound of currants added to it, and boil for a pudding. You may use cochincal in the room of faffron.

The following liquor you may make to mix with your fauces: beat an ounce of cochineal very fine, put in a pint of water in a skillet, and a quarter of an ounce of roch alum; boil it till the goodness is out, strain it into a phial, with an ounce of fine sugar, and it will keep fix months.

To make pretty Almond Puddings.

TAKE a pound and a half of blanched almonds, beat them fine with a little rose water, a pound of grated bread, a pound and a quarter of fine fugar, a quarter of an ounce of cinnamon, and a large nutmeg beat fine, half a pound of melted butter, mixed with the yolks of eggs and four whites beat fine, a pint of fack, a pint and a half of cream, some rose or orange-flower water; boil the cream and tie a little bag of faffron, and dip in the cream to colour it. First beat your egg very well, and mix with your batter: beat it up, then the spice, then the almonds, then the rose water and wine by degrees, beating it all the time, then the fugar, and then the cream by degrees, keeping it stirring, and a quarter of a pound of vermicella. Stir all together, have fome hog's guts nice and clean, fill them only half full, and as you put in the ingredients here and there, put in a bit of citron; tie both ends of the gut right, and boil them about a quarter of an hour. You may add currants for change.

To make fry'd Toasts.

TAKE a penny-loaf, cut it into slices a quarter of an inch thick round-ways, toast them, and then take a pint of cream, three eggs, half a pint of sack, some nutmeg, and sweetened to your taste. Steep the toasts in it for three or sour hours, then have ready some butter hot in a pan, put in the toasts and fry them brown, lay them in a dish, melt a little butter, and then mix what is left;

if none, put in some wine and sugar, and pour over them. They make a pretty plate or fide-dish for supper.

To flew a Brace of Carp.

SCRAPE them very clean, then gut them, wash them and the rows in a pint of good state beer, to preserve all the blood, and boil the carp with a little falt in the water.

In the mean time strain the beer, and put it into a fauce-pan, with a pint of red wine, two or three blades of mace, fome whole pepper, black and white, an onion fluck with cloves, half a nutmeg bruifed, a bundle of fweet herbs, a piece of lemon-peel as big as a fix-pence, an anchovy, a little piece of horse-radish. Let these boil together softly for a quarter of an hour, covered close; then strain it, and add to it half the hard row beat to pieces, two or three spoonfuls of catchup, a quarter of a pound of fresh butter and a spoonful of mushroom-pickle. Let it boil, and keep firring it till the fauce is thick and enough; if it wants any falt you must put some in: Then take the rest of the row, and beat it up with the yolk of an egg, fome nutmeg and a little lemonpeel cut small, fry them in fresh butter in little cakes, and some pieces of bread cut three-corner-ways and fry'd brown. When the carp is enough take them up, pour your fauce over them, lay the cakes round the dish, with horse-radish scrap'd fine, and fry'd pariley. The rest lay on the carp, and the bread stick about them, and lay round them, then fliced lemon notched and laid round the dish, and two or three pieces on the carp. Send it to table hot.

The boiling of carp at all times is the best way, they eat fatter and finer. The stewing of them is no addition to the fauce, and only hardens the fish and spoils it. If you would have your fauce white, put in good fish broth instead of beer, and white wine in the room of red wine. Make your broth with any fort of fresh fish you have, and season it as you do gravy.

To fry Carp.

First scale and gut them, wash them clean, lay them in a cloth to dry, then flour them, and fry them of a fine light brown. Fry fome toast cut three-corner-ways, and the rows; when your fish is done, lay them on a coarse cloth to drain. Let your lauce be butter and anchovy, with juice of lemon. Lay your carp in the dish, the rows on each side, and garnish with the fry'd toalt and lemon.

To bake a Carp.

SCALE, wash, and clean a brace of carp very well; take an earthen pan deep enough to lie cleverly in, butter the pan a little, lay in your carp; featon it with mace, cloves, nutmeg, and black and white pepper, a bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, an anchovy, pour in a bottle of white wine, cover it close, and let them bake an hour in a hot oven, if large; if small, a less time will do them. When they are enough, carefully take them up and lay them in a dish; set it over hot water to keep it hot, and cover it close, then pour all the liquor they were baked in into a faucepan, let it boil a minute or two, then strain it, and add half a pound pound of butter rolled in flour. Let it boil, keep stirring it, squeeze in the juice of half a lemon, and put in what salt you want; pour the sauce over the sish, lay the rows round, and garnish with lemon. Observe to skim all the sat off the liquor.

To fry Tench.

SLIME you tenches, flit the skin along the backs, and with the point of your knife raise it up from the bone, then cut the skin across at the head and tail, then strip it off, and take out the bone; then take another tench, or a carp, and mince the flesh s, chives and parsley. Season them with falt. pepper, beater fmall. Mice, nutmeg, and a few favoury herbs minced esfe all well together, then pound them in a morof bread as much as two eggs foaked in cream, tar, with ce or four eggs and a piece of butter. When these the yolk pounded, stuff the tenches with this farce: take have b clarifi . r, put it into a pan, fet it over the fire, and when it is ho your tenches, and put them into the pan one by one and from m brown; then take them up, lay them in a coarse cloth before the fire to keep hot. In the mean time pour all the grease and fat out of the pan, put in a quarter of a pound of butter, shake some flour all over the pan, keep stirring with a spoon till the butter is a little brown; then pour in half a pint of white wine, flir it together, pour in half a pint of boiling water, an onion stuck with cloves, a bundle of sweet herbs and a blade or two of mace. Cover them close, and let them sew as softly as you can for a quarter of an hour; than strain off the liquor, put it into the pan again, add two spoonfuls of catchup, have ready an ounce of truffles or morels boiled in half a pint of water tender. pour in the truffles, water and all into the pan, a few mushrooms, and either half a pint of oysters, clean washed in their own liquor and the liquor and all put into the pan, or some crawfish; but then you must put in the tails, and after clean picking them, boil them in half a pint of water, then strain the liquor and put into the fauce: Or take some fish-melts, and toss up in your sauce. All this is just as you fancy,

When you find your fauce is very good, put your tench into the pan, make them quite hot, then lay them into your dans and pour the fauce over them. Garnish with lemon.

Or you may for change, put in half a pint of stale beer instead of water. You may dress tench just as you do carp.

To roast a Cod's Head.

Wash it very clean and score it with a knife, strew a little salt on it, and say it in a stew-pan before the fire, with something behind it that the fire may roast it. All the water that comes from it the sirst half hour throw away, then throw on it a little nutmeg, cloves and mace beat fine, and salt; stour it, and baste it with butter. When that has sain some time, turn and season it, and baste the other side the same; turn it often, then baste it with butter and crumbs of bread. If it is a large head, it will take four or sive hours baking. Have ready some melted butter with an K anchovy.

anchovy, some of the liver of the fish boiled and bruised fine, mix it well with the butter, and two yolks of eggs beat fine and mixed with the butter, then strain them through a fieve, and put them into the sauce-pan again, with a few shrimps, or pickled. cockles, two spoonfuls of red wine and the juice of a lemon. Pour it into the pan the head was roasted in, and stir it all together, pour it into the sauce-pan, keep it stirring, and let it boil; pour it in a bason. Garnish the head with fry'd fish, lemon and scraped horse-radish. If you have a large tin oven, it will do better.

To boil a Cod's Head.

SET a fish-kettle on the fire, with water enough to boil it, a good handful of salt, a pint of vinegar, a bundle of sweet herbs, and a piece of horse-radish. Let it boil a quarter of an hour, then put in the head, and when you are sure it is enough, lift up the fish-plate with the fish on it, set it across the kettle to drain, then lay it in your dish and lay the liver on one side. Garnish with lemon and horse-radish scraped, melt some butter, with a little of the sish liquor, an anchovy, oysters, or shrimps, or just what you fancy.

To few Cod.

Gut your cod into flices an inch thick lay them in the bottom of a large flew-pan; feafon them with nutmeg, beaten pepper and falt, a bundle of fweet herbs and an onion, half a pint of white wine and a quarter of a pint of water; cover it close, and let it fimmer foftly for five or fix minutes, then fqueeze in the juice of a lemon, put in a few oysters and the liquor strained, a piece of butter as big as an egg rolled in flour, a blade or two of mace, cover it close and let it tiew foftly, shaking the pan often. When it is enough, take out the sweet herbs and onion, and dish it up; pour the sauce over it, and garnish with lemon.

To fricaley Cod.

GET the founds, blanch them, then make them very clean and cut them into little pieces. If they be dried founds, you must first boil them tender. Get some of the rows, blanch them and wash them clean, cut them into round pieces about an inch thick, with fome of the livers, an equal quantity of each, to make a handsome dish, and a piece of cod about one pound in the middle. Put them into a stew-pan, season them with a little beaten mace, grated nutmeg and falt, a little bundle of fweet herbs, 'an onion, and a quarter of a pint of fish-broth or boiling water; e wer them close, and let them slew a few minutes: Then put in half a pint of red wine, a few oythers with the liquor strained, a piece of butter rolled in flour, shake the pan round and let them frew foftly till they are enough, take out the fweet herbs and onion, and dish it up. Garnish with lemon. Or you may do them white thus; instead of red wine add white, and a quarter of a pint of cream.

To bake a Cod's Head.

Butter the pan you intend to bake it in, make your head very clean, lay it in the pan, put in a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion onion stuck with cloves, three or four blades of mace, half a large spoonful of black and white pepper, a nutmeg bruised, a quart of water, a little piece of lemon-peel, and a little piece of horseradish. Flour your head, grate a nutmeg over it, stick pieces of butter all over it and throw raspings all over that. Send it to the oven to bake. When it is enough, take it out of the dish, and lay it carefully into the dish you intend to serve it up in. Set the dish over boiling water, and cover it with a cover to keep it hot. In the mean time be quick, pour all the liquor out of the dish it was baked in into a fauce-pan, fet it on the fire to boil three or four minutes, then strain it and put to it a gill of red wine, two spoonfuls of catchup, a pint of shrimps, half a pint of oysters. or mussels, liquor and all, but first strain it, a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, a quarter of a pound of bu ter rolled in flour, stir it all together till it is thick and boils; then pour it into the dish, have ready fome toast cut three-corner-ways and fry'd crifp. Stick pieces about the head and mouth, and lay the rest round the head. Garnish with lemon notched, scraped horse-radish, and partley crifped in a plate before the fire. Lay one flice of lemon on the head, and ferve it up hot.

To broil Shrimp, Cod, Salmon, Whiting, or Haddocks.

FLOUR it, and have a quick clear fire, fet your gridiron high, broil it of a fine brown, lay it in your dish, and for sauce have good melted butter. Take a lobster, bruise the body in the butter, cut the meat small, put all together into the melted butter, make it hot and pour into your dish, or into basons. Garnish with horse-radish and lemon.

Cr Oxster-Sauce made thus.

TAKE half a pint of oysters, put them into a fauce-pan with their own liquor, two or three blades of mace. Let them simmer till they are plump, then with a fork take out the oysters, strain the liquor to them, put them into the sauce-pan again, with a gill of white wine hot, a pound of butter rolled in a little slour; shake the sauce-pan often, and when the butter is melted, give it a boil up.

Mussel-sauce made thus sa very good, only you must put them into a stew-pan, and cover them close; first to open, and search that there be no crabs under the tongue.

Or a spoonful of walnut-pickle in the butter makes the sauce good, or a spoonful of either fort of catchup, or horse-radish sauce.

Melt your butter, scrape a good deal of horse-radish fine, put it into the melted butter, grate half a nutmeg, beat up the yolk of an egg with one spoonful of cream, pour it into the butter, keep it stirring till it boils, then pour it directly into your bason.

To dress little Fish.

As to all forts of little fish, such as smelts, roach, &c. they should be fry'd dry of a fine brown, and nothing but plain butter. Garnish with lemon.

And to boiled falmon the fame, only garnish with lemon and horse-radish.

And

And with all boiled fish, you should put a good deal of salt and horse-radish in the water; except mackrel, with which put salt and mint, parsley and sennel, which you must chop to put into the butter, and some love scalded gooseberries with them. And be sure to boil your fish well; but take great care they don't break.

To broil Mackrel.

CLEAN them, cut off the heads, split them, season them with pepper and salt, slour them, and broil them of a fine light brown. Let your sauce be plain butter.

To broil Weavers.

Gut them and wash them clean, dry them in a clean cloth, slour them, then broil them and have melted butter in a cup. They are fine fish, and cut as firm as a soal; but you must take care not to hurt yourself with the two sharp bones in the head.

To boil a Turbutt.

LAY it in a good deal of falt and water an hour or two, and if it is not quite sweet, shift your water five or six times; first put a good deal of falt in the mouth and belly.

In the mean time set on your sish-kettle with clean water and salt, a little vinegar, and a piece of horse-radish. When the water boils, lay the turbutt on a sish-plate, put it into the kettle, let it be well boiled, but take great care it is not too much done; when enough, take off the sish-kettle, set it before the fire, then carefully lift up the sish-plate and set it across the kettle to drain: In the mean time melt a good deal of fresh butter, and bruise in either the body of one or two lobsters, and the meat cut small, then give it a boil and pour it into basons. This is the best sauce; but you may make what you please. Lay the sish in the dish. Garnish with scraped horse-radish and lemon, and pour a few spoontuls of sauce over it.

To bake a Turbutt.

TAKE a dish the fize of your turbutt, rub butter all over it thick, throw a little falt, a little beaten pepper and half a large nutmeg, some parsley minced fine and throw all over, pour in a pint of white wine, cut off the head and tail, lay the turbutt in the dish, pour another pint of white wine all over it, grate the other half of the nutmeg over it, and a little pepper, some salt and chopped parsley. Lay a piece of butter here and there all over, and throw a little flour all over, and then a good many crumbs of bread. Bake it, and be fure that it is of a fine brown: then lay it in your dish, stir the sauce in your dish all together, pour it into a fauce-pan, shake in a little flour, let it boil, then stir in a piece of butter and two spoonfuls of catchup, let it boil and pour it into basons. Garnish your dish with lemon; and you may add what you fancy to the fauce, as shrimps, anchovies, mushrooms, &c. If a small turbutt, half the wine will do; it eats finely thus: Lay it in a dish, skim off all the fat, and pour the rest over it. 'Let it stand till cold, and it is good with vinegar, and a fine dish to set out a cold table.

To drefs a Jole of pickled Salmon.

LAY it in fresh water all night, then lay it in a fish-plate, put it into a large stew-pan, season it with a little whole pepper, a blade or two of mace in a coarfe muslin rag tied, a whole onion, a nutmeg bruifed, a bundle of fweet herbs and parfley, a little lemon-peel, put to it three large spoonfuls of vinegar, a pint of white wine, and a quarter of a pound of fresh butter rolled in flour; cover it close, and let it simmer over a flow fire for a quarter of an hour, then carefully take up your falmon, and lay it in your dish, set it over hot water and cover it. In the mean time let your sauce boil till it is thick and good. Take out the spice, onion and sweet herbs, and pour it over the fish. Garnish with lemon.

To broil Salmon.

Cur fresh salmon into thick pieces, slour them and broil them, lay them in your dish, and have plain melted butter in a cup.

Baked Salmon.

TAKE a little piece cut into flices, about an inch thick, butter the dish that you would ferve it to table on, lay the slices in the dish, take off the skin, make a force-meat thus: Take the flesh of an eel, the flesh of a salmon, an equal quantity, beat it in a mortar, feafon it with beaten pepper, falt, nutmeg, two or three cloves, fome parsley, a few mushrooms, and a piece of butter, ten or a dozen coriander-feeds beat fine. Beat all together, boil the crumb of a half-penny roll in milk, beat up four eggs, stir it together till it is thick, let it cool and mix it well together with the rest; then mix all together with four raw eggs, on every flice lay this force-meat all over, pour a very little melted butter over them and a few crumbs of bread, lay crust round the edge of the dish, and slick oysters round upon it. Bake it in an oven, and when it is of a very fine brown ferve it up; pour a little plain butter, with a little red wine in it, into the dish, and the juice of a lemon: Or you may bake it in any dish, and when it is enough lay the flices into another dish. Pour the butter and wine into the dish it was baked in, give it a boil and pour it into the dish. Garnish with lemon. This is a fine dish, squeeze the juice of a lemon in.

To broil Mackrel Whole.

Cur off their heads, gut them, wash them clean, pull out the row at the neck-end, boil it in a little water, then bruise it with a fpoon, beat up the yolk of an egg, with a little nutmeg, a little lemon-peel cut fine, a little thyme, some parsley boiled and chopped fine, a little pepper and falt, a few crumbs of bread; mix all well together, and fill the mackrel; flour it well, and broil it nicely. Let your sauce be plain butter, with a little catchup or walnut-pickle. K 3

To broil Herrings.

Scale them, gut them, cut off their heads, wash them cleandry them in a cloth, shout them and broil them, but with your knife just notch them across: Take the heads and mash them, boil them in small beer or ale, with a little whole pepper and an onion. Let it boil a quarter of an hour, then strain it, thicken it with butter and shour and a good deal of mustard. Lay the fish in the dish, and pour the sauce into a bason, or plain melted butter and mustard.

To fry Herrings,

CLEAN them as above, fry them in butter, have ready a good many onions peeled and cut thin. Fry them of a light brown with the herrings; lay the herrings in your dish, and the onions round, butter and mustard in a cup. You must do them with a quick fire.

To drefs Herring and Cabbage.

Boil your cabbage tender, then put it into a fauce-pan, and chop it with a spoon: put in a good piece of butter, let it stew, stirring less it should burn. Take some red herrings and split them open, and toast them before the fire till they are hot through. Lay the cabbage in the dish and lay the herrings on it, and send it to table hot.

Or pick your herring from the bones, and throw all over your cabbage. Have ready a hot iron, and just hold it over the herring to make it hot, and fend it away quick.

To make Water-Sokey.

Take some of the smallest place or sounders you can get, wash them clean, cut the fins close, put them into a stew-pan, put just water enough to boil them in, a little salt and a bunch of parsley; when they are enough, send them to table in a soupdish, with the liquor to keep them hot. Have parsley and butter in a cup.

To flew Ecks.

Skin, gut and wash them very clean in fix or eight waters, to wash away all the fand; then cut them in pieces, about as long as your finger, put just water enough for fauce, put in a small onion stuck with cloves, a little bundle of sweet herbs, a blade or two of mace, and some whole pepper in a thin muslin rag, cover it close, and let them sew very softly.

Look at them now and then, put in a little piece of butter rolled in flour and a little chopped parfley. When you find they are quite tender and well done, take out the onion, spice and sweet herbs. Put in falt enough to season it. Then dish them up with the sauce.

To flew Ecls with Broth.

CLEANSE your cels as above, put them into a fauce-pan with a blade or two of mace and a crust of bread. Put just water enough to cover them close, let them sew very softly; when they they are enough dish them up with the broth, and have a little plain melted butter in a cup to eat the eels with. The broth will be very good, and is fit for weakly and consumptive constitutions.

To dress a Pike.

Gur it, cleanse it and make it very clean, then turn it round with the tail in the mouth, lay it in a little dish, cut toasts three. corner-ways, fill the middle with them, flour it and stick pieces of butter all over; then throw a little more flour, and fend it to the oven to bake: Or it will do better in a tin oven before the fire, then you can baste it as you will. When it is done lay it in your dish, and have ready melted butter, with an anchovy disfolved in it, and a few oysters or shrimps; and if there is any liquor in the dish it was baked in, add it to the sauce and put in just what you fancy. Pour your fauce into the dish. Garnish it with toast about the fish, and lemon about the dish. You should have a pudding in the belly, made thus: take grated bread, two hard eggs chopped fine, half a nutmeg grated, a little lemon-peel cut fine. and either the rows or liver, or both, if any, chopped fine, and if you have none, get either the piece of the liver of a cod, or the row of any fish, mix them all together with a raw egg and a good piece of butter. Roll it up, and put it into the fish's belly before you bake it. A haddock done this way eats very well.

To broil Haddocks, when they are in High Scason.

Scale them, gut and wash them clean, don't rip open their bellies, but take the guts out with the gills, dry them in a clean cloth very well: If there be any row or liver take it out, but put it in again; flour them well, and have a clear good fire. Let your gridiron be hot and clean, lay them on, turn them quick two or three times for fear of sticking; then let one side be enough, and turn the other side. When that is done, lay them in your dish, and have plain butter in a cup.

They eat finely falted a day or two before you dress them, and hung up to dry, or boiled with egg sauce. Newcastle is a farmous place for salted haddocks. They come in barrels, and keep a great while.

To broil Cod-Sounds.

You must first lay them in hot water a few minutes; take them out and rub them well with salt, to take off their skin and black dirt, then they will look white, then put them into water and give them a boil. Take them out and flour them. When they are enough, lay them in your dish, and pour melted butter and mustard into the dish. Broil them whole,

To fricasty Cod-Sounds.

CLEAN them very well as above, then cut them into little pretty pieces, boil them tender in milk and water, then throw them into a cullender to drain, put them into a clean fauce pan, feafon them with a little beaten mace and grated nutmeg, and a very little falt; pour to them just cream enough for sauce and a good piece of butter rolled in flour, keep shaking your K 4 fauce-pan round all the time till it is thick enough: Then diffiit up, and garnish with lemon.

To drefs Salmon au Court-Bouillon.

AFTER having washed and made your salmon very clean, score the sides pretty deep, that it may take the seasoning, take a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a nutmeg, dry them and beat them fine, a quarter of an ounce of black pepper beat fine, and an ounce of salt. Lay the salmon in a napkin, season it well with this spice, cut out some lemon-peel sine and parsley, throw all over, and in the notches put about a pound of fresh butter rolled in slour, roll it up tight in the napkin, and bind it about with packthread. Put it into a fish-kettle, just big enough to hold it, pour in a quart of white wine, a quart of vinegar, and as much water as will just boil it.

Set it over a quick fire, cover it close; when it is enough, which you must judge by the bigness of your salmon, set it over a stowe to stew till you are ready. Then have a clean napkin solded in the dish it is to lay in, turn it out of the napkin it was boiled in on the other napkin. Garnish the dish with a good deal of parsley crifped before the fire.

For fauce have nothing but plain butter in a cup, or horse-radish and vinegar. Serve it up for a first course.

To dress Salmon a la Braise.

TAKE a fine large piece of falmon, or a large falmon-trout, make a pudding thus: take a large eel, make it clean, flit it open, take out the bone, and take all the meat clean from the bone, chop it fine, with two anchovies, a little lemon-peel cut fine, a little pepper, and a grated nutmeg with parsley chopped, and a very little bit of thyme, a few crumbs of bread, the yolk of an hard egg chopped fine; roll it up in a piece of butter, and put it into the belly of the fish, sew it up, lay it in an open stew-pan, or little kettle that will just hold it, take half a pound of fresh butter, put it into a fauce-pan, when it is melted shake in a handful of flour, stir it till it is a little brown, then pour to it a pint of fish broth, stir it together, pour it to the fish, with a bottle of white wine. Season it with falt to your palate, put some mace, cloves, and whole pepper in a coarse muslin rag, tye it, put to the fish an onion, and a little bundle of sweet herbs. Cover it close, and let it stew very softly over a slow fire, put in some fresh mushrooms, or pickled ones cut small, an ounce of truffles and morels cut small, let them all slew together, when it is enough, take up your falmon carefully, lay it in your dish, and pour the fauce all over. Garnish with scraped horse-radish and lemon notched, serve it up hot. This is a fine dish for a first course.

Salmon in Cases.

Cur your Salmon into little pieces, such as will lay rolled in half-sheets of paper. Season it with pepper, salt and nutmeg; butter the inside of the paper well, fold the paper so as nothing can come out, then lay them on a in plate to be baked, pour a little melted butter over the papers, and then erumbs of bread all over them. Don't let your oven be too hot, for fear of burning the paper. A tin oven before the fire does best. When you think they are enough, serve them up just as they are. There will be sauce enough in the papers.

To dress Flat Fish.

In dreffing all forts of flat fish, take great care in the boiling of them, befure to have them enough, but don't let them be broke; mind to put a good deal of falt in, and horse-radish in the water, let your fish be well drained, and mind to cut the fins off. When you fry them, let them be well drained in a cloth and floured, and fry them of a fine light brown, either in oil or butter. If there be any water in your dish with the boiled fish, take it out with a spunge. As to your fry'd fish, a coarse cloth is the best thing to drain it on.

To dress Salt Fish.

OLD ling, which is the best fort of salt fish, lay it in water twolve hours, then lay it twelve hours on a board, and then twelve more in water. When you boil it put it into the water cold: if it is good, it will take about sifteen minutes boiling softly. Boil parsnips very tender, scrape them, and put them into a saucepan, put to them some milk, stir them till thick, then stir in a good piece of butter, and a little salt; when they are enough lay them in a plate, the sish by itself dry, and butter and hard eggs chopped in a bason.

As to water-cod, that need only be boiled and well skimmed.
Scotch haddocks you must lay in water all night. You may boil or broil them. If you broil, you must split them in two.
You may garnish your dishes with hard eggs and parsnips.

To dress Lampreys.

THE best of this sort of fish are taken in the river Severn; and, when they are in season, the sishmongers and others in London, have them from Gloucester. But if you are where they are to be had fresh, you may dress them as you please.

To fry Lampreys.

BLEED them and fave the blood, then wash them in hot water to take off the slime, and cut them to pieces. Fry them in a little fresh butter not quite enough, pour out the sat, put in a little white wine, give the pan a shake round, season it with whole pepper, nutmeg, salt, sweet herbs and a bay-leaf, put in a sew capers, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, and the blood; give the pan a shake round often, and cover them close. When you think they are enough take them out, strain the sauce, then give them a boil quick, squeeze in a little lemon and pour over the sish. Garnish with lemon, and dress them just what way you fancy.

To pitchcock Ecks.

You must split a large eel down the back, and joint the bones, cut it in two or three pieces, melt a little butter, put in a little vinegar and salt, let your eels lay in two or three minutes; then take the pieces up one by one, turn them round with a little fine skewer, roll them in crumbs of bread, and broil them of a fine brown. Let your sauce be plain butter, with the juice of lemon.

To fry Eels.

Make them very clean, cut them into pieces, feason them with pepper and salt, flour them and fry them in butter. Let your sauce be plain butter melted, with the juice of lemon. Be sure they be well drained from the fat before you lay them in the dish.

To broil Eels.

TAKE a large eel, skin it and make it very clean. Open the belly, cut it in four pieces, take the tail-end, strip off the slesh, beat it in a mortar, season it with a little beaten cream, a little grated nutmeg, pepper and salt, a little parsley and thyme, a little lemon-peel, an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, roll it in a little piece of butter; then mix it again with the yolk of an egg, roll it up again, and fill the three pieces of belly, with it. Cut the skin of the eel, wrap the pieces in and sew up the skin. Broil them well, have butter and anchovy for sauce, with the juice of lemon.

To farce Eels with White Sauce.

Skin and clean your eel well, pick off all the flesh clean from the bone, which you must leave whole to the head. Take the flesh, cut it small and beat it in a mortar; then take half the quantity of crumbs of bread, beat it with fish, season it with nutineg and beaten pepper, an anchovy, a good deal of parsley chopped fine, a few truffles boiled tender in a very little water, chop them fine, put them into the mortar with the liquor and a few mushrooms: beat it well together, mix in a little cream, then take it out and mix it well together with your hand, lay it round the bone in the shape of the eel, lay it on a buttered pan, drudge it well with fine crumbs of bread and bake it. When it is done, lay it carefully in your dish, have ready half a pint of cream, a quarter of a pound of fresh butter, stir it one way till it is thick, pour it over your eels, and garnish with lemon.

To drefs Ecls with Brown Sauce.

Skin and clean a large ecl very well, cut it in pieces, put it into a fauce-pan or stew-pan, put to it a quarter of a pint of water, a bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, some whole pepper, a blade of mace and a little salt. Cover it close, and when it begins to simmer, put in a gill of red wine, a spoonful of mushroom pickle, a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour; cover it close, and let it stew till it is enough, which you will know by the eel being very tender. Take up your eel, lay it in a dish, strain your sauce, give it a boil quick, and pour it over your sish. You must make sauce according to the largeness of your eel, more or less. Garnish with lemon.

To roaft a Piece of Fresh Sturgeon.

GET a piece of fresh sturgeon, of about eight or ten pounds, let it lay in water and falt fix or eight hours, with its scales on; then fasten it on the spit, and baste it well with butter for a quarter of an hour, then with a little flour, then grate a nutmeg all over it, a little mace and pepper beaten fine, and falt thrown over it, and a few fweet herbs dried and powdered fine, and then crumbs of bread; then keep basting a little, and drudging with crumbs of bread, and what falls from it till it is enough. In the mean time prepare this fauce: Take a pint of water, an anchovy, a little piece of lemon-peel, an onion, a bundle of fweet herbs, mace, cloves, whole pepper, black and white, a little piece of horse-radish; cover it close, let it boil a quarter of an hour, then strain it, put it into the sauce-pan again, pour in a pint of white wine, about a dozen oysters and the liquor, two spoonfuls of catchup, two of walnut-pickle, the inside of a crab bruised fine or lobster, shrimps or prawns, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, or juice of Boil it all together; when your fish is enough, lay it in your dish and pour the sauce over it. Garnish with fry'd toasts and lemon.

To roaft a Fillet or Collar of Sturgeon.

TAKE a piece of fresh sturgeon, scale it, gut it, take out the bones and cut in lengths about seven or eight inches; then provide fome shrimps and oysters chopped small, an equal quantity of crumbs of bread and a little lemon-peel grated, some nutmeg, a little beaten mace, a little pepper and chopped parfley, a few sweet herbs, an anchovy, mix it together. When it is done, butter one fide of your fish, and strew some of your mixture upon it; then begin to roll it up as close as possible, and when the first piece is rolled up, roll upon that another, prepared in the same manner, and bind it round with a narrow filler, leaving as much of the fish apparent as may be; but you must mind that the roll must not be above four inches and a half thick, for elfe one part will be done before the infide is warm, therefore we often parboil the infide roll When it is enough, lay it in your dish, and prebefore we roll it. pare fauce as above. Garnish with lemon.

To boil Sturgeon.

CLEAN your sturgeon, and prepare as much liquor as will just boil it. To two quarts of water a pint of vinegar, a stick of horse-radish, two or three bits of lemon-peel, some whole pepper, a bay-leaf, and a small handful of salt. Boil your fish in this, and six it with the following sauce: Melt a pound of butter, dissolve an anchovy in it, put in a blade or two of mace, bruise the body of a crab in the butter, a sew shrimps or crawfish, a little catchup, a little lemon-juice, give it a boil, drain your fish well and lay it in your dish. Garnish with fry'd oysters, sliced lemon and scraped horse-radish; pour your sauce into boats or basons. So you may fry it, ragoo it, or bake it.

To crimp Cod the Dutch Way.

TAKE a gallon of pump water, a pound of falt, then boil it half an hour, skim it well, cut your cod in slices, and when the salt and water has boiled half an hour, put in your slices. Two minutes is enough to boil them. Take them out, lay them on a sieve to drain, then slour them and broil them. Make what sauce you please.

To crimp Seate.

It must be cut into long slips cross-ways, about an inch broad. Boil water and salt as above, then throw in your scate. Let your water boil quick, and about three minutes will boil it. Drain it, and send it to table hot, with butter and mustard in one cup, and butter and anchovy in the other cup.

To fricascy Scate or Thornback white.

Cut the meat clean from the bone, fins, &c. and make it very clean. Cut it into little pieces, about an inch broad and two inches long, lay it in your flew-pan. To a pound of the flesh, put a quarter of a pint of water, a little beaten mace and grated nutmeg, a little bundle of sweet herbs and a little falt; cover it, and let it boil three minutes. Take out the sweet herbs, put in a quarter of a pint of good cream, a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour, a glass of white wine, keep shaking the pan all the while one way till it is thick and smooth. Then dish it up, and garnish with lemon.

To fricasey it brown.

Take your fish as above, flour it and fry it of a fine brown, in fresh butter; then take it up, lay it before the fire to keep warm, pour the fat out of the pan, shake in a little flour, and with a spoon stir in a piece of butter as big as an egg; stir it round till it is well mixed in the pan, then pour in a quarter of a pint of water, stir it round shake in a very little beaten pepper, a little beaten mace, put in an onion, and a little bundle of sweet herbs, an anchovy, shake it round and let it boil; then pour in a quarter of a pint of red wine, a spoonful of catchup, a little juice of lemon, stir it all together and let it boil. When it is enough, take out the sweet herbs and onion, and put in the fish to heat. Then dish it up, and garnish with Lemon.

To fricascy Soals white.

Skin, wash and gut your soals very clean, cut off their heads, dry them in a cloth, then with your knife very carefully cut the sless from the bones and fins on both sides. Cut the sless longways, and then a-cross, so that each soal will be in eight pieces: Take the heads and bones, then put them into a sauce-pan with a pint of water, a bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, a little whole pepper, two or three blades of mace, a little salt, a very little piece of lemon-peel, and a little crust of bread. Cover it close, let it boil till half is wasted, then strain it through a fine sieve, put it into a stew-pan, put in the soals and half a pint of White Wine, a little parsley chopped sine, a few mushroons cut small, a piece of butter as big as an hen's egg rolled in flour, grate in a little nutmeg, fet all together on the fire, but keep shaking the pan all the while till the slesh is enough. Then dish it up, and garnish with lemon.

To fricasty Soals brown.

CLEANSE and cut your foals, boil the water as in the foregoing receipt, flour your fish and fry them in fresh butter of a fine light brown. Take the flesh of a small soal, beat it in a mortar, with a piece of bread as big as an hen's egg foaked in cream, the yolks of two hard eggs and a little melted butter, a little bit of thyme, a little parfley, an anchovy, feason it with nutmeg, mix all together with the yolk of a raw egg and with a little flour, roll it up into little balls and fry them, but not too much. Then lay your fish and balls before the fire, pour out all the fat of the pan, pour in the liquor which is boiled with the spice and herbs, stir it round in the pan, then put in half a pint of red wine, a few truffles and morels, a few mushrooms, a spoonful of catchup and the juice of half a small lemon. Stir it all together and let it boil, then stir in a piece of butter rolled in flour; stir it round, when your fauce is of a fine thickness, put in your fish and balls, and when it is hot dish it up, put in the balls and pour your fauce over it. Garnish with lemon. In the same manner dress a small turbutt. or any flat fish.

To boil Soals.

TAKE a pair of soals, make them clean, lay them in vinegar, salt and water two hours; then dry them in a cloth, put them into a stew-pan, put to them a pint of white wine, a bundle of sweet herbs, an onion stuck with six cloves, some whole pepper and a little salt; cover them, and let them boil. When they are enough, take them up, lay them in your dish, strain the liquor, and thicken it up with butter and flour. Pour the sauce over, and garnish with scraped horse-radish and lemon. In this manner dress a little turbutt. It is a genteel dish for supper. You may add prawns or shrimps, or mussels to the sauce.

To make a Collar of Fish in Ragoo, to look like a Breast of Vcal collared.

Take a large eel, skin it, wash it clean and parboil it, pick off the slesh and beat it in a mortar. Season it with beaten mace, nutmeg, pepper, salt, a sew sweet herbs, parsley and a little lemonpeel chopped small. Beat all well together with an equal quantity of crumbs of bread; mix it well together, then take a turbutt, soals, scate or thornback, or any slat sish that will roll cleverly. Lay the slat sish on the dresser, take away all the bones and sins, and cover your sish with the farce: Then roll it up as tight as you can, and open the skin of your eel, and bind the collar with it nicely, so that it may be flat top and bottom to stand well in the dish; then butter an earthen dish, and set it in upright; shour it all over, and stick a piece of butter on the top and round the edges, so that it may run down on the sish, and let it be well baked; but take great care it is not broke. Let there be a quarter of a pint of water in the dish.

In the mean time, take the water the eel was boiled in, and all the bones of the fift. Set them on to boil, scason them with mace, cloves, cloves, black and white pepper, sweet herbs and onion. Cover it close, and let it boil till there is about a quarter of a pint; then strain it, add to it a few trussless and morels, a few mushrooms, two spoonfuls of catchup, a gill of red wine, a piece of butter as big as a large walnut rolled in flour. Stir all together, season with salt to your palate, save some of the farce you make of the cel and mix with the yolk of an egg, and roll them up in little balls with flour, and fry them of a light brown. When your sish is enough, lay it in your dish, skim all the fat off the pan and pour the gravy to your sauce. Let it all boil together till it is thick. Then pour it over the roll, and put in your balls. Garnish with lemon.

This does best in a tin oven before the fire, because then you can baste it as you please. This is a fine bottom dish.

To butter Crabs, or Lobfiers.

Take two crabs, or lobsters, being boiled and cold, take all the meat out of the shells and bodies, mince it small, and put it all together into a sauce-pan; add to it a glass of white wine, two spoonfuls of vinegar, a nutmeg grated, then let it boil up till it is thorough hot. Then have ready half a pound of fresh butter, melted with an anchovy, and the yolks of two eggs beat up and mixed with the butter; then mix crab and butter all together, shaking the sauce-pan constantly round till it is quite hot. Then have ready the great shell, either of the crab, or lobster; lay it in the middle of your dish, pour some into the shell, and the rest in little saucers round the shell, slicking three-corner toass between the saucers, and round the shell. This is a fine side-dish at a second course.

To butter Lobsters another Way.

Parroil your lobsters, then break the shells, pick out all the meat, cut it sinall, take the meat out of the body, mix it sine with a spoon in a little white wine: For example, a small lobster, one spoonful of wine, put it into a sauce-pan with the meat of the lobster, four spoonfuls of white wine, a blade of mace, a little beaten pepper and salt. Let it stew all together a few minutes, then stir in a piece of butter, shake your sauce-pan round till your butter is melted, put in a spoonful of vinegar, and strew in as many crumbs of bread as will make it thick enough. When it is hot, pour it into your plate, and garnish with the chine of a lobster cut in sour, pep ered, salted, and broiled. This makes a pretty plate, or a sine dish, with two or three lobsters. You may add one tea-spoonful of sine sugar to your sauce.

To reaft Lobfiers.

Boil your lobsters, then lay them before the fire, and baste them with butter, till they have a fine froth. Dish them up with plain melted butter in a cup. This is as good a way to the full as roasting them, and not half the trouble.

To make a fine Dish of Lobsters.

Take three lobsters, boil the largest as above, and froth it before the fire. Take the other two boiled, and butter them as in the foregoing receipt. Take the two body-shells, heat them hot, and fill them with the buttered men. Lay the large lobster in the middle, and the two shells on each fide; and the two great claws of the middle lobster at each end; and the four pieces of chines of the two lobsters broiled, and laid on each end. This, if nicely done, makes a pretty dish.

To drefs a Crab.

HAVING taken out the meat, and cleanfed it from the skin, put it into a stew-pan, with half a pint of white wine, a little nutmeg, pepper and salt, over a slow fire. Throw in a few crumbs of bread, beat up one yolk of an egg with one spoonful of vinegar, throw it in, then shake the sauce-pan round a minute, and serve it up on a plate.

To stew Prawns, Shrimps, or Crawfish.

Pick out the tails, lay them by about two quarts, take the bodies, give them a bruise, and put them into a pint of white wine, with a blade of mace. Let them stew a quarter of an hour, stir them together, and strain them; then wash out the sauce-pan, put to it the strained liquor, and tails: Grate a small nutmeg in, add a little salt, and a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in slour; shake it all together, cut a pretty thin toast round a quarter of a peck loaf, toast it brown on both sides, cut it into six pieces, lay it close together in the bottom of your dish, and pour your sish and sauce over it. Send it to table hot. If it be crawfish or prawns, garnish your dish with some of the biggest claws, laid thick round. Water will do in the room of wine, only add a spoonful of vinegar.

To make Collops of Oysters.

Put your oysters into scollop-shells for that purpose, set them on your gridiron over a good clear fire, let them stew till you think your oysters are enough, then have ready some crumbs of bread rubbed in a clean napkin, fill your shells, and set them before a good fire, and baste them well with butter. Let them be of a fine brown, keeping them turning, to be brown all over alike; but a tin oven does them best before the fire. They eat much the best done this way, though most people stew the oysters first in a saucepan, with a blade of mace, thickened with a piece of butter and sill the shells, and then cover them with crumbs and brown them with a hot iron: But the bread has not the fine taste of the former.

To flew Muffels.

Wash them very clean from the fand in two or three waters, put them into a stew-pan, cover them close, and let them stew till all the shells are opened; then take them out one by one, pick them out of the shells, and look under the tongue to see if there be a crab; if there is, you must throw away the mussel; some will only pick out the crab, and eat the mussel. When you have picked them all clean, put them into a sauce-pan; to a quart of mussels put half a pint of the liquor strained through a sieve, put in a blade or two of mace, a piece of butter as big as a large walnut rolled in slour; let them stew, toast some bread brown, and lay them round the dish, cut three-corner-ways; pour in the mussels, and send them to table hot.

Ano-

Another Way to flew Muffels.

CLEAN and slew your mussels as in the foregoing receipt, only to a quart of mussels put in a pint of liquor and a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in a very little slour. When they are enough, have some crumbs of bread ready, and cover the bottom of your dish thick, grate half a nutmeg over them, and pour the mussels and sauce all over the crumbs, and send them to table.

A third Way to drefs Mussels.

STEW them as above, and lay them in your dish; strew your crumbs of bread thick all over them, then set them before a good fire, turning the dish round and round, that they may be brown all alike. Keep basting them with butter, that the crumbs may be crisfp, and it will make a pretty side-dish. You may do cackles the same way.

To stew Scollops

Boil them very well in falt and water, take them out and flew them in a little of the liquor, a little white wine, a little vinegar, two or three blades of mace, two or three cloves, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and the juice of a Seville orange. Stew them well, and dish them up.

To ragoo Oysters.

TAKE a quart of the largest oysters you can get, open them, save the liquor, and strain it through a fine sieve; wash your oysters in warm water, make a batter thus: Take two yolks of eggs, beat them well, grate in half a nutmeg, cut a little lemon-peel small, a good deal of parsley, a spoonful of the juice of spinach, two spoonfuls of cream or milk, beat it up with flour to a thick batter, have ready some batter in a stew-pan, dip your oysters one by one into the batter, and have ready crumbs of bread, then roll them in it, and fry them quick and brown; some with the crumbs of bread, and some without. Take them out of the pan, and set them before the fire, then have ready a quart of chesnuts shelled and skinned, fry them in the butter; when they are enough take them up, pour the fat out of the pan, shake a little flour all over the pan, and rub a piece of butter as big as a hen's egg all over the pan with your spoon till it is melted and thick; then put in the oysterliquor, three or four blades of mace, stir it round, put in a few pistachio-nuts shelled, let them boil, then put in the chesnuts, and half a pint of white wine, have ready the yolks of two eggs beat up with two spoonfuls of cream; stir all well together, when it is thick and fine, lay the oysters in the dish, and pour the ragoo over them. Garnish with chesnuts and lemon.

You may ragoo mussels the same way. You may leave out the pistachio-nuts, if you don't like them; but they give the sauce a fine slavour.

To ragoo Endive.

TAKE fome white endive, three heads, lay them in falt and water two or three hours, take a hundred of asparagus, cut off the green heads, chop the rest as far as is tender small, lay it in salt and water, take a bunch of celery, wash it and scrape it clean, cut it in pieces about three inches long, put it in a fauce-pan, with a pint of water, three or four blades of mace, some whole pepper tied in a rag, let it stew till it is quite tender; then put in the asparagus, shake the fauce-pan, let it simmer till the grass is enough. Take the endive out of the water, drain it, leave one large head whole, the other pick leaf by leaf, put it into a stew-pan, put to it a pint of white wine; cover the pan close, let it boil till the endive is just enough, then put in a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in flour. cover it close, shaking the pan when the endive is enough. it up, lay the whole head in the middle, and with a spoon take out the celery and trafs and lay round, the other part of the endive over that, then pour the liquor out of the fauce-pan into the stewpan, stir it together, season it with falt, and have ready the yolks of two eggs, beat up with a quarter of a pint of cream and half a nutmeg grated in: Mix this with the fauce, keep it stirring all one way till it is thick; then pour it over your ragoo, and fend it to table hot.

To ragoo French Beans.

TAKE a few beans, boil them tender, then take your slew-pan, put in a piece of butter, when it is melted, shake in some flour, and peel a large onion, slice it and fry it brown in that butter; then put in the beans, shake in a little pepper and a little salt, grate a little nutmeg in, have ready the yolk of an egg and some cream; stir them all together for a minute or two, and dish them up.

To make good brown Gravy.

Take half a pint of small beer, or ale that is not bitter, and half a pint of water, an onion cut small, a little bit of lemon-peel cut small, three cloves, a blade of mace, some whole pepper, a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, a spoonful of walnut-pickle, a spoonful of catchup and an anchovy; first put a piece of butter into a sauce-pan, as big as a hen's egg, when it is melted shake in a little flour, and let it be a little brown; then by degrees stir in the above, ingredients, and let it boil a quarter of an hour, then strain it, and it is sit for sish or roots.

To fricafly Skirrets.

Wash the roots very well, and boil them till they are tender; then the skin of the roots must be taken off, cut in slices, and have ready a little cream, a piece of butter folled in flour, the yolk of an egg beat, a little nutmeg grated, two-or three spoonfuls of white wine, a very little salt, and stir all together. Your roots being in the dish, pour the sauce over them. It is a pretty side-dish. So likewise you may dress root of Salsisy and Scorzonera.

Chardoons fry'd and butter'd.

You must cut them about ten inches, and string them; then tie them in bundles like asparagus, or cut them in small dice; boil them like peas, toss them up with pepper, salt and melted but ter,

Chardoons

Chardoons a la Fromage.

After they are stringed, cut them an inch long, stew them in a sittle red wine till they are tender; season with pepper and salt, and thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour; then pour them into your dish, squeeze the juice of orange over it, then scrape Cheshire cheese all over them, then brown it with a cheese-iron, and serve it up quick and hot.

To make a Scotch Rabbit .-

Toas r a piece of bread very nicely on both fides, butter it, cut a flice of cheefe about as big as the bread, toast it on both fides, and lay it on the bread.

To make a Welch Rabbit.

Toast the bread on both fides, then toast the cheese on one side; lay it on the toast, and with a hot iron brown the other side. You may rub it over with mustard.

To make an English Rabbit.

Toas r a flice of bread brown on both sides, then lay it in a plate before the fire, pour a glass of red wine over it, and let it soak the wine up; then cut some cheese very thin, and lay it very thick over the bread, put it in a tin oven before the fire, and it will be toasted and browned presently. Serve it away hot.

Or do it thus.

Toast the bread and soak it in the wine, set it before the fire, cut your cheese in very thin slices, rub butter over the bottom of a plate, lay the cheese on, pour in two or three spoonfuls of white wine, cover it with another plate, set it over a chasing-dish of hot coals for two or three minutes, then stir it till it is done and well mixed. You may stir in a little mustard; when it is enough lay it on the bread, just brown it with a hot shovel. Serve it away hot.

Sorrel with Eggs.

FIRST your forrel must be quite boiled and well strained, then poach three eggs soft and three hard, butter your forrel well, fry some three-corner toasts brown, lay the forrel in the dish, lay the soft eggs on it and the hard between; stick the toast in and about it. Garnish with quartered orange.

A fricasey of Artichoke-Bottoms.

TAKE them either dried or pickled; if dried, you must lay them in warm water for three or four hours, shifting the water two or three times; then have ready a little cream, and a piece of fresh butter, stirred together one way over the fire till it is melted, then put in the artichokes, and when they are hot dish them up.

To fry Artichokes.

FIRST blanch them in water, then flour them, fry them in fresh butter, lay them in your dish and pour melted butter over them. Or you may put a little red wine into the butter, and season with nutmeg, pepper and salt.

A subite

A white frically of Mushrooms.

TAKE a quart of fresh mushrooms, make them clean, put them into a fauce-pan, with three spoonfuls of water and three of milk, n very little falt, fet them on a quick fire, and let them boil up three times; then take them off, grate in a little nutmeg, put in a little beaten mace, half a pint of thick cream, a piece of butter rolled well in flour, put it all together into a fauce-pan, and mushrooms all together, shake the sauce-pan well all the time. When it is fine and thick, dish them up; be careful they don't curdle. You may stir the fauce-pan carefully with a spoon all the time.

To make buttered Loaves.

BEAT up the yolks of twelve eggs, with half the whites, and a quarter of a pint of yeast, strain them into a dish, season with falt and beaten ginger, then make it into a high patte with flour, lay it in a warm cloth for a quarter of an hour; then make it up into little loaves, and bake them or boil them with butter, and put in a glass of white wine. Sweeten well with fugar, lay the loaves in the dish, pour the sauce over them, and throw sugar over the dish.

Brockely and Eggs.

BoIL your brockely tender, faving a large bunch for the middle, and fix or eight little thick sprigs to stick round. To make hard Dumplings.

Mix flour and water, with a little falt, like a paste, roll them in balls, as big as a turkey's egg, roll them in a little flour, have the water boiling, throw them in the water, and half an hour will boil them. They are best boiled with a good piece of beef. You may add, for change, a few currants. Have melted butter in a cup.

Another Way to make hard Dumplings.

Rub into your flour first a good piece of butter, then make it like a crust for a pye; make them up, and boil them as above.

To make good Apple Dumplings.

MAKE 2 good puff-passe, pare some large apples, cut them in quarters, and take out the cores very nicely; take a piece of crust, and roll it round, enough for one apple; if they are big, they will not look pretty, so roll the crust round each apple, and make them round like a ball, with a little flour in your hand. Have a pot of water boiling, take a clean cloth, dip it in the water, and shake flour over it; tie each dumpling by itself, and put them in the water boiling, which keep boiling all the time: and if your crust is light and good, and the apples not too large, half an hour will boil them; but if the apples be large, they will take an hour's boiling. When they are enough, take them up and lay them in a dish; throw sine sugar all over them, and send them to table. Have good fresh butter melted in a cup, and sine beaten sugar in a faucer.

Another Way to make Apple Dumplings.

Make a good puff-paste crust, roll it out a little thicker than a crown-piece, pare some large apples, and roll every apple in a piece of this paste, tie them close in a cloth separate, boil them an hour, cut a little piece of the top off and take out the core, take a tea-spoonful of lemon-peel shred as sine as possible, just give it a boil in two spoonfuls of rose or orange-slower water. In each dumpling put a tea-spoonful of this liquor, sweeten the apple with fine sugar, pour in some melted butter, and lay on your piece of crust again. Lay them in your dish, and throw sine sugar all over them.

To make a Cheefe-curd Florendine.

Take two pounds of cheefe-curd, break it all to pieces with your hand, a pound of blanched almonds finely pounded, with a little rose-water, half a pound of currants clean washed and picked, a little sugar to your palate, some stewed spinach cut small; mix all well together, lay a puss-passe in a dish, put in your ingredients, cover it with a thin crust rolled, and laid across, and bake it in a moderate oven half an hour. As to the top-crust lay it in what shape you please, either rolled or marked with an iron on purpose.

A Florendine of Oranges or Apples.

GET half a dozen Seville oranges, fave the juice, take out the pulp, lay them in water twenty-four hours, thift them three or four times, then boil them in three or four waters, then drain them for the water, put them in a pound of fugar, and their juice, boil them to a fyrup, take great care they do not stick to the pan you do them in, and fet them by for use. When you use them, lay a puff-paste all over the dish, boil ten pippins pared, quartered and cored, in a little water and sugar, and slice two of the oranges and mix with the pippins in the dish. Bake it in a slow oven, with crust as above: Or just bake the crust, and then lay in the ingredients.

To make an Artichoke Pye.

Boil twelve artichokes, take off all the leaves and choke, take the bottoms clear from the stalk, make a good puff-paste crust, and lay a quarter of a pound of good fresh butter all over the bottom of your pye; then lay a row of artichokes, strew a little pepper, salt, and beaten mace over them, then another row, and strew the rest of your spice over them, put in a quarter of a pound more of butter in little bits, take half an ounce of trusses and morels, boil them in a quarter of a pint of water, pour the water into the pye, cut the trusses and morels very small, throw all over the pye; then have ready twelve eggs boiled hard, take only the hard yolks, lay them all over the pye, pour in a gill of white wine, cover your pye and bake it. When the crust is done, the pye is enough. Four large blades of mace and twelve pepper-corns well beat will do, with a tea-spoonful of salt.

To make a fweet Egg Pye.

MAKE a good crust, cover your dish with it, then have ready twelve eggs boiled hard, cut them in slices, and lay them in your pye; throw half a pound of currants, clean washed and picked, all over the eggs: then beat up four eggs well, mixt with half a pint of white wine, grate in a small nutmeg, and make it pretty sweet with sugar. You are to mind to lay a quarter of a pound of butter between the eggs, then pour in your wine and eggs and cover your pye. Bake it half an hour, or till the crust is done.

To make a Potatoe Pye.

Boil three pounds of potatoes, peel them, make a good crust and lay in your dish; lay at the bottom half a pound of butter, then lay in your potatoes, throw over them three tea-spoonfuls of salt, and a small nutmeg grated all over, six eggs boiled hard and chopped sine, throw all over, a tea-spoonful of pepper strewed all over, then half a pint of white wine. Cover your pye, and bake it half an hour, or till the crust is enough.

To make an Onion Pye.

Wash and pare some potatoes, and cut them in slices, peel some onions, cut them in slices, pare some apples and slice them, make a good crust, cover your dish, lay a quarter of a pound of butter all over, take a quarter of an ounce of mace beat sine, a nutmeg grated, a tea-spoonful of beaten pepper, three tea-spoonfuls of salt, mix all together, strew some over the butter, lay a layer of potatoes, a layer of onion, a layer of apple, and a layer of eggs, and so n till you have silled your pye, strewing a little of the seasoning between each layer, and a quarter of a pound of butter in bits, and six spoonfuls of water. Close your pye, and bake it an hour and a half. A pound of potatoes, a pound of onions, a pound of apples and twelve segs, will do.

To make an Orangeado Pye.

MAKE a good crust, lay it over your dish, take two oranges, boil them with two lemons till tender, in sour or sive quarts of water. In the last water, which there must be about a pint of, add a pound of loaf sugar, boil it, take them out and slice them into your pye; then pare twelve pippins, core them and give them one boil in the syrup; lay them all over the orange and lemon, pour in the syrup, and pour on them some Orangeado syrup. Cover your pye, and bake it in a slow oven half an hour,

To make a Skirret Pre,

TAKE your skirrets and boil them tender, peel them, slice them, sill your pye, and take to half a pint of cream the yolk of an egg, beat fine with a little nutmeg, a little beaten mace, and a little salt; bear all together well, with a quarter of a pound of fresh butter melted, then pour in as much as your dish will hold, put on the top-crust and bake it half an hour. You may put in some hard yolks of eggs; if you cannot get cream, put in milk, but cream is best. About two pounds of the root will do.

To make an Apple Pyc.

Make a good puff-paste crust, lay some round the fides of the dish, pare and quarter your apples, and take out the cores, lay a row of apples thick, throw in half the sugar you design for your pye, mince a little lemon-poel fine, throw over and squeeze a little lemon over them, then a few cloves, here and there one, then the rest of your apples and the rest of your fugar. You must sweeten to your palate, and squeeze a little more lemon. Boil the peeling of the apples and the cores in some fair water, with a blade of mace, till it is very good; strain it and boil the syrup with a little sugar, till there is but very little and good, pour it into your pye, put on your upper crust and bake it, You may put in a little quince or marmalate, if you please.

Thus make a pear pye, but don't put in any quince. You may butter them when they come out of the oven; or beat up the yolks of two eggs and half a pint of cream, with a little nutmeg, fweetened with fugar, take off the lid and pour in the cream. Cut the cruit in little three-corner pieces, and stick about the pye, and fend it to table.

To make a Cherry Pye.

MAME a good crust, lay a little round the sides of your dish, throw sugar at the bottom, and lay in your fruit and sugar at top. A few red currents does well with them; put on your lid, and bake in a tlack oven.

Make a plumb pye the fame way, and a goofeberry pye. If you would have it red, let it fland a good while in the oven, after the bread is drawn. A custard is very good with the goofeberry pye.

To make a Salt-Fish Pye.

GET a fide of falt-fish, lay it in water all night, next morning put it over the fire in a pan of water till it is tender, drain it and lay on the dresser, take off all the skin and pick the meat clean from the bones, mince it small, then take the crumb of two French rolls, cut in slices and boiled up with a quart of new milk, break your bread very fine with a spoon, put to it your minced salt-sish, a pound of melted butter, two spoonfuls of minced parsley, half a nutmeg grated, a little beaten pepper and three tea-spoonfuls of mustard; mix all well together, make a good crust, and lay all ever your dish and cover it up. Bake it an hour.

To make a Carp Pye.

Take a large carp, scale, wash and gut it clean; take an eel, boil it just a little tender, pick off all the meat and mince it fine, with an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, a few fweet herbs, a little lemon-peel cut fine, a little pepper, falt and grated nutmeg, an anchovy, half a pint of oysters parboiled and chopped fine, the volks of three hard eggs cut small, roll it up with a quarter of a pound of butter, and fill the belly of the carp. Make a good cruft. cover the dish, and lay in your carp; save the liquor you boil your cel in, put in the eel bones, boil them with a little mace, whole pepper, an onion, some sweet herbs, and an anchovy. Boil it nill there is about half a pint, strain it, add to it a quarter of a pint of white wine, and a lump of butter mixed in a very little flour; bold it tip, and pour into your pye. Put on the lid, and bake it an hour in a quick oven. If there be any force-meat left after filling the belly, make balls of it, and put into the pye. If you have not liquor enough, boil a few small eels to make enough to fill your difb.

To make a Soal Pye.

*Make a good crust, cover your dish, boil two pounds of eels tender, pick all the slesh clean from the bones, throw the bones into the liquor you boil the eels in, with a little mace and salt till it is very good, and about a quarter of a pint, then strain it. In the mean time cut the slesh of your eel sine, with a little lemon-peel shred sine, a little salt, pepper and nutmeg, a few crumbs of bread; chopped parsley and an anchovy; melt a quarter of a pound of butter, and mix with it, then lay it in the dish, cut the slesh of a pair of large soals, or three pair of very small ones, clean from the bones and fins, lay it on the force-meat and pour in the broth of the eels you boiled; put the lid of the pyc on, and bake it. You should boil the bones of the soals with the eel bones, to make it good. If you boil the soal bones with one or two little eels, without the force-meat, your pye will be very good. And thus you may do a turbutt,

To make an Ecl Pye.

MAKE a good crust, clean, gut, and wash your eels very well, then cut them in pieces half as long as your finger; season them with pepper, salt, and a little beaten mace to your palate, either high or low. Fill your dish with eels, and put as much water as the dish will well hold: put on your cover, and bake them well.

To make a Flounder Pye

GET fome flounders, wash them clean, dry them in a cloth, just boil them, cut off the meat clean from the bones, lay a good crust, crust over your dish, and lay a little fresh butter at the bottom, and on that the fish; season them with pepper, and salt to your mind. Boil the bones in the water your fish was boiled in, with a little bit of horse-radish, a little parsley, a very little bit of lemon-peel, and a crust of bread. Boil it till there is just enough liquor for the pye; then strain it, and put it into your pye; put on the top-crust, and bake it.

To make a Herring Pye.

SCALE, gut, and wash them very clean, cut off the heads, fins, and tails. Make a good crust, cover your dish, then season your herrings with beaten mace, pepper and sait; put a little butter in the bottom of your dish, then a row of herrings; pare some apples, and cut them in thin slices all over, then peel some onions, and cut them in slices all over thick, lay a little butter on the top, put in a little water, lay on the lid, and bake it well.

To make a Salmon Pye.

MAKE a good crust, cleanse a piece of salmon well, season it with salt, mace and nutmeg, lay a little piece of butter at the bottom of the dish, and lay your salmon in. Melt butter according to your pye; take a lobster, boil it, pick out all the slesh, chop it small, bruise the body, mix it well with the butter, which must be very good; pour it over your salmon, put on the lid, and bake it well.

To make a Lobster Pye.

MAKE a good crust, boil two lobsters, take out the tails, cut them in two, take out the gut, cut each tail in four pieces, and lay them in the dish. Take the bodies, bruise them well with the claws, and pick out all the rest of the meat; chop it all together, season it with pepper, salt, and two or three spoonfuls of vinegar, melt half a pound of butter, stir all together, with the crumb of a halfpenny roll, rubbed in a clean cloth small, lay it over the tails, put on your cover, and bake it in a slow oven.

To make a Mussel Pye.

MAKE a good crust, lay it all over the dish, wash your mussels clean in several waters, then put them in a deep stew-pan, cover them, and let them stew till they all open, pick them out, and see there be no crabs under the tongue; put them in a sauce-pan, with two or three blades of mace, strain the liquor just enough to cover them, a good piece of butter, and a few crumbs of bread; stew them a few minutes, fill your pye, put on the lid, and bake it half an hour. So you may make an oyster pye.

To make Lent Mince Pyes.

Six eggs boiled hard and chopped fine, twelve pippins pared and chopped finall, a pound of raifins of the fun stoned, and chopped fine, a pound of currants washed, picked, and rubbed clean, a large spoonful of fine sugar beat fine, an ounce of citron, an ounce of candied orange, both cut fine, a quarter of an ounce of mace and cloves beat fine, and a large nutmeg beat fine; mix all together with a gill of brandy, and a gill of tack. Make your crust good, and bake in a slack oven. When you make your pye, squeeze in the juice of a Seville orange, and a glass of red wine.

To Collar Salmon.

TAKE a fide of falmon, cut off about a handful of the tail. wash your large piece very well, dry it with a clean cloth, then wash it over with yolks of eggs, and then make force-meat with that you cut off the tail; but take off the skin, and put to it a handful of parboiled oyiters, a tail or two of lobiters, the yolks of three or four eggs boiled hard, fix anchovies, a handful of fweet herbs chopped small, a little falt, cloves, mace, nutmeg, pepper beat fine, and grated bread; work all these together into a body. with the yolks of eggs, lay it all over the fleshy part, and a little more pepper and falt over the falmon; fo roll it up into a collar. and bind it with broad tape, then boil it in water, falt and vinegar; but let the liquor boil first, then put in your collars, a bunch of fweet herbs, fliced ginger and nutmeg; let it boil, but not too fast. It will take near two hours boiling. When it is enough, take it up into your foufing-pan, and when the pickle is cold, put it to your salmon, and let it stand in it till used; or otherwise you may pot it. Fill it up with clarified butter, as you pot fowls; that way will keep longest.

To Collar Eels.

Take your eel and cut it open, take out the bones cut off the head and tail, lay the eel flat on the dreffer, and shred some sage as sine as possible, and mix with it black pepper beat, grated nutmeg and salt, lay it all over the eel, roll it up hard in little cloths, and tie both ends tight; then set over the fire some water, with pepper and salt, sive or six cloves, three or sour blades of mace, a bay leaf or two. Boil it bones, head and tail well together; then take out your heads and tails, put in your eels and let them boil till they are tender, then take them out and boil the liquor longer, till you think there is enough to cover them. Take it off, and when cold pour it over the eels, and cover it close. Don't take off the cloths till you use them.

To pickle or bake Herrings.

Scale and wash them clean, cut off the heads, take out the rows, or wash them clean, and put them in again just as you like. Season them with a little mace and cloves beat, a very little beaten pepper and salt, lay them in a deep pan, lay two or three bay-leaves between each lay, then put in half vinegar and half water, or rap vinegar. Cover it close with a brown paper, and send it to the oven to bake; let it stand till cold, then pour off that pickle, and put fresh vinegar and water and send them to the oven again to bake. Thus do sprats; but don't bake them the second time. Some use only all spice; but that is not so good.

To pickle or bake Mackrel, to keep all the Year.

Gut them, cut off their heads, cut them open, dry them very well with a clean cloth, take a pan which they will lie cleverly in, lay a few bay-leaves at the bottom, rub the bone with a little bay-falt beat fine, take a little beaten mace, a few cloves beat fine black and white pepper beat fine; mix a little falt, rub them infide and out with the spice, lay them in the pan, and between every lay of the mackrel put a few bay-leaves, then cover them with vinegar, tie them down close with brown paper, put them into a flow oven, they will take agood while doing; when they are enough, uncover them, let them fland till cold, then pour away all that vinegar, and put as much good vinegar as will cover them, and put in an onion stuck with cloves. Send them to the over again, let them stand two hours in a very flow oven, and they will keep all the year; but you must not put in your hands to take out the mackrel, if you can avoid it, but take a slice to take them our with. The great bores of the mackrel take out and hoiled, is a pretty little plate to fill up a corner of a table.

To Soufe Mackrel:

You must wash them clean, gut them, and boil them in salt and water till they are enough; take them out, lay them in a clean pan, cover them with the liquor, add a little vinegar; and when you send them to table, lay fennel over them.

To Pot a Lobster.

TAKE a live lobster, boil it in salt and water, and peg it that no water gets in; when it is cold, pick out all the flesh and body, take out the gut, best it in a mortar fine, and feason it with beaten mace, grated nutmeg; pepper and falt. Mix all together, melt a little piece of butter as big as a large walnut, and mix it with the lobster as you are beating it; when it is beat to a paste, put it into your porting-pot, and put it down as close and hard as you can; then fet some fresh butter in a deep broad pan before the fire, and when it is all melted, take off the fcum at the top, if any, and pour the clear butter over the meat as thick as a crown piece. The whey and churn milk will fettle at the bottom of the pan; but take great care none of that goes in, and always let your butter be very good, or you will spoil all: Or only put the meat whole, with the body mix'd among it, laying them as close together as you can, and pour the butter over them. You must be sure to let the lobster be well boiled. A middling one will take half an hour boiling.

To Pot Eels.

Take a large eel, skin it, cleanse it and wash it very clean, dry it in a cloth, and cut it into pieces as long as your singer. Season them with a little beaten mace and nutmeg, pepper and salt, and a little sal prunella beat sine; lay them in a pan, then pour as much good butter over them as will cover them, and claristed as above. They must be baked half an hour in a quick oven; if a slow oven longer, till they are enough, but that you must judge by the largeness of the eels. With a fork take them out, and lay them on a coarse cloth to drain. When they are quite cold, season them again with the same seasoning, lay them in the pot close, then take off the butter they were baked in clear from the gravy of the fish, and set in a dish before the fire. When it is melted pour the clear butter over the eels, and let them be covered with butter.

In the fame manner you may pot what you please. You may bone your cels, if you chuse it; but then don't put in any sal prunellas

To Pet Lampreys.

Skin them, cleanse them with salt, and then wipe them dry; beat some black pepper, mace and cloves, mix them with salt and season them. Lay them in a pan, and cover them with clarified butter. Bake them an hour; order them as the eels, only let them be seasoned, and one will be enough for a pot. You must season them well, let your butter be good, and they will keep a long time.

To Pot Charrs.

AFTER having cleanfed them, cut off the fins, tails and heads, then lay them in rows in a long baking-pan; cover them with butter, and order them as above.

To Pot a Pike.

You must scale it, cut off the head, split it and take out the chine-bone, then strew all over the inside some bay-salt and pepper, roll it up round, and lay it in a pot. Cover it, and bake it an hour. Then take it out, and lay it on a coarse cloth to drain; when it is cold, put it into your pot, and cover it with clarified butter.

To Pot Salmon.

TAKE a piece of fresh salmon, scale it, and wipe it clean (let your piece, or pieces, be as big as will lie cleverly on your pot) season it with Jamaica pepper, black pepper, mace and cloves beat sine, mix'd with salt, a little sal prunella beat sine, and rub the bone with. Season with a little of the spice, pour clarissed butter over it, and bake it well. Then take it out carefully, and lay it to drain; when cold, season it well, say it in your pot close, and cover it with clarified butter as above.

Thus you may do carp, tench, trout, and several sorts of fish.

Another Way to Pot Salmon.

Scale and clean your falmon down the back, dry it well, and cut it as near the shape of your pot as you can. Take two nutmegs, an ounce of mace and cloves beaten, half an ounce of white pepper, and an ounce of falt; then take out all the bones, cut off the jole below the fins, and cut off the tail. Season the scaly side first, lay that at the bottom of the pot, then rub the seasoning on the other side, cover it with a dish, and let it stand all night. It must be put double, and the scaly side, top and bottom; put butter bottom and top, and cover the pot with some slift coarse paste. Three hours will bake it, if a large sist; if a small one, two hours, and when it comes out of the oven, let it stand half an hour; then uncover it, and raise it up at one end, that the gravy may run out, then put a trencher and a weight on it to press out the gravy. When the butter is cold, take it out clear from the gravy, add fome more to it, and put it in a pan before the fire; when it is melted, pour it over the falmon; and when it is cold, paper it up. As to the feafoning of these things, it must be according to your palate, more or less.

Note, Always take great care that no gravy or whey of the butter is left in the potting, if there is it will not keep.

CHAP. X.

Directions for the SICK.

I don't pretend to meddle here in the Physical Way; but a few Directions for the Cook, or Nurse, I presume will not be improper, to make such Diet, &c. as the Doctor shall order.

To make Mutton Broth.

AKE a pound of a loin of mutton, take off the fat, put to it one quart of water, let it boil and skim it well, then put in a good piece of upper-cruit of bread, and one large blade of mace cover it close, and let it boil slowly an hour: don't stir it, but pour the broth clear off. Scason it with a little salt, and the mutton will be fit to eat. If you boil turnips, don't boil them in the broth, but by themselves in another sauce-pan.

To boil a Scrag of Veal.

SET on the ferag in a clean sauce-pan: to each pound of veal put a quart of water, skim it very clean, then put in a good piece of upper-crust, a blade of mace to each pound, and a little parsiety tied with a thread. Cover it close, then let it boil very softly two hours, and both broth and mear will be sit to eat.

To make Beef or Mutton Broth for very weak People, who take but little Nourishment.

Take a pound of beef, or mutton, or both together: to a pound put two quarts of water, first skin the meat and take off all the fat; then cut it into little pieces, and boil it till it comes to a quarter of a pint. Season it with a very little corn of salt, skim off all the fat, and give a spoonful of this broth at a time. To very weak people, half a spoonful is enough; to some a teaspoonful at a time; and to others a tea-cup sull. There is greater nourishment from this than any thing else.

To make Beef Drink, which is ordered for weak People.

Take a pound of lean beef, then take off all the fat and skin, cut it into pieces, put it into a gallon of water, with the under-crast

trust of a penny-loaf, and a very little salt. Let it boil till it comes to two quarts; then strain it off, and it is a very hearty wrink.

To make Pork Broth.

Take two pounds of young pork, then take off the skin and fat, boil it in a gallon of water, with a turnip and a very little corn of salt. Let it boil till it comes to two quarts, then strain it off and let it stand till cold. Take off the fat, then leave the settling at the bottom of the pan, and drink half a pint in the morning fasting, an hour before breakfast; and at noon, if the stomach will bear it.

To boil a Chicken.

LET your fauce-pan be very clean and nice; when the water boils put in your chicken, which must be very nicely picked and clean, and laid in cold water a quarter of an hour before it is boiled, then take it up out of the water boiling and lay it in a pewter-dish. Save all the liquor that runs from it in the dish, cut up your chicken all in joints in the dish, then bruise the liver very fine, add a little boiled partley chopped very fine, a very little falt, and a very little grated nutmeg: mix it all well together with two spoonfuls of the liquor of the fowl, and pour it into the dish with the rest of the liquor in the dish. If there is not liquor enough, take two or three spoonfuls of the liquor it was boiled in, clap another dish over it, then set it over a chasingdish of hot coals five or fix minutes, and carry it to table hot with the cover on. This is better than butter, and lighter for the stomach, though some chuse it only with the liquor, and no parfley, nor liver, nor any thing thing elfe, and that is according to different palates. If it is for a very weak person, take off the skin of the chicken before you set it on the chasing-dish. If you roast it, make nothing but the bread-sauce, and that is lighter than any fauce you can make for a weak stomach.

Thus you may dress a rabbit, only bruise but a little piece of the liver.

To boil Pigeons.

Let your pigeon be cleaned, washed, drawn and kinned. Boil them in milk and water ten minutes, and pour over them sauce, made thus: take the livers parboiled, and bruise them fine with as much parsley boiled and chopped sine. Melt some butter, mix a little with the liver and parsley first, then mix all together, and pour over the pigeons.

To boil a Partridge, or any other Wild Fowl.

When your water boils, put in your partridge, let it boil ten minutes, then take it up into a pewter-plate, and cut it in two, laying the infides next the plate, and have ready fome bread-fauce, made thus t take the crumb of a half-penny roll, or thereabouts, and boil it in half a pint of water, with a blade of mace. Let it boil two or three minutes, pour away most of the water, then beat it up with a little piece of nice butter, a little falt, and N 2 pour it over the partridge. Clap a cover over it, then fet it over a chafing-dish of coals sour or sive minutes, and send it away hot, covered close.

Thus you may dress any fort of wild fowl, only boiling it more or less, according to the bigness. Ducks, take off the skins before you pour the bread-saucesover them; and if you roast them, lay bread-sauce under them. It is lighter than gravy for weak stomachs.

To hoil a Plaise or Flounder.

LET your water boil, throw some salt in, then put in your fish, boil it till you think it is enough, and take it out of the water in a slice to drain. Take two spoonfuls of the liquor with a little salt, a little grated nutmeg, then beat up the yolk of an egg very well with the liquor, and stir in the egg; beat it well together, with a knife carefully slice away all the little bones round the sish, pour the sauce over it, then set it over a chasing-dish of coals for a minute, and send it hot away. Or in the room of this sauce, add melted butter in a cup.

To mince Veal or Chicken, for Sick, or weak People.

Mince a chicken or veal very fine, taking off the skin; just boil as much water as will moisten it, and no more, with a very little salt, grate a very little nutmeg, then throw a little flour over it, and when the water boils put in the meat. Keep shaking it about over the fire a minute; then have ready two or three very thin sippers toasted nice and brown, laid in the plate, and pour the mince-meat over it.

To pull a Chicken for the Sick.

You must take as much cold chicken as you think proper, take off the skin, and pull the meat into little bits as thick as a quill; then take the bones, boil them with a little salt till they are good, strain it, then take a spoonful of the liquor, a spoonful of milk, a little bit of butter, as big as a large nutmeg rolled in flour, a little chopped parsley as much as will lye on a fix-pence, and a little salt if wanted. This will be enough for half a small chicken. Put all together into the sauce-pan; then keep shaking, it till it is thick, and pour it into a hot plate.

To make Chicken Broth.

You must take an old cock, or large fowl, flea it; then pick off all the fat, and break it all to pieces with a rolling-pin; put it into two quarts of water, with a good crust of bread, and ablade of mace. Let it boil softly till it is as good as you would have it. It you do it as it should be done, it will take five or fix hours doing; pour it off, then put a quart more of boiling water, and cover it close. Let it boil softly till it is good, and strain it off. Season with a very little falt. When you boil a chicken save the liquor, and when the meat is eat, take the bones, then break them and put to the liquor you boiled the chicken in, with a blade of mace, and a crust of bread. Let it boil till it is good and strain it off.

To make Chicken Water.

TAKE a cock, or large fowl, flea it, then bruise it with a hammer, and put it into a gallon of water, with a crust of bread. Let at boil half away, and strain it off.

To make White Candle.

You must take two quarts of water, mix in sour spoonfuls of oatmeal, a blade or two of mace, a piece of lemon-peel, let it boil, and keep stirring it often. Let it boil about a quarter of an hour, and take care it does not boil over; then strain it through a coarse sieve. When you use it, sweeten it to your palate, grate in a little nutmeg, and what wine is proper; and if it is not for a sick person, squeeze in the juice of a lemon.

To make Brown Caudle.

Bork the gruel as above, with fix spoonfuls of oatmeal, and strain it; then add a quart of good ale, not bitter; boil it, then sweeten it to your palate, and add half a pint of white wine. When you don't put in white wine, let it be half ale.

To make Water Gruel.

You must take a pint of water, and a large spoonful of outmeal; then shir it together, and let it boil up three or sour times, shirring it often. Don't let it boil over, then strain it through a sieve, salt it to your palate, put in a good piece of fresh butter, brue it with a spoon till the butter is all melted, then it will be sine and smooth, and very good. Some love a little pepper in it.

To make Panado.

You must take a quart of water in a nice clean sauce-pan, a blade of mace, a large piece of crumb of bread; let it boil two minutes, then take out the bread, and bruise it in a bason very sine. Mix as much water as will make it as thick as you would have it, the rest pour away, and sweeten it to your palate. Put in a piece of butter as big as a walnut, don't put in any wine, it spoils it; you may grate in a little nutmeg. This is hearty and good diet for sick people.

To boil Sago.

Pur a large spoonful of sago into three quarters of a pint of water, stir it and boil it softly till it is as thick as you would have it; then put in wine and sugar, with a little nutmeg to your palate.

To boil Saloup.

It is a herd stone ground to powder, and generally sold for one shilling an ounce: take a large tea-spoonful of the powder, and put it into a pint of boiling water, keep stirring it till it is like a fine jelly; then put wine and sugar to your palate, and lemon, if it will agree.

N 3

To

To make Isinglass Jelly.

Take a quart of water, one ounce of ifinglas, half an ounce of cloves; boil them to a pint, then strain it upon a pound of loaf sugar, and when cold sweeten your tea with it. You make the jelly as above, and leave out the cloves. Sweeten to your palate, and add a little wine. All other jellies you have in another chapter.

To make the Pedoral Drink.

TAKE a gallon of water, and half a pound of pearl barley, boil it with a quarter of a pound of figs split, a pennyworth of liquorice sliced to pieces, a quarter of a pound of raisins of the sun stoned; boil all together till half is wasted, then strain it off. This is ordered in the measles, and several other disorders, for a drink.

To make Buttered Water, or what the Germans call Egg Soup, and are very fond of it for Supper. You have it in the Chapter for Lent.

TAKE a pint of water, beat up the yolk of an egg with the water, put in a piece of butter as big as a small walnut, two or three nobs of sugar, and keep stirring it all the time it is on the fire. When it begins to boil, bruile it between the sauce-pan and a mug till it is smooth, and has a great frosh; then it is sit to drink. This is ordered in a cold, or where eggs will agree with the stomach.

To make Seed Water.

TAKE a spoonful of coriander seed, half a spoonful of carraway seed bruised and boiled in a pint of water; then strain it, and bruise it with the yolk of an egg. Mix it with sack and double-resined sugar, according to your palate.

To make Bread-Soup for the Sick.

TAKE a quart of water, fet it on the fire in a clean fauce-pan, and as much dry crust of bread cut to pieces as the top of a pennyloas, the drier the better, a bit of butter as big as a walnut; let it boil, then beat it with a spoon, and keep boiling it till the bread and water is well mixed; then season it with a very little salt, and it is a pretty thing for a weak stomach.

e; To make artificial Asses Milk.

Take two ounces of pearl barley, two large spoonfuls of hartshorn shavings, one ounce of eringo root, one ounce of China root, one ounce of preserved ginger, eighteen snails bruised with the shells, to be boiled in three quarts of water, till it comes to three pints, then boil a pint of new milk, mix it with the rest, and put in two ounces of balsam of Tolu. Take half a pint in the morning, and half a pint at night.

Cows Milk next to Asses Milk, done thus.

TAKE a quart of milk, fet it in a pan over night, the next morning take off all the cream, then boil it, and fet it in the pan again till night; then fkim it again, boil it, fet it in the pan again, and the next morning fkim it, warm it blood warm, and think drink it as you do affes milk. It is very near as good, and with some consumptive people it is better.

To make a good Drink,

Boil a quart of milk and a quart of water, with the topcrust of a penny-loaf and one blade of mace, a quarter of an hour very-fostly, then pour it off, and when you drink it let it be warm.

To make Barley Water.

Pur a quarter of a pound of pearl barley into two quarts of water, let it boil, skim it very clean, boil half away, and strain it off. Sweeten to your palate, but not too sweet, and put in two spoonfuls of white wine, Drink it luke-warm,

To make Sage Drink.

TAKE a little fage, a little balm, put it into a pan, flice a lemon, peel and all, a few nobs of fugar, one glass of white wine, pour on these two or three quarts of boiling water, cover it, and and drink when dry. When you think it strong enough of the herbs, take them out, otherwise it will make it bitter.

To make it for a Child.

A little fage, balm, rue, mint and penny-royal, pour boiling water on, and fweeten to your palate. Syrup of cloves, &c. and black cherry water, you have in the chapter of preserves.

Liquor for a Child that bas the Thrush.

TAKE half a pint of fpring water, a nob of double refined fugar, a very little bit of allum, beat it well together with the yolk of an egg, then beat it in a large spoonful of the juice of sage, tie a rag to the end of a stick, dip it in this liquor and often clean the mouth. Give the child over night one drop of laudanum, and the next day proper physic, washing the mouth often with this liquor.

To boil Comfry Roots.

TAKE a pound of comfry roots, scrape them classified into little pieces, and put them into three pin them. Let them boil till there is about a pint, then strain it, and when it is cold, put it into a sauce-pan. If there is any settling at the bottom, throw it away; mix it with sugar to your palate, half a pint of mountain wine, and the juice of a lemon. Let it boil, then pour it into a clean earthen pot, and set it by for use. Some boil it in milk, and it is very good where it will agree, and is reckoned a very great strengthener.

FOR CAPTAINS OF SHIPS.

To make Catchup to keep twenty Years.

AKE a gallon of strong stale beer, one pound of anchovies washed from the pickle, a pound of shalots peeled, half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of cloves, a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper, three or four large faces of ginger, two quarts of the large mushroom-flaps rubbed to pieces. Cover all this chose, and let it summer till it is half wasted, then strain it through a stannel bag, let it stand till it is quite cold, then bottle it. You may carry it to the Indies. A spoonful of this to a pound of fresh butter melted, makes sine fish-sauce: or in the room of gravy-sauce. The stronger and staler the beer is, the better the catchup will be.

To make Fish-Sauce to keep the whole Year.

You must take twenty-four anchovies, chop them, bones and all, put to them ten shalots cut small, a handful of scraped horse-radish, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quart of white wine, a pint of water, one lemon cut into slices, half a pint of anchovy liquor, a pint of red wine, twelve cloves, twelve pepper-corns. Boil them together till it comes to a quart; strain it off, cover it close, and keep it in a cool dry place. Two spoonfuls will be sufficient for a pound of butter.

It is a pretty fauce either for boiled fowl, veal, &c. or in the room of gravy, lowering it with hot water, and thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour.

To pot Dripping, to fry Fifb, Meat, or Fritters, &c.

TAKE six pounds of good beef-dripping, boil it in soft water, strain it into a pan, let it stand till cold; then take off the hard fat, and scrape off the gravy which sticks to the inside. Thus do eight times; when it is cold and hard, take it off clean from the water, put it into a large sauce-pan, with six bay-leaves, twelve cloves, half a pound of salt, and a quarter of a pound of whole pepper. Let the sat be all melted and just hot, let it stand till it is not enough to strain through a sieve into the pot, and stand till it is quite cold, then cover it up. Thus you may do what quantity you please. The best way to keep any fort of dripping is to turn the pot upside-down, and then no rats can get at it. If it will keep on ship board, it will make as sine pust-passe crust, as any butter can do, or crust for puddings, &c.

To pickle Mushrooms for the Sea.

Wash them clean with a piece of flannel in falt and water, put them into a fauce-pan and throw a little falt over them. Let them boil up three times in their own liquor, then throw them into a fieve to drain, and spread them on a clean cloth; let them lie till cold, then put them in wide-mouth'd bottles, put in with them a good deal of whole mace, a little nutmeg sliced, and a few cloves. Boil the sugar-vinegar of your own making, with a good deal of whole pepper, some races of ginger, and two or three bay-leaves. Let it boil a few minutes, then strain it, when it is cold pour it on, and fill the bottle with mutton fat fryed; cork them, tie a bladder, then a leather over them, keep it down close, and in as cool a place as possible. As to all other pickles, you have them in the chapter of Pickles.

To make Mushroom Powder.

TAKE half a pock of fine large thick mushrooms fresh, wash them clean from grit and dirt with a stannel rag, scrape out the inside, cut out all the worms, put them into a kettle over the fire without any water, two large onions stuck with cloves, a large handful of salt, a quarter of an ounce of mace, two tea-spoonfuls of beaten pepper, let them simmer till all the liquor is boiled away, take great care they don't burn; then lay them on sieves to dry in the sun, or on tin plates, and set them in a slack oven all night to dry, till they are well beat to powder. Press the powder down hard in a pot, and keep it for use. You may put what quantity you please for the sauce.

To keep Mush rooms without pickle.

TAKE large mushrooms, peel them, scrape out the inside, put them into a sauce-pan, throw a little salt over them, and let them boil in their own liquor; then throw them into a sieve to drain, then lay them on tin plates, and set them in a cool oven. Repeat it often till they are perfectly dry, put them into a clean stone jar, tie them down tight, and keep them in a dry place. They eat deliciously, and look as well as truffles.

To keep Articboke-Bottoms dry.

Boil them just so as you can pull off the leaves and the choke, cut them from the stalks, lay them on tin plates, set them in a very cool oven, and repeat it till they are quitedry; then put them into a some pot, and tie them down. Keep them in a dry place; and when you use them, lay them in warm water till they are tender. Shift the water two or three times. They are sine in almost all sauces cut to little pieces, and put in just before your sauce is enough.

To fry Artichoke-Bottoms.

LAY them in water as above; then have ready fome butter hot in the pan, flour the bottoms and fry them. Lay them in your dish, and pour melted butter over them.

To ragoo Artichoke-Bottoms.

Take twelve bottoms, fosten them in warm water, as in the foregoing receipts: take half a pint of water, a piece of the strong soup, as big as a small walnut, half a spoontul of the catchup, sive or six of the dried mushrooms, a tea-spoonful of the mushroom-powder, set it on the fire, shake all together, and let it boil solidy two or three minutes. Let the last water you put to the bottoms bottoms boil; take them out hot, lay them in your dish, pour the fauce over them, and fend them to table hot.

To fricajey Artichoke-Bottoms.

SCALD them, then lay them in boiling water till they are quite tender; take half a pint of milk, a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in flour, stir it all one way till it is thick, then stir a spoonful of mushroom-pickle, lay the bottoms in a dish, and pour the sauce over them.

To dress Fish

As to frying fift, first wash it very clean, then dry it well and flour it; take some of the beef-dripping, make it boil in the stewpan, then throw in your fish, and fry it of a fine light brown. Lay it on the bottom of a sieve, or coarse cloth to drain, and make sauce according to your fancy.

To bake Fift,

BUTTER the pan, lay in the fish, throw a little salt over it, and flour; put a very little water in the dish, an onion and a bundle of sweet herbs, stick some little bits of butter or the fine dripping on the fish. Let it be baked of a fine light brown; when enough, lay it on a dish before the fire, and skim off all the fat in the pan; strain the liquor, and mix it up either with the fish-sauce or strong soup, or the catchup.

To make a Gravy Soup.

ONLY boil fost water, and put as much of the strong soup to it, as will make it to your palate. Let it boil; and if it wants falt, you must season it. The receipt for the soup, you have in the chapter for soups,

To make Peas Soup.

GET a quart of peas, boil them in two gallons of water till they are tender, then have ready a piece of salt pork, or beef, which has been laid in water the night before; put it into the pot, with two large onions peeled, a bundle of sweet herbs, celery if you have it, half a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper, let boil till the meat is enough, then take it up, and if the soup is not enough let it boil till the soup is good; then strain it, set it on again to boil, and rub in a good deal of dry mint. Keep the meat hot, when the soup is ready, put in the meat again for a few minutes, and let it boil; then serve it away. If you add a piece of the portable soup, it will be very good. The onion soup you have in the Lent chapter.

To make Pork Pudding, or Beef, &c.

MAKE a good crust with the dripping or mutton suet if you have have it, shred fine; make a thick crust, take a piece of salt pork or beef, which has been twenty-sour hours in soft water; season it with a little pepper, put it into this crust, roll it up close, tie it in a cloth, and boil it; if about four or five pounds, boil it five hours.

And when you kill mutton, make pudding the fame way, only cut the steaks thin; season them with pepper and falt, and boil it three hours, if large, or two hours, if small, and so according to the fize.

Apple pudding made with the same crust, only pare the apples, core them, and sill your pudding; if large, it will take five hours boiling. When it is enough, lay it in the dish, cut a hole in the top, and stir in butter and sugar; lay the piece on again, and send it to table.

A pruen pudding eats fine, made the same way, only when the crust is ready fill it with pruens, and sweeten it according to your fancy; close it up, and boil it two hours.

To make a Rice Pudding.

TAKE what rice you think proper, tie it loose in a cloth, and boil it an hour; then take it up, and until it, grate a good deal of nutmeg in, stir in a good piece of butter, and sweeten to your palate. Tie it up close, boil it an hour more, then take it up and turn it into your dish; melt butter, with a little sugar and a little white wine for sauce.

To make a Suet Pudding.

GET a pound of fuet shred fine, a pound of flour, a pound of currants picked clean, half a pound of raisins stoned, two tea spoonfuls of beaten ginger, and a spoonful of tincture of saffron; mix all together with salt water very thick, then either boil or bake it.

A Liver Pudding boiled.

GET the liver of a sheep when you kill one, and cut it as thin as you can and chop it; mix it with as much suet shred fine, half as many crumbs of bread or biscuit grated, season it with some sweet herbs shred fine, a little nutmeg grated, a little beaten pepper, and an anchovy shred fine; mix all together with a little salt, or the anchovy liquor, with a piece of butter, fill the crust and close it. Boil it three hours.

To make an Oatmeal Pudding.

GET a pint of oatmeal once cut, a pound of fuet shred fine, a pound of currants, and half a pound of raisins stoned; mix all together well with a little salt, tie it in a cloth, leaving room for the swelling.

To bake an Oatmeal Pudding.

Boil a quart of water, feason it with a little salt; when the water boils, stir in the oatmeal till it is so thick you can't easily stir your spoon, then take it off the fire, stir in two spoonfuls of brandy, or a gill of mountain, and sweeten it to your palate. Grate in a little nutmeg, and stir in half a pound of currants clean washed and picked; then butter a pan, pour it in, and bake it half an hour.

A Rice

A Rice Pudding baked.

Born a pound of rice just till it is tender, then drain all the water from it as dry as you can, but dont squeeze it; then stir in a good piece of butter, and sweeten to your palate. Grate a small nutmeg in, stir it all well together, butter a pan, and pour it in and bake it. You may add a few currants for change.

To make a Peas Pudding.

Boil it till it is quite tender, then take it up, untie it, slir in a good piece of butter, a little salt, and a good deal of beaten pepper, then tie it up tight again, boil it an hour longer, and it will eat fine. All other puddings you have in the chapter of puddings.

To make a harrico of French beans.

TAKE a pint of the feeds of French beans, which are ready dry'd for fowing, wash them clean, and put them into a two quart fancepan, fill it with water, and let them boil two hours; if the water wastes away too much, you must put in more boiling water to keep them boiling. In the mean time take almost half a pound of nice fresh butter, put it into a clean stewpan, and when it is all melted and done making any noise, have ready a pint bason heaped up with onions peeled and sliced thin, throw them into the pan and fry them of a fine brown, stirring zhem about that they may be all alike, then pour off the clear water from the beans into a baton, and throw the beans all into the stewpan; stir all together, and throw in a large spoonful of beaten pepper, two heap'd full of falt, and shir it all together for two or three minutes. You may make this dish of what thickness you think proper (either to eat with a spoon, or otherways) with the liquor you poured off the beans. For change, you may make it thin enough for foup. When it is of the proper thickness you like it, take it off the fire, and flir in a large spoonful of vinegar and the yolks of two eggs heat. The eggs may be left out, if dilliked. Dish it up, and send at to table.

To make a Fowl Pye.

First make a rich thick crust, cover the dish with the passe, then take some very sine bacon, or cold boiled ham, slice it, and lay a layer all over. Season with a little pepper, then put in the sowl, after it is picked and cleaned, and singed; shake a very little pepper and salt into the belly, put in a little water, cover it with ham, seasoned with a little beaten pepper, put on the lid and bake it two hours. When it comes out of the oven, take half a pint of water, boil it, and add to it as much of the strong soup as will make the gravy quite rich, pour it boiling that into the pan and lay on the lid again. Send it to table hot, or lay a piece of beef or pork in soft water twenty-sour hours, alice it in the room of the ham, and it will eat sine.

To make a Cheshire Pork Pye for Sea.

TAKE some salt pork that has been boiled, cut it into thin slices, an equal quantity of potatoes pared and sliced thin, make a good a good crust, cover the dish, lay a layer of meat, seasoned with a little pepper, and a layer of potatoes; then a layer of meat, a layer of potatoes, and fo on till your pye is full. Season it with pepper; when it is full, lay fome butter on the top, and fill your dish above half full of soft water. Close your pye up, and bake it in a gentle oven.

To make Sea Venison.

WHEN you kill a sheep, keep stirring the blood all the time till it is cold, or at least as cold as it will be, that it may not congeal; then cut up the sheep, take one side, cut the leg like a haunch, cut off the shoulder and loin, the neck and breast in rwo, steep them all in the blood, as long as the weather will permit you, then take out the haunch, and hang it out of the funas long as you can to be sweet, and reast it as you do a haunch of venison. It will eat very fine, especially if the heat will give you leave to keep it long. Take off all the fuet before you lay it in the blood, take the other joints and lay them in a large panpour over them a quart of red wine and a quart of rap vinegar. Lay the fat side of the meat downwards in the pan, on a hollow tray is best, and pour the wine and vinegar over it; let it lay twelve house, then take the neck, break and loin out of the pickle, let the houlder lay a week, if the heat will let you, rub it with bay falt, falt petre and coarse sugar, of each a quarter of an ounce, one handful of common fair, and let it lay a week or ten days. Bone the neck, breast and loin; season them with pepper and falt to your palate, and make a pasty as you do venison. Boil the bones for gravy to fill the pye, when it comesout of the oven; and the shoulder boil fresh out of the pickle, with a peafe pudding.

And when you cut up a sheep, take the heart, liver, and lights, boil them a quarter of an hour, then cut them small, and chop them very fine; season them with four large blades of mace, twelve cloves, and a large nutmeg all beat to powder. Chop a pound of fuet fine, half a pound of fugar, two pounds of currants clean washed, half a pint of red wine, mix all well together, and make a pye. Bake it an hour, it is very rich.

To make Dumplings when you have White Bread.

TAKE the crumb of a twopenny-loaf grated fine, as much beef suer streed fine as possible, a little salt, half a finall nutmeg grated, a large spoonful of sugar, beat two eggs with two spoonfuls of fack, mix' all well together, and roll them up as big as a turkey's egg. Let the water boil, and throw them in. Half an hour will boil them. For fauce, melt butter with a litthe fack, lay the dumplings in a dish, pour the sauce over them, and strew sugar all over the dish.

These are very pretty, either at land or sea. You must observe to rub your hands with flour, when you make them up.

The portable foup to carry abroad, you have in the fixth. chapter.

CHAP.

C H A P. XII.

Of Hogs Puddings, Sausage, &c.

To make Almond Hogs Puddings.

Take two pounds of beef fuet or marrow, shred very small, a pound and a half of almonds blanched, and beat very sine with rose-water, one pound of grated bread, a pound and a quarter of fine sugar, a little salt, half an ounce of mace, nutmeg and cinnamon together, twelve yolks of eggs, four whites, a pint of sack, a pint and a half of thick cream, some rose or orange-flower water; boil the cream, tie the saffron in a bag, and dip in the cream, to colour it. First beat your eggs very well, then stir in your almonds, then the spice, the salt and suet, and mix all your ingredients together; fill your guts but half sull, put some bits of citron in the guts as you fill them, tie them up, and boil them a quarter of an hour.

Another Way.

Take a pound of beef marrow chopped fine, half a pound of fweet almonds blanched, and beat fine with a little orange-flower or rote-water, half a pound of white bread grated fine, half a pound of currants clean washed and picked, a quarter of a pound of fine sugar, a quarter of an ounce of mace, nutmeg, and cinnamon together, of each an equal quantity, and half a pint of sack: mix all well together, with half a pint of good cream, and the yolks of sour eggs. Fill your guts half full, tie them up, and boil them a quarter of an hour. You may leave out the currants tor change; but then you must add a quarter of a pound more of sugar.

A third Way.

HALF a pint of cream, a quarter of a pound of fagar, a quarter of a pound of currants, the crumb of a halfpenny roll grated fine, fix large pippins pared and chopped fine, a gill of fack, or two spoonfuls of rose-water, fix bitter almonds blanched and beat fine, the yolks of two eggs, and one white beat fine; mix all together, fill the guts better than half full, and boil them a quarter of an hour.

To make Hogs Puddings with Currants.

Take three pounds of grated bread to four pounds of beef fuet finely shred, two pounds of currants clean picked and washed, cloves, mace and cinnamon, of each a quarter of an ounce, finely beaten, a little salt, a pound and a half of sugar, a pint of sack, a quart of cream, a little rose-water, twenty eggs well beaten, but half the whites; mix all these well together, fill the guts half sull, boil them a little, and prick them as they boil, to keep them from breaking the guts. Take them up upon clean clean cloths, then lay them on your dish; or when you use them, boil them a few minutes, or eat them cold.

To make Black Puddings.

FIRST, before you kill your hog, get a peck of gruts, boil them half an hour in water, then drain them and put them into a clean tub or large pan, then kill your hog and fave two quarts of the blood of the hog, and keep stirring it till the blood is quite cold; then mix it with your gruts, and stir them well together. Season with a large spoonful of salt, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, mace and nutmeg together, an equal quantity of each; dry it, beat it well and mix in. Take a little winter favoury, fweet marjoram and thyme, pennyroyal stripped of the stalks and chopped very fine; just enough to feason them, and to give them a flavour, but no more. The next day, take the leaf of the hog and cut into dice, scrape and wash the guts very clean, then tie one end, and begin to fill them; mix in the fat as you fill them, be fure put in a good deal of fat, fill the skins three parts full, tie the other end, and make your puddings what length you please; prick them with a pin, and put them into a kettle of boiling water. Boil them very foftly an hour; then take them out, and lay them on clean straw.

In Scotland they make a pudding with the blood of a goose. Chop off the head, and save the blood; shir it till it is cold, then mix it with gruts, spice, salt, and sweet herbs, according to their sancy, and some beef suet chopped. Take the skin of the neck, then pull out the wind-pipe and sat, fill the skin, tie it as both ends, so make a pye of the gibblets, and lay the pudding in the middle.

To make fine Sausages.

You must take six pounds of good pork, free from skin, grifles and fat, cut it very small, and beat it in a mortar till it is very fine; then fired fix pounds of beef fuet very fine and free from all skin. Shred it as fine as possible; then take a good deal of fage, wash it very clean, pick off the leaves, and shred it very fine. Spread your meat on a clean dresser or table, then shake the sage all over, about three large spoonfuls; fixed the thin rhind of a middling lemon very fine and throw over, with as many sweet herbs, when shred fine, as will fill a large spoon; grate two nutmegs over, throw over two tea spoonfuls of pepper, a large spoonful of falt, then throw over the suer, and mix it all well together. Put it down close in a pot: when you use them, roll them up with as much egg as will make them roll finooth. Make them the fize of a faufage, and fry them in butter or good dripping. Be fure it be hot before you put them in, and keep rolling them about. When they are thorough hot and of a fine light brown, they are enough. You may chop this meat very fine, if you don't like it beat. Veal eats well done this way, or veal and pork together. You may clean some guts, and fill them.

To make common Sausages.

TAKE three pounds of nice pork, fat and lean together, with out skin or grifles; chop it as fine as possible, season it with a tea spoonful of beaten pepper, and stwo of salt, some sage shred sine, about three tea spoonfuls; mix all well together, have the guts very nicely cleaned, and fill them, or put them down in a pot, so roll them of what size you please, and fry them. Beef makes very good sausages.

To make Bolognia Sausages.

Take a pound of bacon, fat and lean together, a pound of beef, a pound of veal, a pound of pork, a pound of beef fuer, cut them small and chop them fine, take a small handful of fage, pick off the leaves, chop it fine, with a few sweet herbs; season pretty high with pepper and salt. You must have a large gut, and fill it; then set on a saucepan of water, when it boils put it in, and prick the gut for fear of bursting. Boil it softly an hour, then lay it on clean straw to dry.

C H A P. XIII.

To pot and make Hams, &c.

To pot pigeons, or Fewls.

but dont wash them. Season them pretty well with pepper and salt, put them in a pot, with as much butter as you think will cover them, when melted, and baked very tender; them drain them very dry from the gravy; lay them on a cloth, and that will suck up all the gravy; season them again with salt; mace, cloves, and pepper beaten fine, and put them down close into a pot. Take the butter when cold, clear from the gravy, set it before the fire to melt, and pour over the birds; if you have not enough, clarify some more, and let the butter be near an inch thick above the birds. Thus you may do all forts of sowl; only wild sowl should be bored, but that you may do as you please.

To pot a Cold Tongue, Beef or Venison.

Cut it small, beat it well in a marble mortar, with melted butter, and two anchovies, till the meat is mellow and fine; then put it down close in your pots, and cover it with clarified butter. Thus you may do cold wild fowl; or you may pot any fort of cold sowl whole, seasoning them with what spice you please.

To pot Venison.

TAKE a piece of venison, fat and lean together, lay it in a dish, and stick pieces of butter all over; tie a brown paper over it, and bake it. When it comes out of the oven, take it out of the liquor hot, drain it, and lay it in a dish; when cold, take off all the skin, and beat it in a marble mortar, fat and lean together, season it with mace, cloves, nutmeg, black pepper, and salt to your mind. When the butter is cold, that it was baked in, take a little of it, and beat in with it to moisten it; then put it down close, and cover it with clarified butter.

You must be sure to beat it, till it is like a paste.

To pot Tongues.

TAKE a neat's tongue, rub it with a pound of white falt, an . ounce of falt-petre, half a pound of coarse sugar, rub it well, turn it every day in this pickle for a fortnight. This pickle will do feveral tongues, only adding a little more white falt; or we generally do them after our hams. Take the tongue out of the pickle, cut off the root, and boil it well, till it will peel; then take your tongues and feafon them with falt, pepper, cloves, mace and nutmeg, all beat fine, rub it well with your hands whilft it is hot, then put it into a pot, and melt as much butter as will cover it all over-Bake it an hour in the oven, then take it out, let it stand to cool. rub a little fresh spice on it; and when it is quite cold, lay it in your pickling-pot. When your butter is cold you baked it in, take it off clean from the gravy, fet it in an earthen pan before the fire; and when it is melted, pour it over the tongue. You may lay pigeons or chickens on each fide; be fure to let the butter be about an inch above the tongue.

A fine Way to pot a Tongue.

TAKE a dried tongue, boil it till it is tender, then peel it; take a large fowl, bone it, a goofe, and bone it; take a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a large nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of black pepper, beat all well together, a spoonful of falt, rub the infide of the fowl well, and the tongue. Put the tongue into the fowl, then feafon the goofe, and fill the goofe with the fowl and tongue, and the goofe will look as if it was whole. Lay it in a pan that will just hold it, melt fresh butter enough to cover it, fend it to the oven, and bake it an hour and a half; then uncover the pot, and take out the meat. Carefully drain it from the butter, lay it on a coarse cloth till it is cold; and when the butter is cold, take off the hard fat from the gravy, and lay it before the fire to melt, put your meat into the pot again, and pour the butter If there is not enough, clarify more, and let the butter be an inch above the meat; and this will keep a great while, eats fine. and looks beautiful. When you cut it, it must be cut cross-ways down through, and looks very pretty. It makes a pretty corner-dish at table, or side-dish for supper. If you cut a slice down the middle quite through, lay it in a plate, and garnish with green parsley and stertian-slowers. If you will be at the expence, bone a turkey, and put over the goofe. Observe, when you pot it, to save.

fave a little of the spice to throw over it, before the last Butter is put on, or the meat will not be seasoned enough.

To pot Beef like Venifon.

Cur the lean of a buttock of beef in pound pieces: for eight. pounds of beef, take four ounces of falt-petre, four ounces of peter-falt, a pint of white falt, and one ounce of fal-prunella, beatthe falts all very fine, mix them well together, rub the falts all into the beef, then let it lie four days, turning it twice a day; then put it into a pan, cover it with pump-water, and a little of its own: brine, then bake it in an oven with houshold bread till it is as tender as a chicken, then drain from the gravy and bruife it abroad, and take out all the skin and sinews, then pound it in a marble mortar, then lay it in a broad dish, mix in it an ounce of cloves and mace. three quarters of an ounce of pepper, and one nutmeg, all beat very fine. Mix it all very well with the meat, then clarify a little fresh butter and mix with the meat, to make it a little moist; mix it very well together, press it down into pots very hard, set it at the oven's mouth just to settle, and cover it two inches thick with clarified butter. When cold, cover it with white paper.

To pot Cheshire Cheefe.

Take three pounds of Cheshire cheese, and put it into a mortar, with half a pound of the best fresh butter you can get, pound them together, and in beating add a gill of rich canary wine and half an ounce of mace finely beat, then listed fine like a fine powder. When all is extremely well mixed, press it hard down into a gallipot, cover it with clarified butter, and keep it cool. A slice of this exceeds all the cream cheese that can be made.

To collar a Breast of Veal, or a Pig.

Bone the pig of veal, then season it all over the inside with clover, mace, and salt bear sine; a handful of sweet herbs stripped off the stakes, and a little penny-royal and parsley shred very sine, with a little sage; then roll it up as you do brawn, bind it with narrow tape very close, then the a cloth round it, and boil it very tender in vinegar and water, a like quantity, with a little cloves, mace, pepper and salt, all whole. Make it boil, then put in the collars, when boiled tender take them up; and when both are cold, take off the cloth, lay the collar in an earthen pan, and pour the siquor over; cover it close, and keep it for use. If the pickle begins to spoil, strain it through a coaste cloth, boil it and skim it; when cold, pour it over. Observe, before you strain the pickle, to wash the collar, wipe it dry, and wipe the pan clean. Strain it against after it is boiled, and cover it very close.

To collar Becf.

TAKE a thin piece of flank beef, and strip the skin to the end, beat it with a rolling-pin, then dissolve a quart of peter-salt in five quarts of pump-water, strain it, put the beef in, and let it lie five days, sometimes turning it; then take a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a good nutmeg, a little mace, a little pepper, beat very fine, and a handful of thyme stripped off the stalks; mix it with the spice, pice, frew all over the beef, lay on the skin again, then roll it up very close, tie it hard with tape, then put it into the pot, with a pint of claret, and bake it in the oven with the bread.

Another Way to season a Collar of Beef.

Take the furious or flank of beef, or any part you think proper, and lay in as much pump-water as will cover it; put to it four ounces of falt-petre, five or fix handfuls of white falt, let it lay in it three days, then take it out, and take half an ounce of cloves and mace, one nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of coriander-feeds, beat these well together, and half an ounce of pepper, strew them upon the inside of the beef, roll it up, and bind it up with coarse tape. Bake it in the same pickle; and when it is baked, take it out, hang it in a net to drain, within the air of the fire three days, and put it into a clean cloth, and hang it up again, within the air of the fire; for it must be kept dry, as you do neats tongues.

To collar Salmon.

TAKE a fide of falmon, and cut off about a handful of the tail. wash your large piece very well, and dry it with a cloth; then wash it over with the yolks of eggs, then make some force-meat with that you cut off the tail, but take care of the skin, and put to it a handful of the parboiled oysters, a tail or two of lobster, the yolks of three or four eggs boiled hard, fix anchovies, a good handful of fweet herbs chopped small, a little salt, cloves, mace, nutmeg, pepper, all beat sine and grated bread. Work all these together into a body, with the yolks of eggs, lay it all over the fleshy part, and a little more pepper and falt over the falmon; fo roll it up into a collar, and bind it with broad tape; then boil it in water, falt and vinegar, but let the liquor boil first, then put in your cold lar, a bunch of sweet herbs, sliced ginger and nutmeg. Let it boil, but not too fast. It will take near two hours boiling; and when it is enough, take it up, put it into your fouling-pan, and when the pickle is cold put it to your falmon, and let it stand in it till tised. Or you may pot it, after it is boiled pour clarified butter over it. It will keep longest so; but either way is good. If you pot it, be fure the butter be the nicest you can get.

To make Dutch Beef.

Take the lean part of a buttock of beef raw, rub it well with brown sugar all over, and let it lie in a pan or tray two or three hours, turning it two or three times, then salt it well with common salt and salt-petre, and let it lie a fortnight, turning it every day; then roll it very strait in a coarse cloth, put it in a cheese-press a day and a night, and hang it to dry in a chinney. When you boil it, you must put it in a cloth; when it is cold, it will cut in slivers as Dutch beef.

To make Sham Brown.

Boil two pair of neats feet tender, take a piece of pork, of the thick flank, and boil it almost enough, then pick off the flesh of the feet, and roll it up in the pork tight, like a collar of brawn; then take a strong cloth and some coarse tape, roll it tight round with with the tape, then tie it up in a cloth, and boil it till a straw will run through it; then take it up, and hang it up in a cloth till it is quite cold; then put it into some sousing liquor, and use it at your own pleasure.

To souse a Turkey, in imitation of Sturgeon.

You must take a fine large turkey, dress it very clean, dry and bone it, then tie it up as you do sturgeon, put into the pot you boil it in one quart of white wine, one quart of water, one quart of good vinegar, a very large handful of salt, let it boil, skim it welly and then put in the turkey. When it is enough, take it out, and tie it tighter. Let the liquor boil a little longer; and if you think the pickle wants more vinegar or salt, add it when it is cold, and pour it upon the turkey. It will keep some months, covering it close from the air, and keeping it in a dry cool place. Eat its with oil, vinegar and sugar, just as you like it. Some admire it more than sturgeon; it looks pretty covered with sennel for a side-dish.

To pickle Pork.

Bone your pork, cut it into pieces, of a fize fit to lye in the tub or pan you defign it to lye in, rub your pieces well with falt petres then take two parts of common falt and two of bay-falt, and rub every piece well: lay a layer of common falt in the bottom of your veffel, cover every piece over with common falt, lay them one upon another as close as you can, filling the hollow places on the fides with falt. As your falt melts on the top, strew on more, lay a coarse cloth over the vessel, a board over that, and a weight on the board to keep it down. Keep it close covered; it will thus ordered keep the whole year. Put a pound of falt-petre and two pounds of bay-salt to a hog!

A Pickle for Pork, which is to be cat foon.

You must take two gallons of pump-water, one pound of hay-falt, one pound of coarse sugar, fix ounces of salt-petre; boil it all together, and skim it when cold. Cut the pork in what pieces you please, lay it down close, and pour the liquor over it. Lay a weight on it to keep it close, and cover it close from the air, and it will be sit for use in a week. If you find the pickle begins to spoil, boil the pickle again, and skim it; when it is cold, pour it on your pork again.

To make Ved Hams!

Cur the leg of veal like a ham, then take a pint of bay-falt, two ounces of falt-petre, and a pound of common falt; mix them together, with an ounce of juniper berries beat; rub the ham well, and lay it in a hollow tray, with the fkinny fide downwards. Bafte it every day with the pickle for a fortnight, and then hang it in wood tmoke for a fortnight. You may boil it, of perboil it and road it. In this pickle you may do two or three tongues, or a piece of pork.

To make Beef Ham:

You must take the leg of a fat, but small beef, the fat Scotch or Welch cattle is best, and cut it ham fashion. Take an ounce of bay-bay-falt, an ounce of falt-petre, a pound of common falt, and a pound of coarse sugar (this quantity for about sourteen or sisteen pounds weight, and so accordingly, if you pickle the whole quarter) rub it with the above ingredients, turn it every day, and batte it well with the pickle for a month: Take it out and roll it in bran or faw dust, then hang it in wood-smoke, where there is but little fire, and a constant smoke for a month; then take it down, and hang it in a dry place, not hot, and keep it for use. You may out a piece off as you have occasion, and either boil it or cut it in rashers, and broil it with poached eggs, or boil a piece, and it eats fine cold, and will shiver like Dutch beef. After this beef is done, you may do a thick brifcuit of beef in the same pickle. Let it lay a month, rubbing it every day with the pickle, then boil it till it is tender, hang it in a dry place, and it eats finely cold cut in flices on a plate. It is a pretty thing for a fide-dish, or for supper. A shoulder of mutton faid in this pickle a week, hung in wood fmoke two or three days, and then boiled with cabbage, is very good.

To make Mutton Hams.

You must take a hind-quarter of mutton, cut it like a ham, take one ounce of salt petre, a pound of coarse sugar, a pound of common salt; mix them and rub your ham, lay it in a hollow tray with the skin downwards, baste it every day for a fortnight, then roll it in sawdust, and hang it in the wood-smoke a fortnight; then boil it, and hang it in a dry place, and cut it out in rashers. It don't eat well boiled, but eats finely broiled.

To make Pork Hams.

You must take a fat hind-quarter of pork, and cut off a fine ham. Take an ounce of falt-petre, a pound of coarfe fugar, and a pound of common falt; mix all together, and rub it well. Let it lie a month in this pickle, turning and basting it every day, then hang It in wood-smoke as you do your beef in a dry place, so as no heat comes to it; and if you keep them long, hang them a month or two in a damp place, to that they will be mouldy, and it will make them cut fine and short. Never lay these hams in water till you boil them, and then boil them in a copper, if you have one, or the biggest pot you have. Put them in the gold water, and let them be four or five hours before they boil. Skim the pot well and often, till it boils. If it is a very large one, two hours will boil it; if a finall one, an hour and a half will do, provided it be a great while before the water boils. Take it up half an hour before dinmer, pull off the ikin, and throw raspings finely sifted all over. Hold a red-hot fire-shovel over it, and when dinner is ready take a few raspings in a sieve and sift all over the dish; then by in your ham, and with your finger make fine figures round the edge of the dish. Re fure to boil your ham in as much water as you can, and to keep it skimming all the time till it boils. It must be at least four hours before it boils.

This pickle does finely for tongues, afterwards to lie in it a fortnight, and then hung in the wood-fmoke a fortnight, or to boil them out of the pickle.

Yorkshire

Yorkshire is famous for hams; and the reason is this: Their lift is much finer than ours in London, it is a large clear sait, and gives the meat a fine flavour. I used to have it from Malding in Estex, and that salt will make any ham as fine as you can desire. It is by much the best salt, for salting of meat. A deep hollow wooden tray is better than a pan, because the pickle swells best about it.

When you broil any of these hams in slices or becon, have some boiling water ready, and let the slices lay a minute or two in the water; then broil them, it takes out the salt, and makes them eat finer.

To make Bacon.

TARE a fide of pork, then take off all the infide fat, lay it on a long board or dreffer, that the blood may run away, rub it well with falt on both fides, let it lye thus a week; then take a pint of bay falt, a quarter of a pound of falt-petre, beat them fine, two pounds of coarse sugar, and a quarter of a peck of common salt. Lay your pork in something that will hold the pickle, and rub it well with the above ingredients. Lay the skinny side downwards, and baste it every day with the pickle for a formight; then hang it in wood-smoke as you do the beef, and afterwards hang it in a dry place, but not hot. You are to observe, that all hams and bacon should hang clear from evey thing, and not against a wall.

Observe to wipe off all the old salt before you put it into this pickle, and never keep bacon or hams in a hot kitchen, or in a room where the fun comes. It makes them all rufty.

To save potted Birds, that begin to be bade

I have seen potted birds which have come a great way, often smell so bad, that no body could bear the smell for the rankness of the butter, and by managing them in the following manner.

have made them as good as ever was eat.

Set a large fauce-pan of clean water on the fire; when it boils, take off the butter at the top, then take the fowls out one by one, throw them into that fauce-pan of water half a minute, whip it out, and dry it in a clean cloth infide and out; so do all fill they are quite done. Scald the pot clean; when the birds are quite cold, season them with mace, pepper and salt to your mind, put them down close in the pot, and pour clarified butter over them,

To pickle Mackrel, call'd Caveach.

Cur your mackrel into round pieces, and divide one into five or fix pieces: To fix large mackrel, you may take one ounce of beaten pepper, three large nutmegs, a little mace, and a handful of falt. Mix your falt and beaten spice together, then make two or three holes in each piece, and thrust the feasoning into the holes with your finger, rub the piece all over with the feasoning, fry tem brown in oil, and let them stand rill they are cold; then put them into vinegar, and cover them with oil. They will keep well covered a great while, and are delicious.

CHAP. XIV.

Of PICKLING.

To pickle Walnuts Green.

AKE the largest and clearest you can get, pare them as thin as you can, have a tub of spring-water stand by you, and throw them in as you do them. Put into the water a pound of bay-falt, let them lye in that water twenty-four hours, take them out of the water, then put them into a stone jar, and between every layer of walnuts, lay a layer of vine leaves at the bottom and top, and fill it up with cold vinegar. Let them stand all night, then pour the vinegar from them into a copper or bellmetal skillet, with a pound of bay-falt; set it on the fire, let it boil, then pour it hot on your nuts, tie them over with a woolen cloth, and let them stand a week; then pour that pickle away, rub your nuts clean with a piece of flannel; then put them again in your jar, with vine leaves as above, and boil fresh vinegar. Put into your pot to every gallon of vinegar, a nutmeg fliced, cut four large races of ginger, a quarter of an ounce of mace, the fame of cloves, a quarter of an ounce of whole black pepper, the like of ordingal pepper; then pour your vinegar boiling hot on your walnuts, and cover them with a woolen cloth. Let it fland three or four days, so do two or three times; when cold, put in half a pint of mustard-seed, a large stick of horse-radish fliced, tie them down close with a bladder and then with a leather. They will be fit to eat in a fortnight. Take a large onion, stick the cloves in, and lay in the middle of the pot. If you do them for keeping, don't boil your vinegar, but then they will not be fit to eat under fix months: and the next year you may boil the pickle this way. They will keep two or three years good and firm.

To pickle Walnuts White.

TAKE the largest nuts you can get, just before the shell begins 20 turn, pare them very thin till the white appears, and throw them into spring-water, with a handful of salt as you do them. Let them stand in that water fix hours, lay on them a thin board to keep them under water, then fer a stew-pan on a charcoal fire, the clean spring-water, take your nuts out of the other water, but them into the stew-pan. Let them simmer four or five mi-, but not boil; then have ready by you a pan of springwith a handful of white fult in it, stir it with your hand falt is melted, then take your nuts out of the stew-pan wooden ladie, and put them into the cold water and falt. m stand a quarter of an hour, lay the board on them as if they are not kept under the liquor they will turn black, hav them on a cloth, and cover them with another to dry; carefully wipe them with a foft cloth, put them into your glass, with some blades of mace, and nutmeg sliced thin. Mix

Mix your spice between your nuts, and pour distilled vinegar over them; first let your glass be full of nuts, pour mutton fat over them, and tie a bladder, and then a leather.

To pickle Walnuts black.

You must take large full-grown nuts at their full growth, before they are hard, lay them in falt and water; let them lye two days, then shift them into fresh water; let them lye two days longer, then shift them again, and let them lye three days; then take them out of the water, and put them into your pickling-pot. When the pot is half full, put in a large onion fluck with cloves. To a hundred of walnuts, put in half a pint of mustard-sced, a quarter of an ounce of mace, half an ounce of black pepper, half an ounce of all-spice, six bay-leaves, and a stick of horseradish; then fill your pot, and pour boiling vinegar over them. Cover them with a plate, and when they are cold tie them down with a bludder and leather, and they will be fit to eat in two or three months. The next year, if any remains, boil up your vinegar again, and tkim it; when cold, pour it over your walnuts. This is by much the best pickle for use; therefore you may add more vinegar to it, what quantity you pleafe. If you pickle a great many walnuts, and eat them fait, make your pickle for a hundred or two, the rest keep in a strong brine of falt and water boiled till it will bear an egg, and as your pot empties, fill them up with those in the falt and water. Take care they are covered with pickle.

In the same manner you may do a smaller quantity; but if you can get rap vinegar, use that instead of salt and water. Do them thus; put your nuts in the pot you intend to pickle them in, throw in a good handful of salt, and sill the pot wish rap vinegar. Cover it close, and let them stand a fortnight; then pour them out of the pot, wipe it clean, and just rub the nuts with a coarse cloth, and then put them in the jar with the pickle as above. If you have the best sugar-vinegar of your own making, you need not boil it the first year, but pour it on cold; and the next year, if any remain, boil it up again, skim it, put fresh spices to it, and it will do again.

To pickle Gerkins.

Take what quantity of cucumbers you think fit and put them in a stone jar, then take as much spring-water as you think will cover them: To every gallon of water, put as much salt as will make it hear an egg: set it on the sire, and let it boil two or three minutes, then pour it on the cucumbers and cover them with a woolen cloth, and over that a pewter dish; the them down close, and let them sland twenty-four hours, then take them out, lay them in a cloth, and another over them to dry them. When they are pretty dry, wipe your jar out with a dry cloth, put your cucumbers in, and with them a little dill and fennel, a very small quantity. For the pickle, to every three quarts of vinegar, one quart of spring-water, till you think you have enough to cover them; put in a little bay-salt and a little white salt, but not too much much. To every gallon of pickle, put one nutmeg cut in quarters, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper, and a large race of ginger fliced; boil all these together in a bell-metal or copperpot, pour it boiling hot on your cucumbers, and cover them as before. Let them stand two days, then boil your pickle again, and pour it on as before, do so a third time; when they are cold cover them with a bladder and there a leather. Mind always to keep your pickle close cover'd, and never take them out with any thing but a wooden spoon, or one for the purpose. This pickle will do the next year, only boiling it up again.

You are to observe to put the spice in the jar with the cucumbers, and only boil the vinegar, water and salt, and pour over them. The boiling of your spice in all pickles spoils them, and loses the fine flavour of the spice.

To pickle large Cucumbers in Slices.

TAKE the large cucumbers before they are too ripe, flice them the thickness of crown-pieces in a pewter dish: To every dozen of cucumbers slice two large onions thin, and so on till you have filled your dish, with a handful of salt between every row; then cover them with another pewter dish, and let them stand twenty-four hours, then put them in a cullender, and let them drain very well; put them into a jar, cover them over with white wine yinegar, and let them stand four hours; pour the vinegar from them into a copper-sauce-pan, and boil it with a little salt; put to the cucumbers a little mace, a little whole pepper, a large race of ginger sliced, and then pour the boiling vinegar on. Cover them close, and when they are cold, tie them down. They will be fit to eat in two or three days,

To pickle Asparagus.

Take the largest asparagus you can get, cut off the white ends, and wash the green ends in spring-water, then put them in another clean water, and let them lye two or three hours in it; then have a large broad stew-pan full of spring-water, with a good large handful of falt; fet it on the fire and when it boils put in the grass, not tied up, but loose, and not too many at a time, for fear you break the heads. Just scald them, and no more, take them out with a broad skimmer, and lay them on a cloth to cool. Then for your pickle: To a gallon of vinegar put one quart of spring-water, and a handful of bay-falt; let them boil, then put your asparagus in your jar; to a gallon of pickle, two nutmegs, a quarter of an ounce of mace, the same of whole white pepper, and pour the pickle hot over them. Cover them with a linen cloth three or four times double, let them stand a week and boil the pickle. Let them stand a week longer, boil the pickle again, and pour it on hot as before. When they are cold, cover them up close with a bladder and leather.

To pickle Peaches.

Take your peaches when they are in full growth, just before they turn to be ripe; be fure they are not bruised; then take fpringspring-water, as much as you think will cover them: make it salt enough to bear an egg, with bay and common fait, an equal quantity each; then put in your peaches, and lay a thin board over them to keep them under the water. Let them fland three slays, and then take them out and wipe them very carefully with a fine fost cloth, and lay them in your glass or jar, then take as snuch white wine vinegar, as will fill your glass or jar: to every gallon put one pint of the best well made muitard, two or three sheads of garlick, a good deal of ginger sliced, half an ounce of cloves, mace, and nutmeg; mix your pickle well together, and pour over your peaches. The them close with a bladder and leather, they will be fit to eat in two months. You may with a fine pentunite cut them a-cross, take out the stone, fill them with made mustard and garlick, and horse-radish, and ginger; tie them togesher.

To pickle Radish-Pods.

Make a floor pickle, with cold spring-water and bay-salt, strong enough to bear an egg, then put your pods in, and lay a rhin board on them, to keep them under water. Let them stand ton days, then drain them in a sieve, and lay them on a cloth to dry; then take white wine vinegar, as much as you think will cover them, boil it, and put your pods in a jar, with ginger, mace, cloves, and Jamaica pepper. Pour your vinegar boiling that on, cover them with a coarse cloth, three or four times double, that the steam may come through a little, and let them stand two days. Repeat this two or three times; when it is cold, put in a pint of mustard-seed, and some horse-radish; cover it close.

To pickle French Beans.

PICKLE your beans as you do the gerkins.

To pickle Cauliflowers.

Take the largest and finest you can get, cut them in little pieces, or more properly pull them into little pieces, pick the small leaves that grow in the flowers clean from them; then have a broad stew-pan on the fire with spring-water, and when it boils, put in your flowers, with a good handful of white sait, and just set them boil up very quick; be sure you don't tet them boil above one minute; then take them out with a broad slice, lay them on a cloth and cover them with another, and let them lye till they are quite cold. Then put them in your wide-mouth'd bottles, with two or three biades of mace in each bottles and a nutmeg sliced thin; then sill up your bottles with distilled vinegar, cover them over with mutton sat, over that a bladder, and then a leather. Let them stand a month before you open them.

If you find the pickle taile fiveet, as may be it will, pour off the vinegar, and put fresh in, the spice will do again. In a fornight, they will be fit to eat. Observe to throw them out of the boiling water into cold, and then dry them.

To pickle Beet Root.

SET a pot of fpring-water on the fire, when it boils, put in your beets, and let them boil till they are tender, then peol them them with a cloth, and lay them in a stone jer: take three quarts of vinegar, two of spring-water, and do so till you think you have enough to cover your beets. Put your vinegar and water in a pan, and falt to your taste; stir it well together, till the tast is all melted, then pour them on the beets, and cover it with a bladder. Do not boil the pickle.

To pickle White Plumbs.

Take the large white plumbs, and if they have flaks, let them remain on; and do them as you do your peaches.

To pickle Nectarines and Apricots.

THEY are done the same as the peaches. All these strong pickles will waste with the keeping, therefore you must fill them up with cold vinegar.

To pickle Onions.

Take your onions when they are dry enough to lye up in your house, such as are about as big as a large walnut; or you may do some as small as you please. Take off only the outward dry coat, then boil them in one water without shifting, till they begin to grow tender, then drain them through a cullender, and let them cool; as foon as they are quite cold, flip off two outward coats or fkins, flip them till they look white from each other, rub them gently with a fine foft linen cloth, and lay them on a cloth to cool. When this is done, put them into wide-mouth'd glasses, with about fix or eight bay-leaves. To a quart of onions, a quarter of an ounce of mace, two large races of ginger fliced; all these ingredients must be interspersed here and there, in the glasses among the onions, then boil to each quart of vinegar two ounces of bay-falt, skim it well as the the skim rifes, and let it stand till it is cold; then pour it into the glass, cover it close with a wet bladder dipped in vinegar, and tie them down. They will eat well, and look white. As the pickle wastes, fill them with cold vinegar.

To pickle Lemons.

Take twelve lemons, scrape there with a piece of broken glass, then cut them cross in two, sour parts downright, but not quite through, but that they will hang together: then put in as much salt as they will hold, rub them well, and strew them over with salt. Let them lye in an earthen dish for three days, and turn them every day. Then slit an ounce of ginger very thin, and salted for three days, twolve cloves of garlick, parboiled and salted three days, a small handful of mustard-seeds bruised and searched through a hair-sieve, and some red India pepper; take your lemons out of the salt, squeeze them very gently, put them into a jar, with the spice and ingredients, and cover them with the best white wine vinegar. Stop them up very close, and in a month's sime they will be fit to eat.

To pickle mushrooms White.

Take finall buttons, cut and prime them at the bottom, wash them with a bit of flannel through two or three waters, then fer on the fire in a stew-pan spring-water, and as small handful of fait; when it boils, pour your mushrooms in. Let it boil three or four minutes: then throw them into a cullender, lay them on a linea cloth quick, and cover them with another.

To make Pickle for Mushrooms.

TAKE a gallon of the best vinegar, put it into a cold still: To every gallon of vinegar, put half a pound of bay-falt, a quarser of a pound of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a nutmeg cut into quarters, keep the top of the still covered with a wet cloth. As the cloth dries, put on a wet one; don't let the fire be too large, lest you burn the bottom of the still. Draw it as long as you taste the acid, and no longer. When you fill your bottles, put in your multirooms, here and there put in a few blades of mace, and a flice of nutmeg; then fill the bottle with pickle, and melt some mutton fat, strain it, and pour over it. It will keep them better than oil.

You must put your nutmeg over the fire in a little vinegar, and give it a boil. While it is hot, you may flice it as you pleafe. When it is cold, it will not cut; for it will crack to pieces.

Note, In the 19th chapter, at the end of the receipt for making winegar, you will fee the best way of pickling mushrooms, only they will not be fo white.

WHEN you have greened them as you do your pippins, and they are quite cold, with a finall scoop very carefully take off the eye as whole as you can, scoop out the core, put in a clove of garlick, fill it up with mustard-seed, lay on the eye again, and put them in your glasses, with the eye uppermost. Put the same pickle as you do to the pippins, and tie them down close,

To pickle Red Currants.

THEY are done the fame way as barberries. :

To pickle Fennel.

. SET spring water on the fire, with a handful of falt; when it boils, tie your fennel in bunches, put them into the water, just give them a scald, lay them on a cloth to dry; when cold, put it in a glass, with a little mace and nutmeg, fill it with cold vinegar, lay a bit of green fennel on the top, and over that a bladder and leather.

To pickle Grapes.

GET grapes at the full growth, but not ripe, cut them in small bunches fit for garnishing, put them in a stone jar, with sine-leaves between every layer of grapes; then take as much foring-water as you think will cover them, put in a pound of Bay-Halt, and as much white falt as will make it bear an egg. Dry your Bay-falt and pound it, it will melt the fooner, put it into a bell metal, or copper pot, boil it and fkim it very well; as it boils, take all the black four off, but not the white skim. it has boiled a quarter of an hour, let it stand to cool and settle; when it is almost cold, pour the clear liquor on the grapes, lay vine-leaves on the top, tie them down close with a linear cloth, and cover them with a dish. Let them stand twenty-four hours, then take them out, and lay them on a cloth, cover them over with another, let them be dried between the cloths, then take two quarts of vinegar, one quart of spring-water, and one pound of coarse sugar. Let it boil a little while, skim it as it boils very clean, let it stand till it is quite cold, dry your jar with a cloth, put stess in the leaves at the bottom, and between every bunch of grapes, and on the top; then pour the clear off the pickle on the grapes, fill your jar that the pickle may be above the grapes, tie a thin bit of board in a piece of stannel, lay it on the top of the jar to keep the grapes under the pickle, tie them down with a bladder, and then a leather; take them out with a wooden spoon. Be sure to make pickle enough to cover them.

To pickle Barberries.

Take of white wine vinegar and water, of each an equal quantity: to every quart of this liquor, put in half a pound of fixpenny fugar, then pick the worst of your barberries, and put into this liquor, and the best into glasses; then boil your pickle with the worst of your barberries, and skim it very clean. Boil is till it looks of a fine colour, then let it stand to be cold before you strain; then strain it through a cloth, wringing it to get all the colour you can from the barberries. Let it stand to cool and settle, then pour it clear into the glasses in a little of the pickle, boil a little fessner; when cold, put a little bit at the top of the pot or glass, and cover it close with a bladder and leather. To every half pound of sugar, put a quarter of a pound of white salt.

To pickle Red Cabbage.

SLICE the cabbage thin, put to it vinegar and falt, and are nunce of all-spice cold; cover it close, and keep it for use. It is a pickle of little use, but for garnishing of dishes, sallads and pickles, though some people are fond of it.

To pickle Golden Pippins.

Take the finest pippins you can get, free from spots and bruises, put them into a preserving-pan of cold spring water, and set them on a charcoal fire. Keep them turning with a wooden spoon, till they will peel; do not let them boil. When they are boiled, peel them, and put them into the water again, with a quarter of a pint of the best vinegar, and a quarter of an ounce of allum, cover them very close with a pewter-dish, and set them on the charceal fire again, a flow fire not to boil. Let them stand, turning them now and then till they look green, then take them out, and lay them on a cloth to cool; when cold, make your pickle as for the peaches, only instead of made mustard, this must be mustard-seed whole. Cover them close, and keep them for use.

To pickle Sterican-Bude and Limes, you pick them off the Lime-trees in the Summer.

TAKE new stertian-seeds or limes, pickle them when large, have ready vinegar, with what spice you please, throw them in and stop the bottle close.

To pickle Oyfers, Cockles and Muffels.

Take two hundred of eysters, the newest and best you can get, Be careful to lave the liquor in fome pan as you open them, our off the black verge, saving the rest, put them into their own liquor, then put all the liquor and oysters into a kettle, boil them about half an hour, on a very gentle fire, do them very flowly, kimming them as the four rifes, then take them off the fire, take out the oysters, strain the liquor through a sine cloth, shen put in the oysters again; then take out a pint of the liquor whilst it is hot, put thereto three quarters of an ounce of mace, and half an ounce of cloves. Just give it one boil, then put it to the oysters, and stir up the spices well among the oysters, then put in about a spoonful of falt, three quarters of a pint of the best white wine vinegar, and a quarter of an ounce of whole penper; then let them fland till they be cold, then put the oysters as many as you well can into a barrel, put in as much liquor as the barrel will hold, letting them fettle a while, and they will foon be fit to eat, or you may put them into stone jars, cover them close with a bladder and leather, and be fure they be quite cold before you cover them up. Thus do cockles and mussels, only this, cockles are finall, and to this fpice you must have at least two quarts, nor is there any thing to pick off them. Mussels you must have two quarts, take great care to pick the crab out under the tongue, and a little fus which grows at the root of the tongue. The two latter, cockles and mussels, must be washed in several waters, to clean them from the grit, put them in a stew-pan by themselves; cover them close, and when they are open, pick them out of the shells and strain the liquor.

To pickle young Suckers, or young Artichokes, before the Leaves are bard.

Take young fuckers, pare them very nicely, all the hard ends of the leaves and stalks, just scald them in salt and water, and when they are cold put them into little glass bottles, with two or three blades of large mace and a nutmeg sliced thin, fill them either with distilled vinegar, or the sugar vinegar of your own making, with half spring-water.

To pickle Artichoke-Bottoms.

Boil artichokes till you can pull the leaves off, then take off the chokes, and out them from the stalk; take great care you don't let the knife touch the top, throw them into salt and water for an hour, then take them out and lay them on a cloth to drain, then put them into large wide-mouth'd glasses, put a little mace and sliced nutmeg between, fill them either with distilled vinegar, or your fugar vinegar and fpring-water; cover them with mutrose fat try'd, and tie them down with a bladder and leather.

To pickle Sampbire.

Take the samphire that is green, lay it in a clean pan, throwe two or three handfuls of salt over, and cover it with spring water. Let it lie twenty-sour hours, then put it into a clean brass saucepan, throw in a handful of salt, and cover it with good vinegar. Cover the pan close, and set it over a very flow fire; let it stands till it is just green and crisp, then take it off in a moment, for if it stands to be soft it is spoised; put it in your pickling-pot, and cover it close. When it is cold, the it down with a bladder and leather, and keep it for use. Or you may keep it all the year, in a very strong brine of salt and water, and throw it into vinegar, just before you use it.

Elder-Shoots, in imitation of Bambon.

Take the largest and youngest shoots of elder, which put out in the middle of May, the middle stalks are most tender and biggest : the small ones not worth doing. Peel off the outward peel or skin, and lay them in a strong brine of salt and water for one night, then dry them in a cloth, piece by piece. In the mean time, make your pickle of half white wine, and half beer vinegar: to each quart of pickle, you must put an ounce of whiteer red pepper, an ounce of ginger fliced, a little mace, and a few corns of Jamaica pepper. When the spice has boiled in the pickle, pour it hat upon the floots, stop them close immediately, and fet the jar two hours before the fire, turning it often. It is as good a way of greening pickles, as often boiling; or you may. boil the pickle two or three times, and pour it on boiling hor. just as you please. If you make the pickle of the sugar vinegar. you must let one half be spring-water. You have the receipt for this vinegar, in the 19th chapter.

Rules to be observed in Pickling.

ALWAYS use stone jars for all forts of pickles, that require hor pickle to them. The first charge is the least, for these not only last longer, but keep the pickle better; for vinegar and salt will penetrate through all earthen vessels, stone and glass is the only thing to keep pickles in. Be sure never to put your hands in to take pickles out, it will soon spoil it. The best way is, to every pot tie a wooden spoon sull of little holes, to take the pickles out with.

OF MAKING CAKES, &c.

To make a Rich Cake.

AKE four pounds of flour well dried and fifted, seven pounds of currants washed and rubbed, fix pounds of the best frest butter, two pounds of Jordan almonds blanched, and beaten with orange-flower water and fack till they are fine, then take four pounds of eggs, put half the whites away, three pounds of double. refined fugar beaten and fifted, a quarter of an ounce of mace. the same of cloves and cinnamou, three large nutmegs, all beaten. fine, a little ginger, half a pint of fack, half a pint of right French brandy, sweet-meats to your liking, they must be orange, lemon, and citron. Work your butter to a cream with your hands before any of your ingredients, are in, then put in your fugar and mix it well together; let your eggs be well beat and strained through a fieve, work in your almonds first, then put in your eggs, beat them all together till they look white and thick, then put in your fack, brandy and spices, shake your flour in by degrees, and when your oven is ready, put in your currants and fweet-meats as you put it in your hoop. It will take four hours baking in a quick oven. You must keep it beating with your hand all the while you are mixing of it, and when your currents are well washed and cleaned, let them be kept before the fire, so that they may go warm into your cake. This quantity will bake best in two hoops.

To Ice a great Cake.

Take the whites of twenty-four eggs, and a pound of doublerefined fugar beat and fifted fine; mix both together in a deep earthen pan, and with a wifk wifk it well for two or three hours together till it looks white and thick, then with a thin board or bunch of teathers spread it all over the top and sides of the cake; fet it at a proper distance before a good clear fire, and keep turning it continually for sear of its changing colour; but a cool oven is best, and an hour will harden it. You may persume the icing with what persume you please.

To make a pound Cake.

TAKE a pound of butter, beat it in an earthen pan with your hand one way, till it is like a fine thick cream, then have ready twelve eggs, but half the whites; beat them well, and beat them up with the butter, a pound of flour beat in it, a pound of fugar, and a few carraways. Beat it all well together for an hour with your hand, or a great wooden spoon, butter a pan and put it in, and then bake it an hour in a quick oven.

For change, you may put in a pound of currants clean washed and picked.

To

To make a cheap Seed Cake.

You must take half a peck of flour, a pound and a half of butter, put it in a sauce-pan with a pint of new milk, set it on the fire, take a pound of sugar, half an ounce of all-spice beat fine, and mix them with the flour. When the butter is melted, pour the milk and butter in the middle of the flour, and work it up like paste. Pour in with the milk half a pint of good ale yeast, set it before the fire to rise, just before it goes to the oven. Either put in some currants or carraway-seeds, and bake it in a quick oven. Make it into two cakes. They will take an hour and a half baking.

To make a Butter Cake.

You must take a dish of butter, and beat it like cream with your hands, two pounds of fine sugar well beat, three pounds of flour well dried, and mix them in with the butter, twenty-sour eggs, leave out half the whites, and then beat all together for an hour. Just as you are going to put it into the oven, put in a quarter of an ounce of mace, a nutmeg beat, a little sack or brandy, and seeds or currants, just as you please.

To make Ginger-bread Cakes.

Take three pounds of flour, one pound of fugar, one pound of butter rubbed in very fine, two ounces of Ginger beat fine, a large nutmeg grated; then take a pound of treacle, a quarter of a pint of cream, make them warm together, and make up the bread stiff; roll it our, and make it up into thin cakes, cut them out with a tea-cup, or finall glass, or roll them round like nuts, and bake them on tin plates in a flack oven.

To make a fine Seed or Saffron Cake.

You must take a quarter wha peck of fine flour, a pound and a half of butter, three ounces of carraway seeds, fix eggs beat well, a quarter of an ounce of cloves and mace beat together very fine, a pennyworth of cinnamon beat, a pound of sugar, a pennyworth of rose water, a pennyworth of saffron, a pint and a half of yeast, and a quart of milk; mix it all together lightly with your hands thus: first boil your milk and butter, then skins off the butter, and mix it with your flour and a little of the milk; stir the yeast into the rest and strain it, mix it with the flour, put in your feed and spice, rose water, tincture of saffron, sugar and eggs; beat it all up well with your hands lightly, and bake it in a hoop or pan, but be fure to butter the pan well. It will take an hour and a half in a quick oven. You may leave out the feed, if you chuse it, and I think it rather better without it, but that you must do as you like.

To make a rich Seed Cake, called the Nun's Cake.

You must take four pounds of the finest flour, and three pounds of double-refined sugar beaten and sifted; mix them together, and dry them by the fire till you prepare your other materials. Take four pounds of butter, beat it with your hand till it is soft like cream, then beat thirty-five eggs, leave out fixteen whites, strain off your eggs from the treads, and beat them and the butter together till all appears like butter. Put in four or five spoonfuls of rose or orange-flower water, and beat again; then take your flour and sugar, with six ounces of carraway-seeds, and strew them in by degrees, beating it up all the time for two hours together. You may put in as much tincture of cinnamor or amber-grease as you please; butter your hoop, and let it stand three hours in a moderate oven. You must observe always in beating of butter to do it with a cool hand, and beat it always one way in a deep earthen dish.

To make Pepper Cakes.

TAKE half a gill of fack, half a quarter of an ounce of whole white pepper, put it in and boil it together a quarter of an hour, then take the pepper out, and put in as much double refined fugar as will make it like a paste, then drop it in what shape you please on plates, and let it dry itself.

To make Portugal Cakes.

Mix into a pound of fine flour, a pound of loaf sugar beat and fisted, then rub into it a pound of pure sweet butter, till it is thick like grated white bread, then put to it two spoonfuls of rose water, two of sack, ten eggs, whip them very well with a wisk, then mix into it eight ounces of currants, mix'd all well together; butter the tin pans, fill them but half full, and bake them; if made without currants they'll keep half a year; add a pound of almonds blanched, and beat with rose-water as above, and leave out the flour. These are another sort-and better.

To make a pretty Cake.

Take five pounds of flour well dried, one pound of fugar, haif an ounce of mace, as much nutmeg, beat your spice very fine, mix the sugar and spice in the flour, take twenty-two eggs, leave out six whites, beat them, put a pint of ale yeast and the eggs in the flour, take two pounds and a half of fresh butter, a pint and a half of cream; set the cream and butter over the fire, till the butter is melted, let it stand till it is blood-warm, before you put it into the flour, set it an hour by the fire to rise, then put in seven pounds of currants, which must be plumped in half apint of brandy, and three quarters of a pound of candied peels. It must be an hour and a quarter in the oven. You must put two pounds of chopped raisins in the flour, and a quarter of a pint of sack. When you put the currants in, bake it in a hoop.

To make Ginger-Bread.

Take three quarts of fine flour, two ounces of beaten ginger, a quarter of an ounce of nutmeg, cloves, and mace beat fine, but most of the last; mix all together, three quarters of a pound of fine sugar, two pounds of treakle, set over the fire, but don't set it boil; three quarters of a pound of butter melted in the treakle, and some candied lemon and orange-peel cut sine, mix all these together well. An hour will bake it in a quick oven.

To make little Fine Cakes.

ONE pound of butter beaten to cream, a pound and a quarter of flour, a pound of fine fugar beat fine, a pound of currants clean washed and picked, fix eggs, two whites left out, beat them fine, mix the flour, fugar and eggs by degrees into the batter, beat it all well with both hands, either make it into little cakes or bake it in one.

Another fort of Little Cakes.

A POUND of flour and half a pound of fugar, beat half a pound of butter with your hand, and mix them well together. Bake it in little cakes.

To make Drop Biscuits.

TAKE eight eggs, and one pound of double-refined sugar beaten fine, twelve ounces of fine flour well dried, beat your eggs very well, then put in your sugar and beat it, and then your flour by degrees, beat it all very well together without ceasing: your oven must be as hot as for halfpenny bread, then flour some sheets of tin, and drop your biscuits of what bigness you please, put them in the oven as fast as you can, and when you see them rise, watch them, if they begin to colour take them out, and put in more; and if the first is not enough, put them in again. If they are right done, they will have a white ice on them. You may, if you chuse it, put in a few carraways; when they are all baked, put them in the oven again to dry, then keep them in a very dry place.

To make Common Biscuits.

BEAT up fix eggs, with a spoonful of rose-water and a spoonful of fack, then add a pound of fine powdered sugar, and a pound of flour; mix them into the eggs by degrees, and an ounce of coriander-seeds, mix all well together, shape them on white thin paper, or tin moulds, in any sorm you please. Beat the white of an egg, with a seather rub them over, and dust fine sugar over them. Set them in an oven moderately heated, till they rise and come to a good colour, take them out; and when you have done with the oven, if you have no stove to dry them in, put them in the oven again, and let them stand all night to dry.

To make French Biscuits.

HAVING a pair of clean scales ready, in one scale put three new laid eggs, in the other scale put as much dried flour, an equal weight with the eggs, take out the flour, and as much fine powdered sugar; first beat the whites of the eggs up well with a wisk till they are of a fine froth, then whip in half an ounce of candied lemon-peel cut very thin and fine, and beat well; then by degrees whip in the flour and sugar, then slip in the yolks, and with a spoon temper it well together, then shape your biscuits on sine white paper with your spoon, and throw powdered sugar over them. Bake them in a moderate oven, not too hot, giving them a fine colour on the top. When they are baked, with a fine knife cut them off from the paper, and lay them in boxes for use.

To make Mackeroons.

TAKE a pound of almonds, let them be scalded, blanched and thrown into cold water, then dry them in a cloth, and pound them in a mortar, moisten them with orange-flower water, or the white of an egg, lest they turn to an oil; afterwards take an equal quantity of fine powder sugar, with three or four whites of eggs, and a little musk, beat all well together, and shape them on wafer-paper with a spoon round. Bake them in a gentle oven on tin plates.

To make Shrewsbury Cakes.

TAKE two pounds of flour, a pound of fugar finely fearch'd, mix them together (take out a quarter of a pound to roll them in) take four eggs beat, four spoonfuls of cream, and two spoonfuls of rose-water, beat them well together, and mix them with the flour into a paste, roll them into thin cakes, and bake them in a quick oven.

To make Madling Cakes.

To a quarter of a peck of flour well dried at the fire, add two pounds of mutton-fuet tried and strained clear off, when it is a little cool, mix it well with the flour, some salt, and a very little all-spice beat fine: take half a pint of good yeast, and put in half a pint of water, stir it well together, strain it, and mix up your flour into a paste of a moderate stiffness. You must add as much cold water as will make the paste of a right order; make it into cakes about the thickness and bigness of an oat-cake; have ready some currants clean washed and picked, strew some just in the middle of your cakes between your dough, so that none can be seen till the cake is broke. You may leave the currants out, if you don't chuse them.

To make Light Wigs.

TAKE a pound and a half of flour, and half a pint of milk made warm, mix these together, cover it up, and let it lie by the fire half an hour; then take half a pound of sugar and half a pound of butter, then work these into a paste and make it into wigs, with as little flour as possible. Let the oven be pretty quick, and they will rise very much. Mind to mix a quarter of a pint of good ale yeast in milk.

To make very good Wigs.

Take a quarter of a peck of the finest flour, rub into it three quarters of a pound of fresh butter till it is like grated bread, something more than half a pound of sugar, half a nutmeg, half a race of ginger grated, three eggs yolks and whites beat very well, and put to them half a pint of thick ale yeast, three or four spoonfuls of sack, make a hole in the flour, and pour in your yeast and eggs, as much milk, just warm, as will make make it into a light paste. Let it stand before the fire to rise half an hour, then make it into a dozen and a half of wigs, wash them over with egg just as they go into the oven. A quick oven and half an hour will bake them.

To make Buns.

Take two pounds of fine flour, a pint of good ale yeaft, put a little fack in the yeaft, and three eggs beaten, knead all these sogether with a little warm milk, a little nutmeg, and a little falt; then lay it before the fire till it rifes very light, then knead in a pound of fresh butter, a pound of rough carraway-comfits, and bake them in a quick oven, in what shape you please on flour'd papers.

Tomake little Plumb Cakes. .

Take two pounds of flour dried in the oven, or at a great fire, and half a pound of fugar finely powder'd, four yelks of eggs, two whites, half a pound of butter washed with rose-water, fix spoonfuls of cream warmed, a pound and a helf of currants unwashed, but picked and rubbed very clean in a cloth; mix it all well together, then make them up into cakes, bake them in an oven almost as hot as for a manchet, and let them stand half an hour till they are coloured on both sides, then take down the oven-lid, and let them stand to soak. You must rub the butter into the flour very well, then the egg and cream, and then the currants.

Of Cheefecakes, Greams, Jellies, Whip Syllabubs, &c.

To make fine Cheefecakes.

TAKE a pint of cream, warm it, and put it to five quarts of milk warm from the cow, then put runnet to it, and just give it a stir about; and when it is come, put the curd in a linen bag or cloth, let it drain well away from the whey, but do not squeeze it much; then put it in a mortar, and break the curd as fine as butter, then put to your curd half a pound of sweet almonds blanched and beat exceeding fine, and half a pound of mackeroons beat very fine. If you have no mackeroons, get Naples biscuits, then add to it the yolks of nine eggs beaten, a whole nutmeg grated, two perfumed plumbs, dissolved in rose or orange flour water, half a pound of fine sugar; mix all well together, then melt a pound and a quarter of butter, and stir it well in it, and half a pound of currants plumped, let it stand to cool till you use it, then make your puss-passe thus: take a pound of fine flour, wet it with cold water, roll it out, put into it by degrees a pound of fresh butter, and shake a little flour on each coat as you roll it. Make it just as you use it.

You may leave out the currants, for change, nor need you put in the perfumed plumbs, if you dislike them; and for variety, when you make them of mackeroons, put in as much tincture of fastron as will give them a high colour, but no currants. This we call fastron cheescakes; the other without currants, almond cheescakes; with currants, fine cheescakes; with mackeroons, mackeroon cheescakes.

To make Lemon Cheefecakes.

Take the peel of two large lemons, boil it very tender, then pound it well in a mortar, with a quarter of a pound or more of loaf fugar, the yolks of lix eggs, and half a pound of fresh butter; pound and mix all well together, lay a puss-passe in your patty-pass, fill them half full and bake them. Orange cheese-cakes are done the same way, only you boil the peel in two or three waters, to take out the bitterness.

A second fort of Lemon Cheesecakes.

TAKE two large lemons, grate off the peel of both, and squeeze out the juice of one, and add to it half a pound of double-refined sugar, twelve yolks of eggs, eight whites well beaten, then melt half a pound of butter, in sour or five spoonfuls of cream, then shir it all together, and set it over the fire, shirring it till it begins to be pretty thick; then take it off, and when it is cold, fill your petty-pans little more than half sull. Put a paste very thin at the bottom of your petty-pans. Half an hour, with a quick oven, will bake them.

To make Almond Cheefecakes.

Take half a pound of Jordan almonds, and lay them in cold water all night; the next morning blanch them into cold water, then take them out, and dry them in a clean cloth, beat them very fine in a little orange-flower water, then take fix eggs, leave out four whites, beat them and firain them, then half a pound of white fugar, with a little beaten mace; beat them well together in a marble mortar, take ten ounces of good fresh butter, melt it, a little grated lemon-peel, and put them in the mortar with the other ingredients; mix all well together, and fill your petty-pans.

To make Fairy Butter.

TAKE the yolks of two hard eggs, and beat them in a marble mortar, with a large spoonful of orange-flower water, and two tea spoonfuls of fine sugar beat to powder; beat this all together till it is fine passe, then mix it up with about as much fresh butter out of the churn, and force it through a fine strainer full of little holes into a plate. This is a pretty thing to set off a table at supper. To make Almond Cuftards.

TAKE a pint of cream, blanch and beat a quarter of a pound of almonds fine, with two spoonfuls of rose water. Sweeten it to your palate. Beat up the yolks of four eggs, stir all together one way over the fire till it is thick, then pour it out into cups; or you may bake it in little china cups.

To make baked Cuftards.

ONE pint of cream boil'd with mace and cinnamon; when cold, take four eggs, two whites left out, a little rose and orange-flower water and sack, nutmeg and sugar to your palate; mix them well together, and bake them in china cups.

To make plain Custards.

Take a quart of new milk, sweeten it to your taste, grate in a little nutmeg, beat up eight eggs, leave out half the whites, beat them up well, stir them into the milk, and bake it in china basons, or put them into a deep china dish; have a kettle of water boiling, set the cup in, let the water come above half way, but don't let it boil too fast for fear of its getting into the cups. You may add a little rose water.

To make Orange Butter.

TAKE the yolks of ten eggs beat very well, half a pint of Rhenish, fix ounces of sugar, and the juice of three sweet oranges; fet them over a gentle fire, stirring them one way till it is thick. When you take it off, stir in a piece of butter as big as a large walnut.

To make Steeple Gream.

TAKE five ounces of hartshorn, and two ounces of ivory, and put them into a stone bottle, fill it up with fair water to the neck, put in a small quantity of gum Arabick, and gum dragon; then tie up the bottle very close, and set it into a pot of water, with hay at the bottom. Let it stand six hours, then take it out, and let it stand an hour before you open it, less it sy in your face; then strain it, and it will be a strong jelly, then take a pound of blanched almonds, beat them very fine, mix it with a pint of thick cream, and let it stand a little; then strain it out, and mix it with a pound of jelly, set it over the fire till it is scalding hot, sweeten it to your taste with double-refined sugar, then take it off, put in a little amber, and pour it into small high gallipots, like a sugar-loaf at top; when it is cold, turn them out, and lay cold whipt cream about them in heaps. Be sure it does not boil when the cream is in.

Lemon Cream.

TAKE five large lemons, pare them as thin as possible, steep them all night in twenty spoonfuls of spring-water, with the juice of the lemons, then strain it through a jelly-bag into a silver Mauce-pan, if you have one, the whites of fix eggs beat well, sten ounces of double-refined sugar, set it over a very slow charcoal fire, slir it all the time one way, skim it, and when it is as hot as you can bear your fingers in, pour it into glasses.

A second Lemon Cream.

Take the juice of four large lemons, half a pint of water, a pound of double-refined sugar beaten fine, the whites of seven eggs, and the yolk of one beaten very well; mix all together, strain it, and set it on a gentle fire, stirring it all the while and scum it clean, put into it the peel of one lemon, when it is very hot, but don't boil, take out the lemon-peel, and pour it into china dishes. You must observe to keep it stirring one way all the time it is over the fire.

Jelly of Cream.

Take four ounces of hartshorn, put it on in three pints of water, let it boil till it is a stiff jelly, which you will know by taking a little in a spoon to cool; then strain it off, and add to it half a pint of cream, two spoonfuls of rose water, two spoonfuls of fack, and sweeten to your taste; then give it a gentle boil, but keep stirring it all the time, or it will curdle; then take it off, and stir it till it is cold; then put it into broad-bottom cups, let them stand all night, and turn them out into a dish; take half a pint of cream, two spoonfuls of rose water, and as much sack. Sweeten it to your palate, and pour over them.

To make Orange Cream.

TAKE a pint of juice of Seville oranges, and put to it the yolks of fix eggs, the whites of but four, beat the eggs very well, and strain them and the juice together; add to it a pound of double-refined sugar, beaten and sisted; set all those together on a soft fire, and put the peel of half an orange to it, keep it stirring all the while one way. When it is almost ready to boil, take out the orange-peel, and pour out the cream into glasses, or china dishes.

To make a Goofeberry Cream.

TAKE two quarts of goofeberries, put to them as much water as will cover them, scald them, and then run them through a sieve with a spoon: to a quart of the pulp, you must have six eggs well beaten; and when the pulp is hot, put in an ounce of fresh butter, sweeten it to your taste, put in your eggs, and stir them over a gentle fire till they grow thick, then set it by; and when it is almost cold, put into it two spoonfuls of juice of spinach, and a spoonful of orange-slower water, or sack; stir it well together, and put it into your bason. When it is cold, serve it to the table.

To make Barky Cream.

TAKE a small quantity of pearl-barley, boil it in milk and water till it is tender, then strain the liquor from it, put your barley into a quart of cream, and let it boil a little, then take the whites of five eggs and the yolk of one, beaten with a spoonful of fine flour, and two spoonfuls of orange-flower water; then take the cream off the fire, and mix in the eggs by degrees, and set it over the fire again to thicken. Sweeten to your taite, pour it into basons, and when it is cold serve it up.

To make blanched Cream.

TAKE a quart of the thickest sweet cream you can get, season it with fine sugar and orange-slower water, and boil it; then beat the whites of twenty eggs with a little cold cream, take out the treddles, which you must do by straining it after it is bear, and when the cream is on the fire and boils, pour in your eggs, stirring it all the time one way till it comes to a thick curd, then take it up and pass through a hair-sieve, then beat it very well with a spoon till cold, and put it into dishes for use.

To make Almond Cream.

TAKE a quart of cream, boil it with half a nutmeg grated, a blade or two of mace, a bit of lemon-peel, and tweeten it to your taste; then blanch a quarter of a pound of almonds, beat them very fine, with a spoonful of rose or orange-slower water, take the whites of nine eggs well beat, and str in them to your almonds, beat them together, rub them very well through a coarse hair-sieve; mix all together with your cream, set it on the fire, stir it all one way all the time till it boils, pour it into your cups or dishes, and when it is cold serve it up.

To make a fine Cream.

TAKE a pint of cream, fweeten it to your palate, grate a little nutmeg, put in a fpoonful of orange-flower water and rose water, and two spoonfuls of sack, beat up four eggs, but two whites; stir all together one way over the fire till it is thick, have cups ready, and pour it in.

To make Ratafia Cream.

TAKE fix large laurel-leaves, boil them in a quart of thick cream, when it is boiled throw away the leaves, beat the yolks of five eggs with a little cold cream, and fugar to your tafte, then thicken the cream with your eggs, fet it over the fire again, but don't let it boil, keep it stirring all the while one way and pour it into china dishes; when it is cold it is fit for use.

To make Whipt Cream.

Take a quart of thick cream, and the whites of eight eggs beat well, with half a pint of fack; mix it together, and sweeten it to your taste with double-refined sugar. You may persume it, if you please, with a little musk or amber-grease tied in a rag, and steeped a little in the cream, whip it up with a wisk, and some lemon-peel tied in the middle of the wisk; take the froth with a spoon, and lay it in your glasses or basons. This does well over a fine tart.

To make Whipt Syllabubs.

TAKE a quart of thick cream, and half a pint of fack, the juice of two Seville oranges or lemons, grate in the peel of two lemons, half a pound of double-refined fugar, pour it into a broad earthen pan, and wifk it well; but first sweeten some red wine or fack, and fill your glasses as full as you chuse; then as the froth rises take it off with a spoon; lay it carefully into your glaffes till they are as full as they will hold. Don't make these long before you use them. Many use cyder sweetened or any wine you please, or lemon, or orange whey made thus: squeeze the juice of a lemon or orange into a quarter of a pint of milk, when the curd is hard, pour the whey clear off, and sweeten it to your palate. You may colour some wish juice of spinach, some with saffron, and some with cochineal, just as you fancy.

To make everlasting Syllabubs.

TAKE five half pints of thick cream, half a pint of Rhenish, shalf a pint of fack and the juice of two large Seville oranges; grate in just the yellow rhind of three lemons, and a pound of double-refined sugar well beat and sisted; mix all together with a spoonful of orange-flower water, beat it well together with a wifk half an hour, then with a spoon fill your glasses. will keep above a week, and are better made the day before. The best way to whip syllabub is, have a fine large chocolate mill, which you must keep on purpose, and a large deep bows to mill them in. It is both quicker done, and the froth stronger. the thin that is left at the bottom, have ready some calf's foot gelly boiled and clarified, there must be nothing but the calf's foot boiled to a hard jelly; when cold, take off the fat, clear it with The whites of egg, run it through a flannel bag, and mix it with the clear, which you have faved of the fyllabubs. Sweeten it to your palate, and give it a boil; then pour it into basons, or what you please. When cold, turn it out, and it is a fine flummery.

To make a Trifle.

COVER the bottom of your dish or bowl with Naples biscuits broke in pieces, mackeroons broke in halves, and Ratasia cakes. Just wer them all through with sack, then make a good boiled custard not too thick, and when cold pour over it, then put a syllabub over that. You may garnish it with Ratasia cakes, currant jelly and slowers.

To make Hartshorn Jelly.

Boil half a pound of hartshorn in three quarts of water over a gentle fire, till it becomes a jelly. If you take out a little to cool, and it hangs on the spoon, it is enough. Strain it while it is hot, put it in a well-tinned fauce-pan, put to it a pint of Rhenish wine, and a quarter of a pound of loaf fugar; beat the whites of four eggs or more to a froth, flir it all together that the whites mix well with the jelly, and pour it in, as if you were cooling it. Let it boil for two or three minutes, then put in the juice of three or four lemons; let it boil a minute or two longer. When it is finely curdled, and of a pure white colour, have ready a fwanskin jelly bag over a china bason, pour in your jelly, and pour back again till it is as clear as rock-water; then let a very clean china baton under, have your glasses as clean as possible, and with a clean ipoon fill your glasses. Have ready some thin rhind of the lemons, and when you have filled half your glasses throw your peel into the bason; and when the jelly is all run out of the bag, with a clean spoon fill the rest of the glasses, and they will look of a fine amber colour. Now in putting in the ingredients there is no certain rule. You must put lemon and sugar to your palate. Most people love them sweet; and indeed they are good for nothing, unless they are.

To make Ribband Telly.

Take out the great bones of four calves feet, put the feet into a pot with ten quarts of water, three ounces of hartshorn, three ounces of ifinglass, a nutmeg quartered, and four blades of mace; then boil this till it comes to two quarts, strain it through a stannel bag, let it stand twenty-four hours, then scrape off all the tat from the top very clean, then slice it, put to it the whites of six eggs beaten to a stroth, boil it a little, and strain it again through a stannel bag, then run the jelly into little high glasses, run every colour as thick as your singer, one colour must be thorough cold before you put another on, and that you put on must not be but blood-warm, for fear it mix together. You must colour red with cochineal, green with spinach, yellow with saffron, blue with syrup of violets, white with thick cream, and sometimes the jelly by itself. You may add orange-flower water, or wine and sugar, and lemon if you please, but this is all fancy.

To make Calves Feet Jelly.

BoIL two calves feet in a gallon of water till it comes to a quart, then strain it, let it stand till cold, skim off all the fat clean, and take the jelly up clean. If there is any settling in the bottom, leave it; put the jelly into a sauce-pan, with a pint of mountain wine, half a pound of loaf sugar, the juice of four large lemons, beat up six or eight whites of eggs with a wisk, then put them into the sauce-pan, and stir all together well till it boils, Let it boil a few minutes. Have ready a large slannel bag, pour it in, it will run through thick, pour it in again till it runs clear, then have ready a large china bason, with the lemon-peels cut as thin as possible, let the jelly run into that bason, and the peels both give it a fine amber colour, and also a flavour; with a clean silver spoon fill your glasses.

To make Currant Jelly.

STRIP the currants from the stalks, put them in a stone jar, stop it close, set it in a kettle of boiling water half-way the jar, let it boil half an hour, take it out and strain the juice through a coarse hair-sieve. To a pint of juice put a pound of sugar, set it over a fine quick clear fire in a preserving-pan or a bell-metal skillet; keep stirring it all the time till the sugar is melted, then skim the scum off as fast as it rises. When your jelly is very clear and sine, pour it into gallipots; when cold, cut white paper just the bigness of the top of the pet and lay on the jelly, dip those papers in brandy, then cover the top close with white paper, and prick it full of holes; set it in a dry place, put some into glasses, and paper them.

To make Rasberry Giam.

TAKE a pint of this currant jelly, and a quart of rafberries, bruise them well together, set them over a slow sire, keeping them stirring all the time till it boils. Let it boil sive or six minutes, pour it into your gallipots, paper it as you do the currant jelly, and keep it for use. They will keep so two or three years, and have the full flavour of the rasberry.

To make Hartsborn Flummery.

Boil half a pound of the shavings of Hartshorn in three pints of water till it comes to a pint, then strain it through a sieve into a bason, and set it by to cool; then set it over the sire, let it just melt, and put to it half a pint of thick cream, scalded and grown cold again, a quarter of a Pint of white wine, and two spoonfuls of orange-slower water; sweeten it with sugar, and beat it for an hour and a half or it will not mix well, nor look well; dip your cups in water before you put in your slummery, or esse it will not turn out well. It is best when it stands a day or two before you turn it out. When you serve it up, turn it out of the cups, and stick blanched almonds cut in long narrow bits on the top. You may eat them either with wine or cream.

A second Way to make Hartsborn Flummery.

TAKE three ounces of hartshorn, and put it to two quarts of spring-water, let it simmer over the fire fix or seven hours, till half the water is confumed, or else put it in a jug, and set in the oven with houshold bread, then strain it through a sieve, and beat half a pound of almonds very fine, with some orange-flower water in the beating; when they are beat, mix a little of your jelly with it and some sugar; strain it out and mix it with your other jelly, stir it together till it is little more than bloodwarm, then pour it into half-pint basons or dishes for the purpose, and fill them but half full. When you use them, turn them out of the dish as you do flummery. If it does not come out clean, set your bason a minute or two in warm water. You may stick almonds in it or not, just as you please. Eat with wine and sugar, or make your jelly this way: Put fix ounces of hartshorn in a glazed jug with a long neck, and put to it three pints of foft water, cover the top of the jug close, and put a weight on it to keep it steady; set it in a pot or kettle of water twenty-four hours, let it not boil, but be fealding hot, then strain it out, and make your jelly.

To make Oatmeal Flummery.

GET some oatmeal, put it into a broad deep pan, then cover it with water, stir it together and let it stand twelve hours, then pour off that water clear, and put on a good deal of fresh water, shift it again in twelve hours, and so in twelve more; then pour off the water clean, and strain the oatmeal through a coarse hair-sheve, and pour it into a sauce-pan, keeping it stirring all the time with a stick till it boils and is very thick, then pour it into dishes; when cold turn it into plates, and eat it with what you please, please, either wine and sugar, or beer and sugar, or milk. It eats very pretty with cyder and fugar.

You must observe to put a great deal of water to the oatmeal, and when you pour off the last water, pour on just enough fresh as to strain the oatmeal well. Some let it stand forty-eight hours, some three days, shifting the water every twelve hours; but that is as you love it for sweetness or tartness. Gruts once cut does better than oatmeal. Mind to slir it together when you put in tresh water.

To make a fine Syllabub from the Cow.

MAKE your fyllabub of either cyder or wine, sweeten it pretty sweet, and grate nutmeg in, then milk the milk into the liquor; when this is done, pour over the top half a pint or a pint of cream, according to the quantity of syllabub you make.

You may make this fyllabub at home, only have new milk; make it as hot as milk from the cow, and out of a tea-pot, or any fuch thing, pour it in holding your hand very high.

To make a Hedge-Hog.

TAKE two pounds of blanched almonds, beat them well in a mortar, with a little canary and orange-flower water, to keep them from oiling. Make them into stiff-paste, then beat in the yolks of twelve eggs, leave out five of the whites put to it a pint of cream, fweeten'd with fugar, put in half a pound of fweet butter melted, fet it on a furnace or flow fire, and keep it constantly stirring, till it is stiff enough to be made in the form of a hedge-hog; then slick it full of blanched almonds, slit and stuck up like the bristles of a hedge-hog, then put it into a dish, take a pint of cream and the yolks of four eggs beat up, fweeten'd with fugar to your palate. Stir them together over a flow fire till it is quite hot, then pour it round the hedge-hog in a dish, and let it stand till it is cold, and serve it up. Or a rich calf's foot jelly made clear and good, and pour in the dish round the hedgehog; and when it is cold, it looks pretty, and makes a pretty dith; or it looks pretty in the middle of a table for supper.

To make French Flummery.

You must take a quart of cream and half an ounce of isinglass, beat it fine, and stir it into the cream. Let it boil softly over a slow fire a quarter of an hour, keep it stirring all the time; then take it off the fire, sweeten it to your palate, and put in a spoonful of rose water and a spoonful of orange-flower water; strain it, and pour it into a glass or bason, or just what you please, and when it is cold, turn it out. It makes a fine side-dish. You may eat it with cream, wine, or what you please. Lay round it baked pears. It both looks very pretty, and cats fine.

A Buttered Tort.

Take eight or ten large codlings and scald them, when cold skin them, take the pulp and beat it as you can with a silver spoon, then mix in the yolks of six eggs, and the whites of four beat all well together, a Seville orange, squeeze in the juice, and shed the rhind as a fine as possible, with some grated nutmeg and sugar to your taste; melt some fine fresh butter, and beat up with it according as it wants, till it is all like a fine thick cream, then make a fine pussible, have a large tin-patty that will just hold it, cover the patty with the passe, and pour in the ingredients. Don't put any cover on, bake it a quarter of an hour, then slip it out of the patty on a dish, and throw fine sugar well beat all over it. It is a very pretty side-dish for a second course. You may make this of any large apples you please.

Moon-Shine.

FIRST have a piece of tin, made in the shape of a half-moon. as deep as a half-pint bason, and one in the shape of a large star, and two or three leffer ones. Boil two calves feet in a gallon of water till it comes to a quart, then strain it off, and when cold skim off all the fat, take half the jelly, and sweeten it with sugar to your palate, beat up the whites of four eggs, stir all together over a flow fire till it boils, then run it through a flannel bag till clear, put it in a clean fauce-pan, and take an ounce of fweet almonds blanched and beat very fine in a marble mortar, with two spoonfuls of rose water and two of orange-flower water; then strain it through a coarse cloth, mix it with the jelly, shir in four large spoonfuls of thick cream, stir it all together till it boils, then have ready the dish you intend it for, lay the tin in the shape of a half-moon in the middle, and the stars round it; lay little weights on the tin to keep them in the places you would have them lye, then pour in the above Blanc Manger into the dish, and when it is quite cold take out the tin things, and mix the other half of the jelly with half a pint of good white wine and the juice of two or three lemons, with loaf fugar enough to make it fweet, and the whites of eight eggs beat fine; stir it all together over a flow fire till it boils, then run it through a flannel bag till. it is quite clear in a china bason, and very carefully fill up the places where you took the tin out; let it stand till cold, and fend it to table.

Note, You may for change fill the dish with a fine thick almond custard; and when it is cold, fill up the half-moon and stars with the clear jelly.

The Floating Island, a pretty Dish for the Middle of a Table at a Second Course, or for Supper.

You may take a foup-d sh, according to the fize and quantity you would make, but a pretty deep glais dish is best, and set it on a china dish: First take a quart of the thickest cream you can get, make it pretty sweet with fine sugar, pour in a gill of sack, grate the yellow rhind of a lemon in, and mill the cream till it is all of a thick froth, then carefully as you can pour the thin from the froth into a dish; take a French roll, or as many as you want, cut it as thin as you can, lay a layer of that as light as possible on the cream, then a layer of currant jelly, then a very thin layer of roll, and then hartshorn jelly, then French roll, and over that whip your froth which you faved off the cream very weil-milled up, and lay at top as high as you can heap it; and as for the rim of the dish, set it round with fruit or sweet-meats, according to your fancy. This looks very pretty in the middle of a table with candles round it, and you may make it of as many different colours as you fancy, and according to what jellies and giams or sweet-meats you have, or at the bottom of your dish you may put the thickest cream you can get, but that is as you fancy.

C H A P. XVII.

Of Made-Wines, Brewing, French Bread, Muffins, &c.

To make Raisin Wine-

AKE two hundred of raifins, stalks and all, and put theme into a large hogshead, fill it up with water, let them steep a fortnight, stirring them every day; then pour off all the liquor, and dress the raifins. Put both liquors together in a nice clean vessel that will just hold it, for it must be ful; let it stand till it has done hissing, or making the least noise, then stop it close, and let it stand six months. Peg it, and if you find it quite clear, rack it off into another vessel; stop it close, and let stand three months longer, then bottle it, and when you use it, rack it off into a decanter.

To make Elder Wine.

Pick the elder-berries when full ripe, put them into a stone jar, and set them in the oven, or a kettle of boiling water till the jar is hot through; than take them out and strain them through a coarse cloth, wringing the berries, and put the juice into a clean kettle: To every quart of juice put a pound of fine Lisbon sugar, let it boil and skim it well. When it is clear and fine, pour it into a jar; when cold, cover it close, and keep it till you make raisin wine: Then when you turn your wine, to every gallon of wine put half a pint of the elder syrup.

To make Orange Wine.

Take twelve pounds of the best powder sugar, with the whites of eight or ten eggs well beaten, into six Gallons of spring-water, and boil three quarters of an hour. When it is cold, put into it six spoonfuls of yeast, and also the juice of twelve lemons, which being pared must stand with two pounds of white sugar in a tankard, and in the morning skim off the top, and then put it into the water: Then add the juice and rhinds of sifty oranges, but not the white part of the rhinds, and so let it work all together two days and two nights; then add two quarts of Rhenish or white wine, and put it into your vessel.

To make Orange Wine with Raifins.

TAKE thirty pounds of new Malaga raisins picked clean, chop them small, you must have twenty large Seville oranges, ten of them you must pare as thin as for preserving; boil about eight gallons of soft water till a third part be consumed, let it cool a little, then put five gallons of it hot upon your raisins and orangepeel, stir it well together, cover it up, and when it is cold let it stand five days, stirring it up once or twice a day, then pass it thro' a hair-sieve, and with a spoon press it as dry as you can, put it up in a runtlet sit for it, and put to it the rhinds of the other ten oranges, cut as thin as the first; then make a syrup of the juice of the twenty oranges, with a pound of white sugar. It must be made the day before you tun it up, stir it well together, and stop it close; let it stand two months to clear, then bottle it up. It will keep three years, and it is better for keeping.

To make Elder-flower Wine, very like Frontiniac.

TAKE fix gallons of fpring-water, twelve pounds of white sugar, six pounds of raisins of the sun chopped. Boil these together one hour, then take the flowers of elder, when they are falling, and rub them off to the quantity of half a peck. When the liquor is cold, put them in, the next day put in the juice of three lemons, and sour spoonfuls of good ale yeast. Let it stand covered up two days, then strain it off, and put it in a vessel sit stor it. To every gallon of wine put a quart of Rhenish, and put your bung lightly on a fortnight, then stop it down close. Let it stand six months; and if you find it is sine, bottle it off.

To make Goofeberry Wine.

Gather your gooseberries in dry weather, when they are half ripe, pick them, and bruise a peck in a tub, with a wooden mallet; then take a horse-hair cloth, and press them as much as possible, without breaking the seeds. When you have pressed out all the juice, to every gallon of gooseberries, put three pounds of fine dry powder sugar, stir it together till the sugar is all dissolved, then put it in a vessel or cask, which must be quite full. If ten or twelve gallons, let it stand a fortnight; if a twenty gallon cask, let it stand sive weeks. Set it in a cool place, then draw it off from the lees, clear the vessel of the lees, and pour in the clear liquor again. If it be a ten gallon cask, let it stand three months; if a twenty gallon, four or five months, then bottle it off.

To make Currant Wine.

Gather your currants on a fine dry day, when the fruit is full ripe, strip them, put them in a large pan, and bruise them with a wooden pessel till they are all bruised. Let them stand in a pan or tub twenty-sour hours to soment; then run it through a hair-sieve, and don't let your hand touch your liquor. To every gallon of this liquor, put two pounds and a half of white sugar, stir it well together, and put it into your vessel. To every six gallons, put a quart of brandy, and let it stand six weeks. If it is fine, bottle it; if it is not, draw it off, as clear as you can, into another vessel, or large bottles; and in a fortnight, bottle it in small bottles.

To make Cherry Wine.

Pull your cherries when full ripe, off the stalks, and press them thro's hair-sieve. To every gallon of liquor put two pounds of lump sugar beat fine, stir it together and put it into a vessel, it must be sull; when it has done working and making any noise, stop it close for three months, and bottle it off.

To make Birch Wine.

THE feason for procuring the liquor from the birch trees is in the beginning of March, while the sap is rising, and before the leaves shoot out; for when the sap is come forward, and the leaves appear, the juice by being long digested in the bark, grows thick and coloured, which before was thin and clear.

The method of procuring the juice is, by boring holes in the body of the tree, and putting in fossets, which are commonly made of the branches of clder, the pith being taken out. You may without hurting the tree, if large, tap it in several places, four or sive at a time, and by that means save from a good many trees several gallons every day; if you have not enough in one day, the bottles in which it drops must be corked close, and rosined or waxed;

however make use of it as soon as you can.

Take the sap and boil it as long as any scum rises, skimming it all the time: To every gallon of liquor put four pounds of good sugar, the thin peel of a lemon, boil it afterwards half an hour, scumming it very well, pour it into a clean tub, and when it is almost cold, set it to work with yeast spread on a toast, let it stand five or six days, stirring it often; then take such a cask as will hold the liquor, sire a large match dipt in brimstone, and throw it into the cask, stop it close till the match is extinguished, turn your wine, lay the bung on light till you find it has done working; stop it close and keep it three months, then bottle it oss.

To make Quince Wine.

GATHER the quinces when dry and full ripe; take twenty large quinces, wipe them clean with a coarse cloth, and grate them with a large grate or rasp as near the core as you can, but none of the core; boil a gallon of spring-water, throw in your quinces, let it boil softly about a quarter of an hour, then strain them well into an earthen pan on two pounds of double-resined sugar, pare the peel off two large lemons, throw in and queeze the juice through a sieve, stir it about till it is very cool, then toast a little bit of bread very thin and brown, rub a little yeast on it, let it stand close covered twenty-sour hours, then take out the toast and lemon, put up in a cag, keep it three months, and then bottle it. If you make a twenty gallon cask, let it stand fix months before you bottle it; when you strain your quinces, you are to wring them hard in a coarse cloth.

To make Couflip or Clary Wine. 9

Take fix gallons of water, twelve pounds of sugar, the juice of fix lemons, the whites of sour eggs beat very small, put all together in a kettle, let it boil half an hour, skim it very well, take a peck of cowflips; if dry ones, half a peck; put them into a tub with the thin peeling of the fix lemons, then pour in the boiling liquor, and flir them about; when almost cold, put in a thin toast baked dry and rubbed with yeast. Let it fland two or three days to work. If you put in before you tun it six ounces of syrup of citron or lemons, with a quart of Rhenish wine, it will be a great addition; the third day strain it off, and squeeze the cowflips through a coarse cloth, then strain it through a flannel bag and tun it up, lay the bung loose for two or three days to see if it works, and if it don't bung it down tight; let it stand three months, then bottle it.

To make Turnip Wine.

Take a good many turnips, pare them, flice them, put them in a cyder-preis, and prefs out all the juice very well. To every gallon of juice, have three pounds of lump fugar, have a veffel ready, just big enough to hold the juice, put your fugar into a veffel, and also to every gallon of juice half a pint of brandy. Pour in the juice, and lay something over the bung for a week, to see if it works. If it does, you must not bung it down till it has done working; then stop it close for three months, and draw it off into-another vessel. When it is fine, bottle it oss.

To make Rasterry Wine.

Take fome fine ripe rasherries, bruise them with the back of as spoon, then strain them through a stannel bag into a stone jar. To each quart of juice, put as pound of double-resined sugar, stir ir well together, and cover it close; let it stand three days, then pour it off clear. To a quart of juice, put two quarts of white wine, bottle it off, it will be sit to drink in a week. Brandy made thus is a very sine dram, and a much better way than steeping the rasherries.

Rules for Brewing.

CARE must be taken in the first place to have the malt clean; and after it is grinded, it ought to stand four or five days.

For arong October, five quarters of malt to three hogheads, and twenty-tour pounds of hops. This will afterwards make two hoghheads of good keeping small beer, allowing five pounds of hops to it.

For good middling beer, a quarter of malt makes a hogshead of ale, and one of small beer; or it will make three hogsheads of good small beer, allowing eight pounds of hops. This will keep all the year; or it will make twenty gallons of strong ale, and two hogsheads of small beer, that will keep all the year.

If you intend your ale to keep a great while, allow a pound of hops to every bushel; if to keep six months, five pounds to a hogshead; if for present drinking, three pounds to a hogshead, and the forest and clearest water you can get fostest and clearest water you can get.

Observe the day before to have all your vessels very clean, and never use your tubs for any use, except to make wines.

Let your casks be very clean the day before with boiling water; and if your bung is big enough, scrub them well with a little bireh-broom or brush; but if they be very bad, take out the heads, and let them be scrubbed clean with a hand-brush and sand and fullersearth. Put on the head again and scald them well, throw into the barrel a piece of untlacked lime, and stop the bung close.

The first copper of water, when it boils, pour into your mash-tub, and let it be cool enough to fee your face in; then put in your malt, and let it be well mashed, have a copper of water boiling in the mean time, and when your malt is well mashed, fill your mashing-tub, flir it well again, and cover it over with the facks. it stand three hours, then fet a broad shallow tub under the cock. let it run very foftly, and it it is thick throw it up again till it runs fine, then throw a handful of hops in the under tub, and let the mash run into it, and fill your tubs till all is run off. Have water boiling in the copper, and lay as much more on as you have occafion for, allowing one third for boiling and waste. Let that stand an hour, boiling more water to fill the mash-tub for small beer; let the fire down a little, and put it into tubs enough to fill your mash. Let the fecond mash be run off, and fill your copper with the first wort; put in part of your hops, and make it boil quick. About an hour is long enough; when it is half boiled, throw in a hand-ful of falt. Have a clean white wand and dip it into the copper, and if the wort feels clammy, it is boiled enough; then flacken your fire, and take off your wort. Have ready a large tub, put two flicks a-cross and set your straining-basket over the tub on the slicks, and strain your wort through it. Put your other wort on to boil with the rest of the hops; let your mash be still covered again with water, and thin your wort that is cooled in as many things as you can; for the thinner it lies, and the quicker it cools, the better. When quite cool, put it into the tunning-tub. Mind to throw a handful of falt into every boil. When the mash has stood an hour draw it off, then fill your mash with cold water, take off the wort in the copper, and order it as before. When cool, add to it the first in the tub; so soon as you empty one copper, fill the other, so boil your small beer well. Let the last mash run off, and when both are boiled with fresh hops, order them as the two first boilings; when cool, empty the mash-tub, and put the small beer to work there. When cool enough, work it, fet a wooden bowl of yeast in the beer, and it will work over with a little of the beer in the boil. Stir your tun up every twelve hours, let it stand two days, then tun it, taking off the yeast. Fill your vessels full, and fave fome to fill your barrels; let it stand till it has done working, then lay on your bung lightly for a fortnight, after that stop it as close as you can. Mind you have a vent-peg at the top of the vefsel in warm weather, open it; and if your drink hisses, as it often will, loofen it till it has done, then stop it close again. If you can boil your ale in one boiling it is best, if your copper will allow of it; if not, boil it as conveniency ferves. The strength of your beer must be according to the mast you allow, more or less; there is no certain rule.

When you come to draw your beer, and find it is not fine, draw off a gallon, and fet it on the fire, with two ounces of ifinglass cut finall and beat. Diffolio it in the beer over the fire; when it is Q₂ all all melted, let it fland till it is cold, and pour it in at the bung, which must lay loose on till it has done fomenting, then stop it elose for a month.

Take great care your casks are not musty, or have any ill taste: if they have, it is the hardest thing in the world to sweeten them.

You are to wash your casks with cold water before you scald them, and they should lie a day or two soaking, and clean them well, then scald them.

The best Thing for Rope Beer.

Mix two handfuls of bean flour, and one handful of falt, throw this into a kilderkin of beer, don't flop it close till it has done fomenting, then let it stand a month, and draw it off; but sometimes nothing will do with it.

When a Barrel of Beer is turned four.

To a kilderkin of beer throw in at the bung a quart of oatmeat, lay the bung on loose two or three days, then stop it down close, and let it stand a month. Some throw in a piece of chalk as big as a turkey'a egg, and when it has done working stop it close for a month, then tap it.

To make white Bread, after the London Way.

You must take a bushel of the finest flour well dressed, put it in the kneading-trough at one end ready to mix, take a gallon of water (which we call liquor) and some yeast; stir it into the liquor till it looks of a good brown colour and begins to curdle, strain it and mix it with your flour till it is about the thickness of a good seed cake; then cover it up with the lid of the trough, and let it stand three hours, and as foon as you fee it begin to fall, take a gallon more of liquor, and weigh three quarters of a pound of falt, and with your hand mix it well with the water: Strain it, and with this liquor make your dough of a moderate thickness, fit to make up into loaves; then cover it again with the lid, and let stand three hours more. In the mean time, put the wood into the oven and heat it. It will take two hours heating. When your fpunge has flood its proper time, clear the oven, and begin to make your bread. Set it in the oven and close it up, and three hours will just bake it. When once it is in, you must not open the oven till the bread is baked; and observe in summer that your water be milkwarm, and in winter as hot as you can bear your finger in it.

Note, As to the exact quantity of liquor your dough will take, experience will teach you in two or three times making, for all flour does not want the same quantity of liquor; and if you make any quantity, it will raise up the sid and run over, when it has stood its time.

To make French Bread.

Take three quarts of water, and one of milk; in winter fealding hot, in fummer a little more than milk-warm. Season it well with falt, then take a pint and a half of good ale yeast not bitter, lay it in a gallon of water the night before, pour it off the water, stir in your yeast into the milk and water, then with your hand break in a little more than a quarter of a pound of butter, work it well till it is diffolved, then beat up two eggs in a bason, and stirthem in, have about a peck and a half of flour, mix it with your liquor; in winter make your dough pretty stiff, in summer more slack; so that you may use a little more or less of flour, according to the stiffness of your dough; mix it well, but the less you work it the better. Make it into rolls, and have a very quick oven, but not to burn. When they have lain about a quarter of an hour turn them on the other side, let them lye about a quarter longer, take them out and chip all your French bread with a knise, which is better than rasping it, and makes it look spungy and of a sine yellow, whereas the rasping takes of all that sine colour, and makes it look too smooth. You must stir your liquor into the flour as you do for pye-crust. After your dough is made cover it with a cloth, and let it lye to rise while the oven is heating.

To make Muffins and Out-Cakes.

To a bushel of Hertfordshire white flour, take a pint and a half of good Ale Yeast, some pale malt, if you can get it, because it is whitest; let the yeast lye in water all night, the next day pour off the water clear, make two gallons of water just milk-warm, not to scald your yeast, and two ounces of falt; mix your water, yeast and falt well together for about a quarter of an hour, then strain it and mix up your dough as light as possible, and let it lye in your trough ... an hour to rife, then with your hand roll it, and pull it into little pieces about as big as a large walnut, roll them with your hand like a ball, lay them on your table, and as fast as you do them lay a piece of flannel over them, and be fure to keep your dough covered with flannel; when you have rolled out all your dough begin to bake the first, and by that time they will be spread out in the right form; lay them on your iron, as one fide begins to change colour turn the other, and take great care they don't burn, or be too much discoloured, but that you will be a judge of in two or three makings. Take care the middle of the iron is not too hot. as it will be, but then you may put a brickbat or two in the middle of the fire to flacken the heat. The thing you bake on must be made thus:

Build a place just as if you was going to fet a copper, and in the stead of a copper, a piece of iron all over the top fixed in form just the same as the bottom of an iron pot, and make your fire underneath with coal as in a copper. Observe, mustins are made the same way; only this, when you pull them to pieces roll them in a good deal of flour, and with a rolling-pin roll them thin, cover them with a piece of flannel, and they will rise to a proper thickness; and if you find them too big or too little, you must roll dough accordingly. These must not be the least discoloured.

When you eat them, toast them with a fork crisp on both sides, then with your hand pull them open, and they will be like a honey-comb; lay in as much butter as you intend to use, then clap them together again, and set it by the sire. When you think the butter is melted turn them, that both sides may be buttered alike, but don't touch them with the knife, either to spread or cut them open, if you

you do they will be as heavy as lead, only when they are quite buttered and done, you may cut them crois with a knife.

Note, Some flour will foak up a quart or three pints more water than other flour, then you must add more water, or shake in more flour in the making up, for the dough must be as light as possible.

A Reccipt for making Bread without Barm, by the Help of a

TAKE a lump of dough, about two pounds of your last making, which has been raifed by barm, keep it by you in a wooden veffel, and cover it well with flour. This is your leaven; then the night before you intend to bake put the faid leaven to a peck of flour, and work them well together with warm water. Let it lie in a dry wooden veffel, well covered with a linen cloth and a blanket, and keep it in a warm place. This dough kept warm will rife again next morning, and will be sufficient to mix with two or three bushels of flour, being worked up with warm water and a little falt. When it is well worked up, and thoroughly mixed with all the flour, let it be well covered with the linen and blanket, until you find it rise; then knead it well, and work it up into bricks or loaves, making the loaves broad, and not so thick and high as is frequently done, by which means the bread will be better baked. Then bake your bread.

Always keep by you two or more pounds of the dough of your last baking, well covered with flour to make leaven to serve from one baking day to another; the more leaven is put to the flour, the lighter and spungier the bread will be. The fresher the leaven, the bread will be less four.

A Method to preferve a large Stock of Yeast, which will keep and be of Use for several Months, either to make Bread or Cakes.

WHEN you have yeast in plenty, take a quantity of it, stir and work it well with a wifk until it becomes liquid and thin, then get a large wooden platter, cooler or tub, clean and dry, and with a foft brush, lay a thin layer of the yeast on the tub, and turn the mouth downwards that no dust may fall upon it, but so that the air may get under to dry it. When that coat is very dry, then lay on another coat and let it dry, and fo go on to put one coat upon another till you have a fufficient quantity, even two or three inches thick, to ferve for feveral months, always taking care the yeast in the tub be very dry before you lay more on. When you have occasion to make use of this yeast cut a piece off, and lay it in warm water; stir it together, and it will be fit for use. If it is for brewing, take a large handful of birch tied together, and dip it into the year and hang it up to dry; take great care no dust comes to it, and so you may do as many as you please. When your beer is fit to fet to work, throw in one of these, and it will make it work as well as if you had tresh yeast. You must whip it about in the wort, and then let it lye; when the fat works well, take out the broom and dry it again, it will do for the next brewing.

Note, In the building of your oven for baking, observe that you make it round, low roofed, and a little mouth; then it will take less fire, and keep in the heat better than a long oven and high roof, and will bake the bread better.

Jarring Cherries and Preserves, &c.

To jar Cherries, Lady North's Way.

AKE twelve pounds of cherries, then stone them, put them in your preserving-pan, with three pounds of double-refined fugar and a quart of water; then fet them on the fire till they are fealding hot, take them off a little while, and fet them on the fire again. Boil them till they are tender, then sprinkle them with half a pound of double-refined fugar pounded, and skim them clean. Put them all together in a china bowl, let them stand in the fyrup three days; then drain them through a fieve, take them out one by one, with the holes downwards on a wicker fleve, ethen fet them in a stove to dry, and as they dry turn them upon clean fieves. When they are dry enough, put a clean white sheet of paper in a preferving-pan, then put all the cherries in, with another clean white sheet of paper on the top of them; cover them close with a cloth, and set them over a coel fire till they sweat: Take them off the fire, then let them stand till they are cold, and put them in boxes or jars to keep.

To dry Cherfies.

To four pounds of cherries put one pound of sugar, and just put as much water to the sugar as will wet it; when it is melted, make it boil, stone your cherries, put them in, and make them boil: skim them two or three times, take them off, and let them stand in the syrup two or three days, then boil your syrup and put to them again, but don't boil your cherries any more. Let them stand three or four days longer, then take them out, lay them in sieves to dry, and lay them in the sun, or in a slow oven to dry; when dry, lay them in rows in papers and so a row of cherries, and a row of white paper in boxes.

To preserve Cherries, with the Leaves and Stalks green.

FIRST dip the stalks and leaves in the best vinegar, boiling hot, slick the sprig upright in a sieve till they are dry; in the mean time boil some double refined sugar to a syrup, and dip, the cherries, stalks and leaves in the syrup, and just let them scald; lay them on a sieve, and boil the sugar to a candy height, then dip the cherries, stalks, leaves and all, then stick the branches in sieves, and dry them as you do other sweet-meats. They look very pretty at candle-light in a desert.

 $\mathsf{Digitized}\,\mathsf{by}\,Google$

To make Orange Marmalade.

TAKE the best Seville oranges, cut them in quarters, grate them to take out the bitterness, and put them in water which you must shift twice or thrice a day, for three days. Then boil them, shifting the water till they are tender, shred them very small, then pick out the skins and seeds from the meat which you pulled out, and put it to the peel that is shred; and to a pound of that pulp, take a pound of double-refined sugar. Wet your sugar with water, and boil it up to a candy height, (with a very quick sire) which you may know by the dropping of it, for it hangs like a hair; then take it off the fire, put in your pulp, stir it well together, then set it on the embers, and stir it till it is thick, but let it not boil. If you would have it cut like marmalade, add some jelly of pippins, and allow sugar for it.

To make White Marmalade.

PARE and core the quinces as fast as you can, then take to a pound of quinces (being cut to pieces, less than half quarters) three quarters of a pound of double-refined sugar beat small, then throw half the sugar on the raw quinces, set it on a very slow fire till the sugar is melted, and the quinces tender; then put in the rest of the sugar, and boil it up as fast as you can. When it is almost enough, put in some jelly and boil it apace; then put it up, and when it is quite cold cover it with white paper.

To preserve Oranges Whole.

Take the best Bermudas or Seville oranges you can get, and pare them with a penknise very thin, and lay your oranges in water three or four days, shifting them every day; then put them in a kettle with fair water, and put a board on them to keep them down in the water, and have a skillet on the fire with water, that may be ready to supply the kettle with boiling water; as it wastes it must be filled up three or four times, while the oranges are doing, for they will take up seven or eight hours boiling; they must be boiled till a wheat straw will run through them, then take them out, and scoop the seeds out of them very carefully, by making a little hole in the top, and weigh them. To every pound of oranges put a pound and three quarters of double-refined sugar, beat well and sifted through a clean lawn sieve, fill your oranges with sugar, and strew some on them; let them lye a little while, and make your jelly thus;

Take two dozen of pippins or John apples, and flice them into water, and when they are boiled tender thrain the liquor from the pulp; and to every pound of oranges you must have a pint and a half of this liquor, and put to it three quarters of the sugar you left in filling the oranges, set it on the fire and let it boil, and skim it well, and put it in a clean earthen pan till it is cold, then put it in your skillet; put in your oranges, and with a small bod-

Kin job your oranges as they are boiling to let the fyrup into them, frew on the rest of your sugar whilst they are boiling, and when they look clear take them up and put them in your glasses, but one in a glass just fit for them, and boil the syrup till it is almost a jelly, then fill up your glasses; when they are cold, paper them up, and keep them in a dry place,

To make Red Marmalade.

Scald the quinces tender in water, then cut them in quarters, core and pare the pieces. To four pounds of quinces put three pounds of fugar, and four pints of water; boil the fugar and water to a fyrup, then put in the quinces and cover it. Let it standall night over a very little fire, but not to boil; when they are red enough, put in a porringer full of jelly or more, and boil them up as falt as you can. When it is enough put it up, but do not break the quinces too much.

Red Quinces Whole.

TAKE fix of the finest quinces, core and scald them tender, drain them from the water, and when they are cold pare them; then take their weight in good sugar, a pint of water to every pound of sugar, boil it to a syrup, skim it well, then put in the quinces, and let them stand all night; when they are red enough boil them as the marmalade, with two porringers sull of jelly. When they are as soft as you can run a straw through them, put them into glasses; let the liquor boil till it is a jelly, and then pour it over the quinces.

Jelly for the Quinces.

Take fome of the leffer quinces, and wipe them with a clean coarse cloth; cut them in quarters; put as much water as will cover them, let it boil apace till it is strong of the quinces, then strain it through a jelly bag. If it be for white quinces pick out the seeds, but none of the cores nor quinces pared.

To make Conferve of Red Roses, or any other Flowers.

TAKE rose buds, or any other flowers, and pick them, cut off the white part from the red, and put the red flowers and fift them through a sieve to take out the seeds; then weigh them, and to every pound of flowers take two pounds and a half of loaf sugar; beat the flowers pretty sine in a stone mortar, then by degrees put the sugar to them, and beat it very well till it is well incorporated together; then put it into gallipots, tie it over with paper, over that a leather, and it will keep seven years.

To make Conferve of Hips.

GATHER hips before they grow toft cut off the heads and stalks, slit them in halves, take out all the seeds and white that is in them very clean, then put them into an earthen pan, and stir them every day, or they will grow mouldy. Let them stand till they are soit enough to rub them through a coarse hair-sieve, as the pulp comes take it off the sieve: they are a dry berry, and will require pains to rub them through; then add its weight in fugar, mix them well together without boiling, and keep it in deep gallipots for use.

To make Syrup of Rofes.

Invuse three pounds of damask rose-leaves in a gallon of warm water, in a well glazed earthen pot, with a narrow mouth, for eight hours, which stop so close, that none of the virtue may exhale. When they have insused so long, heat the water again, squeeze them out, and put in three pounds more of rose leaves, to insuse for eight hours more, then press them out very hard: then to every quart of this infusion, add sour pounds of sine sugar, and boil it to a syrup.

To make Syrup of Citron. .

Pare and flice your citron thin, lay them in a bason, with layers of fine sugar. The next day pour off the liquor into a glass, skim it, and clarify it over a gentle fire.

To make Syrup of Clove Gilliflowers.

CLIP your gilliflowers, fprinkle them with fair water, put them into an earthen pot, step it up very close, set it in a kettle of water, and let it boil for two hours; then strain out the juice, put a pound and a half of sugar to a pint of juice, put it into a chiller, set it on the sire, keep it stirring till the sugar is all melted, but let it not boil, then set it by to cool, and put it into bottles.

To make Syrup of. Peach Bloffoms.

Infuse Peach blossoms in hot water, as much as will hand-somely cover them. Let them stand in balneo or in fand, for twenty-four hours covered close; then strain out the flowers from the liquor, and put in fresh slowers. Let them stand to insuse as before, then strain them out, and to the liquor put fresh peach blossoms the third time, and, if you please, a fourth time. Then to every pound of your insuson, add two pounds of double refined sugar; and setting it in sand, or Balneo, make a syrup, which keep for use.

To make Syrup of Quinces.

GRATE quinces, pass their pulp through a cloth to extract their juice, set their juice in the sun to settle, or before the fire, and by that means clarify it: for every sour ounces of this juice, take a pound of sugar boiled to a brown degree. If the putting in the juice of the quinces should check the boiling of the sugar too much, give the syrup some boiling till it becomes pearled; then take it off the sire, and when it is cold, put it into the bottles.

To preserve Apricots.

Take your apricots, stone and pare them thin, and take their weight in double refined sugar beaten and sisted, put your apricos in a silver cup or tankard, cover them over with sugar, and let them stand so all night. The next day put them in a preferving-pan, set them on a gentle fire, and let them simmer a little while, then let them boil till tender and clear, taking them off sometimes to turn and skim. Keep them under the liquor as they are doing, and with a small clean bodkin or great needle job them sometimes, that the syrup may penetrate into them. When they are enough, take them up, and put them in glasses. Boil and skim your syrup; and when it is cold, put it on your apricots.

To preserve Damsons whole.

You must take some damsons and cut them in pieces, put them in a skillet over the fire, with as much water as will cover them, When they are boiled and the liquor pretty strong, strain it out: add for every pound of the whole damsons wiped clean, a pound of single-refined sugar, put the third part of your sugar into the liquor, set it over the fire, and when it simmers put in the damsons. Let them have one good boil, and take them off for half an hour covered up close; then set them on again, and let them simmer over the fire after turning them, then take them out and put them in a bason, strew all the sugar that was left on them, and pour the hot liquor over them. Cover them up, and let them stand till next day, then boil them up again till they are enough. Take them up, and put them in pots; boil the liquor till it jellies, and pour it on them when it is almost cold, so paper them up.

To candy any Sort of Flowers.

Take the best treble-refined sugar, break it into lumps, and dip it piece by piece into water, put them into a vessel of silver, and melt them over the fire; when it just boils, strain it and set it on the fire again, and let boil till it draws in hairs, which you may perceive by holding up your spoon, then put in the slowers, and set them in cups or glasses. When it is of a hard candy, break it in lumps, and lay it as high as you please. Dry it in a stove, or in the sun, and it will look like sugar-candy.

· To preferve Goofeberries whole, without floning.

Take the largest preserving gooseberries, and pick off the back eye, but not the stalk, then set them over the fire in a pot of water to scald, cover them very close to scald, but not to boil or break, and when they are tender take them up into cold water; then take a pound and a half of double-refined sugar to a pound of gooseberries, and clarify the sugar with water, a pint to a pound of sugar, and when your syrup is cold put the gooseberries single in your preserving-pan, put the syrup to them, and set them on a gentle fire; let them boil, but not too sast, less they break; and when they have boiled and you perceive the sugar has entered them, take them off; cover them with white paper, and set them by till the next day. Then take them out of the syrup, and boil the syrup till it begins to be ropy; skim it, and put it to them again, then set them on a gentle fire, and let them preferve gently till you perceive the fyrup will rope; then take them off, fet them by till they are cold, cover them with paper, then boil fome goofeberries in fair water, and when the biquor is strong enough strain it out. Let it shand to fettle, and to every pint take a pound of double-refined sugar, then make a jelly of it, put the gooseberries in glasses, when they are cold; cover them with the jelly the next day, paper them wet, and then half dry the paper that goes in the inside, it closes down better, and then white paper over the glass. Set it in your stove, or a dry place.

To preserve White Walnuts.

First pare your walnuts till the white appears, and nothing elfe. You must be very careful in the doing of them that they don't turn black, and as fast as you do them, throw them into salt and water, and let them lie till your sugar is ready. Take three pounds of good loaf sugar, put it into your preserving-pan, set it over a charcoal fire, and put as much water as will just wet the sugar. Let it boil, then have ready ten or a dozen whites of eggs strained and beat up to a froth, cover your sugar with the froth as it boils, and skim it; then boil it, and skim it till it is as clear as chrystal, then throw in your walnuts, just give them a boil till they are tender, then take them out, and lay them in a dish to cool; when cool, put them in your preserving-pan, and when the sugar is as warm as milk pour it over them; when quite cold, paper them down.

Thus clear your fugar for all preserves, apricots, peaches, goofeberries, currants, &c.

To preserve Walnuts green.

Wife them very clean, and lay them in strong salt and water twenty four hours; then take them out, and wife them very clean, have ready a skiller of water boiling, throw them in, let them boil a minute, and take them out. Lay them on a coarse cloth, and boil your sugar as above; then just give your walnuts a scald in the sugar, take them up and lay them to cool. Put them in your preserving-pot, and pour on your syrup as above.

To preserve the large Green Plumbs.

FIRST dip the stalk and leaves in boiling vinegar, when they are dry have your syrup ready, and first give them a scald, and very carefully with a pin take off the skin, boil your sugar to a candy height, and dip in your plumbs, hang them by the stalk to dry, and they will look finely transparent, and by hanging that way to dry, will have a clear drop at the top. You must take great care to clear your sugar nicely.

A nice Way to preserve Peaches.

Pur your peaches in boiling water, just give them a scald, but don't let them boil, take them out and put them in cold water, then dry them in a sieve, and put them in long wide-mouth'd bottles; bottles: to half a dozen peaches take a quarter of a pound of fugar, clarify it, pour it over your peaches, and fill the bottles with brandy. Stop them close, and keep them in a close place.

A second Way to preserve Peaches,

Make your fyrup as above, and when it is clear just dip in your peaches and take them out again, lay them on a dish to cool, then put them into large wide-mouth'd bottles, and when the fyrup is cool pour it over them; let them stand till cold, and fill up the bottle with the best French brandy. Observe that you leave room enough for the peaches to be well cover'd with brandy, and cover the glass close with a bladder and leather, and the them close down.

To make Quince Cakes.

You must let a pint of the syrup of quinces, with a quart of two of rasherries be boiled and clarified over a clear gentle fire, taking care that it be well skimmed from time to time; then add a pound and a half of sugar, cause as much more to be brought to a candy height, and pour in hot. Let the whole be continually stirred about till it is almost cold, then spread it on plates, and cut it out into cakes.

C H A P. XIX.

To make Anchovies, Vermicella, Gatchup, Vinegar, and to keep Arsichokes, French Beans, &c.

To make Anchowies.

TO a peck of sprats, two pounds of common salt, a quarter of a pound of bay-salt, sour pounds of salt-petre two ounces of sal prunella, two-pennyworth of cochineal, pound all in a mortar, put them into a stone pot, a row of sprats, a layer of your compound, and so on to the top alternately. Press them hard down, cover them close, let them stand six months, and they will be fit for use. Observe that your sprats be very fresh, and don't wash nor wipe them, but just take them as they come our of the water.

To pickle Smelts, where you have Plenty.

Take a quarter of a peck of fmelts, half an ounce of pepper, half an ounce of nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of mace, half an ounce of petre-falt, a quarter of a pound of common falt, beat all very fine, wash and clean the smelts, gut them, then lay them in rows in a jar, and between every layer of smelts, strew the scatoning with four or sive bay-leaves, then boil red wine, and pour over them enough to cover them. Cover them with a plate, and when cold tie them down close. They exceed anchovies.

To make Vermicella.

Mix yelks of eggs and flour together into a pretty stiff passe, so as you can work it up cleverly, then roll it as thin as it is possible to roll the passe. Let it dry in the sun, when it is quite dry, with a very sharp knife cut it as thin as possible; and keep it in a dry place. It will run up like little worms, as vermicella does; though the best way is to run it through a coarse sieve, whilst the passe is soft. If you want some to be made in haste, dry it by the sire, and cut it small. It will dry by the fire in a quarter of an hour. This far exceeds what comes from abroad, being fresher.

To make Catchup.

TAKE the large flaps of mushrooms, pick nothing but the straws and dirt from it, then lay them in a broad earthen pan, strew a good > deal of falt over them, let them lie till next morning, then with your hand break them, put them into a stew-pan, let them boil a minute or two, then strain them through a coarse cloth, and wring it hard. To take out all the juice, levelt stand to settle, then pour it off clear, run it through a thick flannel bag (fome filter it through brown paper, but that is a very tedious way) then boil it; to a quart or the liquor put a quarter of an ounce of whole ginger, and half a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper. Boil it brickly a quarter of an hour, then strain it, and when it is cold, put it into pint bottles. In each bottle put four or five blades of mace, and fix cloves, cork it tight, and it will keep two years. This gives the best flavour of the mushrooms to any sauce. If you put to a pint of this catchup, a pint of mum, it will taite like foreign catchup.

Another Way to make Catchup.

Take the large flaps, and falt them as above; boil the liquor, strain it through a thick flannel bag: To a quart of that liquor put a quart of stale beer, a large stick of horse-radish cut in little slips, five or six bay-leaves, an onion stuck with twenty or thirty cloves, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of nutmegs beat, a quarter of an ounce of black and white pepper, a quarter of an ounce of all-spice, and four or sive races of ginger. Cover it close, and let it simmer very softly till about one third is wasted; then strain it through a slannel bag, when it is cold bottle it in pint bottles, cork it close, and it will keep a great while. You may put red wine in the room of beer; some put in a head of garlick, but I think that spoils it. The other receipt you have in the chapter for the sea.

Artichokes to keep all the Year.

BoIL as many artichokes as you intend to keep; boil them for as just the leaves will come out, then pull off all the leaves and choke, cut them from the strings, lay them in a tin plate, and put them in an oven where tarts are drawn; let them stand till the oven is heated again, take them out before the wood is put in, and fet them in again after the tarts are drawn; so do till they are as dry as a board, then put them in a paper bag, and hang them in a dry place. You should lay them in warm water three or four hours before you use them, shifting the water often. Let the last water be boiling hot; they will be very tender, and cat as sine as fresh ones. You need not dry all your bottoms at once, as the leaves are good to eat; so boil a dozen at a time, and save the bottoms for this use.

To keep French Be. ns all the Year.

Take fine young beans, gather them of a very fine day, have a large stone jar ready clean and dry, lay a layer of salt at the botsom, and then a layer of beans, then falt and then beans, and to on till the jar is full; cover them with sait, tie a coarse cloth over them and a board on that, and then a weight to keep it close from. all air; fet them in a dry cellar, and when you use them take some out and cover them close again; wash them you took out very clean, and let them lye in fost water twenty-four hours. shifting the water often; when you boil them, don't put the sale in water. The best way of dressing them is, boil them with just the white heart of a finall cabbage, then drain them, chop the cabbage, and put them both into a faucepan, with a piece of butter as big as an egg rolled in flour, shake a little pepper, put in ' a quarter of a pint of good gravy, let them shew ten minutes, and then dish them up for a side-dish. A pint of beans to the cab-You may do more or less, just as you please.

To keep Green Peas till Christmas.

Take fine young peas, shell them, throw them into boiling water with some salt in, let them boil five or six minutes, throw them into a cullender to drain, then lay a cloth sour or five times double on a table, and spread them on; dry them very well, and have your bottles ready, sill them and cover them with mutton-fat try'd; when it is a little cold fill the necks almost to the top, cork them, tie a bladder and a lath over them, and set them in a cool dry place. When you use them boil your water, put in a little salt, some sugar, and a piece of butter; when they are boiled enough, throw them into a sieve to drain, then put them into a saucepan with a good piece of butter, keep shaking it round all the time till the butter is melted, then turn them into a dish, and send them to table.

Another Way to presing Green Peas.

GATHER your peac of a very dry day, when they are neither old, nor yet too young, shell them, and have ready some quart bottles with little mouths, being well dried; fill the bottles and cork them well, have ready a pipkin of rosin melted, into which dip the necks of the bottles, and set them in a very dry place that is cool.

To keep Green Gooseberries till Christmas.

Pick your large green goofeberries on a dry day, have ready your bottles clean and dry, fill the bottles and cork them, fet them them in a kettle of water up to the necks, let the water boil very foftly till you find the goofeberries are coddled, take them out, and put in the rest of the bottles till all are done; then have ready some rosin melted in a pipkin, dip the necks of the bottles in, and that will keep all air from coming at the cork, keep them in a cold dry place, where no damp is, and they will bake as red as a cherry. You may keep them without scalding, but then the skins will not be so tender, nor bake so fine.

To keep Red Goofeberries.

Pick them when full ripe, to each quart of goofeberries, put a quarter of a pound of Lisbon sugar, and to each quarter of a pound of sugar put a quarter of a pint of water, let it boil, then put in your gooseberries and let them boil softly two or three minutes, then pour them into little stone jars, when cold cover them up, and keep them for use; they make fine pies with little trouble. You may press them through a cullender; to a quart of pulp put half a pound of fine Lisbon sugar, keep stirring over the fire till both be well mixed and boiled, then pour it into a stone jar, when cold cover it with white paper, and it makes very pretty tarts or pusses.

To keep Walnuts all the Year.

TAKE a large jar, a layer of sea-sand at the bottom, then a layer of walnuts, then sand, then the ruts, and so on till the jar is full; and be sure they don't touch each other in any of the layers. When you would use them, lay them in warm water for an hour, shifting the water as it cools; then rub them dry, and they will peel well and eat sweet. Lemons will keep thus covered, better than any other way.

Another Way to keep Lemons.

Take the fine large fruit that are quite found and good, and take a fine packthread about a quarter of a yard long, run it thro' the hard nib at the end of the lemon, then tie the firing together, and hang it on a little hook in a dry airy place, fo do as many as you please; but be sure they don't touch one another, nor any thing else, but hang as high as you can. Thus you may keep pears, &c. only tying the string to the stalk.

To keep White Bullice, or Pear Plumbs, or Damsons, &c. for Tarts, or Pies.

GATHER them when full grown, and just as they begin to turn. Pick all the largest out, save about two thirds of the fruit, the other third put as much water to as you think will cover the rest. Let them boil, and skim them; when the fruit is boiled very soft, then strain it thro' a coarse hair-sieve; and to every quart of this siquor, put a pound and a half of sugar, boil it, and skim it very well; then throw in your fruit, just give them a scald, take them off the fire, and when cold put them into bottles with wide mouths, pour your syrup over them, lay a piece of white paper over them, and cover them with oil. Be sure to take the oil well off when you use them, and don't put them in larger bottles than you think you shall make use of at a time, because all these forts of fruits spoil with the air.

To make Vinegar.

... To every gallon of water put a pound of coarse Lisbon sugar. let it boil, and keep skimming of it as long as the scum rises; then pour it into tubs, and when it is as cold as beer to work, toast a good toast, and rub it over with yeast. Let it work twenty-four hours; then have ready a vessel iron-hooped, well painted, fixed in a place where the fun has full power, and fix it To as not to have any occasion to move it. When you draw it off, then fill your vessel, lay a tile on the bung to keep the dust Make it in March, and it will be fit to use in June or July. Draw it off into little stone bottles the latter end of June or beginning of July, let it stand till you want to use it, and it will never foul any more; but when you go to draw it off, and you find it is not four enough, let it stand a month longer before you draw For pickles to go abroad, use this vinegar alone; but in England you will be obliged, when you pickle, to put one half cold spring water to it, and then it will be full four with this vinegar. You need not boil, unless you please, for almost any fort of pickles, it will keep them quite good. It will keep walnuts very fine without boiling, even to go to the Indies; but then don't put water to it. For green pickles, you may pour it scalding hot on two or three times. All other forts of pickles you need not boil it. Mushrooms only wash them clean, dry them. put them into little bottles, with a nutmeg just scalded in vinegar, and fliced (whilst it is hot) very thin, and a few blades of mace; then fill up the bottle with the cold vinegar and ipringwater, pour mutton fat try'd over it, and tye a bladder and leather over the top. These mushrooms won't be so white, but as finely tasted, as if they were just gathered; and a spoonful of this pickle will give fauce a very fine flavour.

White walnuts, suckers and onions, and all white pickles do in the same manner, after they are ready for the pickle.

To fry Smelts.

Lay your fmelts in a marinade of vinegar, falt, pepper, and bay leaves, and cloves for a few hours; then dry them in a napkin, drudge them well with flour, and have ready some butter hot in a stewpan. Fry them quick, lay them in your dish, and garnish with fry'd parsley.

To roast a Pound of Butter.

Lay it in falt and water two or three hours, then spit it, and rub it all over with trumbs of bread, with a little grated nutrneg, lay it to the fire, and as it roasts, baste it with the yolks of two eggs, and then with crumbs of bread all the time it is a roasting; but have ready a pint of oysters stewed in their own liquor, and lay in the dish under the butter; when the bread has soak'd up all the butter, brown the outside, and lay it on your oysters.
Your fire must be very slow.

- To raise a Sallad in two Hours at the Fire.

TAKE fresh horse-dung hot, lay it in a tub near the fire, there sprinkle some mustard-seeds thick on it, lay a thin layer of horse-dung over it, cover it close and keep it by the fire, and it will rise high enough to cut in two hours.

DISTILLING.

To distil Walnut Water.

TAKE a peck of green walnuts, bruife them well in a large mortar, put them in a pan, with a handful of balm bruifed, put two quarts of good French brandy to them, cover them close, and let them lye three days; the next day distil them in a cold still; from this quantity draw three quarts, which you may do in a day.

How to use this ordinary Still.

You must lay the plate, then wood-ashes thick at the bottom, then the iron pan, which you are to fill with your walnuts and liquor, then put on the head of the still, make a pretty brisk fire till the still begins to drop, then sacken it so as just to have enough to keep the still at work, mind all the time to keep a wet cloth all over the head of the still all the time it is at work, and always observe not to let the still work longer than the liquor is good, and take great care you don't burn the still; and thus you may distill what you please. If you draw the still too far it will burn, and give your liquor a bad taste.

To make Treacle Water.

TAKE the juice of green walnuts four pounds, of rue, carduns, marygold and balm, of each three pounds, roots of butter-bur half a pound, roots of burdock one pound, angelica and masterwort, of each half a pound, leaves of foordium in handfuls, Venice treacle and mithridate of each half a pound, old canary wine two pounds, white wine vinegar in pounds, juice of lemon in pounds, and distil this in a lembick.

To make Black Cherry Water.

TAKE fix pounds of black cherries, and bruife them small; then put to them the tops of rosemary, sweet-marjoram, spearmint, angelica, balm, marygold flowers, of each a handful, dry'd violets one ounce, aniseeds and sweet sennel-seeds, of each half an ounce bruised; cut the herbs small, mix all together, and distil them off in a cold still.

, To make Hysterical Water

TAKE betony, roots of lovage, feeds of wild parfnips, of each two ounces, roots of tingle piony four ounces, of mysletoe of the the cak three ounces, myrrh a quarter of an ounce, castor half an ounce; beat all these together, and add to them a quarter of a pound of dried millepedes; pour on these three quarts of mugwort water, and two quarts of brandy; let them stand in a close vessel eight days, then distil it in a cold still posted up. You may draw off nine pints of water, and sweeten it to your taste. Mix all together, and bottle it up.

To distil red Rose Buds.

WET your roses in fair water; four gallons of roses will take rear two gallons of water, then still them in a cold still; take the same stilled water, and put it into as many fresh roses as it will wet, then still them again.

Mint, balm, parsley and pennyroyal water, distil the same way.

To make Plague Water.

Roots. NGELICA, Wormwood, Dragon, Maywort, Mint, Rue, Carduus, Origany, Winter-Savoury, Broad Thyme, Rosemary, Pimpemell, Sage, Fumetory, Coltsfoot, Scabeous, Burridge,

Saxafrage,

Tarmander.

Bittony, Liverwort, Suckery, Hyssop, Agrimony, Fennel, Cowflips, Poppies. Plantain, Setfoyl, Bugloss, Vocvain, Maidenhair, Motherwort, Cowage, Golden-rod, Gromwell, Dill.

Seeds. Hart's tongue, Whore-hound. Fennel, Melolet. St. John-wort, Comfery, Feathertew. Red Rose-leaves. Wood-forrel, Pellitory of the Wall, Hart's-ease, Sentory, Seadrink, a good handful of each of the above-mention things, Gentian-root, Dock-root, Butter-bur-root, Piony-root, Bay-berries, Juniper - berries; o each of these a pound.

one ounce of nutmeg, one ounce of cloves, and half an ounce of mace; pick the herbs and flowers, and shred them a little. Cut the roots, bruife the berries, and pound the spices fine; take a peck of green walnuts, and chop them small, mix all these together, and lay them to steep in fack-lees, or any white wine-lees; if not, in good spirits, but wine-lees are best. Let them lye a week, or better; be fure to stir them once a day with a stick, and keep them close covered, then still them in a lembick with a flow fire, and take care your still does not burn. The first, second, and third running is good, and some of the fourth. Let them stand till cold, then put them together. To make Surfeit Water.

You must take scurvey-grass, brook-lime, watercresses, roman wormwood, rue, mint, balm, fage, clivers, of each one fiandful; green merery two handfuls; poppies, if fresh half a peck, if dry a quarter of a peck; cochineal six pennyworth, sassense pennyworth; ani-seeds, carraway-seeds, coriander-seeds, cardamon-seeds, of each an ounce; liquorice two ounces scraped, siggs split a pound, raisins of the sun stoned a pound, juniperberries an ounce bruised, nutmeg an ounce beat, mace an ounce bruised, sweet sennel-seeds an ounce bruised, a sew slowers of rosemary, marigolds and sage-slowers; put all these into a large stone jar; and put to them three gallons of French brandy; cover it close, and let it stand near the fire for three weeks. Stir it three times a week, and be sure to keep it close stopped, and then strain it off; bottle your liquor, and pour on the ingredients a gaston more of French brandy. Let it stand a week, stirring it once a day, then distil it in a cold still, and this will make sine white surfect water.

You may make this water at any time of the year, if you live at London, because the ingredients are always to be had, either green ordry; but it is best made in summer.

To make Milk Water.

Take two good handfuls of wormwood, as much carduus, as much rue, four handfuls of mint, as much balm, half as much angelica, cut these a little, put them in a cold still, and put to them three quarts of milk. Let your fire be quick till your still drops, and then slacken your fire. You may draw off two quarts. The first quart will keep all the year.

How to diffil vinegar, you have in the chapter of pickles.

C H A P. XXI.

How to Market; and the Seasons of the Year for Butchers Meat, Poultry, Fish, Herbs, Roots, &c., and Fruit.

A Bullock.

THE head, tongue, palate; the entrails are the sweetbreads, kidneys, skirts and tripe; there is the double, the roll, and the reed tripe.

The Fore - Quarter.

First is the haunch; which includes the clod, marrow-bone, shin, and the slicking-piece; that is the neck-end. The next is the leg of mutton-piece, which has part of the blade-bone; then the chuck-piece; the briscuit, the four ribs, and middle-rib, which is called the chuck-rib.

The Hind-Quarter.

First furloin and rump, the thin and thick-flank, the veinypiece, then the chuck-bone, buttock and leg. A Sheep.

THE head and pluck; which includes the liver, lights, heart, fweetbreads, and melt.

The Fore-Quarter.

The neck, breast, and shoulder.

The Hind-Quarter.

The leg and loin. The two loins together is called a faddle of mutton, which is a fine joint when it is the little fat mutton.

A Calf.

THE head and inwards are the pluck; which consains the heart, liver, lights, nut and melt, and what they call the skirts (which eat finely broiled) the throat sweetbread, and the wind-pipe sweetbread, which is the finest.

The fore-quarter is the shoulder, neck, and breast.

The hind-quarter is the leg, which contains the knuckle and fillet, then the loin.

House Lamb.

The head and pluck, that is the liver, lights, heart, nut and melt. Then there is the fry, which is the sweetbreads, lambstones and skirts, with some of the liver.

The fore-quarter is the shoulder, neck and breast together.

The hind quarter the leg and loin. This is in high season at Christmas, but lasts all the year.

Grafs Lumb comes in, in April or May, according to the feafon of the year, and holds good till the middle of August.

A Hog.

THE head and inwards; and that is the haslet, which is the liver and crow, kidney and skirts. It is mixed with a great deal of sage and sweet herbs, pepper, salt and spice, so rolled in the caul and roasted; then there are the chitterlins and the guts, which are gleaned for sausages.

The fore-quarter is the fore-loin and spring; if a large hog, you may cut a sparrib off.

The hind-quarter, only deg and loin.

A Bacon Hog.

This is cut different, because of making ham, bacon and pickled pork. Here you have fine sparribs, chines and griskins, and fat for hog's-lard. The liver and crow is much admired fry'd with bacon; the feet and ears of both are equally good souled.

Pork comes in feafon at Bartholomew-tide, and holds good till Lady-day.

How to chuse Butchers Meat.

To chuse Lamb.

In a fore-quarter of lamb, mind the neck vein; if it be an azure blue it is new and good, but if greenish or yellowish, it is near tainting, if not tainted already. In the hinder-quarter, smell under the kidney and try the knuckle; if you meet with a faint scent, and the knuckle be limber, it is stelle killed. For a lamb's head head, mind the eyes if they be funk or wrinkled, it is stale; if plump and lively, it is new and sweet,

Veal.

It the bloody vein in the shoulder looks blue, or a bright redit is new killed; but if blackish, greenish, or yellowish, it is slabby and stale; if wrapped in wet cloths, smell whether it be musty or not. The loin first taints under the kidney, and the slesh, if stale killed, will be foft and slimy.

The breast and neck taints first at the upper-end, and you will perceive some dusky, yellow, or greenish appearance; the sweet-bread on the breast will be clammy, otherwise its fresh and good. The leg is known to be new by the stiffness of the joint; if limber, and the stesh seems clammy, and has green or yellowish specks, 'tis stale. The head is known as the lamb's. The Flesh of a bull-calf is more red and firm that that of a cow-calf, and the fat more hard and curdled.

Mutton.

If the mutton be young, the flesh will pinch tender; if old, it will wrinkle and remain so; if young, the fat will easily part from the lean; if old, it will slick by strings and skins: If rammutton, the fat feels spungy, the flesh close grained and tough, not rising again, when dented by your singer; if ewe-mutton, the flesh is paler than weather-mutton, a closer-grain, and easily parting. If there be a rot, the flesh will be palish, and the fat a faint whitish, inclining to yellow, and the flesh be loose at the bone. If you squeeze it hard, some drops of water will stand up like sweat; as to newness and staleness, the same is to be observed as by lamb,

Beef.

If it be right ox-beef, it will have an open grain; if young, a tender and oily fmoothness; If rough and spungy, it is old, or inclining to be so, except neck, briscuit, and such parts as are very sibrous, which in young meat will be more rough than in other parts. A carnation pleasant colour betokens good spending meat, the such a curious white, yellowish is not so good.

Cow-beef is less bound and closer grained than the ox, the fat whiter, but the lean somewhat paler; if young, the dent you make with your finger will rife again in a little time.

Bull-beef is of a closer grain, a deep dusky red, tough in pinching, the fat skinny, hard, and has a rammish rank smell; and for newness or staleness, this sless bought fresh has but few signs, the more material is its clamminess, and the rest your smell will inform you. If it be bruised, these places will look more dusky or blackish than the rest.

Pork.

If it be young, the lean will break in pinching between your fingers, and if you nip the skin with your nails, it will make a dent; also if the fat be soft and pulpy, in a manner like lard: If the lean be tough, and the fat slabby and spungy, feeling rough, it is old; especially if the rhind be stubborn, and you cannot nip it with your nails.

If of a boar, though young, or of a hog, gelded at full growth, the flesh will be hard, tough, reddish, and rammish of smell; the fat skinny and hard; the skin very thick and tough, and pinched up it will immediatly fall again.

As for old and new killed, try the legs, hands and fprings, by putting your fingers under the bone that comes out; for if it be tainted, you will there find it by finelling your finger; besides, the skin will be sweaty and clammy when stale, but cool and Imooth when new.

If you find little kernels in the fat or pork, like hail-shot; if many, 'tis measly, and dangerous to be eaten.

How to chuse Brawn, Venison, Westphalia Hams, &c.

RAWN is known to be old or young, by the extraordinary or moderate thickness of the rhind; the thick is old, the moderate is young. If the rhind and fat be very tender, it is not boar-brawn, but barrow or sow.

Venison.

TRY the haunches or shoulders under the bones that come out, with your finger or knife, and as the scent is sweet or rank, it is new or stale; and the like of the sides in the most sleshy parts: If tainted, they will look greenish in some places, or more than ordinary black. Look on the hoofs, and if the clists are very wide and tough, it is old; If close and smooth, it is young.

The Season for Venison.

THE buck-venifon begins in May, and is in high feason till All-Hallows-Day; the doe is in feason from Michaelmas to the end of December, or sometimes to the end of January.

Westphalia Hams and English Bacon.

Pur a knife under the bone that flicks out of the ham, and if it come out in a manner clean, and has a curious flavour, it is sweet and good; if much sineared and dulled, it is tainted or rusty.

English gammons are tried the same way; and for other parts try the sat, if it be white, oily in feeling, and does not break or crumble, and the sless flicks well to the bone and bears a good colour, it is good; but if the contrary, and the lean has some little streaks of yellow, it is rusty, or will soon be so.

Butter, Checfe, and Eggs,

When you buy butter, trust not to that which will be given you to taste, but try in the middle, and if your smell and taste be good, you cannot be deceived.

Cheese is to be chosen by its moist and smooth coat; if old cheese be rough coated, rugged, or dry at top, bewere of little worms or mites. If it be over full of holes, moist or spungy, it is subject to maggots. If any soft or perished place appear on the R 4 outside, try how deep it goes, for the greater part may be hid within.

Eggs, hold the great end to your tongue; if it feels warm, be fure it is new; if cold, it is bad, and so in proportion to the hear and cold, so is the goodness of the egg. Another way to know a good egg is, to put the egg into a pan of cold water, the fresher the egg the fooner it will fall to the bottom; if rotten, it will fwim at the top. This is also a sure way not to be deceived. As to the keeping of them, pitch them all with the small end downwards in fine wood-ashes, turning them once a week endways, and they will keep fome months.

Poultry.

Hen-turkeys, capons, pullets with eggs, fowls, chickens, hares, all forts of wild fowl, tame rabbits and tame pigeons.

February. Turkeys and pullets with eggs, capons, fowls, small chickens, hares, all forts of wild fowl (which in this month begin to decline) tame and wild pigeons, tame rabbits, green geese, young ducklings, and turkey poults.

March. This month the same as the preceding month: and in this month wild fowl goes quite out.

April. Pullets, spring fowl, chickens, pigeons, young wild rabbits, leverets, young geefe, ducklings, and turkey poults.

May. The fame.

June. The same:
July. The same; with young partridges, pheasants, and wild ducks, called flappers or moulters.

August. The same.

September, October, November, and December. In thefe months all forts of fowls, both wild and tame, are in feafon; and in the three last, is the full season for all manner of wild fowl.

How to chuse Poultry.

To know whether a Capon is a true one, young or old, new or stale.

If he be young his fours are short, and his legs smooth; if a true capon, a fat vein on the fide of his breast, the comb pale, a thick belly and rump: If new, he will have a close hard vent; if stale, a luose open vent.

A Cock or Hen Turkey, Turkey Poults

If the the cock be young, his legs will be black and finooth, and his spurs short; if stale, his eyes will be sunk in his head, and the feet dry; if new, the eyes lively and feet limber. Observe the like by the hen, and moreover if she be with egg, she will have a fost open vent; if not, a hard close vent. Turkey poults are known the same Way, and their age cannot deceive you.

A Cock, Hen, &c.

If young his fpurs are short and dubbed, but take particular notice they are not pared or scraped: If old, he will have an open went; but if new, a close hard vent: And so of a hen for new-ness or staleness; if old, her legs and comb are rough; if youngs smooth.

A. Tame Goofe, Wild Goofe, Bran Goofe.

Ir the bill be yellowish, and she has but sew hairs, she is young, but if sull of hairs, and the bill and foot red, she is old; if new, limber footed; if stale, dry footed; and so of a wild goose, and bran goose.

Wild and Tame Ducks.

THE duck, when fat, is hard and thick on the belly, but if not, thin and lean; if new, limber footed; if stale, dry footed. A true wild duck has a reddish foot, smaller than the tame one.

Goodwets, Marle, Knots, Ruffs, Gull, Dotterels, and Wheat Ears.

If these be old, their legs will be rough; if young, smooth;

if fat, a fat rump; if new, limber footed; if stale, dry footed.

Pheafant, Cock and Hen.

THE cock, when young, has dubbed fours when old, sharp small spurs; if new, a fast vent, and if stale, an open slabby one. The hen, if young, has smooth legs, and her slesh of a curious grain; if with egg, she will have a soft open vent, and if not, a close one. For newness or staleness, as the cock.

Heath and Pheafant Poults

If new, they will be stiff and white in the vent, and the feet limber; if fat, they will have a hard vent, if stale, dry footed and limber, and if touched they will peel.

Heath Cock and Hen.

Ir young, they have smooth legs and bills; and if old, rough. For the rest are known as the foregoing.

Partridge, Cock or Hen.

The bill white and the legs bluish, shew age; for if young, the bill is black and legs yellowish; if new, fast vent; if itale, a green and open one. If their crops be full, and they have fed on green wheat, they may taint there; and for this imell in their mouth.

Woodcock and Snipe.

THE woodcock, if fat, is thick and hard; if new, limber footed; when stale, dry footed; or if their noses are snotty, and their throats muddy and moorish, they are nought. A snipe, if fat, has a fat vent in the side under the wing, and in the vent feels thick; for the rest like the woodcock.

Doves and Pigeons.

To know the turtle dove, look for the bluish ring round his neck, and the rest mostly white: The stock dove is bigger; and the ring dove is less than the stock dove. The dove-house pigeons, when old, are red legged; if new and sat, they will feel sull and sat in the vent, and are limber sooted; but if stale, a stabby and green vent.

And

And thus of green or grey plovers, felfare, blackbird, thrush, larks, &c.

Of Hare, Leveret, and Rabbit.

Hare will be whitish and stiff, if new and clean killed; if stale, the sless blackish in the most parts, and the body limber; if the clift in her lips spread very much, and her claws wide and ragged she is old, and the contrary young: If the hare be young, the ears will tear like a piece of brown paper; if old, dry and tust. To know a true leveret, feel on the fore-leg near the foot, and if there be a small bone or knob it is right, if not, it is a hare: For the rest observe as in a hare. A rabbit, if stale, will be limber and slimy, if new, white and stiff; if old, her claws are very long and rough, the wool mottled with grey hairs; if young, the claws and wool smooth.

CANDLEMAS QUARTER.

FISH in Scason.

LOBSTERS, crabs, crawfish, river crawfish, guard-fish, mackerel, breams, barbel, roach, shad or alloc, lamprey or lamper-eels, dace, bleak, prawnes, and horse-mackerel.

The eels that are taken in running water, are better than pond eels; of those the filver ones are most esteemed.

MIDSUMMER QUARTER.

TURBUTS and trouts, foals, grigs, shafflins and glout, tenes, falmon, dolphin, flying-fish, sheep head, tollis, both land and sea, sturgeon, seale, chubb, lobsters and crabs.

Sturgeon is a fish commonly found in the northern seas; but now and then we find them in our great rivers, the Thames, the Severn, and the Tyne. This fish is of a very large size, and will sometimes measure eighteen feet in length. They are much esteemed when fresh, cut in pieces, and roasted or baked, or pickled for cold treats. The cavier is esteem'd a dainty, which is the spawn of this sish. The latter end of this quarter comes smelts.

MICHAELMAS QUARTER.

Con and haddock, coalfish, white and pouting hake, lyng, tuske and mullet, red and grey, weaver, gurnet, rocket, herrings, sprats, soals and flounders, plaise, dabs and smeare-dabs, eels, chare, scate, thornbacks, and humlyn, kinson, oysters and scollops, salmon, sea perch and carp, pike, tench, and sea tench.

Scate maides are black, and thornback maides white. Gray bass comes with the mullet.

In this quarter are fine finelts, and hold till after Christmas.

There are two forts of mullets, the sea mullet, and river mulatet, both equally good.

CHRIST.

CHRISTMAS QUARTER.

Dorey, brile, gudgeons, gollin, fmelts, crouch, perch, and chovy and loach, scollop and wilks, periwinkles, cockles, mussels, geare, bearber and hollebet.

How to chuse FISH.

To chuse Salmon, Pike, Front, Carp, Tench, Grailing, Barbel, Chubb, Ruff, Ecl, Whiting, Smelt; Shad, &c.

ALL these are known to be new or stale by the colour of their gills, their casiness or hardness to open the hanging or keeping up their fins, the standing out or finking of their eyes, &c. and by smelling their gills.

Turbutt

Hz is chosen by his thickness and plumpness, and if his belly be of a cream colour, he must spend well; but if thin, and his belly of a bluish white, he will eat very loose.

Cod and Codling.

Chuse him by his thickness towards his head, and the whiteness of his stesh when it is cut: And so of a codling.

Ling.

For dried ling, chuse that which is thickest in the poll, and the slesh of the brightest yellow,

Scate and Thornback,

THESE are chosen by their thickness, and the she scate is the sweetest, especially if large.

Soals.

THESE are chosen by their thickness and stiffness; when their bellies are of a cream colour, they spend the firmer.

Sturgeon.

If it cuts without crumbling, and the veins and griftles give a true blue where they appear, and the flesh a perfect white, then conclude it to be good.

Fresh Herrings and Mackerel.

If their gills are of a lively shining redness, their eyes stand full, and the fish is stiff, then they are new; but if dusky and saded, or finking and wrinkled, and tails limber, they are stale.

Lobsters.

Chuse them by their weight, the heaviest are best, if no water be in them: if new, the tail will be full smart, like a spring; if full, the middle of the tail will be full of hard, reddish-skinned meat. Cock lobster is known by the narrow back part of the tail, and the two uppermost sins within his tail are stiff and hard; but the hen is soft, and the back of her tail broader.

Prowes,

Prawns, Shrimps, and Crabfifb.

The two first, if siale, will be limber, and cast a kind of slimy smelt, their colour fading, and they slimp: the latter will be limber in their claws and joints, their red colour turn blackish and dusky, and will have an ill smell under their throats, otherwise all of them are good.

Plaise and Flounders.

Ir they are shiff, and their eyes be not sunk or look dull, they are new, the contrary when stale, The best fort of plaise look bluish on the belly.

Pickled Salmon.

Ir the flesh feels oily, and the scales are stiff and shining, and it comes in flakes, and parts without crumbling, then it is new and good, and not otherwise.

Pickled and Red Herrings.

For the first, open the back to the bone, and if the siesh be white, sleaky and oily, and the bone white, or a bright red, they are good. If red herrings carry a good gloss, part well from the bone, and smell well, then conclude them to be good.

EHAP. XXII-

A certain Cure for the Bite of a Mad Dog.

ET the patient be blooded at the arm nine or ten ounces.

Take of the herb, called in Latin, lichen cinereus terrestris; in English, ash-coloured ground liverwort, cleaned and dried and powdered, half and ounce; of black pepper powdered, two drachmes drachms. Mix these well together, and divide the powder into four doses; one of which muit be taken every morning fasting, for four mornings successively in half a pint of cow's milk warm. After these four doses are taken, the patient must go into the cold bath or a cold spring, or river every morning fasting for a month. He must be dipt all over, but not stay in (with his head above water) longer than half a minute, if the water be very cold. After this he must go in three times a week for a fortnight longer.

N. B. The lichen is a very common herb, and grows generally in fandy and barren foils all over England. The right time to gather it, is in the months of October and November.

Another for the Bite of a Mad Dog.

For the bite of a mad dog, either man or beast: Take six ounces of rue clean picked and bruised, four ounces of garlick peeled and bruised, four ounces of Venice treacle, and sour ounces of filed pewter, or scraped tin. Boil these in two quarts of the best ale, in a pan covered close over a gentle sire, for the space of an hour, then strain the ingredients from the liquor. Give eight or nine spoonfuls of it warm to a man, or a woman, three mornings fasting. Eight or nine spoonfuls is sufficient for the strongest; a lesser quantity to those younger, or of a weaker constitution, as you may judge of their strength. Ten or twelve spoonfuls for a horse, or a bullock; three, four, or sive to a sheep, hog, or dog. This must be given within nine days after the bite; it seldom fails in man or beast. If you can conveniently bind some of the ingredients on the wound, it will be so much the better.

Receipt against the Plague.

TAKE of rue, fage, mint, rosemary, wormwood and lavender, a handful of each; infuse them together in a gallon of white wine vinegar, put the whole into a stone-pot closely covered up, upon warm wood ashes for four days: After which draw off (or strain through fine ffannel) the liquid, and put it into bottles well corked; and into every quart bottle, put a quarter of an ounce of camphire. With this preparation wash your mouth, and rub your loins and your temples every day; fnuff a little up your nostrils when you go into the air, and carry about you a bit of sponge dipped in the same, in order to smell to upon all occasions, especially when you are near any place or person that is infected. They write, that four malefactors (who had robbed the infested houses, and murdered the people during the course of the plague) owned, when they came to the gallows, that they had preferved themselves from the contagion, by using the above medicine only; and that they went the whole time from house to house, without any fear of the distemper.

How to keep clear from Buggs.

First take out of your room all filver and gold lace, then fet the chairs about the room, shut up your windows and doors, tack a blanket over each window, and before the chimney, and over the doors of the room, fet open all closets and cupboard doors. all your draws and boxes, hang the rest of your bedding on the chair-backs, lay the feather-bed on a table, then fer a large broad earthen pan in the middle of the room, and in that fet a chafing-dish that stands on feet, full of charcoal well lighted. your room is very bad, a pound of rolled brimstone; if only a new, half a pound. Lay it on the charcoal, and get out of the room as as quick as possible; or it will take away your breatha Shut your door close, with the blanket over it, and be fure to fet it to as nothing can catch fire. If you have any India pepper. throw in with the brimitone. You must take care to have the door open whilst you lay in the brimstone, that you may get out as foon as possible. Don't open the door under fix hours, and then you must be very careful how you go in to open the windows: therefore let the doors stand open an hour before you open the windows. Then brush and sweep your room very clean, wash it well with boiling lee, or boiling water, with a little unflacked lime in it, get a pint of spirits of wine, a pint of spirit of turpentine, and an ounce of camphire; shake all well together, and with a bunch of feathers wash your bedstead very well, and fprinkle the rest over the feather-bed, and about the wainscot and

If you find great swarms about the room, and some not dead, do this over again, and you will be quite clear. Every spring and fall, wash your bedstead with half a pint, and you will never have a bugg; but if you find any come in with new goods, or box, &c. only wash your bedstead, and sprinkle all over your bedding and bed, and you will be clear; but be sure to do it as soon as you find one. If your room is very bad, it will be well to paint the room after the brimstone is burnt in it.

This never fails, if rightly done.

An effectual Way to clear the Bedftead of Buggs.

Take quickfilver and mix it well in a mortar with the white of an egg till the quickfilver is all well mixt, and there is no blubbers; then beat up some white of an egg very fine, and mix with the quickfilver till it is like a fine ointment, then with a feather anoint the bedstead all over in every creek, and corner, and about the lacing and binding, where you think there is any. Do this two or three times, and it is a certain cure, and will not spoil any thing.

Directions to the House-Maid.

ALWAYS when you sweep a room, throw a little wet sand all over it, and that will gather up all the slew and dust, prevents it from rising, cleans the boards, and saves the bedding, pictures, and all other furniture from dust and dirt.

ADDITION S.

To dress a Turtle, the West-India Way.

AKE the turtle out of the water the night before you intend to dress it, and lay it on its back in the morning, cut its throat or the head off, and let it bleed well; then cut off the fins, scald, scale and trim them with the head, then raise the callepy (which is the belly or under shell) clean off, leaving to it as much meat as you conveniently can; then take from the back shell all the meat and intrails, except the monsieur, which is the fat and looks green, that must be baked to and with the shell; wash all clean with falt and water, and cut it in pieces of a moderate fize, taking from it the bones, and put them with the fins and headin a foup-pot, with a gallon of water, some salt, and two blades of -When it boils, fcum it clean, then put in a bunch of thyme, parsley, savoury and young onions, and your veal part, except about one pound and a half, which must be made forcemeat of, as for Scotch collops, adding a little Cayan pepper; - When the yeal has boiled in the four about an hour, take it out and cut it in pieces, and put to the other part. The guts (which is reckoned the best part) must be split open, scraped and made clean, and cut in pieces about two inches long. The paunch or maw must be scalded and skinned, and cut as the other parts, the size you think proper; then put them with the guts and other parts, except the liver, with half a pound of good fresh butter, a few shalots, a bunch of thyme, parsley, and a little favoury, season'd with falt, white pepper, mace, three or four cloves beaten, a little Cayan pepper, and take care not to put too much; then let it stew about half an hour over a good charcoal fire, and put in a pint and a half of Madeira wine and as much of the broth as will cover it, and let it flew till tender. It will take four or five hours When almost enough, scum it, and thicken it with flour, mixt with some veal broth, about the thickness of a fricasey. Let your force-meat balls be fry'd about the fize of a walnut, and be slew'd about haif an hour with the rest; if any eggs, let them be boiled and cleaned as you do knots of pullets eggs, and if none, get twelve or fourteen yelks of hard eggs, then put the flew (which is called the callepash) into the back-shell, with the eggs all over, and put it in the oven to brown, or do it with a falamander.

The callepy must be slashed in several places, and moderately season'd, with pieces of butter, mixt with chopp'd thyme, parfley and young onions, with salt, white pepper and mace beaten, and a little Cavan pepper; put a piece in each slash, and then some over, and a dust of flour; then bake it in a tin or iron dripping pan, in a brisk oven.

Digitized by Google

The back shell (which is called the callepash) must be seasoned as the callepy, and baked in a dripping-pan, set upright, with sour brickbats or any thing else. An hour and a half will bake it, which must be done before the stew is put in.

The fins, when boiled very tender, to be taken out of the foup, and put in a flew-pan, with some good veal gravy, not high coloured, a little Madeira wine, seasoned and thickened as the callepash, and served in a dish by itself.

The lights, heart and liver may be done the same way, only a little higher seasoned; or the lights and hearts may be stewed with the callepash, and taken out before you put it in the shell, with a little of the sauce, adding a little more seasoning, and dish it by itself.

The veal part may be made friandos, or Scotch collops of. The liver should never be stewed with the callepass, but always drest by itself, after any manner you like; except you separate the lights and hearts from the callepass, and then always serve them together in one dish. Take care to strain the soup, and serve it in a tureen, or clean china bowl.

Diffees.

A callepy.
Lights, &c.—foup—fins.
Callepash.

N. B. In the West-Indies they generally souse the fins, and eat them cold; omit the liver, and only send to table the callepy, callepash and soup. This is for a turtle, about fixty pounds weight.

To make Ice Cream.

Take two pewter basons, one larger than the other; the inward one must have a close cover, into which you are to put your cream, and mix it with rasherries or whatever you like best, to give it a flavour and a colour. Sweeten it to your palate; then cover it close, and set it into the large bason. Fill it with ice, and a handful of salt; let it stand in this ice three quarters of an hour, then uncover it, and stir the cream well together; cover it close again, and let it stand half an hour longer, after that turn it into your plate. These things are made at the pewterers.

A Turkey, &c. in Jelly.

Boll a turkey or fowl as white as you can, let it fland till cold, and have ready a jelly made thus: take a fowl, skin it, take off all the fat, don't cut it to pieces, nor break the bones; take four pounds of leg of veal, without any fat or skin, put it into a well tinned sauce-pan, put to it full three quarts of water, set it on a very clear fire till it begins to simmer; be sure to skim it well, but take great care it don't boil. When it is well skimmed, set it so as it will but just seem to simmer, put to it two large blades of mace, half a nutmeg, and twenty comes of white pepper, a little bit of semon-peel as big as a fix-pence. This will take six of seven hours doing. When you think it is a stiff jelly, which you will will know by taking a little out to cool, be fure to skim off all the fat, if any, and be sure not to stir the meat in the sauce-pan. A quarter of an hour before it is done, throw in a large tea-spoonful of salt, squeeze in the juice of half a Seville orange or lemon; when you think it is enough, strain it off through a clean sieve, but don't pour it off quite to the bottom, for tear of settlings. Lay the turkey or sowl in the dish you intend to send it to table in, then pour this liquor over it, let it stand till quite cold, and send it to table. A few aftertian slowers stuck here and there looks pretty, if you can get them; but lemon, and all those things are entirely fancy. This is a very pretty dish for a cold collation, or a supper.

All forts of birds or fowls may be done this way.

To make Citron.

QUARTER your melon and take out all the infide, then put it into the fyrup as much as will cover the coat; let it boil in the fyrup till the coat is as tender as the inward part, then put them in the pot with as much fyrup as will cover them. Let them stand for two or three days, that the fyrup may penetrate through them, and boil your fyrup to a candy height, with as much mountain wine as will wet your fyrup, clarify it and then boil it to a candy height; then dip in the quarters, and lay them on a fieve to dry, and set them before a flow fire, or put them in a slow oven till dry. Observe that your melon is but half ripe, and when they are dry put them in deal boxes in paper.

To candy Cherries or Green Gages.

DIP the stalks and leaves in white wine vinegar boiling, then scald them in fyrup; take them out and boil them to a candy height; dip in the cherries, and hang them to dry with the cherries downwards. Dry them before the fire, or in the sun. Then take the plumbs, after boiling in the thin syrup, peel off the skin and candy them, and so hang them up to dry.

To take Ironmolds out of Linen.

TAKE forrel, bruise it well in a mortar, squeeze it through a cloth, bottle it and keep it for use. Take a little of the above juice, in a silver or tin sauce-pan, boil it over a lamp, as it boils dip in the ironmold, don't rub it, but only squeeze it. As soon as the ironmold is out, throw it into cold water.

To make India Pickle.

To a gallon of vinegar, one pound of garlick, add three quarters of a pound of long pepper, a pint of mustard-seed, one pound of ginger, and two ounces of turmerick; the garlick must be laid in salt three days, then wiped clean and dried in the sun; the long pepper broke, and the mustard-seed bruised: mix all together in the vinegar, then take two large hard cabbages, and two caulissowers, cut them in quarters, and salt them well; let them lie three days, and then dry them well in the sun.

N. B. The ginger must lie twenty-four hours in salt and water, then cut fmall and laid in falt three days.

T,

To make English Catchup.

TAKE the largest slaps of mushrooms, wipe them dry, but don't peel them, break them to pieces, and salt them very well; let them stand so in an earthen pan for nine days, stirring them once or twice a day, then put them into a jugg close stopped set into water over a fire for three hours; then strain it through a sieve, and to every quart of the juice, put a pint of strong stale mummy beer, not bitter, a quarter of a pound of anchovies, a quarter of an ounce of mace, the same of cloves, half an ounce of pepper, a race of ginger, half a pound of shalots: then boil them all together over a slow site till half the liquor is wasted, keeping the pot close covered; then strain it through a stannel bag. If the anchovies don't make it salt enough, add a little salt.

To prevent the Infection among borned Cattle.

MAKE an iffue in the dewlap, put in a peg of black hellebore, and rub all vents both behind and before with tar.

APPENDIX.

Observations on preserving Salt Meat mellow and fine for three or four Months; and to preserve potted Butter.

7HEN you falt your meat in the fummer, take care that it be perfectly cool after it comes from the butchers; the best way is, to lay it on cold bricks for a few hours, and when you falt it, lay it up on an inclining board, to drain off the blood; then falt it a-fresh, add to every pound of salt half a pound of Lifbon fugar, and turn it in the pickle every day; it will be fine at the month's end the falt which is commonly used, hardens and spoils all the meat; the right fort is that called Lowndes's falt; it comes from Nantwich in Cheshire: a very fine fort also comes from Malden in Essex, and from Sussolk, which is the reason of that butter being finer than any other; and if every body would make use of that falt in potting butter, we should not have so much bad come to market; observing all the general rules of a dairy. If you keep your meat long in falt, half the quantity of fugar will do; and if you then bestow loaf sugar, it will eat much This pickle cannot be called extravagant, because it will keep a great while; at three or four months end, boil it up; if you have no meat in the pickle, skim it, and when cold, only add a little more falt and fugar to the next meat you put in, and it will be good a twelvemonth longer.

A leg of mutton piece, veiny or thick flank-piece, without any bone, pickled as above is very fine, only add to every pound of falt an ounce of falt-petre; after being a month or two in the pickle, take it out, and lay it in foft water a few hours, then roaft it. A leg of mutton, or shoulder of veal does the same. It is a very good article where a market is at a great distance, and a large sa-mily obliged to provide a great deal of meat.

Concerning the pickling of hams and tongues, you have the receipt in the foregoing chapters; but use either of these sine salts, and they will be equal to any Bayonne hams, provided your perkling is sine and well fed.

To dress a Mock Turtle.

Having provided a calf's-head, scald off the hair, as you would do off a pig; then clean it, cut off the horny part in thin slices, with as little of the lean as possible; put in a few chopp'd oysters, and the brains; have ready between a quart and three pints of firong mutton or veal gravy, with a quart of Madeira wine, a large tea spoonful of Cayan pepper, a large onion chopped very small; peel off half of a large lemon, shred as sine as possible, a little salt, the juice of sour lemons, and some sweet-herbs cut small; stew all these together till the meat is very tender, which will be in about an hour and a half; and then have ready the back shell of a turtle, lined with a passe of flour and water, which you must first set into the oven to harden; then put in the ingredients, and set into the oven to brown the top; and when that is done, suit your garnish at the top with the yolks of eggs boiled hard, and force-meat balls.

This receipt is intended for a large head; if you cannot get the shell of a turtle, a china-soup dish will do as well; and if no oven is at hand, the setting may be omitted; and if no oysters are to be procured, it is very good without.

It is fometimes dreffed with but a pint of wine, and the juice of two lemons.

After the horny part is boiled a little tender, put in your white meat.

It will do without the oven, and take a fine knuckle of veal, cut off the skin, and cut some of the fine firm lean into small pieces, as you do the white meat of a turtle, and stew it with the other white meat above.

Take the firm hard fat which grows between the meat, and lay that into the fauce of spinach or forrel, till half an hour before the above is ready; then take it out, and lay it on a fieve to drain; and put in juice to stew with the above. The remainder of the knuckle will help the gravy.

To flew a Buttock of Beef.

AFTER the beef is foaked, wash it clean from salt, and let it lie about an hour in soft waters then take it out, and put it into your pot, as you would to boil, but put no water in, cover it close with the lid, and let it stand over a middling sire, not sierce, but rather slow: it will require just the same time to do, as if it was to be boiled; when it is about half done, throw in an onion, a little bundle of sweet-herbs, a little mace and whole pepper; cover it down quick again; boil roots and herbs as usual to eat with it. Send it to table with the gravy in a dish.

The Jews Method of Stewing Green Peafe.

To about two full quarts of peafe put in a quarter of a pint of oil and water, not so much water as oil; a little different fort of spices, as mace, cloves, pepper and nutmeg, all beat fine; a little Cayan pepper, a little salt; stew all this in a broad slat pipkin; when they are half done, with a spoon make two or three holes; into each of these holes break an egg, yolk and white; take one egg and beat it, and throw over the whole when enough, which you you will know by tasting them; and the egg being quite hard, fend them to table.

If they are not done in a very broad, open thing, it will be difficult to get them out to lay in a dish.

They would be better done in a filver or tin dish, on a stewhole, and go to table in the same dish; it is much better than putting them out into another dish.

Minced Haddocks after the Dutch way.

Born them, take out all the bones, mince them very fine with parfley and onions; feason with nurmeg, pepper and falt, and stew them in butter, just enough to keep moist, squeeze the juice of a lemon, and when cold, mix them up with eggs, and put into a puff paste.

Artichokes preserved the Spanish way.

TAKE large artichokes, cur the tops of the leaves off, wash them well and drain them; to every artichoke pour in a large spoonful of oil, seasoned with pepper and salt. Send them to the oven, and bake them, they will keep a year.

The Italians, French, Portuguese, and Spaniards, have variety of peculiar ways of dressing of fish, which we have not, such as Making fish-soups, ragous, pies, &c.

For their foups, they use no gravy, nor in their sauces, thinking it improper to mix sieth and sish together; but make their sish-soups with sish, viz. either of craw-sish, lobsters, &c. taking only the juice of them.

For

For EXAMPLE.

They take their craw-fish, tie them up in a muslin rag, and boil them; then press out the juice for the purposes abovementioned.

For their Pies.

THEY make some of carp; others of different fish: and some they make like our minced pies, viz. They cut the slesh from the bones of the carp, and mince it; adding currants, &c.

Sham Chocolate.

Boll a pint of milk over a flow fire, with some whole cinnamon, and sweeten it with Lisbon sugar, beat up the yolks of three eggs, throw all together into a chocolate pot, and mill it one way, or it will turn. Serve it up in chocolate cups.

Almond Rice.

Take your almonds, blanch them, pound them in a marble or wooden mortar; and mix them in a little boiling water, press them as long as there is any milk in the almonds; adding fresh water every time; to every quart of almond juice, a quarter of a pound of rice, and about two or three spoonfuls of orange-flower water; mix them altogether, and let them simmer over a very slow charcoal fire, keep stirring them often; when done, sweeten to your palate; put them into plates, and throw beaten cinnamon over it.

Marmalade of Eggs in the Jewish Tafte,

BEAT the yolks of twenty-four eggs for an hour: clarify a pound of the best moist sugar, four spoonfuls of orange-slower water, one ounce of blanched and pounded almonds; stir all together over a very slow charcoal fire, keeping stirring it all the while one way, till it comes to a consistence; then put it into cossee-cups, and throw a little beaten cianamon on the top of the cups. This marmalade, mixed with pounded almonds, with orange-peel, and citron, are formed in cakes of any shape, such as birds, sish, and fruit, &c.

A Cake the Spanish Way.

HAVING provided twelve eggs, and three quarters of a pound of the best most sugar, mill them in a chocolate-mill, till they are all of a lather; then mix in one pound of flour, half a pound of pounded almonds, two ounces of candied orange-peel, two ounces of citron, four large spoonfuls of orange-water, half an ounce of cinnamon, and a glass of sack. It is best baked in a slow oven.

Another Way.

PROVIDE a pound of flour, a pound of butter, eight eggs, a pint of boiling milk, two or three spoonfuls of ale yeast, or a glass of French brandy; beat all together; then set it before the fire in a pan, where there is soom for it to rise; cover it with a cloth and flannel, that no air comes to it; when you think it is raised sufficiently, mix half a pound of the best moist sugar, an ounce of cinnamon beat fine: four spoonfuls of orange-flower water, one ounce of candied orange-peel, one ounce of candied citron, mix all well together, and bake it.

To make Sugar of Pearl.

TAKE half a pint of damask-rose water, a pound of fine sugar, half an ounce of prepared pearl beat to powder, eight leaves of beaten gold; boil them together according to art; add the pearl and gold leaves when just done, then cast them on a marble.

To dry Plumbs.

Take fair and clear coloured pear plumbs, weigh them and flit them up the fides; put them into a broad pan, and fill it full of water, fet them over a very flow fire; take care that the skin does not come off; when they are tender, take them up, and to every pound of plumbs put a pound of sugar; strew a little on the bottom of a large silver bason; then lay your plumbs in, one by one, and strew the remainder of your sugar over them; set them into your stove all night, with a good warm fire the next day; beat them, and set them into your stove again, and let them stand two days more, turning them every day; then take them out of the syrup, and lay them on glass plates to dry.

To make white Wafers.

TAKE the yolk of an egg, beat it, and mix it with a quarter of a pint of water; then mix half a pound of best flour, and thin it with damask-rose water till you think it of a proper thickness to bake. Sweeten it to your palate with fine sugar finely sisted.

To make brown Wafers.

TAKE a quart of common cream, then take the yolks of three or four eggs, and as much fine flour as will make it into a thin batter; iweeten it with three quarters of a pound of fine fugar finely fierced, and as much pounded cinnamon as will make it taste. They should not be mixed till the cream be cold; butter your pans, and make them very hot before you bake them.

Fruit Wafers of Codlings, Piumbs, &c.

Rub the pulp of any fruit through a hair sieve, and to every three ounces of fruit take six ounces of sugar sinely sisted. Dry the sugar very well till it be very hot; heat the pulp also till it be very hot; then mix it and set it over a slow charcoal fire, till it be almost a-boiling, then pour it in glasses or trenchers, and set in the stove till you see it will leave the glasses; but before it begins to candy, turn them on papers in what form you please. They may be coloured red with clove gilly-slowers steeped in the juice of lemon.

How to dry Peaches.

PARE the fairest and ripest peaches you can get, put them into fair water; take their weight in double-refined sugar, of one half make a very thin syrup; then put in your peaches, boiling them till they look clear, then split and stone them. Boil them till they are very tender, lay them a-draining, take the other half of the sugar, and boil it almost to candy; then put in your peaches, and let them lie all night, then lay them on a glass, and set them in a flowe till they are dry. If they are fugar'd too much, wipe them a little with a wet cloth: let the first fyrup be very thin a quart of water to a pound of fugar.

To make almond Knots.

BLANCH two pounds of almonds, in hot water; beat them in a mortar, to a very fine paste, with rose-water; be careful to keep them from oiling. Sift a pound of double-resined sugar, through a lawn sieve, leave out some to make up your knots, put the rest into a pan upon the fire, till it is scalding hot, and at the same time have your almonds scalding hot in another pan; then mix them together with the whites of three eggs beaten to froth, and let them frand till they are cold, then roll them with some of the sugar you left out, and lay them in platters of paper. They will not roll into any shape, but lay them as well as you can, and bake them in a cool oven; it must not be hot, neither must they be coloured.

To make Abnord Milk for a Wash.

BLANCH five ounces of bitter almonds, and beat them in a marble mortar very fine. You may put in a fpoonful of fack when you beat them if you chuse it; then take the whites of three new-laid eggs, three pints of spring-water, and one pint of sack. Mix them all very well together; then strain it through a fine cloth, and put it into a bottle, and keep it for u'e. You may put in lemon, or powder of pearl, when you make use of it.

To preserve Apricots.

PARE your apricots, then stone what you can, whole; then give them a light boiling in a pint of water, or according to your quantity of fruit; then take the weight of your apricots in sugar, and take the liquor which you boil them in and your sugar, and boil it till it comes to a syrup, and give them a light boiling, taking off the scum as it rises. When the syrup jellies, it is enough; then take up the apricots, and cover them with the jelly, and put cut paper over them, and lay them down when cold.

To make Gooseberry Wafers,

PROCURE your gooseberries before they are ready for preserving; cut off the black heads, and boil them with as much water as will cover them, all to mash; then pass the liquor and all, as it will run, through a hair sieve, and put some pulp through with a spoon, but not too near. It is to be pulped neither too thick nor too thin; measure it, and to a gill of it take half a pound of double-refined fugar; dry it, put it to your pulp, and let it scald on a flow fire, not to boil at all. Stir it very well, and then will rise a frothy white scum, which take clear off as it rises; you must scald and skim it till no scum rises, and it comes clean from the pan fide; then take it off, and let it cool a little. Have ready sheets of glass very smooth, about the thickness of parchment. You must spread it on the glasses with a knife, very thin, even, and smooth; then set it on the stove with a slow fire: if you do it in the morning, at night you must cut it into long pieces with a broad case knife, and put your knife clear under it, and fold it two or three times over, and lay them in a stove, turning them fometimes till they are pretty dry; but do not keep them too long, for they will loofe their colour. If they do not come clean off your glasses at night, keep them till next morning.

How to make little French Biscuits.

PROCURE nine new-laid eggs, take the yolks of two out, and take out the treddles, beat them a quarter of an hour, and put in a pound of fierced fugar, and beat them together three quarters of an hour, then put in three quarters of a pound of flour, very fine and well dried. When cold, mix all well together, and beat them about half a quarter of an hour, first and last. You may put in a little orange-flower water, and a little grated lemon-peel; then drop them about the bigness of a half crown, (but rather long than round) upon doubled paper a little buttered, sierce some fugar on them, and bake them in an oven, after manchet.

How to make the thin Africot Chips.

PARE your apricots or peaches, and cut them very thin into chips, and take three quarters of their weight in fugar, it being finely sierced; then put the sugar and the apricots into a pewter dish, and set them upon coals; and when the sugar is all disfolved, turn them upon the edge of the dish out of the syrup, and so set them by. Keep them turning till they have imbibed the syrup, be sure they never boil. They must be warmed in the syrup once every day, and so laid out upon the edge of the dish till the syrup be drank.

How to preserve Pippins in Jelly.

PARE, core, and quarter your pippins; throw them into fair water, and boil them till the strength of the pippins is boiled out, then strain them through a jelly bag; and to a pound of pippins take two pounds of double-refined fugar, a pint of this pippinliquor, and a quart of spring-water; then pare the pippins very neatly, cut them into halves flightly cored, throw them into fair water. When your fugar is melted, and your fyrup boiled a little, and clean skimmed, dry your pippins with a clean cloth, throw them into your fyrup; take them off the fire a little, and then fet them on again, let them boil as fast as you possibly can, having a clear fire under them, till they jelly; take them off fometimes and shake them, but don't stir with a spoon; a little before you take them off the fire, squeeze the juice of a lemon and orange into them, which must be first passed a tiffany; give them a boil or two after, so take them up, else they will turn red. At the first putting of your sugar in, allow a little more for this juice; you may boil orange or lemon peel very tender in fpring-water, and cut them in thin long pieces, and then boil them in a little fugar and water, and put them in the bottom of your glasses; turn your pippins often, even in the boiling.

Put your berries when ripe, into a large vessel of wood or stone, with a spicket in it, and pour upon them as much boiling water as will just appear at the top the of them; as soon as you can endure your hand in them, bruise them very well, till all the berries are broke; then let them stand close covered till the berries be well.

wrought up to the top, which usually is three or four days; there draw off the clear juice into another vessel; and add to every tent quarts of this liquor one pound of sugar, stir it well in, and let it stand to work in another vessel like the first, a week or ten days; then draw it off at the spicket through a jelly-bag, into a large vessel; take sour ounces of singulais, lay it in sleep twelve hours in a pint of whire wine: the next morning boil it till it is all dissolved, upon a flow sire; then take a gallon of your blackberry-juice, put in the dissolved singulass, give it a boil together, and put it in hot.

The best Way to make Raisin Wine.

PROCURE a clean wine or brandy hogshead, put in two hundred of railins, stalks and all, and then fill the vestel with fine clear fpring-water: let it stand till you think it has done hissing; then throw in two quarts of fine French brandy; put in the bung flightly, and in about three weeks or a month, if you are fure it has done fretting, stop it down close; let it stand lix months. peg it near the top, and if you find it very fine and good, fit for drinking, bottle it off, or elfe stop it up again, and let it stand fix months longer. It should stand fix months in the bottle: this is by much the best way of making it, as the wine will be much stronger, but less of it: the different forts of raisins make quite a different wine; and after you have drawn off all the wine, throw on ten gallons of spring-water; take off the head of the barrel, and flir it well twice a day, pressing the raisins as well as you can; let it stand a fortnight or three weeks, then draw it off into a proper vessel to hold it, and squeeze the raisins well; add two quarts of brandy, and two quarts of fyrup of elderberries, stop it close when it has done working; and in about three months it will be fit for drinking. If you don't chuse to make this second wine, fill your hogshead with spring-water, and set it in the sun for three or four months, and it will make excellent vinegar.

To make Orange Wafers.

Boil fome of the best oranges in three or four waters, till they are tender, then take out the kernels and the juice, and beat them to pulp, in a clean marble mortar, and rub them through a hairfieve; to a pound of this pulp take a pound and a half of double-refined sugar, beaten and sierced; take half of your sugar, and put it into your oranges, and boil it till it ropes; then take it from the fire, and when it is cold, make it up in passe with the other half of your sugar; make but a little at a time, for it will dry too sast; then with a little rolling-pin roll them out as thin as tissany upon papers; cut them round with a little drinking-glass, and let them dry, and they will look very clear.

To preserve White Quinces subole.

Pur about the weight of your quinces in sugar, and a pint of water to a pound of sugar, make it into syrup, and clarify it; then cover your quince and pare it, and put it into your syrup, and let it boil till it is all clear; then put in three spoonfuls of jely, made thus: over night, lay your quince-kernels in water, then strain them, and put them into your quinces, and let them have but one boil afterward.

To make Orange Cakes.

Take the peels of four oranges, being suft pared, and the meat taken out, boil them tender, and beat them small in a marble mortar; then take the meat of them, and two more oranges, your seeds and skins being picked out, and mix it with the peelings that are beaten: set them on the fire, with a spoonful or two of orange-flower water, keeping it stirring till that moisture is pretty well dried up; then have ready to every pound of that pulp, four pounds and a quarter of double-refined sugar, finely stirring it said the pulp together, and set it on the fire, and then mix it and the pulp together, and set it on the fire again, till the sugar be very well melted, but be sure it does not boil; you may put in a little peel, small shred or grated, and when it is cold, draw it up in double papers; dry them before the fire, and when you turn them, put two together; or you may keep them in deep glasses or pots, and dry them as you have occasion,

To make a Lemoned Honey-comb.

Sweeten the juice of one lemon with fine fugar to your palate; then put a pint of cream, and the white of an egg in some fugar, and beat it up; and as the froth rises, take it off, and put it on the juice of the lemon, till you have taken all the cream off upon the lemon: make it the day before you want it, in a dish that is proper.

To make white Cakes like China Dishes.

To the yolks of two eggs, put two fpoonfuls of fack, and as much rofe-water, fome carraway feeds, and as much flour as will make it a paste stiff enough to roll very thin: if you would have them like dishes, you must bake them upon dishes buttered. Cut them out into what work you please to candy them; take a pound of fine sierced sugar pertumed, and the white of an egg, and three or four spoonfuls of rose water, stir it till it looks white; and when that paste is cold, do it with a feather on one side. This candied, let it dry, and do the other side in the same manaer, and dry it also.

How to dry Cherries.

To eight pounds of cherries, put about one pound of the best powdered sugar, stone the cherries over a great deep bason or glass, and lay them one by one in rows, and strew a little sugar: thus do till your bason is full to the top, and let them stand till the next day; then pour them out into a great posnip, set them on the fire; let them boil very sast a quarter of an hour, or more; then pour them again into your bason, and let them stand two or three days; then take them out, and lay them one by one on hair-sieves, and set them in the sun, or an oven, till they are dry, turning them ever day upon dry sieves: if in the oven, it must be as little warm as you can just seel it, when you hold your hand in it.

To make Uxbridge Cakes.

To a pound of wheat flour, put seven pounds of currants, half a nutmeg, four pounds of butter, rub your butter cold very well amongst the veal, dress your currants very well in the flour, butter, and seasoning, and knead it with so much good new yeast as will make it into a pretty high paste; after it is kneaded well together, let it stand an hour to rise; you may put half a pound of paste in a cake.

To make fine Almond Cakes.

TAKE a pound of Jordan almonds, blanch them, beat them very fine with a little orange-flower water, to keep them from oiling; then take a pound and a quarter of fine fugar, boil it to a candy height: then put in your almonds; then take two fresh lemons, grate off the rind very thin, and put as much juice as to make it of a quick taste; then put it into your glasses, and set it into your stove, stirring them often, that they do not candy: so when it is a little dry, put it into little cakes upon sheets of glass to dry.

How to make Mcad.

To ten gallons of water, put two gallons of honey, and a handful of raced ginger; then cut two lemons in pieces, and put them into it, boil it very well, keep it skimming; let it stand all night in the same vessel you boil it in, the next morning barrel it up, with two or three spoonfuls of good yeast. About three weeks or a month after, you may bottle it.

Marmalade of Cherries.

STEW five pound of cherries, and put to them two pounds of hard sugar, shred your cherries, wet your sugar with juice that runs from them; then put the cherries into the sugar, and boil them pretty sast till it be a marmalade; when it is cold, put it up in glasses for use.

To make Carraway Cakes.

Siff two pounds of white flour, and two pounds of coarse loaf sugar well dried; after the flour and sugar is sisted and weighed, then mingle them together, sift the flour and sugar together, throw a hair-sieve into the bowl you use it in; to them you must have two pounds of good butter, eighteen eggs, leaving out eight of the whites; to these you must have four ounces of candied orange, sieve or six ounces of carraway comfits: first work the butter with rose-water, till you can see none of the water, and your butter must be very soft; then put in slour and sugar, a little at a time, and likewise your eggs; but you must beat your eggs very well, with ten spoonfuls of sack, so you must put in each as you think fit, keeping it constantly beating with your hand, till you have put it into the hoop for the oven; do not put in your sweetmeats and seeds, till you are ready to put into your hoops: take care to have three or sour doubles of cap-paper under the cakes, and but ter the paper and hoop: you must fift some fine sugar upon your cake, when it goes into the oven.

To preserve Pippins in Slices.

Your pippins being prepared, but not cored, cut them in flices, and take the weight of them in fugar, put to your fugar a pretty quantity of water, let it melt, and skim it, let it boil again very high; then put them into the syrup when they are clear; lay them in shallow glasses, in which you mean to serve them up; then put into the syrup a candied orange-peel cut in little slices very thin, and lay about the pippin; cover them with syrup, and keep them about the pippin.

Barley Cream.

Boil a quart of French barley in three or four waters, till it is pretty tender; then fet a quart of cream on the fire with some mace and nutmeg; when it begins to boil, drain out the barley from the water, put in the cream, and let it boil till it be pretty thick and tender; season it with sugar and salt. When it is cold serve it up.

Sack Cream like Butter.

Boil a quart of cream with mace, put to it fix egg-yolks well beaten, so let it boil up; then take it off the fire, and put in a little sack, and turn it; then put it in a cloth, and let the whey run from it; then take it out of the cloth, and season it with rose-water and sugar, being very well broken with a spoon; serve it up in the dish, and pink it as you would do a dish of butter, so send it in with cream and sugar.

Almond Butter.

To a quart of cream, put in some mace whole, and a quartered nutmeg, the yolks of eight eggs well beaten, and three quarters of a pound of almonds well blanched, and beaten extremely small, with a little rose-water and sugar; put all these together, set them on the fire, and shir them till they begin to boil; then take it off, and you will find it a little cracked; then lay a strainer in a cullender, and pour it into it, and let it drain a day or two, till you see it is firm like butter; then run it through a cullender; it will be like little comfits, and so serve it up.

Sugar Cakes.

Work a pound and a half of very fine flour, a pound of cold butter, and half a pound of fugar, well together into a passe, then roll it with the palms of your hands into balls, and cut them with a glass into cakes; lay them in a sheet of paper, with some flour under them; to bake them you may make tumblets, only blanch in almonds, and beat them small, and lay them in the midst of a long piece of passe, and roll it round with your singers, and cast them into knots, in what sashion you please; prick them and bake them.

Sugar Cakes another Way.

To half a pound of fine sugar sierced, put half a pound of flour, two eggs beaten with a little rose-water, a piece of butter about the

the fize of an egg, work them well together till they are a finooth patte; then make them into cakes working every one with the palms of your hands; then lay them in plates, rubbed over with a little butter; so bake them in an oven little more than warm. You may make knots of the same the cakes are made of; but in the mingling you must put in a few carraway seeds; when they are wrought to paste, roll them with the ends of your singer into small rolls, and make it into knots; lay them upon pye-plates rubbed with butter, and bake them.

Clouted Cream.

SET a gill of new milk on the fire, and take fix spoonfuls of rose-water, sour or five pieces of large mace, put the mace on a thread; when it boils, put to them the yolks of two eggs very well beaten; stir these very well together; then take a quart of very good cream, put it to the rest, and stir it together, but don't let it boil after the cream is in. Pour it out of the pan you boil it in, and let it stand all night; the next day take the top off it, and serve it up.

Quince Cream.

Pur your quinces in boiling water unpared, boil them apace uncovered, lest they discolour when they are boiled, pare them, beat them very tender with sugar; then take cream, and mix it till it is pretty thick: if you boil your cream with a little cinnamon, it will be better, but let it be cold before you put it to your quince.

Citron Cream.

Boil a quart of cream with three pennyworth of good clear isinglass, which must be tied up in a piece of thin tissany; put in a blade or two of mace strongly boiled in your cream and isinglass, till the cream be pretty thick; sweeten it to your taste, with perfumed hard sugar; when it is taken off the fire, put in a little rose-water to your taste; then take a piece of green freshest citron, and cut it in little bits, the breadth of point-dales, and about half as long; and the cream being first put into dishes, when it is half cold, put in your citron, so as it may but fink from the top, that it may not be seen, and may lie before it be at the bottom; if you wash your citron before in rose-water, it will make the colour better and fresher; so let it stand till the next day, where it may get no water, and where it may not be shaken.

To make Sugar Loaf Cream.

Pur a quarter of a pound of hartshorn to two quarts of water, and set on the sire in a pipkin, covered till it be ready to seeth; then pour off the water, and put a pottle of water more to it, and let it stand simmering on the fire till it be consumed to a pint, and with it two ounces of isinglass washed in rose-water, which must be put in with the second water; then strain it, and let it cool; then take three pints of cream, and boil it very well with a bag of nutmegs, cloves, cinnamon, and mace; then lay a quarter of a pound of Jordan almonds, one night in cold water to blanch; and when when they are blanched, let them lie two hours in cold water; then take them out, and dry them in a clean linen cloth, and beat them in a marble mortar, with water or rofe-water, beat them to a very fine pulp, then take some of the aforesaid cream well warmed, and put the pulp by degrees into it, straining it through a cloth with the back of a spoon, till all the goodness of the almonds be strained out into the cream; then season the cream with rofe-water and sugar; then take the aforesaid jelly, warm it till it disfolves, and season it with rose-water and sugar, and a grain of ambergrease or musk, if you please; then mix your cream and jelly together very well, and put it into glasses well warmed (like sugar-loaves) and let it stand all night; then put them out upon a plate or two, or a white china dish, and stick the cream with piony kernels, or serve them in glasses, one on every trencher.

Cream of Applies, Quince, Goofeberries, Prunes, or Rafberries,

To every quart of cream take four eggs, being first well beat and strained, and mix them with a little cold cream, and put it to your cream, being first boiled with whole mace; keep it stirring, till you find it begin to thicken at the bottom and sides; your applies, quinces, and berries must be tenderly boiled, so that they will crush in the pulp; then season it with rose-water and fugar to your taste, putting it up into dishes; and when they are cold, if there be any rose-water and sugar, which iies water-ish at the top, let it be drained out with a spoon; this pulp must be made ready before you boil your cream; and when it is boiled, cover over your pulp a pretty thickness with your egg cream, which must have a little rose-water and sugar put to it.

Conferve of Roses boiled.

PROCURE some red roses, take off all the whites at the bottom, or elsewhere, take three times the weight of them in sugar; put to a pint of roses a pint of water, skim it well, shred your roses a little before you put them into water; cover them, and boil the leaves tender in the water; and when they are tender, put in your sugar; keep them stirring, lest they burn when they are tender, and the syrup be consumed. Put them up, and so keep them for your use.

To make Orange Biscuits.

Take your oranges and pare them, but not very thick, put them into water, but first weigh your peels, let it stand over the fire, and let it boil till it be very tender; then beat it in a marble mortar, till it be a very fine smooth paste; to every ounce of peels put two ounces and a half of double-refined sugar well serced, mix them well together with a spoon in the mortar; then spreadit with a knife upon pye-plates, and set it in an oven a little warm, or before the sire; when it seels dry upon the top, cut into what form you please, then turn them into another plate, and set them in a stove till they be dry; where the edges look rough, when it is dry, they must be cut with a pair of scissars.

How

How to make Yellow Varnish.

To a quart of spirit of wine put eight ounces of seed-cake, shake it half an hour; next day it will be fit for use, but strain it strist; take lamp-black, and put in your varnish about the thickness of a pancake; mix it well, but don't stir it too sast; then do it eight times over, and let it stand still the next day; then take some burnt ivory, and oil of turpentine as sine as butter; then mix it with some of your varnish, till you have varnished it for polishing; then polish it with tripola in fine stour; then lay it on the wood smooth, with one of the brushes; then let it dry, and do it so eight times at the least: when it is very dry lay on your varnish that is mixed, and when it is dry, polish it with a wet cloth dipped in tripola, and rub it as hard as you would do platters.

To make a pretty Varnish to colour little Baskets, Bowls, or any Board where nothing hot is set on.

TAKE either red, black, or white fealing-wax, which colour you want to make: to every two ounces of fealing wax one ounce of spirit of wine, pound the wax fine, then sift it through a fine lawn sieve, till you have made it extremely fine: put it into a large phial with the spirits of wine, shake it, let it stand within the air of the fire forty-eight hours, shaking it often; then with a little brush rub your baskets all over with it: let it dry, and do it over a second time, and it makes them look very pretty.

How to clean Gold or Silver Lace.

Pur alabaster finely beaten and sierced into an earthen pipkin, and set it on a chasing dish of coals, and let it boil for some time, stirring it often with a stick first; when it begins to boil, it will be very heavy; when it is enough, you will find it in the stirring very light; then take it off the fire, lay your lace upon a piece of stannel, and strew your powder upon it; knock it well in with a hard cloth brush: when you think it is enough, brush the powder out with a clean brush.

The Jew shomethod of pickling Beef, which will go good to the Wist-Indies, and keep a Year good in the Pickle, and with Care will go to the East-Indies.

TAKE any piece of beef without bones, or if it has bones take them out, if you intend to keep it above a month; take mace, cloves, 'nutmeg, and pepper, and juniper berries beat fine, and rub the beef well, mix falt and Jamaica pepper, and bay leaves; let it be well feafoned, let it lay in this feafoning a week or ten days, throw in a handsome quantity of garlick and shalot; boil some of the best white wine vinegar, lay your meat in a pan or good veffel for the purpose, with the pickle; and when the vinegar is quite cold, pour it over, cover it close. If it is for a voyage, cover it with oil, and let the cooper hoop up the barrel very well: this is a good way in a hot country, where meat will not keep: then it must be put into the vinegar directly with the feafoning; then you may either roast or stew it, but it is best stewed, and add a good deal of onion and parsley chopped fine, some white wine, a little catchup, truffles and morels, a little good gravy, a piece of butter rolled in flour, or a little oil, in which the meat and onions ought to stew a quarter of an hour before the other ingredients are put in: then put all in, and stir it together, and let it stew till you think it enough. This is an excellent pickle in a hot country, to keep beef or veal that is dressed, to eat cold.

How to make Cyder.

Your apples being bruifed, take half of your quantity and squeeze them, and the juice you press from them pour upon the others half bruifed, but not squeezed, in a tub for the purpote, having a tap at the bottom; let the juice remain upon the apples three or four days, then pull out your tap, and let your juice run into some other vessel set under the tub to receive it; and if it runs thick, as at the first it will, pour it upon the apples again, till you fee it run clear; and as you have a quantity, put it into your vessel, but do not force the cyder, but let it drop as long as it will of its own accord: having done this, after you perceive that the fides begin to work, take a quantity of ilinglass, an cunce will ferve forty gallons, infuse this into some of the cyder till it is dissolved; put to an ounce of isinglass a quart of cyder, and when it is dissolved, pour it into the vessel, and stop. n cloic for two days, or something more; then draw off the cyder into another vessel: this do so often till you perceive your eyder to be free from all manner of fediment, that may make it ferment and fret itself: after Christmas you may boil it. By pouring water on the apples, and pressing them, you may make a pretty small cyder: it it be thick and muddy, by using isingglass you may make it as clear as the rest; you must dissolve the slinglass over the fire, till it be jelly.

Receipt for fining Cyder.

To two quarts of skim milk, put four ounces of isinglass, cut the isinglass in pieces, and work it luke-warm in the milk over the fire; and when it is dissolved, put it in cold into the hogshead of cyder, and take a long slick, and slir it well from top to bottom, for half a quarter of an hour.

After it bas fined.

Pur ten pounds of raisins of the sun, to two ounces of turmerick, half an ounce of ginger beaten; then take a quantity of raisins, and grind them as you do mustard seed in a bowl, with a little cyder, and so the rest of the raisins: then sprinkle the turmerick and ginger amongst it: then put all into a sine canvass bag, and hang it in the middle of the hogshead close, and let it lie. After the cyder has stood thus a formight or a month, you may bottle it.

To make Chouder, a Sea Difh.

SLICE off the fatter parts from a belly-piece of pickled pork, and lay them at the bottom of the kettle, strew over it onions, and such sweet-herbs as you can procure. Take a largish cod, bone and slice it for crimping, pepper, salt, all-spice, and slour it a little, make a layer with part of the slices; upon that a slight layer of pork again, and on that a layer of biscuit, and so on, pursuing the like rule, until the kettle is filled to about four inches: cover it with a nice paste, pour in about a pint of water, lute down the cover of the kettle, and let the top be supplied with live wood embers. Keep it over a slow fire about four hours.

When you take it up, lay it in the dish, pour in a glass of hot Madeira wine, and a very little India pepper: if you have oyfters, or truffles and morels, it is still better; thicken it with butter. Observe, before you put this sauce in, to skim the stew, and then lay on the crust, and send it to table reverse as in the kettle; cover it close with the paste, which should be brown.

To clarify Sugar after the Spanish way.

large pieces; then feason it with pepper, cloves, nutmeg, a great quantity of garlick cut small, some white wine vinegar, some bay-salt, and common-salt, a glass of red wine, and one of rum; mix all this well together; then take the largest gut you can find, and stuff it very tight; then hang it up a chimney, and smoke it with saw-duit for a week or ten days; hang them in the air, till they are dry, and they will keep a year. They are very good boiled in pease porridge, and roasted with toasted bread under it, or in an amlet.

A Turkey stuffed after the Hamburgh Way.

Mince one pound of beef with three quarters of a pound of fuet, feason it with falt, pepper, cloves, mace, and sweet marjoram; then mix two or three eggs with it, loosen the skin all round the turkey, and stuff it. It must be roasted.

Chickens the French Way.

QUARTER your chickens then broil them, crumble over them a little bread and parfley; when they are half done, put them in a flew-pan, with three or four spoonfuls of gravy, and double the quantity of white wine, falt and pepper, some fried veal balls, and some suckers, onions, shalots, and some green gooseberries or grapes when in season: cover the pan close, and let it stew on a charcoal fire for an hour; thicken the liquor with the yolks of eggs, and the juice of lemon; garnish the dish with fried suckers, sliced lemon, and the livers.

Chickens and Turkies after the Dutch Way.

Boil your chickens or turkies, feafon them with falt, pepper and cloves; then to every quart of broth put a quarter of a pound of rice or vermicelli: it is eat with fugar and cinnamon. The two last may be left out.

A Calf's Head after the Dutch Way.

LAY half a pound of Spanish pease in water a night; then one pound of whole rice; mix the pease and rice together, and lay it round the head in a deep dish; then take two quarts of water, season it with pepper and salt, and coloured with saffron; then send it to bake.

To make a Fricasey of Calves Feet and Chaldron, after the Italian.
Way.

To the crumb of about a threepenny loaf, put one pound of fuet, a large onion, two or three handfuls of parfley, mince it very fmall, feason it with falt and pepper, three or four cloves of garlick, mix with eight or ten eggs; then stuff the chaldron; take the feet and put them in a deep stew-pan: it must stew upon a flow fire till the bones are loose; then take two quarts of green pease, and put in the liquor; and when done, thicken it with the yolks of two eggs and the juice of a lemon. It must be seasoned with pepper, salt, mace, an onion, some parsley and garlick. Serve it up with the abovesaid pudding in the middle of the dish, and garnish the dish with fried suckers, and sliced onion.

To make a Cropadeu, a Scotch Dish, &c.

WITH oatmeal and water make a dumplin; put in the middle a haddock's liver, feason it well with pepper and salt; boil it well in a cloth as you would an apple-dumplin. The liver dissolves in the oat-meal; and eats very fine.

To pickle the fine Purple Cabbage, so much admired at the great Tables.

TAKE two cauliflowers, two red cabbages, half a peck of kidney-beans, fix flicks, with fix cloves of garlick on each flick; wash all well, give them one boil up, then drain them on a fieve and lay them leaf by leaf upon a large table, and salt them with bay-salt; then lay them a-drying in the sun, or in a slow oven, until as dry as cork.

To make the Pickle.

Mix a gallon of the best vinegar, with one quart of water, and a handful of salt, and an ounce of pepper; boil them, let it stand till it is cold; then take a quarter of a pound of ginger cut it in pieces, salt it, let it stand a week; take half a pound of mustard seed, washit, and lay it to dry; when very dry, bruise half of it; when half is ready for the jar, lay a row of cabbage, a row of caulislowers and beans; and throw betwixt every row your mustard-seed, some black pepper, Jamaica pepper, some ginger; mix an ounce of the root of turnerick powdered; put in the pickle, which must go over all. It is best when it has been made two years, though it may be used the first year.

To raise Mushrooms.

LET an old hot-bed be covered three or four inches thick with, fine garden mould, and cover that three or four inches thick with mouldy long muck, of a horse muck-hill, or old rotten stubble; when the bed has lain some time thus prepared, boil any mush-rooms that are not fit for use, in water, and throw the water on your prepared bed, in a day or two after, you will have the best small button mushrooms.

The Stag's Heart Water.

Take balm four handfuls, of fweet-majoram one handful, rosemary slowers, clove-gillishowers dried, dried rose-buds, hor-rage-flowers, of each an ounce; marigold-slowers half an ounce, lemon-peel two ounces, mace and mardamum, of each thirty grains; of cinnamon fixty grains, of yellow and white sanders, of each a quarter of an ounce, shavings of harts-horn an ounce; take nine oranges, and put in the peel; then cut them in small pieces; pour upon these two quarts of the best Rhenish, or the best white wine; let it insuse three or four days, being very close stopped in a cellar or cool place: if it insuse nine or ten days, it is the better.

Another way to make it.

PROVIDE a stag's heart, pull off all the fat, and cut it very small, and pour in so much Rhenish or white wine as will cover it; let it stand all night close covered in a cool place; the next day add the aforesaid things to it, mix it very well together; add-ng to it a pint of the best rose water, and a pint of the juice of scelandine: you may put in ten grains of sastron, and so put it in a glass still, distilling in water, raising it well to keep in the steam, both of the still and receiver.

To make Milk Water.

TAKE agrimony, endive, fumetory, baum, elder flowers, white nettles, water creffes, bank creffes, fage, each two handfuls; eye-bright, brook lime, and celandine, each two handfuls; the roses of yellow dock, red madder, fennel, horse-radish and liquorice, each three ounces; raisins stoned one pound, nutmegs sliced, winter bark, turmerick, galangal, each two drams; carraway and fennel seed three ounces, one gallon of milk. Distil all with a gentle fire in one day. You may add a handful of May wormwood.

To make Angelica Water.

Wash about eight handfuls of the leaves, and cut them, and tay them on a table to dry; when they are dry put them into an earthen pot, and put to them four quarts of strong wine-lees; let it stay twenty-four hours, but stir it twice in the time; then put it into a warm still or an alembeck, and draw it off; cover your bottles with a paper, and prick holes in it; so let it stand two or three days; then mingle it all together, and sweeten it; and when it is settled, bottle it up, and stop it close.

To make Slip-Coat Cheefe.

To fix quarts of new milk hot from the cow, the stroakings, put two spoonfuls of rennet; and when it is hard coming, lay it into the fat with a spoon, not breaking it all; then press it with a four pound weight, turning of it with a dry cloth once an hour, and every day shifting it into fresh grass. It will he ready to cut, if the weather be hot, in sourteen days.

To make a Brick-bat Cheese. It must be made in the Month of September.

To two gallons of new milk, put a quart of good cream, heat the cream, put in two spoonfuls of rennet, and when it is come, break it a little; then put it into a wooden mould, in the shape of a brick. It must be half a year old before you eat it: you must press it a little, and so dry it.

To make White Mead.

To five gallons of water, add one gallon of the best honey; then set it on the sire, boil it together well, and skim it very clean; then take it off the sire, and set it by; then take two or three races of ginger, the like quantity of cinnamon and nutmegs, bruise all these grossly, and put them in a little Holland-bag in the hot liquor, and so let it stand close covered till it be cold; then put as much ale-yeast to it as will make it work. Keep it in a warm place as as they do ale; and when it hath wrought well, tun it up; at two months you may drink it, having been bottled a month. But if you keep it four months, it will be the better.

To make Cordial Poppy Water.

Put two gallons of very good brandy, and a peck of poppies in a wide-mouth'd glass, and let them it and forty-eight hours, and strain the poppies out; take a pound of raisins of the fun, stone them; and an ounce of coriander seed, and an ounce of sweet sennel seeds, and an ounce of liquorice sliced, bruise them all together, and put them into brandy, with a pound of good powder sugar, and let them stand four or eight weeks, shake it every day; and then strain it off, and bottle it close up for use.

To make Brown Pottage.

Cut a piece of lean gravy-beef into thin collops, and hack them with the back of cleaver; have a stew-pan over the fire, with a piece of butter, a little bacon cut thin; let them be brown over the fire, and put in your beef: let it stew till it be very brown; put in a little flour, and then have your broth ready and fill up the stew-pan; put in two onions, a bunch of sweet herbs, cloves, mace, and pepper; let all stew together an hour covered; then have your broad ready toasted hard to put in your dish, and strain some of the broth to it, through a fine sieve; put a fowl of some sort in the middle, with a little boiled spinach minced in it; garnishing you dish with boiled lettuces, spinach and lemon.

To make White Barley Pottage, with a Chicken in the Middle.

Make your stock with an old hen, a knuckle of veal, a scraig end of mutton, some spice, sweet-herbs and onions; boil all together till it be strong enough; then have your barley ready boiled very tender and white, and strain some of it through a cullender; have your bread ready toasted in your dish, with some sine green herbs, minced chervil, spinach, sorrel; and put into your dish some of the broth to your bread, herbs, and chicken; the barley, strained and re-strained; stew all together in the dish a little while; garnish your dish with boiled lettuces, spinach, and lemon.

English Jews Puddings; an excellent Dish for fix or soven People for the Exponee of Six-tence.

Bott a calf's lights, chop them fine, soften the crumb of a two-penny loaf in the liquor the lights were boiled in; mix them well together in a pan; take about half a pound of kidney fat of a loin of veal or mutton that is roasted, or beef; if you have none, take suet: if you can get none, melt a little butter and mix in; fry four or sive onions, cut small and fried in dripping, not brown, only soft; a very little winter-savoury and thyme, a little lemon-pect shred sine; season with all-spice; pepper, and salt to your palate, break in two eggs; mix it all well together, and have ready some sheep's guts nicely clean'd, and fill them and fry them in dripping. This is a very good dish, and particularly adapted for poor people; because all sorts of lights are good, and will do, as hog's, sheep's, and bullock's, but calf's are best; a handful of parsley boiled and chopped fine, is very good, mixed with the meat. Poor people may, instead of the fat above, mix the fat the onions were fried in, and they will be very good.

To make a Scotch Haggas.

Chop the lights, heart, and chitterlings of a calf very fine, then chop a pound of fuet fine; feason with pepper and salt to your palate; mix in a pound of flour, or oatmeal, roll it up, and put it into a calf's bag, and boil it; an hour and half will do it. Some add a pint of good thick cream, and put in a little beaten mace, clove or nutmeg; or all-spice is very good in it.

To make it sweet with Fruit.

TAKE the meat and fuet as above-mentioned, and flour, with beaten mace, cloves, and nutmeg to your palate, a pound of currants washed very clean, a pound of raisins stoned and chopped fine, half a pint of sack; mix all well together, and boil it in the calf's bag two hours. Carry it to table in the bag it is boiled in.

To make four Crout.

PROCURE some sine hard white cabbages, cut them very small, have a tub on purpose with the head out, according to the quantity you intend to make; put them in the tub: to every sour or sive cabbages, throw in a large handful of salt; when you have done as many as you intend, lay a very heavy weight on them, to prese them down as stat as possible, throw a cloth over them, and lay on the cover; let them stand a month, then you may begin to safe it. It will keep twelve months, but be sure to keep it always close covered, and the weight on it; if you throw a few carraway seeds pounded sine amongst it, they give it a sine slavour. The way to dress it is with a sine sat piece of beef stewed together. It is a dish much made use of amongst the Germans, and in the North Countries, where the frost kills all the cabbages; therefore they preserve them in this manner, before the frost takes them.

Cabbage-stalks, cauliflowers stalks, and artichoke-stalks, peel'd and cut fine down in the same manner, are very good.

To keep Green Peafe, Beans, &c. and Fruits, fresh and good till Christmas, GATHER all your things on a fine clear day, in the increase of all of the moon; take well-glazed earthen or stone pots quite new, that have not been laid in water, wipe them clean, lay in your fruit very carefully, and take great care none is bruised or damaged, nor too ripe, but just in their prime; stop down the jar close, and pitch it, and tie a leather over. Kidney beans may be done the same manner; bury them two seet deep in the earth, and keep them there till you have occasion for them. Do pease and beans the same way, only keep them in the pods, and don't let your pease be either too young or too old; the one will run to water, and the other the worm will eat; as to the two latter, lay a layer of sine writing sand, and a layer of pods, and so on till full: the rest as above. You may keep flowers the same way.

To make Paco Lilla, or Indian pickle, the same the Mangoes come over in.

LAY a pound of race-ginger in water one night; then scrape it, and cut it in thin slices, and put to it some salt, and let it stand in the sun to dry; take long pepper two ounces, and do it as the ginger. Take a pound of garlick, and cut it in thin slices, and salt it, and let it stand three days; then wash it well, and let it be salted again, and stand three days more; then wash it well and drain it, and put it in the sun to dry. Take a quarter of a pound of mustard-sceds bruised, and half a quarter of an ounce of turnerick: put these ingredients, when prepared, into a large stone or glass jar, with a gallon of very good white wine vinegar, and stir it very often for a fortnight, and tie it up close.

In this pickle you may put white cabbage, cut in quarters, and put in a brine of falt and water for three days, and then boil fresh salt and water, and just put in the cabbage to scald, and press out the water, and put it in the sun to dry, in the same manner as you do caulissowers, cucumbers, melons, apples, French beans, plumbs, or any fort or fruit. Take care they are all well dried before you put them into the pickle: you need never empty the jar, but as the things come in season, put them in, and supply it with vinegar as often as there is occasion.

If you would have your pickle look green, leave out the turmerick, and green them as usual, and put them into this pickle cold.

In the above, you may do walnuts in a jar by themselves: put the walnuts in without any preparation, tied close down, and kept some time.

To preserve Cucumbers equal with any Italian Sweetmeats.

Put fine young gerkins, of two or three different fizes, into $ stone jar, cover them well with vine-leaves, fill the jar with springwater, cover it close; let it stand near the fire, so as to be quite warm, for ten days or a fortnight; then take them out, and throw them into fpring-water, they will look quite yellow, and stink, but you must not regard that. Have ready your preserving. pan; take them out of that water, and put them into the pan, cover them well with vine-leaves, fill it with spring-water, set it over a charcoal fire, cover them close, and let them simmer very flow; look at them often, and when you fee them turned quite of a fine green, take off the leaves, and throw them into a large fieve; then into a coarse cloth, four or five times doubled; when they are cold, put them into the jar, and have ready your fyrup, made of double-refined fugar, in which boil a great deal of lemonpeel and whole ginger; pour it hot over them, and cover them down close; do it three times; pare your lemon-peel very thin, and cut them in long thin bits, about two inches long; the ginger must be well boiled in water before it is put in the fyrup. Take long cucumbers, cut them in half, scoop out the inside; do them the same way: they eat very fine in minced pies or puddings; or boil the fyrup to a candy, and dry them on fieves,

Of preserving Salmon, and all Sorts of Fish the Jews' Way.

TAKE either cod, falmon, or any large fish, cut off the head, wash it clean, and cut it in slices as crimp'd cod is, dry it very well in a cloth; then flour it, and dip it in yolks of eggs, and fry it in a great deal of oil, till it is of a fine brown, and well done; take it out and lay it to drain, till it is very dry and cold. Whitings, mackarel, and flat fish, are done whole; when they are quite dry and cold, lay them in your pan or veffel, throw in between them a large quantity of mace, cloves, and fliced nutmeg, a few bay leaves; have your pickle ready, made of the best white wine vinegar, in which you must boil a great many cloves of garlick and shalot, black and white pepper, Jamaica and long pepper, juniper berries and falt; when the garlick begins to be tender, the pickle is enough: when it is quite cold, pour it on your fish, and a little oil on the top. They will keep good a twelvemonth and are to be eat cold with oil and vinegar: they will go good to to the East-Indies. All forts of fish fried well in oil, eat very fine cold with shalot, or oil and vinegar. Observe, in the pickling of your fish, to have the pickle ready: first put a little pickle in ; then a layer of fish; then pickle; then a little fish, and so lay them down very close, and to be well covered; put a little saffron in the pickle. Frying fish in common oil is not so expensive with care; for present use a little does; and if the cook is careful not to burn the oil, or black it, it will fry them two or three times.

To preserve Tripe to go to the East Indies.

PROCURE a fine belly of tripe, quite fresh. Take a four gallon cask well hooped, lay in your tripe, and have your pickle ready made thus: take seven quarts of spring-water, and put as much salt into it as will make an egg swim, that the little end of the egg may be about an inch above the water; (take care to have the fine clear salt, for the common salt will spoil it) add a quart of the best white wine vinegar, two sprigs of rosemary, an ounce of all spice, pour it on your tripe; let the cooper fasten the cask down directly; when it comes to the Indies, it must not be opened till it is wanted to be dressed; for it won't keep after the cask is opened. The way to dress it is, lay it in water half an hour; then fry it or boil it as we do here.

The Manner of dressing various Sorts of dried Fish; as Stock-fish, Salmon, Cod, Whitings, &c.

The general Rule for steeping of dried Fish, the Stock-fish excepted.

ALL kinds of fish, except stock-fish, are salted, or either dried in the sun, as the most common way, or in prepared kilns, or by the smoke of wood fires in chimney corners; and in either case require the being softened and freshened in proportion to their bulk, their nature or dryness; the very dry sort, as, cod-sish, bacalo, or whiting, and such like, should be steeped in luke-warm milk and water; the steeping kept as near as possible to an equal degree of heat. The larger fish should be steeped twelve, the fmall, as whiting, &c. about two hours. are therefore laid to sleep in the evening, the whitings, &c. in morning before they are to be dressed; after the time of steeping. they are to be taken out, and hung up by the tails until they are dressed: the reason of hanging them up is, that they soften equally as in the steeping, without extracting too much of the relish, which would make them insipid; when thus prepared, the fmall fifth, as whiting, tulk, and fuch like, are flowered and laid on the gridiron; and when a little hardened on the one fide, must be turned and basted with oil upon a feather; and when basted on both sides, and well hot through, taken up, always obferving, that as fweet oil supples, and supplies the fish with a kind of artificial juices, so the fire draws out those juices and hardens them; therefore be careful not to let them broil tolong; no time can be prescribed, because of the difference of fires, and the fizes of the fish. A clear chargoal fire is much the best, and the fish kept at a good distance to broil gradually : the best way to know when they are enough is, they will swell a little in the basting, and you must not let them fall again.

The fauces are the same as usual to salt-fish, and garnish withoysters fried in batter

For a supper, for those that love sweet oil, the best sauce is oil, vinegar, and mustard beat up to a consistence, and served up in saucers.

If boiled as the great fifth usually are, it should be in milk and water, but not so properly boiled as kept just simmering over an equal fire; in which way, half an hour will do the largest fifth, and five minutes the smallest. Some broil both forts after simmering, and some pick them to pieces, and then toss them up in a pan with fried-onions and apples.

They are either way very good, and the choice depends on the weak or strong stomach of the eaters.

Dried Salmon must be differently managed.

DRIED falmon though a large fifth, does not require moral freeping than a whiting; and when laid on the gridiron, should be moderately peppered.

The dried Herring.

Instead of milk and water, should be steeped the like time as the whiting, in finall beer; and to which, as to all kind of broiled falt-fish, sweet oil will always be found the best basting, and no way affect even the delicacy of those who do not love oil.

Stock Fift,

Are very different from those we have just mentioned; they being dried in the frost without falt, are in their kind very infipid and are only eatable by the ingredients that make them so, and the art of cookery; they should be first beat with a sledge hammer on an iron anvil, or on a very solid smooth oaken block; and when reduced almost to atoms, the skin and bones taken away, and the remainder of the fish steeped in milk and warm.

water until very foft; then strained out, and put into a soupdish with new milk, powdered cinnamon, mace, and nutmeg; the chief part cinnamon, a paste round the edge of the dish, and put in a temperate oven to simmer for about an hour, and then served up in the place of pudding.

N. B. The inhabitants of Italy eat the kin boiled, either hot or cold, and most usually with oil and vinegar, preferring the ikin to the body of the fish.

The Way of curing Mackrel.

GET some fresh mackrel, split them down the backs, open them slat: take out the guts, and wash them very clean from the blood, hang them up by the tails to drain well; do this in the cool of the evening, or in a very cool place; strew salt at the bottom of the pan, sprinkle the fish well with clean salt, lay them in the pan, belly to belly, and back to back; let them lie in the salt above twelve hours, wash the salt clean off in the pickle, hang them again up by the tails half an hour to drain; pepper the insides moderately, and lay them out you inclining stones facing the sun; never leaving them out when the sun is off, nor lay them out before the sun has dispersed the dews, and the stones you lay them on be dry and warm. A week's time of sine weather perfectly cures them; when cured, hang them up by the tails, belly to belly, in a very dry place, but not in sea-coal smoak, as it will spoil their slavour.

To drefs cured Mackrel.

Fax them in boiling oil, and lay them to drain, or broil them before, or on a very clear fire: in the latter case, baste them with oil and a feather; sauce will be very little wanting, as they will be very moist and mellow, if good in kind; otherwise you may use melted butter and crimped parsley.

Calves Feet stewed.

TARE a calf's foot, cut it into four pieces, put it into a faucepan, with half a pint of fort water, and a middling potatoe; icrape the outfide skin clean off, slice it thin, and a middling onion peeled and sliced thin, some beaten pepper and salt, cover it close, and let it slew very softly for about two hours after it boils; be sure to let it simmer as softly as you can: eat it without any sauce; it is an excellent dish.

To pickle a Buttock of Beef.

GET a fine buttock of well fed ox beef, and with a long narrow knife make holes through, in which holes you must run square pieces of fat bacon, about as thick as your singer, in about a dozen or sourteen places, and have ready a great deal of parsley clean washed and picked fine, but not chopped; and in every hole where the bacon is, stuff in as much of the parsley as you can get in, with a long round stick; then take half an ounce of mace, cloves and nutmegs, an equal quantity of each, dried before the fire, and pounded fine, and a quarter of art ounce of black pepper beat fine, a quarter of an ounce of cardamom-feeds beat fine, and half an ounce of juniper berries beat fine, a quarter of a pound of loaf fugar beat fine, two large spoonfuls of fine falt, two tea-spoonfuls of India pepper, mix all together, and rub the beef well with it; let it lie in this pickle two days, turning and rubbing it twice a day; then throw into the pan two bay-leaves; fix shalots peeled and cut fine, and pour a pint of fine white wine vinegar over it, keeping it turned and rubbed as above; let it lie thus another day; then pour over it a bottle of red port or Madeira wine; let it lie thus in this pickle a week or ten days; and when you dress it, stew it in the pickle it lies in, with another bottle of red wine; it is an excellent dish, and eats best cold, and will keep a month or fix weeks good.

To make a fine Bitter.

GET an ounce of the finest Jesuit powder, half a quarter of an ounce of snake-root powder, half a quarter of an ounce of salt of wormwood, half a quarter of sasson, half a quarter of cochineal; put it into a quart of the best brandy, and let it stand twenty-four hours; every now and then shaking the bottle.

An approved Method practifed by Mrs. Dukely, the Queen's Tyre-Woman, to preserve Hair, and make it grow thick.

Put into a quart of white wine, one handful of rosemary flowers, half a pound of honey, distil them together; then add a quarter of a pint of oil of sweet almonds, shake it very well together, put a little of it into a cup, warm it blood warm, subit well on your head, and comb it dry.

A fine Lip-salve.

To two ounces of virgin's wax put two ounces of hog's lard, half an ounce of spermaceti, one ounce of oil of sweet almonds, two drams of balfam of Peru, two drams of alkanet root cut small, six new raisins shred small, a little fine sugar, simmer them all together a little while; then strain it off into little pots. It is the finest lip salve in the world.

A Powder for the Heart-burn.

TAKE fix ounces of white chalk, eyes and claws of crabs, of each an ounce; oil of nutmeg fix drops; make them into a fine powder. About a dram of this in a glass of cold water is an intallible cure for the heart-burn.

To make Carolina Snow Balks.

PROVIDE half a pound of rice, wash it clean, divide it into fix parts; take fix apples, pare them and scoop out the core, in which place put a little lemon-peel shred very fine; then have ready some thin cloths to tie the balls in: put the rice in the cloth, and lay the apple on it, tie them up close; put them into cold water, and when the water boils, they will take an hour and a quarter boiling: be careful how you turn them into the dish, that you don't break the rice, and they will look as white as fnow, and make a very pretty dish:

The fauce is, to this quantity, a quarter of a pound of fresh butter, melted thick, a glass of white wine, a little nutmeg and beaten cinnamon, made very sweet with sugar: boil all up together, and pour it into a bason, and send to table.

'A Carolina Rice Pudding.

Wash half a pound of rice, put it into a faucepan, with a quart of milk, keep it stirring till it is very thick; take great care it don't burn; then turn it into a pan, and grate some nutmeg into it, and two tea spoonfuls of beaten cinnamon, a little lemon-peel shred sine, six apples, pared and chopped small; mix all together with the yolks of three eggs, and sweetened to your palate; then tie it up close in a cloth; put it into boiling water, and be sure to keep it boiling all the time; an hour and a quarter will boil it. Melt butter and pour over it, and throw some sine sugar all over it; and a little wine in the sauce will improve it.

To distil Treacle Water, Lady Monmouth's way.

Take three ounces of hartshorn, shaved and boiled in burrage water, or succory wood, forret or respice water; or three pints of any of these waters boiled to a jelly, and put the jelly and hartshorn both into the still; and add a pint more of these waters when you put it into the still; take the roots of ellicampane, gentian, cypress-tunins, of each an ounce; of blessed thissle, call'd cardus, and angelica, of each an ounce; of sorret roots two ounces; of balm, of sweet marjoram, of burnet, of each half an handful; lily-comvally slowers, burrage bugloss, rosemary, and marigold flowers, of each two ounces; of citron rinds, cardus seeds and citron feeds, of alkermes-berries and cochineal, each of these an ounce.

Prepare all these Simples thus.

LET the flowers be gathered as they come in feason, and put them in glasses with a large mouth, and put with them as much good sack as will cover them, and tie up the glasses close with bladders wet in the sack, with a cork and leather tied upon it close; adding more flowers and sack as occasion is; and when one glass is full, take another, till you have your quantity of flowers to distil; put cochineal into a pint bottle, with half a pint of sack, and tie it up close with a bladder under the cork, and another on the top wet in sack, tied up close with brown thread; and then cover it up close with leather, and bury it standing upright in a bed of hot horse-dung for nine or ten days; look at it, and if disloved, take it out of the dung, but don't open open it till you distil; slice all the roses, beat the seeds and the alkermes berries, and put them into another glass; amongst all, put no more sack than is necessary; and when you intend to distil, take a pound of the best Venice treacle, and dissolve it in six pints of the best white wine, and three of red rose-water, and put all the ingredients into a bason, and stir them all together, and distil them in a glass still, (balnea Mariæ) don't open the ingredients till the same day you distil.
