READER.

I BELIEVE I have attempted a branch of Cookery which nobody has yet thought worth their while towrite upon: but as I have both feen, and found by experience; that the generality of fervants are greatly wanting in that point, therefore I have taken upon me to inftruct them in the beft manner I am capable; and I dere fay, that every fervant who can but read will be capable of making a tolerable good cook, and thofe who have the least notion of cookery cannot mils of being very good ones.

If I have not wrote in the high polite flile, I hope I thall be forgiven; for my intention is to initrust the lower fort, and therefore must treat them in their own For example : when I bid them lard a fowl, if way. I thould bid them lard with large lardoons, they would not know what I meant; but, when I fay they muft lard with little pieces of bacon, they know what I mean. So, in many other things in cookery, the great cooks have fuch a high way of expreffing themselves, that the poor girls are at a loss to know what they mean : and, in all Receipt books yet printed, there are fuch an odd jumble of things as would quite fpoil a good difb ; and indeed fome things to extravagant, that it would be almolt a frame to make use of them, when a diff can be made full as good, or better, without them. For erample : when you entertain ten or twelve people, you shall use for a cullis a log of yeal and a ham; which, with the other ingredients, make it very expensive, and all this only to mix with other fauce. At again, the effence of ham for fauce to one diff, when I will prove,, that for about three fhillings I will make as rich and high a fauce as that will be, when done. For example:

Take a large deep stew-pan, half a pound of bacon, fat and lean together, cut the fat, and lay it over the bottom. of the pan ; then take a found of veal, cut it into thin flices, beat it well with the back of a knife, lay it all over the bacon; then have fixpennyworth of the coarse lean part of the beef cut thin and well beat, lay a layer of it all over, with fome carrot, then the lean of the bacon cut thin and laid over that : then cut two onions and firew over, a hundie of fweet herbs, four or five blades of mace, fix or feven cloves, a spoonful of rubole pepper, black and rubite together, half a nutmeg beat, a pigeon beat all to pieces, lay that all over, half an ounce of truffles and morels, then the reft of your beef, a good cruft of bread toasted very brown and dry on both fides : you may add an old cock beat to pieces; cover it close, and let it fland over a flow fire two or three minutes, then pour on boiling water enough to fill the pan, cover it close, and let it sterv till it is as rich as you would have it, and then strain off all that fauce. Put. all your ingredients together again, fill the pan with boiling water, jut in a figh onion, a blade of mace, and a piece of carrot : cover it clofe, and let it frow till it is as flrong as you want it. This will be full as good as the offence of ham for all forts of fowls, or indeed most made diffees, mixed with a glafs of wine and two or three · foonfuls of catchup. When your first gravy is cool, skim off all the fat, and keep it for u/e .- This falls far thort of the expence of a leg of veal and ham, and answers every: purpofe you want.

If you go to market, the ingredients will not come to above half 2-crown, or for about eighteen-pence you may make as much good gravy as will ferve twenty people.

Take eighteen pennyworth of coarfe lean beef, which will be fix or feven pounds, cut it all to pieces, flour it well, take a quarter a pound of good butter, put it into a little pot or large deep flew-pan, and put in your beef: keep flirring it, and when it begins to look a little brown, pour in a pint of boiling water: flir it all together, put in a large-large onion, a hundle of fweet herbs, two or three blades of mare, five or fix cloves, a speonful of whole pepper, a cruft of bread toafied, and a piece of carrot; then pour in four or five quarts of water, flir all together, cover it cloftand let it flew till it be as rich as you would have it : when enough, Arain it off, mix it with two or three spoonfulsof catchup, and half a pint of white wine; then put all the ingredients together again, and put in two quarts of boiling water, cover it clofe, and let it boil till there is about a pint ; Arain it off well, add it to the first, and give it a boil together. This will, make a great deal of rich good gravy ...

You may leave out the wine, according to what ufe you want it for; fo that really one might have a genteel entertainment for the price the fauce of one difh. comes to : but, if gentlemen will have Franch cooks, they must pay for French tricks.

A Frenchman in his own country will drefs a fine dinner of twenty diffies, and all genteel and pretty, for the expence he will put an English lord to for dreffing . one dith. But then there is the little petty profit. have heard of a cook that used fix pounds of butter to fry twelve eggs; when every body knows (that underftands cooking) that half a pound is full enough, or " more than need be used : but then it would not be French. So much is the blind folly of this age, that they would rather be imposed on by a French booby, than give encouragement to a good English cook !

I doubt I shall not gain the effeem of those gentlemen ; however, let that be as it will, it little concerns ... me : but, fhould I be fo happy as to gain the good opinion of my own fex, I defire no more; that will be a . full recompence for all my trouble ; and I only beg the : favour of every lady to read my Book throughout before they cenfure me, and then I flatter myfelf I shall have their approbation.

I shall not take upon me to meddle in the physical way farther than two receipts, which will be of use to the public in general : one is for the bite of a mad dog : and the other, if a man thould be near where the plague * is, he fhall be in no danger ; which, if made use of, would -

would be found of very great fervice to those who go abroad.

Nor thall I take upon me to direct a lady in the economy of her family; for every miltrefs does, or at leaft ought to know, what is molt proper to be done there; therefore I fhall not fill my Book with a deal of nonfenfe of that kind, which I am very well affured none will have regard to.

I have indeed given fome of my diffes French names to diffinguish them, because they are known by those names; and, where there is great variety of diffes; and a large table to cover, there must be variety ofnames for them; and it matters not whether they be called by a French, Dutch, or English name, fo they: are good, and done with as little expense as the diffewill allow of.

I shall fay no more, only hope my Book will answer the ends I intend it for; which is to improve the fervants, and fave the ladies a great deal of trouble.

THE

MADE

CHAP. I.

Of ROASTING, BOILING, &c.

HAT professed cooks will find fault with touching upon a branch of cookery which they never thought worth their notice, is what I expect: however, this I know, it is the most necessary part of it; and few fervants there are, that know how to roast and boil to perfection.

I do not pretend to teach professed cooks; but my defignes to infruct the ignorant and unlearned, (which will likewife be of great afe in all private families), and in fo plain and full a manner, that the most illiterate and ignorant perfon, who can but read, will know how to do every thing in cookery well.

· Digitized by Google

I SHALL

I SHALL full begin with roaft and boiled of all forts, and noul define the cook to order her fire according to what the is to drefs: if any thirg very little or thin, then a pretty little brifk fire, that it may be done quick at d nice; if a very large joint, then be fire a good fire be laid to cake. Let it be clear at the bottom; and, when your meat is half done, move the dripping-pan about the fire, according to the goodnets of your fire, your meat will be done fooner or later.

BEEF.

Is bref, be fure to paper the top, and baffe it well all the time it is reading, and throw a handful of fait on it. When you fee the fmoke draw to the fire, it is near enough; then take cill the paper, baffe it well, and doubge it with a little flour to make a fine froth. Never that your readt meat before you lay is to the fire; for that draws out all the gravy. If you would keep it a few d.ys b.fore you drefs it, dry it very well with a clean cloth, then flour it all over, and hang it where the drawill come to it; but be fure always to mind that there is no drup place about it; if there is, you maft dry it well with a cloth. Take op your meat, and gare with your difn with nothing but horfegaddith.

MUTTON and LAMB.

As to making of matten; the loin, the faddle of matten, (which is the two loins), and the chine. (which is the two nocks), mult be done as the beef above. But all other forts of mutten and lamb mult be reafied with a quick clear fire, and without paper; bafte it when y_{ch} by it down, and, just before you take it up, drudge is with a little flour; but be fure not to ufe too much; for that takes away all the fire tafte of the meat. Some childe to thin a loin of matten, and reaft it brown without paper: but that you may do just as you pleafe; but be fure always to take the skin off a breast of muttou,

VEAL.

VEAL.

As to veal, you mußt be careful to roaft it of π fine brown; if a large joint, a very good fire; if a finall joint, a pretty little brikk fire; if a fillet or loin, be fure to paper the fat, that you lefe as little of that as poffible. Lay it fome diffance from the fire till it is foaked, then lay it near the fire. When you lay it down, bafte it well with good butter; and, when it is near enough, bafte it again, and drudge it with a little flour. The breaft you must roaft with the caul on till it is enough, and fkewer the fweetbread on the back. fide of the breaft. When it is night enough, take off the eaul, bafte it, and drudge it with a little flour.

PORK.

PORK must be well done, or it is apt to furfeit. When yen roaft a loin, take a fharp pen-knife, and cut the f in acrofs, to make the crackling eat the better. The chine you must not cut at all. The best way to roast a leg, is first to parboil it, then fkin it and rough it ; basto it with butter, then take a little fage, fhred it fine, a little popper and falt, a little numer, and a few crumbs of bread; throw these over it all the time it is roafling, then have a little drawn gravy to put in the diffi with the crumbs that drop from it. Some love the knuckle fluffed with onion and fage fired fmall, with a little pepper and falt, gravy and apple-fauce to it. This they call a mock goole. The fpring, or hand of pork, if very young, roafted like a pig, eats very well, otherwife it is better boiled. The spare-rib should be basted with a little bit of butter, a very little dust of flour, and fome fage fired fmall : but we never make any fauce to it but apple-fauce. The best way to drefs pork grifkins is to roalt them, balle them with a little butier and crumbs of bread, fage, and a little pepper and falt. Few eat any thing with these but mustard.

To roaft a pig.

SPIT your pig, and lay it to the fire, which must be a very good one at each end, or hang a flat iron in A 2 the middle of the grate. Before you lay your pigdown, take a little fage shred small, a piece of butter as big as a walnut, and a little pepper and falt; put them into the pig, and few it up with coarfe thread, then flour it all over very well, and keep flouring it till the eyes drop out, or you find the crackling hard. Be sure to fave all the gravy that comes out of it, which you must do by fetting basons or pans under the pig in the dripping-pan, as ioon as you find the gravy begins to run. When the pig is enough, flir the fire up brick ;. take a coarse cloth, with about a quarter of a pound of butter in it, and rub the pig all over till the crackling is quite crifp, and then take it up. Lay it in yourdifh, and with a fharp knife cut off the head, and then. cut the pig in two before you draw out the fpir. Cut, the ears off the head and lay at each end, and cut the under-jaw in two and lay on each fide; melt fome good butter, take the gravy you faved and put into it, boil. it, and pour it into the dish with the brains bruifed five, and the fage mixed all together, and then fend it to table.

Different forts of faues for a pig.

Now you are to obferve, there are feveral ways of making fauce for a pig. Some don't love any fage in the pig, only a cruft of bread ; but then you thould have a little dried fage rubbed and mixed with the gravy and butter. Some love bread fauce in a bafon, made thus: take a pint of water, put in a good piece of crumb of bread, a blade of mace, and a little whole pepper; boil it for about five or fix minutes, and then pour the water off: take out the fpice, and beat up the bread with a good piece of butter. Some love a few currants boiled in it, a glafs of wine, and a little fugar: but that you must do just as you like it. Otherstake half a pint of good beef gravy, and the gravy which comes out of the pig, with a piece of butterrolled in flour, two fpoonfuls of catchup, and boil them all together; then take the brains of the pig, and bruife them fine, with two eggs boiled hard and chepped ; put all these together, with the fage in the pig, and and pour into your difh. It is a very good fance. When there does not gravy enough come out of your pig with the butter for fauce, take about half a pint of veal gravy, and add to it ; or flew the petty-toes, and tal c as much of that liquor as will do for fauce, mixedwith the other.

To roof the hind-quarter of a pig, lamb-fashion.

Ar the time of the year when house-lamb is very dear, take the hind-quarter of a large pig; take off the fkin and roaft it, and it will eat like lamb' with mintfance, or with a fallad, or Seville orange. Half an hour will roait it.

To bake a pig.

IF you should be in a place where you cannot road a pig, lay it in a difh, flour it all over well, and rub it over with butter, butter the difh you lay it in, and put it into an oven. When it is enough, draw it out of the oven's mouth, and rub it over with a buttery cloth ; then put it into the oven again till it is dry, take it out, and lay it in a difh : cut it up, take a little veal-gravy. and take off the fat in a difh it was baked in, and there will be fome good gravy at the bottom ; put that to it. with a little piece of better rolled in floer; boil it up; and put it into the difh with the brains and fage in the belly. Some love a pig brought whole to table; then you are only to put what fauce you like into the difh.

To melt butter.

In melting of butter you must be very careful; let vour fauce pan be well tinned, take a spoonful of cold water, a little duft of flour, and your butter cut to pieces : be fure to keep flaking your pan one way, for fear it should oil; when it is all melted, let it boil, and it will be fmooth and fine. A filver pan is beft, is you have out. $\mathbf{7}$ erombs of bread, a little parfley flored fine, and about as much thyme as will ly on a fixpence, when flored; an anchovy thred fmall, a very little pepper and falt, from notimeg, two eggs, and a little lemon-peel. Mix all thefe together, and put it into the hare. Stew up the belly, fpit it, and hay it to the fire, which much be a good one. Your dripping-pan muft be very clean and nice. Put in two quarts of milk and half a pound of butter into the pant: keep building it all the while it is reaffing, with the butter and milk, till the whole is ufed, and your hare will be enough. You may mix the liver in the pudding, if you like it. You mail firft parbeil it, and then chop it fine.

Till Corent forts of fance for a lare.

TAKE for fauce a pint of cream and half a pound of fresh butter; put them in a fauce-pan, and keep fairing it with a fpoon till the butter is melted, and the fauce is thick; then take up the hare, and poor the fauce into the dish. Another way to make fauce for a hare, is to make good gravy, thickened with a little piece of butter rolled in flour, and pour it into your dish. You may have the better out, if you don't like it, and have fome currant jelly warmed in a cup, or red wine and fegur boiled to a fyrup; done thus, Take halt a pat of red wine, a quarter of a pound of fugar, and fet over a flow first to immer for about a quarter of aa how. You may do half the quantity, and put it intoyour fauce-boat or bafon.

To brell fleaks.

First have a clear brick fire: let your gridiron bevery clean; put it on the fire, and take a chaffing-diffewith a few hot coals out of the fire. Put the diffing-diffewith a few hot coals out of the fire. Put the diffingit which is to lay your fleaks on, then take fine rump it-ake about half an incluince; put a little pepper and fail on them, lay them on the gridiron, and (if you like it) take a fhallot or two, or a fine onion, and cot it fine; put it into your diffie. Don't turn your fleaks the one tide is done, then when you turn the other fide there will focu five gravy by on the top of the fleaks, which which you must be careful not to lose. When the freaks are enough, take them carefully off into your dish, that none of the gravy be lost; then have ready a hot dish and cover, and carry them hot to table with the cover on.

Directions concerning the fauce for fleaks.

Is you love pickles or horfe raddifh with fleaks, never garnith your difh, becaufe both the garnithing wilk be dry, and the fleaks will be cold, but lay those things on little plates, and carry to table. The great nicety is to have them hot and full of gravy.

General directions concerning broiling.

As to muttor and pork fleaks, you muft keep themturning quick on the gridiron, and have your difh ready over a chaffing-difh of hot coals, and carry them to table covered hot. When you broil fowls or pigeons, always take care your fire is clear; and never balle any thing on the gridiron, for it only makes it fmoaked and bornt.

General directions concerning boiling.

As to all forts of boiled meat, allow a quarter of anbour to every pound; be fure the pat is very clean, and from it well, for every thing will have a fourn rife, and, if that boils down, it makes the meat black. All forts of frefi meat you are to put in when the water boils, but falt meat when the water is cold.

To boil a ham ...

WHEN you boil a ham, put it into a copper, if you, have one; let it be about three or four hours before it. boils, and keep it well fkimmed all the time; then, if it is a fmall one, one hour and a half will boil it, after the copper begins to boil; and, if a large one, twohours will do; for you are to confider the time it has been heating in the water, which foftens the ham, and makes it boil the fooner.

To boil a tengue.

A TONGUE, if falt, put it in the pot over night, and don't let it beil till about three bours before dinner, and then boil all these three hours; if fresh out of the pickle, two hours, and put it in when the water boils.

To boil formels and houfe-lamb.

Fowns and house-lands boil in a pot by themfelves, in a good deal of water, and if any found arifes, take it off. They will be both (weeter and whiter than if boiled in a cloth. A little chicken will be done in fifteen minutes, a large chicken in twenty minutes, a good fowl in half an hour, a little turkey or poofe in an hour, and a large turkey in an hour and a half.

Souce for a brited turkey.

THE best fauce to a boiled turkey is this: take a little water, or mutten gravy, if you have it, a blade of mace, an onlon, a little bit of thyme, a little bit of lemon riel, and an archovy; hold all these together, flrain them through a fieve, melt force butter and ald to them, fry a few faufages and lay round the dish. Garuish your dish with semon.

Sauce Fer a boiled gufe.

Saviet for a billed poole must be either onions on callinge, first boil d, and then stewed in butter for five minutes.

Sauce for boiled ducks or rabbits.

To beiled ducks or rabbits, you must pour boiled onions over them, which do thus: take the onions, peel them, and boil them in a great deal of water; fluit your water, then let them boil about two hours, take them up, and throw them into a cullendar to drain, them with a knife chop them on a board; put them into a face-pen, just facke a little fluur over them, put in a little milk or cream, with a good piece of butter; fet them over the fire, and when the butter is melted they they are enough. But if you would have onion fauce in half an hour, take your onions, peel them, and cht them in thin flices, put them into milk and water, and when the water boils they will be done in twenty minutes, then throw them into a cullendar to drain, and chop them and put them into a fauce-pan; flake in a little flour, with a little cream, if you have it, and a good piece of butter: flir all together over the fire till the butter is melted, and they will be very fine. This funce is very good with roaft mutton, and it is the beft way of boiling onions.

To roaft venifen.

TARE a haunch of venifon, and fpit it. Take four facets of white paper, butter them well, and roll about your venifon, then tie your paper on with a fmall ftring, and balte it very well all the time it is roafting. If your fire is very good and brifk, two hours will do it; and, if a fniall haunch, an hour and a half. The neck und thoulder muft be done in the fame manner, which will take an hour and a half, and when it is enough. · take off the paper, and drudge it with a little flour juft to make a froth; but you must be very quick, for fear the fat should melt. You must not put any fauce in the dith but what comes out of the meat, but have fome very good gravy and put it into your fauce-boat or bafon, You mult always have fweet fauce with your venifon in another bason. If it is a large haunch, it will take two hours and a half.

Different forts of fauce for venifon.

You may take either of these fauces for venifon. Currant jelly warned, or half a pint of red wine, with a quarter of a pound of sugar, summered over a clear fire for five or fix minutes; or half a pint of vinegar, and a quarter of a pound of sugar, summered till it is a syrup.

To road mution, venifon-fastion.

down, pour a bottle of red wine over it, and let it fie tweaty-four hours, then fpit it, and bafte it with the fame liquor and butter all the time it is roalting, at a good quick fire, and an hour and a half will do it. Have a little good gravy in a cup, and fweet fauce in another. A good fat neck of mutton eats finely done thus.

To keep venifon or bares freet; or to make them fresh when they slink.

Is your venifon be very fweet, only dry it with a cloth, and hang it where the air comes. If you would keep it any time, dry it very well with clean cloths, rub it all over with beaten ginger, and hang it in an any place, and it will keep a great while. If it flinks, or is mufty, take fome lukewarm water and wafh it clean; then take frefh milk and water lukewarm, and wath it again; then dry it in clean cloths very well, and rub it all over with beaten ginger, and haog it in a n airy place. When you roaft it, you need only wipe it with a clean cloth, and paper it, as before-mentioued. Never do any thing elfe to venifon, for all other things fpoil your venifon, and take away the fine flavour, and this preferves it better than any thing you can do. A hare you may manage juft, the fame way.

To roaft a tongue or udder.

PARBOIL it fift, then roaft it; flick eight or ten cloves about it; bafte it with butter, and have fome gravy and fweet fauce. An udder eats very well done the fame way.

To roaft rabbits.

BATTE them with good butter, and drudge them with a little flour. Half an hour will do them, at a very quick clear fire, and, if they are very fmall, twenty minutes will do them. Take the liver, with a little buuch of parfley, and boil them, and then chop them very fine together. Melt fome good butter, and put half the liver and parfley into the butter; pour it into the difh, and garnith the difh with the other half. Let your rabbits be done of a fine light brown.

To keep ment bete

The best way to keep meat hot, if it be done before your company is ready, is to fet the difh over aspan of boiling water; cover the difh with a deep cover fo as not to touch the meat, and throw a cloth over all. Thus you may keep your meat hot a long time, and it is better than over-roading and fpoiling the meat. The iteam of the water keeps the meat hot, and don't draw the gravy out, or dry it up; whereas, if you fet a difh ofmeat any time over a chaffing-dith of coals, it will dry; up all the gravy, and fpoil the meat.

To drefs Greens, Roots, & c.

ALWAYS be very careful that your greens be nicelypicked and washed. You should lay them in a clean pan, for fear of fand or dust, which is apt to hang round wooden vessels. Boil all your greens in a copperfauce-pan by themselves, with a great quantity of water. Boil no meat with them, for that discolours them. Use no iron pass, dra, for they are not proper; but let, them be copper, brass, or filver.

To drefs ffinage.

FICK it very clean, and walk it in five or fix waters ; put it in a fauce-pan that will just hold it, throw a lit-tle falt over it, and cover the pan close. Don't putany water in, but shake the pau often. You melt put your fauce-pan on a clear quick fire. As foon as youfind the greens are formule and fallen to the bottom, and that the liquor which comes cut of them boils up, they are enough. Throw them into a clean fieve todrain, and just give them a little squeeze. Lay them in a plate, and never put any butter on them, but put it in a cup.

To drefs cabbages, &c.

CABBACE, and all forts of young iprouts, muß be boiled in a great deal of water. When the ftalks are tender, or fall to the bottom, they are enough; then take them off, before they lefe their colour. Alwaysthrow throw falt in your water before you put your greens in. Young fprouts you fend to table just as they are, but cabbage is best chopped and put into a fauce-pan with a good piece of butter, stirring it for about five or fix minutes, till the butter is all melted, and then fend it to table.

To drefs carrots.

LET them be foraped very clean, and when they are enough rub them in a clean cloth, then flice them into a plate, and pour fome melted butter over them. If they are young fpring corrots, half an hour will boil them: if large, an hour; but old Sandwich carrots will take two hours.

To drefs turnips.

THEY eat beft boiled in the pot, and when enough, take them out and put them in a pan, and math them, with butter and a little falt, and fend them to table. But you may do them thus: pare your turnips, and cut them into dice as big as the top of one's finger; put them into a clean fauce-pan, and juft cover them with water. When enough, throw them into a fieve to drain, and put them into a fauce-pan with a good piece of butter; flir them over the fire for five or fix minutes, and fead them to table.

To drefs parfnips.

THEY fhould be boiled in a great deal of water, and when you find they are foft, (which you will know by running a fork into them), take them up, and carefully forage all the dirt off them, and then with a knife forage them all fine, throwing away all the flicky parts; then put them into a fauce-pan with fome milk, and ftir them over the fire till they are thick. Take great care they don't burn, and add a good picce of butter and a little fait, and when the butter is melted, fend them to table.

To drefs potatoes. . .

You must boil them in as little water as you can, without burning the fauce-pan. Cover the fauce-panclofe, and when the fain begins to crack they are enough. Drain all the water out, and let them fland covered for. a minute or two; then peel them, lay them in your plate, and pour fome melted butter over them. The beft way to do them is, when they are peeled, to lay them on a gridiron till they are of a fine brown, and find them to table. Another way is to put them into a fauce-pan with fome good beef-dripping, cover them clofe, and flake the fauce-pan often for fear of burning to the bottom. When they are of a fine brown, and erify, take them up ia a plate, then put them into another for fear of the fat, and put butter in a cop.

To drefs cauliflowers.

TAKE your flowers, cut off all the green part, and then cut the flowers into four, and lay them in water for an hour; then have fome milk and water boiling, put in the cauliflowers, and be fure to fkim the faucepan well. When the flaks are tender, take them carefully up, and put them into a cullendar to drain: then put a fpoenful of water into a clean flew-pan, with a hitle duft of flour, about a quarter of a pound of butter, and flake it round till it is all finely melted, with a little pepper and falt; then take half the cauliflower, and cut it as you would for pickling, lay it into the thew-pan, turn it, and flake the pan round. Ten ininutes well do it. Lay the flewed in the middle of your plate, and the boiled round it. Pour the butter you did it in over it, and fend it to table.

a few mufhrooms, a glafs of white wine, the yolk of an egg, and a little cream mixed together. If it wants a little falt, put it in. Stir it all together, and, when it is of a fine thicknefs, difh it up. It does very well without the cream, if you have none, and very well without gravy; only put in juft as much warm water, and either red or white wine.

To drefs white Scots collops.

Do not dip them in egg, but fry them till they are tender, but not brown. Take your meat out of the pan, and pour all out, then put in your meat again, as above, only you must put in fome cream.

To drefs a fillet of veal with collops.

For an alteration, take a fmall fillet of veal, cut what collops you want, then take the udder and fill it with force-meat, roll it round, tie it with a packthread acrofs, and roaft it; lay your collops in the difh, and lay your udder in the middle. Garnish your difhes with lemon.

To make force-meat balls.

Now you are to obferve, that force-meat balls are a great addition to all made difhes; made thus, Take half a pound of veal, and half a pound of fuet, cut fine, and beat in a marble mortar or wooden bowl; have a few fweet herbs fhred fine, a little mace dried and beat fine, a fmall nutmeg grated, or half a large one, a little lemonpeel cut very fine, a little pepper and falt, and the yolks of two eggs; mix all thefe well together, then roll them in little round balls, and fome in little long balls; roll them in flour, and fry them brown. If they are for any thing of white fauce, put a little water on in a fauce-pan, and, when the water boils, put them in, and let them boil for a few minutes, but never fry them for white fauce.

Truffles and morels good in fauces and foups.

TAKE half an ounce of truffles and morels, fimmer them in two or three spoonfuls of water for a few minutes, then put them with the liquor into the fauce. They

To bail a haunch or neck of venifon.

Lav it in falt for a week, then boil it in a cloth well floured : for every pound of venifon allow a quarter of an hour for the boiling. For fauce you muft boil fome cauliflowers, pulled into little forigs in milk and water, fome fine white cabbage, fome turnips cut into dice, with fome beetroot cut into long narrow pieces, about an inch and a half long, and half an inch thick : lay a forig of cauliflower, and fome of the turnips mafhed with fome cream and a little butter ; let your cabbage be boiled, and then beat in a fauce-pau with a piece of butter and falt, lay that next the cauliflower, then the turnips, then cabbage, and fo on, till the difh is full : place the beetroot here and there, juft as you fancy; it looks very pretty, and is a fine difh. Have a little melted butter in a cup, if wanted.

Note, A leg of mutton cut venifon fashion, and dreffed the fame way, is a pretty dish; or a fine neck, with the feraig cut off. This eats well boiled or hashed, with gravy and fweet fauce the next day. *

To boil a leg of mutton like venifon.

TARE a leg of mutton cut venifon fashion, boil it in a cloth well floured; and have three or four caulinowers boiled, pulled into fprigs, stewed in a faucepan with butter, and a little pepper and falt; then have fome fpinage picked and washed clean, put it into a fauce-pan with a little falt, covered clofe, and flewed a little while; then drain the liquor, and pour in a -quarter of a pint of good gravy, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, and a little pepper and falt; when Rewed enough lay the spinage in the dish, the mutton in the middle, and the cauliflower over it, then pour the butter the cauliflower was flewed in over it all: but you are to observe in stewing the cauliflower, to melt your butter nicely, as for fauce, before the cauliflower goes in. This is a genteel difh for a first course at bottom.

To roaft tripe.

Cur your tripe in two fquare pieces, fomewhat long, have a force-meat made of crumbs of bread, pepper, fait, nutmeg, fweet herbs, lemon-peel, and the yolks of eggs mixt all together; fpread it on the fat fide of the tripe, and lay the other fat fide next it; then roll it as light as you can, and tie it with a packthread; fpit it, roaft it, and bafte it with butter; when roafted lay it in your difh, and for fauce melt fome butter, and add what dropped from the tripe. Boil it together, and garnifh with rafpings.

To drefs POULTRY.

To reafi a turkey.

THE best way to roast a turkey is to loofen the Ik n on the break of the turkey, and fill it with force-meat made thus : take a quarter of a pound of Heef-fuet, as many crumbs of bread, a little lemon-peel, an anchovy, fome nutmeg, pepper, parfley, and a litthe thyme. Chop and beat them all well together, mix ' them with the yolk of an egg, and ftuff up the breaft; when you have no fuet, butter will do; or you may make your force-meat thus: Ipread bread and butter thin, and grate fome nutmeg over it; when you have enough roll it up, and fluff the breaft of the turkey; then roaft it of a fine brown, but be fure to pin tome white paper on the breaft till it is near enough. You must have good gravy in the difh, and bread fauce made thus : take a good piece of crumb, put it into a pint of water, with a blade or two of mace, two or three cloves, and fome whole pepper. Boil it up five or fix times, then with a fpoon take out the fpice you had before put in, and then you must pour off the water (you may boil an onion in it, if you pleafe); then beat up the bread with a good piece of butter and a little falt; or onion fauce, made thus: take fome onions, peel them and cut them into thin fices, and boil them half an hour in milk and water; then drain the water from them, and beat them up with with a good piece of butter; thake a little flour in, and flir it all together with a little cream, if you have it, (or milk will do); put the fauce into boats, and garnifh with lemon.

Another way to make fauce : Take half a pint of oyfters, ftrain the liquer, and put the oyfters with the liquor into a fauce-pan, with a blade or two of mace; let them juft lump, then pour in a glafs of white winc, let it boil once, and thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour. Serve this up in a bafon by itfelf, with good gravy in the difh, for every body don't love oyfter-fauce. This makes a pretty fide-difh for fupper, or a corner-difh of a table for dinner. If you chafe 't in the difh, add half a pint of gravy to it, and boil is up together. This fauce is good either with boiled or roafted turkies or fowls; but you may leave the gravy out, adding as much butter as will do for fauce, and garnifhing with lemon.

To make a mock oxfler-fauce, either for turkies or forwls: boiled.

FORCE the turkies or fowls as above, and make your fauce thus: take a quarter of a piet of water, an anchovy, a blade or two of mace, a piece of lemonpeel, and five or fix whole peppercorns. Boil thefe together, then ftrain them, add as much butter with a little flour as will do for fance; let it boil, and lay faufages round the fowl or turkey. Gamith with lemon.

To make mushroom-fauce for white fowls of all forts.

TAKE a pint of mulhrooms, walh and pick them very clean, and put them into a fauce-pan with a little falt, fome nutmeg, a blade of mace, a pint of cream, and a good piece of butter rolled in flour. Boil thefe all together, and keep flirring them; then pour your fauce into your dift, and garnith with lemon.

Mushroom-fauce for white fowls boiled.

TAKE half a pint of cream, and a quarter of a pound of butter, flir them together one way till it is thick; then add a fpoonful of mufhroom-pickle, G a picklee pickled muthrooms, or field if you have them. Garwith only with lemon.

To make entery fauce, either for roufled or boiled foruls, turkies, partridges, or any other game.

TARE a large bunch of celery, wash and pare it very clean, cut it into little thin bits, and boil it softly ina little water till it is tender; then add a little beaten mace, fom, nutmag, pepper, and falt, thickened with, a good plece of butter rolled in flour; then boil it up, and pour in your dith.

You may make it with cream thus: boil your celery. as above, and add fome mace, nutmeg, a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour, and half a pint, of cream; boil them all together, and you may add, if you will, a glafs of white wine, and a fpoonful of eatchup.

To make brown celery-fauce.

Sraw the celery as above, then add mace, nutmeg; peoper, fait, a piece of butter rolled in flour, with a glufs of red wine, a fpoonful of catchup, and half a p at of good gravy; boil all thefe together, and pourinto the dim. Garnifh with lemon.

To flow a turkey or four in celery-fauce.

You must judge according to the largeneis of yourtuckey or fowl, what celery or fauce you want. Take a large fowl, put it into a fauce-pan or pot, and put to it one quart of good broth or gravy, a bunch of celery washed clean and cut small, with some mace, cloves, pepper, and allipice tied loofe in a mession rag; put in an obtain and a forig of thyme; let these thew fostly till they are enough, then add a piece of butter rolled in flour; take up your fowl, and pour the fauce over it. An hour will do a large fowl, or a small-turkey; but a very large turkey will take two hours to do it fossily. If it is over-done or dry, it is spoiled; but youmay be a judge of that, if you look at it now and then. Mind to take out the onion, thyme, and spice, before you fend it to table.

the fire, with a very little broth or water, a few cockscombs, truffics and morels, cut fmall with an ox-palate, if you have it; flew them all together till they are enough; and when your chickens are done, take them up, and keep them bot; then firain the liquor they were flewed in, fkim the fat off, and pour into your ragoo, add a glafs of red wine, a fpoonful of catchup, and a few muthrooms; then boil all together with a few artichoke-bottoms cut in four, and alparagus tops. If your fauce is not thick enough, take a little piece of butter rolled in flour, and when enough lay your chickens in a dith, and pour the ragoo over them. Gamilh with lemon.

Or you may make your fauce thus: take the gravy the fowls were flewed in, firain it, fkim off the fat, have ready half a pint of oyfters, with the liquor firained, put them to your gravy with a glafs of white wine, a good piece of butter rolled in flour; then boil them all together, and pour over your fowls. Garnifu with lemou.

To marinate foculs.

TARE a fine large fowl or turkey, raife the fkin from the breaft-bone with your finger, then take a veal fweetbread and cut it fmall, a few oyilers, a few mufhrooms, an auchovy, fome pepper, a little nutmeg, fome lemon-peel, and a little thyme; chop all together imall, and mixt with the yolk of an egg, fluff it in between the fkin and the fleth, but take great care you do not break the fkin, and then fluff what oyfters you pleafe iato the body of the fowl. You may lard the breaft of the fowl with bacon, if you chufe it. Paper the breaft and roaft it. Make good gravy, and garnifh with lemon. You may add a few mufhrooms to the fauce.

To breil chickens.

Sur them down the back, and featon them with pepper and falt, lay them on a very clear fire, and at a great diffance. Let the infide lie next the fire, till it is above half done; then turn them, and take great care the flefly fide does not burn, throw fome fine rafpings of bread over it, and let them be of a fine brown. But not burnt. Let your fauce be good gravy, with multrooms, and garnith with lemon and the livers broiled, the gizzards cut, flashed, and broiled with pepper and falt.

Or this fauce; take a handful of forrel, dipped in boiling water, drain it, and have ready half a pint of good gravy, a halot fired fmall, and fome parfley boiled very green; thicken it with a piece of butter rolled in flour, and add a glafs of red wine, then lay your forrel in heaps, round the fowls, and pour the fauce over them. Garnish with lemon.

Note, You may make just what fauce you fancy.

Pulled chickens.

TAKE three chickens, boil them just fit for eating, but not too much; when they are boiled enough, flay all the fkin_off, and take the white flefh off the bones, pull it into pieces about as thick as a large quill, and half as long as your finger. Have ready a quarter of a pint of good cream and a piece of fresh butter about as big as an egg, fur them together till the butter is all melted, and then put in your chickens with the gravy that came from them, give them two or three toffes round on the fire, put them into a difh, and fend them up hot.

Note, The leg makes a very pretty difh by itfelf, broiled very nicely with fome pepper and falt, the livers being broiled, and the gizzards broiled, cut and flashed, and laid round the legs, with good gravy fauce in the difh. Garnifh with lemon.

A pretty way of flewing chickens.

TAKE two fine chickens, half boil them, then take them up in a pewter or filver difn, if you have one; cut up your fowls, and feparate all the joint-bones one from another, and then take out the breaft-bones. If there is not liquor enough from the fow!s, add a few fpoonfuls of water they were boiled in, put in a blade of mace and a little falt; cover it clofe with another difh, do it over a flove or chaffing-difh of coals, let it H flew till the chickens are enough, and then fend them het to the table in the fame difh they were flewed in.

Note, This is a very pretty difh for any fick perfon, or for a lying in lady; for change it is better than butter, and the fance is very agreeable and pretty.

N. B. You may do rabbits, partridges, or muir-game this way.

Cifickens chiringrate.

Cur off their feet, break the breaft-bone flat with a rolling-pin, but take care you don't break the fkin; flour them, fry them of a fine brown in butter, then drain all the fat out of the pan, but leave the chickens Lay a pound of gravy beef, cut very thin, over vour chickens, and a piece of veal cut very thin, a little mace, two or three cloves, fome whole pepper, au onion, a little bundle of fweet herbs, and a piece of carlot, and then pour in a quart of boiling water; cower it close, let it ilew for a quarter of an hour, then take out the chickens and keep them hot: let the gravy boil till it is quite rich and good, then strain it off and put it into your pan again, with two fpoonfuls of red wine and a few muthrooms; put in your chickens to heat, then take them up, lay them into your difh, and pour your fauce over them. Garnish with lemon, and a few flices of cold ham warmed in the gravy.

Note, You may fill your chickcus with force-mcat, and lard them with bacon, and add truffles, morels, and fweetbreads cut finall; but then it will be a very high dilh.

Chickens bailed with bacon and cetery.

Bott two chickens very white in a pot by themfelves, and a piece of ham or good thick bacon; boil two bunches of celery tender, then cut them about two inches long, all the white part, put it into a fancepan with half a pint of cream, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and fome pepper and falt; fet it on the fire, and fhake it often; when it is thick and fine, lay your chickens in the difb, and pour your fauce in the middle, that that the celery may lie between the fowls, and garnifi the difh all round with flices of ham and bacon.

Note, If you have cold ham in the houfe, that, cut into flices and broiled, does full as well, or better, tolay round the difh.

Chickens with tongues. A good diff for a great deal of company.

TARE fix fmall chickens boiled very white, fix hogs tongues boiled and peeled, a cauliflower boiled very white in milk and water whole, and a good deal of spinage boiled green ; then lay your cauliflower in the middle, the chickens clofe all round, and the tongues round them with the roots outwards, and the fpinage in little heaps between the tongues. Garnish with little pieces of bacon toafted, and lay a little bit on each of the tongues.

Scots chickens.

Pirst wash your chickens, dry them in a clean cloth, and fingre them, then cut them into quarters; put them? into a flew-pan or fauce-pan, and just cover them withwater, put in a blade or two of mace and a little bundle of pariley; cover them close, and let them flew half an hour, then chop half a handful of clean-walhed parfley, and throw in, and have ready fix eggs, whites and all, beat fine. Let your liquor boil up, and pour the egg all over them as it boils; then fend all together hot in a deep dith, but take out the bundle of parsiey first. You must be fure to fkim them well before you put in your mace, and the broth will be fine and clear.

Note, This is also a very pretty difh for fick people, but the Scots gentlemen are very fond of it.

To marinate chickens.

Cur two chickens into quarters, lay them in vinegar for three or four hours, with pepper, falt, a bay-leaf, and a few cloves, make a very thick batter, first with half a pint of wine and flour, then the yolks of two eggs, a little melted butter, fome grated nutmeg, and chopped parfley; beat all very well together, dip your fowls fowls in the batter, and fry them in a good deal of hog's. la d, which mult first boil before you put your chickens. in. Let them be of a fine brown, and lay them in your difh like a pyramid, with fried parsley all round them. Garnith with lemon, and have forme good gravy in boats, o: balons.

To flow chickens.

TAKE two chickens, cut them into quarters, waft, them clean, and then put them into a fauce-pan; put to them a quarter of a pint of water, half a pint of red wine, fome mace, pepper, a bundle of fweet herbs, an; onicn, and a few radpings; cover them clofe, let them. flew half an hour, then take a piece of butter about asbig as an egg rolled in flour, put it in, and cover it clofefor five or fix minutes, fhake the fauce-pan about, and; then take out the fweet herbs and onion. You may take the yolks of two eggs, beat and mixed with them; if you don't like it, leave them out. Garnith with lemon.

Ducks à la mode.

TAKE two fine ducks, cut them into quarters, frythem in butter a little brown, then pour out all thefat, and throw a little flour over them, add half a pint of good gravy, a quarter of a pint of red wine, two shalots, an anchovy, and a bundle of fweet herbs; cover them clofe, and let them flew a quarter of an hour; take out the herbs, thim off the fat, and let your facebe as thick as cream; fend it to table, and garnifh with humon.

To drefs a wild duck the best way.

FIRST half-roaft it, then lay it in a difh, carve it, but leave the joints hanging together, throw a little pepper and falt, and fqueeze the juice of a lemon overit, turn it on the breaft, and prefs it hard with a plate, then add to its own gravy two or three fpoonfuls of good gravy, cover it clofe with another difh, and fet it over a flove ten minutes, then fend it to table hot, in the dith it was done in, and garnith with lemont. Youmay add a little red wine, and a fhalot cut fmall, if you like it; but it is apt to make the duck cat hard, unlefs you first heat the wine and pour it in just as it is done.

To boil a duck or rabbit with onions.

Bott your duck or rabbit in a good deal of water: be fure to fkim your water; for there will always rife a fcum, which, if it boils down, will discolour your fowls, &c. They will take about half an hour boiling: for fauce, your onions must be peeled, and throw their into water as you peel them, then cut them into thin flices, boil them in milk and water, and fkim the liquor. Half an hour will boil them. Throw them into a clean fieve to drain them, put them into a fauce-pan and chop them fmall, fhake in a little flour ; put to them two or three spoonfuls of cream, a good piece of 'butter, flew all together over the fire till they are thick and fine, lay the duck or rabbit in the diffe, and pour the fauceall over ; if a rabbit, you muft cut off the head, cut it in two, and lay it on each fide the difh.

Or you may make this fauce for change: take one large onion; cut it fmall, half a handful of parfley clean washed and picked, chop it finall, a lettuce cut fmall, a quarter of a pint of good gravy, a good piece of butter rolled in a little flour; add a little juice of lemon, a little pepper and falt, let all flew together for half an hour, then add two spoonfuls of red wine. This fauce is most proper for a duck ; lay your duck in the difh, and pour your fauce over it.

To drefs a duck with green peafe.

Put a deep flew-pan over the fire, with a piece of freth butter; finge your duck and flour it, turn it in the pan two or three minutes, then pour out all the fat, but let the duck remain in the pan : put to it half a pint of good gravy, a pint of peale, two lettuces cut small, a finall bundle of fweet herbs, a little pepper and falt, cover them clofe, and let them flew for balf an hour, now and then give the pan a fliake; when they are just done, grate in a little nutmeg, and put in a very little beaten mace, and thicken it either with a piece of butter rolled in flour, or the yolk of an egg H 3 beat beat up with two or three fpoonfuls of cream; flakeit all together for three or four minutes, take out the fweet herbs, lay the duck in the difh, and pour the fauce over it. You may garnifh with boiled mintchopped, or let it alone.

To drefs a duck with cusumbers.

TAKE three or four cucumbers, pare them, take out the feeds, cut them into little pieces, lay them in vinegar for two or three hours before, with two large onions peeled and fliced, then do your duck as above; theatake the duck out, and put in the cucumbers and onions stift drain them in a cloth, let them be a little brown, fhake a little flour over them i in the mean time, let your duck be flewing in the fauce-pan with half a pint of gravy for a quarter of an hour, then add to it the cucumbers and onions, with pepper and falt to your palate, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, and twoor three (poonfuls of red wine; fhake all together, and let it flew together for eight or ten minutes, then take: up your duck, and pour the fauce over it.

Or you may roth your duck, and make this fauce and pour over it, but then a quarter of a pint of gravywill be enough.

To drefs a duck à la braife.

TAKE a duck, hard it with little pieces of bacon, featon it infide and out with pepper and falt, lay a laver of bacon cut thin in the bottom of a flew-pan. and then a layer of lean beef cut thin, then lay your duck with fome carrot, an onion, a little bundle of fweet herbs; a blade or two of mace, and lay a thin layer of beef over the duck; cover it clofe, and fet it over a flow fire for eight or ten minutes, then take off the cover, and thake in a little flour, give the pan a thake, pour in a pint of fmall broth; or boiling water; give the pan a fhake or two, cover it clofe again, and let it flew half an hour, then take off the cover, take out the duck and keep it hot, let the fauce boil till there is about a quarter of a pint or little better, then itrain it and put it into the flew-pan again, with a glafs plafs of red wine; put in your duck, fhake the pane. and let it flew four or five minutes; then lay your duck in the difh and pour the fauce over it, and garnish with lemon. If you love your duck very high, you may fill : it with the following ingredients: take a veal fweetbread cut in eight or ten pieces, a few truffles; fome oviters, a little fweet herbs and parfley chopped fine, a little pepper, falt, and beaten mace; fill your duck with the above ingredients, tie both ends tight, and drefs as . above; or you may fill it with force-meat made thus : take a little piece of veal, take all the fkin and fas, off, . beat in a mortar, with as much fuet, and an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, a few fweet herbs, fome. narfley chopped, a little lemon peel, pepper, falt, beaten mace, and nutmeg, and mix it up with the yolk of an egg. -

You may flew an ox's palate tender, and cut it into pieces, with fome artichoke bottoms cut into four, and toffed up in the fauce. You may lard your duck or let it alone, just as you please; for my part I think it bek without.

To boil ducks the French ways

Let your ducks be larded, and half roafted; then take them off the fpit, put them into a large earthen pipkin, with half a pint of red wine, and a pint of good gravy, fome chefnuts, first roafted and peeled, half a pint of large oysters, the liquor strained, and the beards taken off, two or three little onions minced finall, a very little stripped thyme, mace, pepper, and a little ginger beat fine; cover it close, and let them she half an hour over a flow fire, and the cruft of a French roll grated when you put in your gravy and wine; when they are enough take them up, and pour the fauce over them.

To drefs a goofe with onions or cabbage.

• SALT the goofe for a week, then boil it. It will take an hour. You may either make onion-fauce, as we do for ducks, or cabbage boiled, chopped, and ftewed in butter, with a little pepper and falt; lay the goofe goofe in the difh, and pour the fauce over it. It eats very good with either:

Direlions for reafting a goofe.

TAKE fage, wash it, pick it clean, chop it small, with popper and fakt; roll them with butter, and put them into the belly, never put onion into any thing, un leis you are fure every body loves it; take care that your goofe be clean picked and wafned. I think the belt way is to feald a goole, and then you are fure it is clean, and not fo ftrong; let your water be fealding hot, dip in your goole for a minute, then all the feathers will come off clean; when it is quite clean, wath it with cold water, and dry it with a cloth; roaft it and balte it with butter, and when it is half done, throw fome flour over it, that it may have a fine brown. Three quarters of an hour will do it at a quick fire, ifit is not too large, otherwife it will require an hour. Always have good gravy in a balon, and apple-fauce in another.

A green goofe.

NEVER put any feafoning into it, unlefs defired. Yous muft either put good gravy, or green fauce in the dift, made thus: take a handfol of forrel, heat it in a mortar, and fqueeze the juice out, add to it the juice of an orange or lemon, and a little fogar, heat it in a pipkin, and pour it into your dift; but the beft way is to put gravy in the dift; and green fauce in a cup or boat. Or made thus: take half a pint of the juice of storrel, a ipoonful of white wine, a little grated nutmer; a little grated bread; boil thefe a quarter of an hour foftly, then ftrain it, and put it into the fauce-pan again, and fweeten it with a little fugar, give it a boil, and pour it into a dift or bafon; fome like a little piece of butter rolled in flour, and put into it.

To dry a gosfe.

GET a fat goole, take a handful of common fail, a quarter of an ounce of falt-petre, a quarter of a pound of coarle fugar; mix all together, and rub your goole very well; let it ly in this r ckle a fortnight, turning and and rubbing it in every day, then roll it in bran, and hang it up in a chinney where wood fmoke is for a week. If you have not that conveniency, fend it to the baker's, the fmoke of the oven will dry it; or you may hang it in your own chinney, not too near the fire, but make a fire under it, and lay horfe dung and faw-duft on it, and that will fmother and fmoke-dry it; when it is well dried keep it in a dry place, you may keep it two or three months or more; when you boil it put in a good deal of water, and be fure to fkim it well.

Note, You may boil turnips, or cabbage boiled and. ftewed in hutter, or onion fauce.

To drefs a goofe in ragoo.

FLAT the break down with a cleaver, then prefs if: down with your hand, ikin it, dip it into fealding water, let it be cold, lard it with bacon, feason it well with pepper, falt, and a little beaten mace, then flour it all over, take a pound of good beef-fuet cut fmall, put it into a deep stew-pan; let it be melted, then put in your goofe, let it be brown on both fides; when it is brown put in a pint of boiling water, an onion or two, a bundle of fweet herbs, a bay leaf, fome whole pepper, and a few cloves; cover it clofe, and let it flew fortly till it is tender. About half an hour will. do it if fmall; if a large one, three quarters of an hour. In the mean time, make a ragoo, boil fome turnips almolt enough, fome carrots and onions quite enough; cut them all into little pieces, put them into a faucepan with half a pint of good beef gravy, a little pepper and falt, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and let thisflew all together a quarter of an hour. Take the goofe and drain it well, then lay it in the difh, and pour the ragoo over it.

Where the onion is difficed, leave it out. You may add cabbage boiled and chopped fmall.

fowl, and do it in the fame manner as the goofe, feafon it with pepper, falt, and beaten mace, roll it round. the tongue, feafon the gooie with the fame, put the tongue and fowl in the goofe, and few the goofe up again in the fame form it was before; put it into a litthe pot that will just hold it, put to it two quarts of beef-gravy, a bundle of fweet herbs and an onion; put foine flices of ham, or good bacon, between the fowl and goole; cover it close, and let it flew an hour over a good fire: when it begins to boil let it do very foftly, then take up your goofe and fkim off all the fat, ftrain it, put in a glafs of red wine, two spoonfuls of catchup, a veal fweetbread cut small, some truffles, morels, and muthrooms, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and fome peuper and fait, if wanted; put in the goole again, cover it clofe, and let it flew half an hour longer, then take it up and pour the ragoo over it. Garnish with lemon.

Note, This is a very fine dith. You muft mind to fay: the bones of the goofe and fowl, and pu' them into the grvay when it is first fet on, and it will be better if you roll tome beef-marrow between the tongue and the fowl, and between the fowl and goofe, it will make them mellow and eat fine. You may add fix or feven yolks of hard eggs whole in the difh, they are a prettyad lition. Take care to fkim off the fat.

To stenu giblets ...

Let them be nicely fealded and picked, break the two pinion bones in two, cut the head in two, and cut off the noftrils; cut the liver in two, the gizzard in four, and the neck in two: flip off the fkin of the neck, and make a pudding with two hard eggs chopped fine, the crumb of a French roll fleeped in hot milk two or three hours, then mix it with the hard egg, a little nutmeg, pepper, falt, and a little fage chopped fine, a very little melted butter, and fir it together : tie one end of the fkin and fill it with the ingredients, tie the other end tight, and put all together in the fauce-pan, with a quart of good mutton broth, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, fome whole pepper, mace, two or three cloves tied up loofe in a multin rag, and a very little piece of lemoa-lemon-peel; cover them clofe, and let them flew till quite tender, then take a fmall French roll toafted brown on all fides, and put it into the fauce-pan, give it a fhake, and let it flew till there is just gravy enough to eat with them, then take out the onions, fweet herbs, and fpice, lay the roll in the middle, the giblets round, the pudding cut into flices and laid round, and then pour the fauce over all.

Another way.

TARE the giblets clean picked and washed, the feet Reinned and bill cut off, the head cut in two, the pinion bones broke in two, the liver cut in two, the gizzard cut into four, the pipe pulled out of the neck, the neck cut in two: put them into a pipkin with half a pint of water, fome whole pepper, black and white, a blade of mate, a little fprig of thyme, a fmall onion, a little cruft of bread, then cover them clofe, and fet them on a very flow fire. Wood-embers is beft. Let them flew till they are quite tender, then take out the herbs and onions, and pour them into a little dift. Seafon them with falt.

To roaft pigeons.

FILL them with parfley clean washed and chopped, and fome pepper and falt rolled in butter; fill the bellies, tie the neck-end close, fo that nothing can run out, put a fkewer through the legs, and have a little iron on purpole, with fix hooks to it, and on each hook hang a pigeon; fasten one end of, the string to the. chimney, and the other end to the iron, (this is what we call the poor man's spit), flour them, baste them with butter, and turn them gently for fear of hitting •the bars. They will roaft nicely, and be full of gravy. Take care how you take them off, not to lofe any of the liquor. You may melt a very little butter, and put into Your pigeons ought to be quite fresh, and the difh. not too much done. This is by much the best way of doing them; for then they will fwim in their own gravy, and a very little melted butter will do.

When

When you roaft them on a fpit, all the gravy runs out, or if you fluff them, and broil them whole, you cannot fave the gravy fo well, though they will be very good with parfley and butter in the difh, or fplit and broiled with pepper and falt.

To boil pigeons.

Boil them by themfelves, for fifteen minites, then boil a handfome fquare piece of bacon and lay in the middle; flew fome fpinage to lay round, and lay the pigeons on the fpinage. Garnilh your difh with parfley laid in a plate before the fire to crifp. Or you may lay one pigeon in the middle, and the reft round, and the fpinage between each pigeon, and a flice of bacon on each pigeon. Garnifh with flices of bacon, and melted butter in a cup.

To à la daube pigeons.

TAKE a large fauce-pan, lay a layer of bacon, then a layer of veal, a layer of coarfe beef, and another littie layer of yeal, about a pound of yeal, and a pound of beef cut very thin, a piece of carrot, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, fome black and white pepper, a blade er two of mace, four or five cloves, a little crust of bread toafted very brown. Cover the fauce-pan clofe, fet it over a flow fire for five or fix minutes, shake in a little flour, then pour in a quart of boiling-water, fhake it round, cover it clofe, and let it flew till the gravy is quite rich and good, then ftrain it off and fkim off all the fat. In the mean time, fluff the bellies of the pigeons with force-meat, made thus: take a pound of veal, a pound of beef-fuet, beat both in a mortar fine, an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, fome pepper, falt, nutmeg, beaten mace, a little lemon-peel cut small, some parsley cut fmall, and a very little thyme ftripped; mix all together with the yolk of an egg, fill the pigeons, and flat the breaft down, flour them and fry them in fresh butter a little brown; then pour the fat clean out of the pan, and put to the pigeons the gravy, cover them clofe, and let them flew a quarter of an hour, or till you think they are quite enough; then take them up, lay them in a difb, and pour pour in your fauce: on each pigeon lay a bay leaf, and on the leaf a flice of bacon. You may gamish with a lemon notched, or let it alone.

Note, You may leave out the fluffing, they will be very rich and good without it, and it is the best way of dreffing them for a fine made difh.

Pigeons au poir.

MAKE a good force-meat as above, cut off the feet quite, fluff them in the fhape of a pear, 'roll them in the yolk of an egg, and then in crumbs of bread, flick the leg at the top, and butter a difh to lay them in; then fend them to an oven to bake, but do not let them touch each other. When they are enough, lay them in a difh, and pour in good gravy thickened with the yolk of an egg, or butter rolled in flour : do not pour your gravy over the pigeons. You may garnifh with lemon. It is a pretty genteel difh: or, for change, lay one pigeon in the middle, the reft round, and flewed fpinage between; poached eggs on the fpinage. Garnifh with notched lemon and orange cut into quarters, and have melted butter in boats.

Pigeons Stoved.

TARE a'finall cabbage lettuce, juft cut out the heart, and make a force-meat as before, only chop the heart of the cabbage and mix with it; then you must fill up the place, and tie it across with a packthread; fry it of a light brown in fresh butter, pour out all the fat, lay the pigeons round, flat them with your hand, feafon them a little with pepper, falt, and beaten mace, (take great care not to put too much falt), pour in half a pint of Rhenish wine, cover it close, and let it flew about five or fix minutes; then put in half a pint of good gravy, cover them close, and let them flew half an hour. Take a good piece of butter rolled in flour, shake it in; when it is fine and thick take it up, untie it, lay the lettuce in the middle, and the pigeons round ; fouceze in a little lemon juice, and pour the fauce all over them. Stew a little lettuce, and cut it into pieces for garnish, with pickled red cabbage.

Note,

Note, Or for change, you may fuff your pigeons with the fame force-meat, and cut two cabbage lettuces into quarters, and flew as above : fo lay the lettuce between each pigeon, and one in the middle, with the lettuce round it, and pour the fauce all over them.

Pigeons furtout.

FORCE your pigeons as above, then lay a flice of bacon on the breaft, and a flice of veal beat with the back of a knife, and feafoned with mace, pepper, and fait, the it on with a fmall packthread, or two little fine fkewers are better; fpit them on a fine bird fpit, roaft them and bafte them with a piece of butter, then with the yolk of an egg, and then bafte them again with crumbs of bread, a little nutmeg and fweet herbs; when enough lay them in your difh, have good grasy ready, with truffles, morels, and mufhrooms, to pour into your difh. Garnifh with lemon.

Pigeans in compôte with white fauce.

LET your pigeons be drawn, pickled, fealded, and Payed; then put them into a flew-pan with yeal fweetbread, cocks-combs, mulhrooms, truffles, morels, pepper, falt, a pint of thin gravy, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, and a blade or two of mace: cover them clofe, let them flew half an hour, then take out the herbs and onion, beat up the yolks of two or three eggs with fome chopped parfley, in a quarter of a pint of cream, and a little nutmeg; mix all together, flir it one way till thick; lay the pigeons in the difh, and the fauce all over. Garnifh with lemon.

Portuguefe rallits.

I HAVE, in the beginning of my book, given directions for boiled and roalted. Get fome rabbits, trufs them chicken-fathion, the head muft be cut off, and the tabbit turned with the back upwards, and two of the legs flripped to the claw end, and fo truffed with two Lard them, and roatt them with what fauce faewers. you pleafe. If you want chickens, and they are to appear as iuch, they must be dreffed in this manner ; but. if otherwife, the head must be skewered back, and come to the table on, with liver, butter, and parfley, as you have for rabbits, and they look very pretty boiled and truffed in this manner, and fmoothered with onions; or, if they are to be boiled for chickens, cut off the shead, and cover them with white celery-fauce, or ricefauce toffed up with cream.

Rabbits furprife.

Roasr two half-grown rabbits, cut off the heads clofe to the flouiders and the firit joints; then take off all the lean meat from the back bones, cut it fmall, and tois it up with fix or feven spoonfuls of cream and milk, and a piece of butter, as big as a walnut, rolled in flour, a little nutmeg, and a little falt, shake all together til it is as thick as good cream, and fet, it to cool; then make a force-meat with a pound of veal, a pound of fuet, as much crumbs of bread, two anchovies, a little piece of lemon-peel cut fine, a little sprig of thyme, and a nutineg grated; let the veal and fuet be chopped very fine and beat in a mortar, then mix it all together with the yolks of two raw orgs, place it all round the rabbits, leaving a long trough in the back-bone open, that you thick will hold the meat you cut out with the fauce, pour it in and cover it with the force-meat, fmooth it all over with your hand as well as you can with a raw egg, fquare at both ends, throw on a little grated bread, and butter a mazarine or pan, and take them from the dreffer where you formed them, and place them them on it very carefully. Bake them three quarters of an hour till they are of a fine brown colour. Let your fauce be gravy thickened with butter and the juice of a lemon; lay them into the difh, and pour in the fauce. Garnifh with orange cut into quarters, and ferve it up for a first course.

To boil rabbits.

Tauss them for boiling, boil them quick and white; for fauce take the livers, boil and fhred them, and fome parfley thred fine, and pickled aftertion buds chopped fine, or capers, mix thefe with half a pint of good gravy, a glafs of white wine, a little beaten mace and nutmeg, a little pepper and falt, if wanted, a piece of butter as big as a large walnut rolled in flour; let it all boil together till it is thick, take up the rabbits, and pour the fauce over them. Garnifh with lemon. You may lard them with bacon, if it is liked.

To drefs rabbits in cafferole.

Divide the rabbits into quarters. You may fard them, or let them alone, just as you pleafe, finke fome flour over them, and fry them with lard or butter, then put them into an earthen pipkin with a quart of good broth, a glafs of white wine, a little pepper and falt, if wanted, a bunch of fweet herbs, and a piece of butter, as big as a walnut, rolled in flour; cover them clofe, and let them flew half an hour, then diff them up, and pour the fauce over them. Garnifh with Seville orange, cut into thin flices and notched; the peel that is cut out lay prettily between the flices.

as it is reafting; when it is enough, take it up, and law it in the difh, and have ready half a pint of good gravy, and what comes from it; take two fpoonfuls of catchup, and mix a fea-spoonful of flour with it, and put to the gravy, flir it together and give it a boil, and pour over the mutton.

Note, You must observe to take off all the fat of the infide, and the fkin of the top of the meat, and fome of the fat, if there be too much. When you put in what comes from your meat into the gravy, observe to pour out all the fat.

A neck of mutton, called the hafty difb.

TAKE a large pewter or filver difn, made like a deep foup difh, with an edge about an inch deep in the infide, on which the lid fixes (with an handle at top) for falt, that you may lift it up full by that handle without This dith is called a necromancer. Take a falling. neck of mutton about fix pounds, take off the fkin, cut it into chops, not too thick, flice a French roll thin, peel and flice a very large onion, pare and flice three or four turnips, lay a row of mutton in the dilh, on that a row of roll, then a row of turnips, and then onions, a little falt, then the meat, and fo on; put in a little bundle of fweet herbs, and two or three blades of mace ; have a tea kettle of water boiling, fill the difh and cover it close, hang the difh on the back of two chairs by the rim, have ready three fheets of brown paper, tear each fleet into five pieces, and draw them through your hand, light one piece, and hold it under the bottom of the dilh, moving the paper about; as fast as the paper burns, light another till all is burnt, and your meat will be enough. Fifteen minutes just does it. Send it to table in the difh.

Note, This Jah was first contrived by Mr. Rich, and is much admired by the nobility.

To drefs a loin of pork with onions.

TAKE a fore-loin of pork, and roaft it as at another time, peel a quarter of a peck of onions, and flice them thin, lay them in the dripping pan, which must be very an, under the pork; let the fat drop on them; when the pork is nigh enough, put the onions into the faucepau, let them finmer over the fire a quarter of an hour, inaking them well, then pour out all the fat as well as you can, fhake in a very little flour, a fpoonful of vinegar, and three tea-fpoonfuls of muftard, fhake all well together, and ftir in the muftard, fet it over the fire for four or five minutes, lay the pork in a difh, and the onions in a bafon. This is an admirable diffi to those who love onions.

To make a currey the Indian way.

TARE two fmall chickens, fkin them and cut them as for a fricafey, wash them olean, and flew them in about a quart of water for about five minutes, then ftrain off the liquor, and put the chickens in a clean dish; take three large onions, chop them small, and fry them in about two ownces of butter, then put in the chickens, and fry them together till they are brown, take a quarter of an ounce of turmeric, a large spoonful of ginger and beaten pepper together, and a hitle falt to your palate: ftrew all their ingredents over the chickens whilf it is frying, then pour in the liquor, and let it flew about half an hour, then put in a quarter of a pint of cream, and the juice of two lemons, and ferve it up. The ginger, pepper, and turmeric, mult be beat very fine.

To boil the rice.

Put two quarts of water to a pint of rice, let it boil till you think it is done enough, then throw in a poonful of falt, and turn it out into a cullendar; then let it fland about five minutes before the fire to dry, and ferve it up in a difh by itfelf. Difh it up and fend it to table, the rice in a difh by itfelf.

To make a pellow the Indian way.

TAKE three pounds of rice, pick and waih it very clean, put it into a cullendar, and let it drain very dry; take three quarters of a pound of butter, and put ic into a pan over a very flow fire till it melts; then put in the rice, and cover it over very clofe, that it may keep all the fleam in; add to it a little fait, fome whole pepper, half a dozen blades of mace, and a few cloves. You muß put in a little water to keep it from burning, then fir it up very often, and let it flew till the rice is foft. Boil two fowls, and a fine piece of bacon of about two pounds weight as common, cut the bacon in two pieces, lay it in the difh with the fowls, cover it over with the rice, and garnifh it with about half a dozenhard eggs, and a dozen of onions fried whole and very brown.

Note, This is the true Indian way of dreffing them.

Another way to make a pellow.

TAKE a leg of veal about twelve or fourteen pounds weight, an old cock fkinned, chop both to pieces, put it into a pot with five or fix blades of mace, fome whole white pepper, and three gallons of water, half a pound of bacon, two onions, and fix cloves; cover it clofe, and when it boils let it do very foftly till the meat is good for nothing, and above two thirds is walted, then fir ain it; the next day put this foup into a fauce-pan, with a pound of rice, fet it over a very flow fire, take great care it does not burn; when the rice is very thick and dry, turn it into a difh. Garnifh with hard eggs cut in two, and have roaded fowls in another difh.

Note, You are to observe, if your rice fimmers too fait, it will burn, when it comes to be thick. It mult be very thick and dry; and the rice not boiled to a mummy.

To make effence of bam.

TARE off the fat of a ham, and cut the lean in flices, beat them well, and lay them in the bottom of a flewpan, with flices of carrots, parfnips, and onions: cover your pan, and fet it over a gentle fire: let them flew till they begin to flick, then ipruskle on a little flour, and turn them; then moiffen with broth and veal-gravy. Seafon them with three or four mufhrooms, as many truffles, a whole leek, fome parfley, and half a dozen cloves: or inftead of a leek, a clove of garlic. Put in fome crufts of bread, and let them finamer over the fire for a quarter of an hour; strain it, and fet it away for use. Any pork or ham does for this, that is well made.

Rules to be observed in all made-dishes.

FIRST, that the flew pans, or fauce-pans, and covers, be very clean, free from fand, and well tinned; and that all the white fauces have a little tartwefs, and be very fmooth and of a fine thicknefs, and all the time any white fauce is over the fire keep flirring it one way.

And as to brown fauce, take great care no fat fwims at the top, but that it be all fmooth alike, and about as thick as good cream, and not to talke of one thing more than another. As to pepper and falt, feafon to your palate, but do not put too much of either, for that will take away the fine flavour of every thing. As to most made diffies, you may put in what you think proper to enlarge it, or make it good ; as muthrooms, pickled, dried, fresh, or powdered; truslles, morels, cocks-combs flewed, ox-palates cut in little bits, artichoke-bottoms, either pickled, fresh boiled, or dried ones foftened in warm water, each cut in four piecee, alparagus-tops, the yolks of hard eggs, force-meat balls, Cc. The beit things to give a fauce tartnefs, are mushroom pickle, white walnut pickle, elder vinegar, or leinon juice.

CHAP. III.

Read this CHAPTER, and you will find how expensive a French cook's fauce is.

The French way of dreffing partridges.

W HEN they are newly pickled and drawn, finge them; you mult mince their livers with a bit of butter, fome fcraped bacon, green truffles, if you have any, parfley, chimbol, falt, pepper, fweet herbs, and all fpice. The whole being minced together, put it into the infide of your partridges, then ftop both ends of them, after which give them a fry in the flew-pan; that being done, fpit them, and wrap them up in flices of bacon and paper; then take a flew-pan, and having put in an onion cut into flices, a carrot cut into little bits, with a little oil, give them a few toffes over the fire; then moisten them with gravy, cullis, and a little effence of ham. Put therein half a lemon cut into flices, four cloves of garlic, a little fweet bahl, thyme, a bay leaf, a little parfley, chimbol, two glaffes of white wine, and four of the carcaifes of the partridges; let them be pounded, and put them in this fauce. When the fat of your cullis is taken away, be careful to make it relifting; and after your pounded livers are put into your cullis, you must strain them through a fieve. Your partridges being done, take them off : as allo take off the bacon and paper, and lay them in your difh with your fauce over them.

This diff. i do not recommend; for I think it an odd jumble of trafh; by that time the cullis, the effence of ham, and all other ingredients are reckoned, the partridges will come to a fine penny. But fuch receipts as this is what you have in most books of cookery yst printed.

To make effence of ham.

TAKE the fat off a Westphalia ham, cut the lean in flices, beat them well and lay them in the bottom of a stew-pan, with flices of carrots, parsnips, and onions; cover your pan, and set it over a gentle fire. Let them flew till they begin to slick, then sprinkle on a little flour and turn them; then moisten with broth and veal gravy; feason with three or four mushrooms, as many trussics, a whole leek, some basil, parsky, and half a dozen cloves; or, instead of the leek, you may put a clove of garlie. Put in some crusts of bread, and let them simmer over the fire for three quarters of an hour. Strain it, and set it by for use

A cullis for all forts of ragoo.

Having cut three pounds of lean veal, and half a pound of ham, into flices, lay it into the bottom of a flew-pan, put in carrots and parfnips, and an onion fliced;

fliced; cover it, and fet it a flewing over a flove: when it has a good colour, and begins to flick, put to it a little melted butter, and fhake in a little flour, keep it moving a little while till the flour is fried; then moiften it with gravy and broth, of each a like quantity, then put in fome parfley and bafil, a whole leck, a bay leaf, fome mufhrootns and truffles minced fmall, three or four cloves, and the cruft of two French rolls: let all thefe fimmer together for three quarters of an hour; then take out the flices of veal; flrain it, and keep it for all forts of ragoos. Now compute the expence, and fee if this difh cannot be dreffed full as well without this expence.

A cullis for all forts of butcher's meat.

You must take meat according to your company; if ten or twelve, you cannot take lefs than a leg of veal and a ham, with all the fat, skin, and outside cut off. Cut the leg of veal in pieces, about the bigness of your fift, place them in your flew-pan, and then the flices of ham, two carrots, an onion cut in two ; cover it close, let it flew foftly at first, and as it begins to be brown, take off the cover and turn it, to colour it on all fides the fame; but take care not to burn the meat. When it is a pretty brown colour, moiften your cullis with broth made of beef, or other meat; feafon your cullis with a little fweet batil, fome cloves, with fome garlic; pare a lemon, cut it in flices, and put it into your cul-lis, with fome mufhrooms. Put into a flew-pan a good lump of butter, and fet it over a flow fire ; put into it two or three handfuls of flour, ftir it with a wooden ladle, and let it take a colour; if your cullis be pretty brown, you must put in some flour. Your flour being brown with your cullis, then pour it very foftly into your cullis, keeping your cullis flirring with a wooden ladle; then let your cullis flew foftly, and fkim off all the fat. put in two glaffes of Champaign, or other white wine ; but take care to keep your cullis very thin, fo that you may take the fat well off and clarify it. To clarify it. you must put it in a stove that draws well, and cover it clofe, and let it boil without uncovering, till it boils over ; then uncover it, and take off the fat that is round the the flew-pan, then wipe it off the cover alfo, and cover it again. When your cullis is done, take out the meat, and strain your cullis through a filk strainer. This cullis is for all forts of ragoos, fowls, pies, and terrines.

Cullis the Italian way.

Pur into a stew-pan half a ladleful of cullis, as much effence of ham, half a ladleful of gravy, as much of broth, three or four onions cut into flices, four or five. cloves of garlic, a little beaten coriander feed, with a lemon pared and cut into flices, a little fweet bafil, mushrooms, and good oil; put all over the fire, let it ftew a quarter of an hour, take the fat well off, let it be of a good tafte, and you may use it with all forts of meat and fifh, particularly with glazed fifh. This fauce will do for two chickens, fix pigeons, quails, or ducklins, and all forts of tame and wild fowl. Now this Italian or French fauce, is faucy.

Cullis of craw-fifb.

Yov must get the middling fort of craw-fish, put them over the fire, seasoned with falt, pepper, and onion cut in flices; being done, take them out, pick them, and keep the tails after they are fcalded, pound the reft together in a mortar; the more they are pounded the finer your cullis will be. Take a bit of veal, the bignefs of your fift, with a fmall bit of ham, an onion cut into four, put it in to fweat gently; if it flicks but a very little to the pan, powder it a little. Moisten it with broth, put in some cloves, sweet basil in branches, fome mushrooms, with lemon pared and cut in flices : being done, fkim the fat well, let it be of a good tafte; then take out your meat with a fkimmer, and go on to thicken it a little with effence of ham : then put in your craw-fifh, and firain it off. Being firained, keep it for a first course of craw-fish.

a bunch of parfley, green onions, three cloves, and fo let it flew. Being flewed, take out all your meat and roots with a fkimmer, put in a few crumbs of bread, and let it flew foftly: take the white of a fowl, or two chickens, and pound it in a mortar; being well pounded, mix it in your cullis, but it muft not boil, and your cullis muft be very white; but, if it is not white enough, you muft pound two dozen of fweet almonds blanched, and put into your cullis; then boil a glafs of milk, and put it into your cullis; let it be of a good tafte, and ftrain it off; then put it in a fmall kettle, and keep it warm. You may use it for white loaves, white cruit of bread, and bifcuits.

Sauce for a brace of partridges, pheafants, or any thirg you pleafe.

ROAST a partridge, pound it well in a mortar with the pinions of four turkeys, with a quart of ftrong gravy, and the livers of the partridges, and fome truffles, and let it fimmer till it be pretty thick, let it ftand in a difh for a while, then put two glaffes of Burgundy into a ftew-pan, add the effence of ham, let it boil for fome time, feafon it with good fpice and pepper, lay your partridges, &c. in the difh, and pour your fauce in.

They will use as many fine ingredients to flew a pigeon or fowl, as will make a very fine difh, which is equal to boiling a leg of mutton in champaign.

It would be needlets to name any more, though you have much more expensive fauce than this; however, I think here is enough to shew the folly of these fine French cooks. In their own country they will make a grand entertainment with the expense of one of these distances; but here they want the little petty profit; and, by this fort of legerdemain, fome fine estates are juggled into France.

CHAP. IV.

To make a number of petty little difnes, fit for a fupper, or fide-difn, and little corner difnes for a great table; and the reft you have in the CHAP-TER for Lent.

Hogs ears forced.

AKE four hogs ears, and half boil them, or take them fouled ; make a force-meat thus: take half a pound of beef fuet, as much crumbs of bead, an anchovy, fome fage, boil and chop very fine a little parfley; mix all together with the yolk of an egg, a little pepper, flit your ears very carefully to make a place for your stuffing, fill them, flour them, and fry them in fielh butter till they are of a fine brown; then pour out all the fat clean, and put to them half a pint of gravy, a glafs of white wine, three tea-spoonfuls of muslard, a piece of butter as big as a nutmeg, rolled in flour, a little pepper, a fmall onion whole; cover them clofe, and let them ftew foftly for half an hour, fhaking your pan now and then. When they are enough, lay them in your difh, and pour your fauce over them; but firit take out the onion. This makes a very pretty difh ; but if you would make a fine large difh, take the feet, and cut all the meat in fmall thin pieces, and flew with Seafon with falt to your palate. the ears.

To force cocks-combs.

PARBOLL your cocks-combs, then open them with the point of a knife at the great end: take the white of a fowl, as much bacon and beef-marrow, cut thefe fmail, and beat them fine in a marble mortar; feafon them with fail, pepper, and grated nutmeg, and mix it with an egg; fill the cocks-combs, and flew them in a little flrong gravy foftly for half an hour, then flice in fome freth muthrooms and a few pickled ones; then beat up the yolk of an egg in a little gravy, flirring it. Seafon with with falt. When they are enough, difh them up in little difhes or plates.

To preferve cocks-combs.

LET them be well cleaned, then put them into a pot, with fome melted bacon, and boil them a little; about half an hour after, add a little bay falt, fome pepper, a little vinegar, a lemon fliced, and an onion fluck with cloves. When the bacon begins to flick to the pot, take them up, put them into the pan you would keep them in, lay a clean linen cloth over them, and pour melted butter clarified over them, to keep them clofe from the air. These make a pretty plate at a fupper.

To preferve or pickle pigs feet and ears.

TAKE your feet and ears fingle, and wash them well, fplit the feet in two, put a bay leaf between every foot, put in almost as much water as will cover them. When they are well steamed, add to them cloves, mace, whole pepper, and ginger, coriander feed and falt, according to your difference, put to them a bottle or two of Rhenish wine, according to the quantity you do, half a fcore bay leaves, and a bunch of fweet herbs. Let them boil fostly till they are very tender, then take them out of the liquor, lay them in an earthen pot, then strain the liquor over them : when they are cold, cover them down close, and keep them for use.

You should let them shand to be cold; skim off all the fat, and then put in the wine and spice.

They eat well cold; or at any time heat them in the jelly, and thicken it with a little piece of butter rolled in flour, makes a very pretty dift; or heat the ears, and take the feet clean out of the jelly, and roll it in the yoke of an egg, or melted butter, and then in crumbs of bread, and broil them; or fry them in frelh butter, lay the ears in the middle, and the feet round. and pour the fauce over, or you may cut the ears in long flips, which is better: and, if you chufe it, make a good brown gravy to mix with them, a glafs of white wine and fome multard, thickened with a piece of butter rolled in flour.

To pickle ox-palates.

TAKE your palates, wash them well with falt and water, and put them in a pipkin with water and fome falt; and when they are ready to boil, fkim them well, and put to them pepper, cloves, and mace, as much as will give them a quick tafte. When they are boiled tender, (which will require four or five hours), peel them and cut them into finall sieces, and let them cool; then make the pickle of white wine and vinegar, an equal quantity; boil the pickle, and put in the fpices that were boiled in the palates; when both the pickle aud palates are cold, lay your palates in a jar, and put to them a few bay leaves, and a little fresh fpice; pour the pickle over them, cover them close, and keep them foruse.

Of thefe you may at any time make a pretty littledifh, either with brown fauce or white; or butter andmuftard and a fpoonful of white wine; or they are ready to put in made diffes.

To flow cucumbers.

PARE twelve cucumbers, and flice them as thick as a crown piece, and put them to drain, and then lay them in a coarfe cloth till they are dry, flour them, and fry, them brown in butter; pour out the fat, then put tothem fome gravy, a little claret, fome pepper, cloves, and mace, and let them flew a little, then roll a bit of butter in flour, and tofs them up; feafon with falt: you may add a very little mufbroom pickle.

To razoo cucumbers.

TAKE two encumbers, two onions, flice them, and fry them in a little butter, then drain them in a nove, put them into a fauce-pan, add fix fpoonfuls of gravy, two of white wine, a blade of mace: let them litew five or fix minutes; then take a piece of butter as big as a walnut, rolled in flour, flake them together, and when it is thick, diff them up.

A fricafey of kidney-beans.

TAKE a quart of the feed, when dry, foak them all night in river water, then boil them on a flow fire till quite tender; take a quarter of a peck of onions, flice them thin, fry them in butter till brown; then take them out of the butter, and put them in a quart of ftrong draw'd gravy. Boil them till you may math them fine, then put in your beans, and give them a boil or two. Seafon with pepper, falt, and nutmeg.

To drefs Windfor-beans.

TAKE the feed, boil them till they are tender, then blanch them, and fry them in clarified butter. Melt butter, with a drop of vinegar, and pour over them. Stew them with falt, pepper, and nutmeg.

Or you may eat them with butter, fack, fugar, and a little powder of cinnamon.

To make jumballs.

TAKE a pound of fine flour, and a pound of fine powder fugar, make them into a light pathe with whites of eggs beat fine: then add half a pint of cream, half a pound of frefh butter melted, and a pound of blabehed almonds well beat. Knead them all together thoroughly with a little rofe water, and cut out your jumballs in what figures you fancy; and either bake them in a gentle oven, or fry them in frefh butter, and they make a pretty fide or corner difh. You may melt a little butter with a fpoonful of fack, and throw fine fugar all over the difh. If you make them in pretty figures, they make a fine little difh.

To make a ragoo of onions.

TAKE a pint of little young onions, peel them, and take four large ones, peel them and cut them very fmail; put a quarter of a pound of good butter into a flewpan, when it is melted and done making a noife, throw in your onions, and fry them till they begin to look a little brown; then flake in a little flour, and thake them round till they are thick; throw in a little falt, a little beaten pepper, a quarter of a pint of good gravy, and a tea foronful of muflard. Stir all together, and when t is well talked, and of a good thickness, pour it into your diffi, and garnish it with fried crumbs of bread and raipings. They make a pretty little diffi, and are very good. You may strew raspings in the room of flour, if you please.

A razon of oyfters.

OPEN twenty large oyflers, take them out of their liquor, fave the liquor, and dip the oyfters in a batter made thus : take two eggs, beat them well, a little lemou peel grated, a little nutmeg grated, a blade of mace pounded fine, a little parfley chopped fine, beat all together with a little flour, have ready fome butter or dripping in a flew-pan; when it boils dip in your oviters, one by one, into the batter, and fry them of a tine brown ; then with an egg-flice take them out, and lay them in a difh before the fire. Pour the fat out of the pan, and thake a little flour over the bottom of the pan, then rub a little piece of butter, as big as a imall walnut, all over with your knife, whilft it is over the tire; then pour in three spoonfuls of the oyster liquor itrained, one spoonful of white wine, and a quarter of a pint of gravy; grate a little nutmeg, flir all together, throw in the oylters, give the pau a tols round, and when the fauce is of a good thicknefs, pour all into the dill, and garnith with rafpings.

A rageo of asparagus.

SCRAPE a hundred of grafs very clean, and throw it into cold water. When you have foraped all, cut as far as is good and green, about an inch long, and take two heads of endive clean wafhed and picked, cut it very fmall, a young lettuce clean wafhed and cut fmall, a large onion-peeled and cut fmall; put a quarter of a pound of butter into a flew-pan, when it is melted throw in the above things; tofs them about, and fry them ten minutes; then leafon them with a little pepper and falt, fhake in a little flour, tofs them about, then pour in haif a pint of gravy, let them flew till "fauce is very thick and good; then pour all into your

A ragoo of livers ..

TARE as many livers as you would have for your difh. A turkey's liver and fix fowls livers will make a pretty difh. Pick the galls from them, and throw them into cold water; take the fix livers, put them in a fauce-pan with a quarter of a pint of gravy, a fpoonful of mufhrooms, either pickled or freth, a fpoonful of catchup, a little bit of butter, as big as a nutmeg, rolled in flour; fealon them with pepper and falt to your palate. Let them flew foftly ten minutes; in the mean while, broil the turkey's liver nicely, lay it in the middle, and the flewed livers round. Pour the fauce all over, and garnifh with lemon-

To ragoo cauliflowers .-

LAY a large cauliflower in water, then pick it topieces, as if for pickling : take a quarter of a pound of butter, with a fpoouful of water, and melt it in a ftewpan, then throw in your cauliflowers, and fhake them about often till they are quite tender; then thake in a little flour, and tofs the pan about. Seafon them with a little pepper and falt, pour in half a pint of good gravy, let them flew till the fauce is thick, and pour it all into a little difh. Save a few little bits of cauliflower, when flewed in the butter, to garnifh with.

Stewed peafe and lettuce.

TAKE a quart of green peafe, two nice lettuces clean washed and picked, cut them small across, put all into a fauce-pan, with a quarter of a pound of butter, pepper and falt to your palate; cover them close, and let them flew foftly, shaking the pan often. Let them flew ten minutes, then shake in a little flour, toss them round; and pour in half a pint of good gravy; put in a little bundle of fweet herbs and an onion, with three cloves, and a blade of mace fluck in it. Cover it close, and let them flew a quarter of an hour; then take out the onion and sweet herbs, and turn it all into a dish. If you find find the fance not thick enough, fhake in a little more flour, and let it fimmer, then take it up.

Cod-founds broiled with gravy.

SCALD them in hot water, and rub them with falt well; blanch them, that is, take off the black dirty fkin, then fet them on in cold water, and let them fimmer till they begin to be tender; take them out and flour them, and boil them on the gridiron. In the mean time, take a little good gravy, a little mustard, a little bit of butter rolled in flour, give it a boil, feasion it with pepper and falt. Lay the founds in your dith, and pour your fauce over them.

A forced cabbage.

TAKE a fine white-heart cabbage about as big as a quarter of a neck, lay it in water two or three hours. then half boil it, fet it in a cullendar to drain, then very carefully cut out the heart, but take great care not to break off any of the outfide leaves, fill it with forcemeat made thus: take a pound of veal, half a pound of bacon, fat and lean together, cut them fmall, and beat them fine in a mortar, with four eggs boiled hard. Seafon with pepper and falt, a little beaten mace, a very little lemon peel cut fine, fome parsley chopped fine, a very little thyme, and two anchovies : when they are heat fine, take the crumb of a ftale roll, fome mushrooms, if you have them, either pickled or fresh, and the heart of the cabbage you cut out, chopped fine. Mix all together with the yolk of an egg, then fill the hollow part of the cabbage, and tie it with a packthread; then lay fome flices of bacon in the bottom of a ftew-pan or fauce-pan, and on that a pound of coarfe lean beef, cut thin ; put in the cabbage, cover it clofe, and let it flew over a flow fire till the bacon begins to flick to the pan, shake in a little flour, then pour in a quart of broth, an onion fluck with cloves, two blades of mace, fome whole pepper, a little bundle of fweet herbs, cover it close, and let it flew very foftly an howr and a half, put in a glass of red wine, give it a boil, then take it up, lay it in the difh, and frain the gravy and Stewed red cabbage.

TAKE a red cabbage, lay it in cold water an hour, then cut it into thin flices acrofs, and cut it into little pieces. Put it into a flew-pan, with a pound of faufages, a pint of gravy, a little bit of ham or lean bacou; cover it clofe, and let it flew half an hour; then take the pan off the fire, and fkim off the fat, flake in a little flour, and fet it on again. Let it flew two or three minutes, then lay the faufages in your difh, and pour the reft all over. You may, before you take it up, put in half a fpoonful of vinegar.

Savoys forced and flewed.

TAKE two favoys, fill one with force-meat, and the other without. Stew them with gravy; feafon them with pepper and falt, and, when they are near enough, take a piece of butter, as big as a large walnut, rolled in flour, and put in. Let them flew till they are enough, and the fauce thick; then lay them in your difh, and pour the fauce over them. These things are beil done on a flove.

To force cucumbers.

TAKE three large cucumbers, fcoop out the pith, fills them with fried oyfters, feafoned with pepper and falt; put on the piece again you cut off, few it with a coarfe thread, and fry them in the batter the oyfters are fried in: then pour out the butter, and fhake in a little flour, pour in half a pint of gravy, fhake it round, and put in the cucumbers. Scafon it with a little pepper and falt; let them flew fortly till they are tender, then lay them in a plate, and pour the gravy over them; or you may force them with any fort of force-meat you fancy, and fry them in hog's lard, and then flew them in gravyand red wine...

Fried

Fried fausages.

TAKE half a pound of faufages, and fix apples; flice four about as thick as a crown, cut the other two in quarters, fry them with the faufages of a fine light brown, lay the faufages in the middle of the difh, and the apples round. Garnifh with the quartered apples.

Stewed cabbage and faufages fried is a good dith; then heat cold peas-pudding in the pan, lay it in the difh and the faufages round, heap the pudding in the middle, and lay the faufages all round thick up, edgeways, and one in the middle at length.

Collops and eggs.

Cut either bacon, pickled beef, or hung mutton, into thin flices; broil them nicely, lay them in a difh before the fire, have ready a flew-pan of water boiling, break as many eggs as you have collops, break them one by one in a cup, and pour them into the flew-pan. When the whites of the eggs begin to harden, and all look of a clear white, take them up one by one in an egg-flice, and lay them on the collops.

To drefs cold forwl or pigeon.

Cut them in four quarters, beat up an egg or two, according to what you drefs, grate a little nutmeg in, a little falt, fome parfley chopped, a few crumbs of bread, beat them well together, dip them in this batter, and have ready fome dripping hot in a flew-pan, in which fry them of a fine light brown; have ready a little good gravy, thickened with a little flour, mixed with a fpoonful of catchup; lay the fry in the difh, and pour the fauce over. Garnifh with lemon, and a few muthrooms, if you have any. A cold rabbit eats well done thus.

To mince veal.

Cur your veal as fine as pofible, but don't chop it; grate a little nutmeg over it, fhred a little lemon-peel very fine, throw a very little falt on it, drudge a little flour over it. To a large plate of veal take four or five fpoonfuls of water, let it boil, then put in the veal, with with a piece of butter as big as an egg, fiir it welt together; when it is all thoroughly hot, it is enough. Have ready a very thin piece of bread toafted brown, cut it into three-corner fippets, lay it round the plate, and pour in the veal. Juft before you pour it in, fqueeze in half a lemon, or half a fpoonful of vinegar. Garnith with lemon. You may put gravy in the room of water, if you love it ftrong, but it is better without.

To fry cold veal.

Cur it in pieces about as thick as half a crown, and as long as you pleafe, dip them in the yolk of an egg, and then in crumbs of bread, with a few fweet herbs, and fhred lemon-peel in it; grate a little nutmeg over them, and fry them in fresh butter. The butter must be hot, just enough to fry them in: in the mean time, make a little gravy of the bone of the veal; when the meat is fried, take it out with a fork, and lay it in a dish before the fire, then shake a little flour into the pan, and fir it round; then put in a little gravy, fqueeze in a little lemon, and pour it over the veal. Garnish with lemon.

To tofs up cold veal white.

Cur the veal into little thin bits, put milk enough to it for fauce, grate in a little nutmeg, a very little falt, a little piece of butter rolled in flour; to half a pint of milk, the yolks of two eggs well beat, a fpoonful of mufhroom-pickle, (tir all together till it is thick j then pour it into your difh, and garnifh with lemon.

Cold fowl fkinned, and done this way, eats well, or the beft end of a cold breaft of veal; first fry it, drain it from the fat, then pour this fauce to it.

To hash cold mutton.

Cut your mutton with a very fharp knife into very little bits, as thin as poffible: then boil the bones with an onion, a little fweet herbs, a blade of mace, a very little whole pepper, a little falt, a piece of cruft toafted very crifp: let it boil till there is just enough for fauce, itrain it, and put it into a fauce-pan, with a piece of butter butter rolled in flour ; put in the meat ; when it is very hot, it is onough. Have ready fome thin bread toafted brown, cut three-corner ways, lay them round the difh, and pour in the halh. As to walnut-pickle, and all forts of pickles, you must put in according to your fancy. Garnifh with pickles. Some love a fmall onion peeled, and cut very fmall, and done in the hafh.

To has mutton like venifon.

Cur it very thin as above; boil the bones as above; firain the liquor, when there is just enough for the hash; to a quarter of a pint of gravy put a large spoonful of red wine, an onion peeled and chopped fine, a very little lemon peel shred fine, a piece of butter as big as a small walnut rolled in flour; put it into a fauce-pan with the meat, shake it all together, and, when it is thoroughly hot, pour it into your dish. Hash beef the same way.

To make collops of cold beef. .

IF you have any cold infide of a firloin of beef, take off all the fat, cut it very thin in little bits, cut an onion very finall, boil as much water as you think will do for fauce, feafon it with a little pepper and falt, and a bundle of fweet herbs. Let the water boil, then put in the meat, with a good piece of butter rolled in flour, fhake it round, and thir it. When the fauce is thick, and the meat done, take out the fweet herbs, and pour it into your dift. They do better than frefh meat.

To make a florentine of veal.

TAKE two kidneys of a loin of veal, fat and all, and mince it very fine, then chop a few herbs and put to it, and add a few currants; feafon it with cloves, mace, nutmeg, and a little falt, four or five yolks of eggs chopped fine, and fome crumbs of bread, a pippin or two chopped, fome candied lemon-peel cut fmall, a little fack, and orange-flour water. Lay a fheet of poffpafte at the botton of your difh, and put in the ingredients, and cover it with another fheet of puff-patte. Bake it in a flack oven, forape fugar on the top, and forve it up hot.

To make falumongundy.

TAKE two or three Roman or cabbage lettuces, and, when you have wafhed them clean, fwing them pretty dry in a cloth; then, beginning at the open end, cut them crofs ways as fine as a good big thread, and lay the lettuces fo cut, about an inch thick, all over the bottom of a difh. When you have thus garnifhed your dith, take two cold roafted pullets or chickens, and cut the flesh off the breafts and wings into flices, about three inches long, a quarter of an inch broad, and as thin as a fhilling; lay them upon the lettuce round the end to the middle of the difh, and the other towards the brim; then having boned and cut fix anchovies, each into eight pieces, lay them all between each flice of the fowls, then cut the lean meat off the legs into dice, and cut a lemon into fmall dice; then mince the yolks of four eggs, three or four anchovies, and a little parfley, and make a round heap of these in your difh, piling it up in the form of a fugar loaf, and garnish it with onions as big as the yolks of eggs, boiled in a good deal of water very tender and white. Put the largest of the onions in the middle on the top of the falamongundy, and lay the reft all round the brim of the diff as thick as you can lay them; then beat fome fallad oil up with vinegar, falt, and pepper, and pour over it all. Garnith with grapes just scalded, or French beans blanched, or aftertion-flowers, and ferve it up for a first course.

Another way.

Mixes two chickens, either boiled or roafted, very fine, or veal, if you pleafe; alfo mince the yolks of hard eggs very fmall, and mince the whites very fmall by themfelves; fhred the pulp of two or three lemons very fmall, then lay in your difh a layer of mincemeat, and a layer of yolks, a layer of whites, a layer of anchovies, a layer of your fhred lemon pulp, a layer of pickles, a layer of forrel, a layer of fpinage, and fhalots fired fmall. When you have filled a diff with the ingredients, fet an orange or a lemon on the top; then garnifh with horfe-raddiff feraped, barberrics, and fliced lemon. Beat up fome oil, with the M Juice of lemon, falt, and mustard, thick, and ferve it up for a fecond course, fide-dish, or middle dish, for supper.

A third falamongundy.

MINCE veal or fowl very fmall, a pickled herring boned and picked fmall, cucumber minced fmall, apples minced fmall, an onion peeled and minced fmall, fome pickled red cabbage chopped fmall, cold pork minced fmall, or cold duck or pigeons minced fmall, boiled parfley chopped fine, celery cut fmall, the yolks of hard eggs chopped fmall, and the whites chopped fmall, and either lay all the ingredients by themfelves feparate on faucers, or in heaps in a difh. Difh them out with what pickles you have, and fliced lemon nicely cut; and, if you can get aftertion-flowers, lay them round it. This is a fine middle-difh for fupper; but you may always make falamongundy of fuch things as you have, according to your fancy. The other forts you have in the chapter of falts.

To make little paffies.

TAKE the kidney of a loin of veal cut very fine, with as much of the fat, the yolks of two hard eggs, featoned with a little falt, and half a fmall nutmeg. Mix them well together, then roll it well in a puff-pafte cruft, make three of it, and fry them nicely in hog's lard or butter.

They make a pretty little difh for change. You may put in fome carrots, and a little fugar and fpice, with the juice of an orange, and fometimes apples, first boiled and tweetened, with a little juice of lemon, or any fruit you pleafe.

Petit passies for garnishing dishes.

MAKE a fhort cruft, roll it thick, make them about its big as the bowl of a fpoon, and about an inch deep; take a piece of veal, enough to fill the patty, as much bacon and beef-fuet, fhred them all very fine, feafon them with pepper and falt, and a little fweet herbs; put them into a little ftew-pan, keep turning them about about with a few multrooms chopped fmall for eight or ten minutes; then fill your petty patties, and cover them with fome cruft. Colour them with the yolk of an egg, and bake them. Sometimes fill them with oyfters for fifh, or the milts of the fifh pounded, and feafoned with pepper and falt; fill them with lobflers, or what you fancy. They make a fine garnifhing, and give a difh a fine look; if for a calf's head, the braine feafoned is most proper, and fome with oysters.

Ox-palates baked.

WHEN you falt a tongue, cut off the root, and take fome ox palates, walk them clean, cut them into fix or feven pieces, put them into an earthen pot, just cover them with water, put in a blade or two of mace, twelve whole pepper-corns, three or four cloves, a little bundle of fweet herbs, a fmall onion, half a fpoonful of rafpings; cover it clofe with brown paper, and let is be well baked. When it comes out of the oven, feafor is with falt to your palate.

CHAP. V.

To drefs FISH.

A s to boiled fifh of all forts, you have full directions' in the Lent chapter. But here we can fry fift much better, becaufe we have beef-dripping, or hog's lard.

Obferve always, in the frying of any fort of fifh, first, that you dry your fifth very well in a clean cloth, then flour it. Let your flew-pan you fry them in be very nice and clean, and put in as much beef-dripping, or hog's lard, as will almost cover your fifh; and be fure it boils before you put in your fifh. Let it fry quick, and let it be of a fine light brown, but not too dark a colour. Have your fifth-flice ready, and, if there is occasion, turn it : when it is enough, take it up, and lay a coarfe cloth on a difh, on which lay your fifth to M 2.

136 THE ART OF COOKERY

drain all the greafe from it; if you fry parfley, do it quick, and take great care to whip it out of the pan as foon as it is crifp, or it will lofe its fine colour. Take great care that your dripping be very nice and clean. You have directions in the eleventh chapter how to make it fit for ufe, and have it always in readinefs.

Some love fifth in batter; then you must beat an egg fine, and dip your fifth in just as you are going to put it in the pan; or as good a batter as any is a little ale and flour beat up just as you are ready for it, and dip the fifth, fo fry it.

Fifth fauce with lobfler.

For falmon or turbot, broiled cod or haddock, &c. nothing is better than fine butter melted thick; and take a lobfter, bruife the body of the lobfter in the butter, and cut the fifh into little pieces; flew it all together, and give it a boil. If you would have your fauce very rich, let one half be rich beef-gravy, and the other half melted butter with the lobfter; but the gravy, I think, takes away the fweetnefs of the butter and lobfter, and the fine flavour of the fifh.

To make Shrimp-fauce.

TAKE a pint of beef-gravy, and half a pint of thrimps, thicken it with a good piece of butter rolled in flour. Let the gravy be well feafoned, and let it boil.

To make oyfter-fauce.

TARE half a plut of large oyfters, liquor and all; put them into a fauce-pan, with two or three blades of mace, and twelve whole pepper-corns; let them fimmer over a flow fire till the oyfters are fine and plump, then carefully with a fork take out the oyfters from the liquor and fpice, and let the liquor boil five or fix minutes; then ftrain the liquor, wafh out the fauce-pan clean, and put the oyfters and hquor in the fauce-pan again, with half a pipr of gravy, and half a pound of butter just rolled in a little flour. You may put in two fpoonfuls of white wine, keep it flirring till the fauce boils, and all the butter is melted.

Te

To make anchovy-fauce.

TAKE a pint of gravy, put in an anchovy, take as quarter of a pound of butter rolled in a little flour, and flir all together till it boils. You may add a little juiceof a lemon, catchup, red wine, and walnut liquor, just as you pleafe.

Plain butter melted thick, with a fpoonful of walnutpickle, or eatchup, is good fauce, or anchovy : in fhort,. you may put as many things as you fancy into fauce; all other fauce for fish you have in the Lent chapter.

To drefs a brace of carp:

First knock the carp on the head, fave all the blood! you can, scale it, and then gut it; wash the carp in apint of red wine, and the rows; have some water boiling, with a handful of falt, a little horfe-raddifh, and a bundle of fweet herbs; ppt in your carp, and boil it foftly. When it is boiled, drain it well over the bot. water; in the mean time, ftrain the wine through as fieve, put it and the blood into a fauce-pan with a piut of good gravy, a little mace, twelve corns of black and twelve of white pepper, fix cloves, an anchovy, anonion, and a little bundle of fweet herbs. Let them fimmer very foftly a quarter of an hour, then strain it., put it into the fauce-pan again, and add to it two fpoon-/ fuls of catchup, and a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in a little flour, half a spoonfol of muthroom. pickle, if you have it; if not, the fame quantity of lemon juice : flir it all together, and let it boil. Boil one. half of the rows, the other half beat up with an egg. half a nutmeg grated, a little lemon-peel cut fine, and a little falt. Beat all well together; and have ready fome . nice beef-dripping boiling in a stew-pan, into which drop your row, and fry them in little cakes; about as big as a crown-piece, of a fine light brown, and the fippets cut three-corner ways, and fried crifp ; a few atfters, if you have them, dipped in a little batter, and fried brown, and a good handful of parlley fried green.

Lay the fish in the difty the boiled rows on each fide, . the fippets flanding round the carp; pour the fance boiling.

boiling hot over the fift; lay the fried rows and oyfters, with parfley and foraped horfe-raddift, and lemon between, all round the dift, the reft of the cakes and oyfters lay in the dift, and fend it to table hot. If you would have the fauce white, put in white wine, and good firong veal-gravy, with the above ingredients. Dreffed as in the Lent chapter is full as good, if your beer is not bitter.

As to dreffing a pike, and all other fifh, you have it in the Lent chapter; only this, when you drefs them with a pudding, you may add a little beef fuet cut very fine, and good gravy in the fauce. This is a better way, than flewing them in the gravy.

CHAP. VI.

Of Soups and BROTHS.

To make flrong broth for foups and gravy.

TAKE a leg of beef, chop it to pieces, fet it on the fire in four gallons of water, fkim it clean, feafon it with black and white pepper, a few cloves, and æ bundle of fweet herbs. Let it boil till two-parts is walled, then feafon it with falt ; let it boil a little while, then frain it off, and keep it for ufe.

When you want very firong gravy, take a flice of bacon, key it in a flew-pan; take a pound of beef, cut it thin, lay it on the bacon, flice a good piece of carrot in, an onion fliced, a good cruft of bread, a few fweet herbs, a little mace, cloves, nutmeg, and whole pepper, an anchovy; cover it, and fet it on a flow fire five or fix minutes, and pour in a quart of the above beef gravy; cover it clofe, and let it boil foftly till half is wafted. This will be a rich, high brown fauce, for fifth or fowl, or ragoo.

Gravy for white fauce.

TAKE a pound of any part of the veal, cut it into final pieces, boil it in a quart of water, with an onion, a blade a blade of mace, two cloves, and a few whole peppercorns. Boil it till it is as rich as you would have it.

Gravy for turkey, fowl, or ragoo.

TAKE a pound of lean beef, cut and hack it well, then flour it well, put a piece of butter as big as a hen's egg in a flew-pan; when it is melted put in your beef, fry it on all fides a little brown, then pour in three pints of boiling water, and a bundle of fweet herbs, two or three blades of mace, three or four cloves, twelve whole pepper-corns, a little bit of carrot, a little piece of cruft of bread toafted brown; cover it clofe, and let it boil till there is about a pint or lefs; then feafon it with falt, and ftrain it off.

Gravy for a forwl, when you have no meat nor gravy ready.

TAKE the neck, liver, and gizzard, boil them in half a pint of water, with a little piece of bread toaffed brown, a little pepper and fait, and a little bit of thyme. Let them boil till there is about a quarter of a pint, then pour in half a glafs of red wine, boil it, and ftrain it, then bruife the liver well in, and ftrain it again; thicken it with a little piece of butter rolled in flour, and it will be very good.

An ox's kidney makes good gravy, cut all to pieces, and boiled with fpice, &c. as in the foregoing receipts.

You have a receipt in the beginning of the book, inthe preface, for gravies.

To make mutton or veal gravy.

Cut and hack your veal well, fet it on the fire with water, fweet herbs, mace, and pepper. Let it boil till it is as good as you would have it, then firain it off. Your fine cooks always, if they can, chop a partridge or two, and put into gravies.

To make a firong fish gravy.

TAKE two or three eels, or any fifh you have, fkin. or fcale them, and gut them and wafh them from grit, cut them into little pieces, put them into a fauce-pan, cover them with water, a little cruft of bread toafted browp.

F40 THE ART OF COOKERY

brown, a blade or two of mace, and fome whole pepper, a few fweet herbs, and a very little bit of lemonpeel. Let it boil till it is rich and good, then have ready a piece of butter, according to your gravy; if a pint, as big as a walnut. Melt it in the fauce-pan, then fhake in a little flour, and tofs it about till it is brown, and then firain in the gravy to it. Let it boila few minutes, and it will be good.

To make plumb-porridge for Christman

TAKE a leg and thin of beef, put them into eight gallons of water, and boil them till they are very tender, and when the broth is ftrong ftrain it out; wipes the pot and put in the broth again; then flice fix penny loaves thin, eut off the top and bottom, put some of the liquor to it, cover it up, and let it ftand a quarter of an hour, boil it and ftrain it, and then put it into. your pot. Let it boil a quarter of an hour, then putin five pounds of currants clean washed and picked; ler them boil a little, and put in five pounds of raifins of the fun, ftoned, and two pounds of prunes, and let them boil till they fwell; then put in three quarters of anonnce of mace, half an onnce of cloves, two nutmegs, all of them beat fine, and mix it with a little liquor cold, and put them in a very little while, and take off. the pot; then put in three pounds of fogar, a little falt, a quart of fack, a quart of claret, and the juice of two or three lemons. You may thicken with fago inflead of bread, if you pleafe; pour them into earthen. pans, and keep them for ufe. You must boil two pounds of prunes in a quart of water till they are tender, and Arain them into the pot when it is boiling.

To make strong broth to keep for use.

TAKE part of a leg of beef, and the fcraig-end of at neck of mutton, break the bones in pieces, and put to it as much water as will cover it, and a little falt; and? when it boils fkim it clean, and put into it a whole onion fluck with cloves, a bunch of fweet herbs, fome pepper, and a nutmeg quartered. Let thefe boil till the meat is boiled in pieces, and the ftrength boiled our of it; then put to it three or four anchovies, and when they are diffolved, firain it out, and keep it for ufe.

A craw fills foup. .

TAKE a gallon of water, and fet it a boiling; put in it a bunch of fweet herbs, three or four blades of mace, an onion fluck with cloves, pepper and falt; then have about two hundred craw-fish, fave out about twenty, then pick the reft from the shells, fave the tails whole; the body and shells beat in a mortar, with a pint of peafe green or dry, first boiled tender in fair water; put your boiling water to it, and ftrain it boiling hot through a cloth till you have all the goodnefs out of it; fet it over a flow fire or flew-hole, have ready a French roll cut very thin, and let it be very dry; put it to your foup, let it flew till half is wasted, then put a piece of butter as big as an em into a fauce-pan, let it fimmer till it has done making a noife, fhake in two tea-fpoonfuls of flour, ftirring it about, and an onion; put in the tails of the filh, give them a thake round, put to them a pint of good gravy, let it boil four or five minutes foftly, take out the onion, and put to it a pint of the foup, flir it well together, and pour it all together, and let it fimmer very foftly a quarter of an hour; fry a French roll. very nice and brown, and the twenty craw-filh, pour your foup into the difh, and lay the roll in the middle, and the craw-fifh round the difh.

Fine cooks boil a brace of carp and tench, and may be a lobiter or two, and many more rich things, to make a craw-fish foup; but the above is full as good, and wants no addition.

A good gravy foup.

TAKE a pound of beef, a pound of yeal, and a pound of mutton cut and hacked all to pieces, put it into two gallons of water, with an old cock beat to pieces, a piece of carrot, the upper cruft of a penny loaf toafted very crifp, a little bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, a tea-spoonful of black pepper, and one of white pepper, four or five blades of mace, and four cloves ; cover it, and

and let it flew over a flow fire till half is wafted, then flrain it off, and put it into a clean fauce-pan, with two or three large fpoonfuls of rafpings clean fifted, half an ounce of truffles and morels, three or four heads of celery wafhed very clean and cut finall, an ox's palate, firlt boiled tender and cut into pieces, a few cocks-combs, a few of the little hearts of young favoys; cover it clofe, and let it fimmer very foftly over a flow fire two hours; then have ready a French roll fried, and a few forcemeat balls fried; put them in your difh, and pour in your foup. You may boil a leg of veal, and a leg of beef, and as many fine things as you pleafe; but I believe you will find this rich and high enough.

You may leave out the cocks-combs, and palates, truffles, &c. if you don't like them; it will be good foup without them; and if you would have your foupvery clear, don't put in the rafpings.

Obferve, if it be a china difh not to pour your foupin boiling hot off the fire, but fet it down half a minute, and put a ladleful in first to warm the difh, thenput it in; for if it be a frost, the bottom of your dishwill fly out. Vermicelli is good in it, an ounce put in just before you take it up; let it boil four or five minutes.

You may make this foup of beef, or veal alone, just as you fancy. A leg of beef will do either without veal, mutton, or fowl.

A green peafe foup.

TAKE a fmall knuckle of veal, about three or four pounds, chop it all to pieces, fet it on the fire in fix quarts of water, a little piece of lean bacon, about half an ounce fleeped in vinegar an hour, four or five blacks of mace, three or four cloves, twelve pepper corns of black pepper, twelve of white, a little bundle of fweet herbs and parfley, a little piece of upper cruft tostted crifp; cover it clofe, and let it boil foftly over a flow fire till half is wafted; then ftrain it off, and put to it a pint of green peafe and a lettuce cut fmall, four headsof celery cut very fmall, and wafhed clean; cover it elofe, and let it flew very foftly over a flow fire twohours; in the mean time, boil a pint of old peafe in a pint pint of water very tender, and firain them well through a coarfe hair fieve, and all the pulp, then pour it into the foup, and let it boil together. Seafon with falt to your palate, but not too much. Fry a French roll crifp, put it into your difh, and pour your foup in. Be fure there be full two quarts.

Mutton gravy will do, if you have no veal, or a fhin of beef chopped to pieces. A few afparagus-tops are very good in it.

A white peafs foup.

TAKE about three pounds of thick flank of beef, or any lean part of the leg chopped to pieces; fet it on the fire in three gallons of water, about half a pound of bacon, a small bundle of fweet herbs, a good deal of dried mint, and thirty or forty corns of pepper; take a bunch of celery, wash it very clean, put in the green tops, and a quart of split pease, cover it close, and let it boil till two parts is wafted ; then ftrain it off, and put it into a clean fauce-pan, five or fix heads of celery cut small and washed clean, cover it close and let it boil till there is about three quarts; then cut fome fat and lean bacon in dice, fome bread in dice, and fry them just crifp ; throw them into your difh, feafon your foup with falt, and pour it into your difh, rub a little dried mint over it, and fend it to table. You may add forcemeat balls fried, cocks-combs boiled in it, and an ox's palate flewed tender and cut fmall. Stewed spinage well drained, and laid round the difh, is very pretty.

Another way to make it.

WHEN you boil a leg of pork, or a good piece of beef, fave the liquor. When it is cold take off the fat; the next day boil a leg of mutton, fave the liquor, and when it is cold take off the fat, fet it on the fire with two quarts of peafe. Let them boil till they are tender, then put in the pork or beef liquor, with the ingredients as above, and let it boil till it is as thick as you would have it, allowing for the boiling again; then ftrain it off, and add the ingredients as above. You may make your foup of veal or mutton gravy, if you pleafe, that is according to your fancy.

A chefnut foup.

TAKE half a hundred of chefnuts, pick them, put them in an earthen pan, and fet them in the oven half an hour, or roaft them gently over a flow fire, but take care they don't burn ; then peel them, and fet them to ftew in a quart of good beef, veal, or mutton broth. till they are quite tender. In the mean time, take a piece or flice of ham, or bacon, a pound of yeal, a pigeon beat to pieces, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion. a little pepper and mace, and a piece of carrot ; lay the bacon at the bottom of a flew-pan, and lay the meat and ingredients at top. Set it over a flow fire till it begins to flick to the pan, then put in a cruft of bread, and your in two quarts of broth. Let it boil foftly till one third is waited ; then strain it off, and add to it the chefnuts. Seafon it with falt, and let it boil till it is well tailed ; itew two pigeons in it, and a fried roll crifp ; lay the roll in the middle of the difh, and the pigeons on each fide : pour in the foup, and fend it away hot.

A French cook will beat a pheafant, and a brace of partridges to pieces, and put to it. Garnish your dish with hot chefnuts.

To make mutton broth.

TAKE a neck of mutton about fix pounds, cut it in two, boil the foraig in a gallon of water, fkim it well, then put in a little bundle of sweet herbs, an onion, and 'a good cruft of bread. Let it boil an hour, then put in the other part of the mutton, a turnip or two, fome dvied marigolds, a few chives chopped fine, a little parfley chopped finall; then put thefe in about a quarter of an hour before your broth is enough. Seafon it with fait ; or you may put in a quarter of a pound of barley or rice at first. Some love it thickened with oatmeal, and fome with bread; and fome love it featoned with mace initead of fweet herbs and onion. All this is fanev, and different palates. If you boil turnips for fauce, don't boil all in the pot, it makes the broth too ftrong of them, but boil them in a fauce-pan.

Beef

Beef broth.

TAKE a leg of beef, crack the bone in two or three parts, walh it clean, put it into a pot with a gallon of water, fkim it well, then put in two or three blades of mace, a little bundle of parfley, and a good cruft of bread. Let it boil till the beef is quite tender, and the finews. Toaft fome bread and cut it in dice, and lay it in your difh; lay in the meat, and pour the foup in.

To make Scots barley broth.

TAKE a leg of beef, chop it all to pieces, boil it in three gallons of water with a piece of carrot and a cruft of bread, till it is half boiled away; then firain it off, and put it into the pot again with half a pound of barley, four or five heads of celery wafted clean and cut finall, a large onion, a bundle of fweet herbs, a little pariley chopped finall, and a few marigolds. Let this boil an hour. Take a cock or large fowl, clean picked and wafted, and put into the pot; boil it till the broth is quite good, then feafon with falt, and fend it to table, with the fowl in the midelle. This broth is very good without the fowl. Take out the onion and fweet herbs, before you fend it to table.

Some make this broth with a fheep's head inftead of a leg of beef, and it is very good; but you must chop the head all to pieces. The thick flank (about fix pounds to fix quarts of water) makes good broth; then put the barley in with the meat, first ikim it well, boil it an hour very foftly, then put in the above ingredients, with turnips and carrots clean foraped and pared, and cut in little pieces. Boil all together foftly, till the broth is very a good; then feafon it with falt, and fend it to table, with the beef in the middle, turnips and carrots round, and pour the broth over all.

To make bodge-podge.

TAKE a piece of beef, fat and lean together about a pound, a pound of veal, a pound of feraig of mutton, cut all into little pieces, fet it on the fire, with two quarts of water, an ounce of barley, an onion, a little bundle of N fweet herbs, three or four heads of celery washed clean and cut finall, a little mace, two or three cloves, fome whole pepper, tied all in a muslin rag, and put to the meat three turnips pared and cut in two, a large carrot foraped clean and cut in fix pieces, a little lettuce cut finall, put all in the pot and cover it close. Let it flew very folly over a flow fire five or fix hours; take out the fpice, fweet herbs, and onion, and pour all into a foapdish, and fend it to table; first feason it with falt. Halt a pint of green pease, when it is the feason for them, is very good. If you let this boil fast, it will walle too much; therefore you cannot do it too flow, if it does but finamer. All other flews you have in the foregoing chapter; and foups in the chapter of Lent.

To make pocket foup.

TAKE a leg of veal, ftrip off all the fkin and fat, then take all the moleular or flefly parts clean from the bones. Boil this flefh in three or four gallons of water till it comes to a frong gelly, and that the meat is good for nothing. Be fure to keep the pot close covered, and not to do too fail ; take a little out in a fpoon now and then, and when you find it is a good rich gelly, ftrain it through a fieve into a clean earthen pan. When it is cold, take off all the fkum and fat from the top, then provide a large deep flew-pan with water boiling , over a ltove, then take fome deep china cups, or wellglazed earthen ware, and fill these cups with the gelly, which you mult take clear f on the fettling at the bottom, and fet them in the flew-pan of water. Take great care that none of the water gets into the cups; if it does, it will fpoil it. Keep the water boiling gently all the time till the gelly becomes as thick as glue, take them out, and let them fland to cool, and then turn the glue out into fome new coarfe flannel. which draws out all the moifture, turn them in fix or eight hours on fresh flannel, and so do till they are quite dry. -Keep it in a dry warm place, and in a little time n will be like a dry hard piece of glue, which you may carry in your pocket without getting any harm. The beft way is to put it into little tin-boxes. When you use it, boil boil about a pint of water, and pour it on a piece of glue about as big as a fmall wainut, ftirring it all the time till it is melted. Seafon with falt to your palate; and if you chufe any herbs or fpice, boil them in the water first, and then pour the water over the glue.

To make portable foup.

TAKE two legs of beef, about fifty pounds weight, take off all the ikin and fat as well as you can, then take all the meat and finews clean from the bones, which meat put into a large pot, and put to it eight or nine gallons of foft water; first make it boil, then put in twelve anchovies, an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, an ounce of whole pepper black and white together, fix large onions peeled and cut in two, a little bundle of thyme, fweet marjoram and winterfavoury, the dry hard cruft of a twopenny loaf, flir it all together and cover it close, lay a weight on the cover to keep it clofe down, and let it boil foftly for eight or nine hours, then uncover it and flir it together ; cover it clofe again, and let it boil till it is a very rich good gelly, which you will know by taking a little out now and then, and letting it cool. When you think it is a thick gelly, take it off, ftrain it through a coarfe hair bag, and prefs it hard; then ftrain it through a hair fieve into a large earthen pan; when it is quite cold, take off the skum and fat, and take the fine geliy clear from the fettlings at bottom, and then put the gelly into a large deep well tinned flew-pan. Set it over a stove with a flow fire, keep fiirring it often, and take great care it neither flicks to the pan or burns. When you find the gelly very fliff and thick, as it will be in lumps about the pan, take it out, and put it into large deep china cups, or well glazed earthen ware. Fill the pan two-thirds full of water, and when the water boils, fet in your cups. Be fure no water gets into the cups, and keep the water boiling foftly all the time till you find the gelly is like a fliff glue; take out the cups, and when they are cool, turn out the glue into a coarfe new flannel. Let it ly eight or nine hours, keeping it in a dry warm place, and turn it on fielh flangel N z 1.11 till it is quite dry, and the glue will be quite hard: put it into clean new ftone pots, keep it clofe covered from duft and dirt, in a dry place, and where no damp. can come to it.

When you ufe it, pour boiling water on it, and flirit all the time till it is melted. Seafon it with falt to. your palate. A piece as big as a large walnut will make a pint of water very rich; but as to that, you are to. make it as good as you please; if for soup, fry a French roll and lay it in the middle of the difh, and when the glue is diffolved in the water, give it a boil and pour itinto a dilh. If you chuse it for change, you may boileither rice or barley, vermicelli, celery cut fmall, or truffles or morels; but let them be very tenderly boiled in the water before you flir in the glue, and then give it a boil all together. You may, when you would have it very fine, add force-meat balls, cocks-combs, or a palate boiled very tender, and cut into little bits; but it will be very rich and good without any of thefe ingredients.

If for gravy, pour the boiling water on to what: quantity you think proper; and when it is diflolved, add; what ingredients you pleafe, as in other fauces. This, is only in the room of a rich good gravy. You may make your fauce either weak or ftrong, by adding more or lefs.

Rules to be observed in making soups or broths.

FIRST take great care the pots or fauec-pans and covers be very clean and free from all greafe and fand, and that they be well tinned, for fear of giving the broths and foups any braffy tafte. If you have time flew it as foftly as you can, it will both have a finer flavour, and the meat will be tenderer. But then obferve, when you make foups or broths for prefent ufe, if it is to be done foftly, don't put much more water than you intend to have foup or broth; and if you have the convenience of an earthen pan or pipkin, fet it on wood embers till it boils, then ficin it, and put in your feafoning; cover it clofe, and fet it on embers, fo that it may do very foftly for fome time, and both the meat and broths will be delicious. You muft obferve in all broths and foups that eight eggs, half the whites, the crumb of a penny loaf grated fine, half a nutmeg grated, and a tea-fpoonful of beaten ginger, a little falt, a pound of flour, a pint of milk; beat the eggs first, then half the milk, beatthem together, and by degrees fir in the flour andbread together, then the fuct, fpice, and fruit, and asmuch milk as will mix it well together very thick. Boil. it five hours.

A York hire pudding.

TAKE a quart of milk, four eggs, and a little falt, make it up into a thick batter with flour, like a pancake batter. You must have a good piece of meat at the fire, take a flew-pan and put fome dripping in, fet it on the fire ; when it boils, pour in your pudding, let. it bake on the fire till you think it is nigh enough, then turn a plate upfide down in the dripping-pan, that the dripping may not be blacked, fet your stew-pan on it. under your meat, and let the dripping drop on the pudding, and the heat of the fire come to it, to make it of . a fine brown. When your meat is done and fent to ta. ble. drain all the fat from your pudding, and fet it on the fire again to dry a little; then flide it as dry as youcan into a difh, melt some butter, and pour it into a cup, and fet it in the middle of the pudding. It is an excellent good pudding; the gravy of the meat eats well with it.

A Steak pudding.

MAKE a good cruft, with fuet fared fine, with flour, and mix it up with cold water. Scafon with a little falt, and make a pretty fliff cruft, about two pounds of fuet to a quarter of a peck of hour. Let your fteaks be either beef or mutton, well feafoned with pepper and falt, make it up as you do an apple pudding, tie it in a cloth, and put it into the water boiling. If it be a farge pudding, it will take five hours, if a finall one three hours. This is the beft cruft for an apple pudding. Pigeons cat well this way.

Of PIES.

To make a very fine fweet lamb or veal pie.

CEASON your lamb with falt, pepper, cloves, mace, I and nutmeg, all beat fine to your palate. Cut your lamb or veal into little pieces, make a good puff patte cruft, lay it into your difh, then lay in your meat, urew on it some floned raisins and currants clean washed, and fome fugar ; then lay on it fome force-meat balls made fweet, and in the fummer fome artichoke bottoms boiled, and fealded grapes in the winter. Boil Spanish potatoes cut in pieces, candied citron, candied orange. and lemon-peel, and three or four blades of mace; put butter on the top, clofe up your pie, and bake it. Have ready, against it comes out of the oven, a caudle made thus: take a pint of white wine, and mix in the yolks of three eggs, flir it well together over the fire, one way all the time, till it is thick ; then take it off, ftir in fugar enough to fweeten it, and fqueeze in the juice of a lemon ; pour it hot into your pie, and close it up again. Send it hot to table.

To make a pretty fweet lamb or veal pie.

Frast make a good cruft, butter the difh, and lay in your bottom and fide cruft; then cut your meat into fmall pieces; feafon with a very little falt, fome mace and nutmeg beat fiue, and ftrewed over; then lay a layer of ment, and firew according to your fancy, fome currants clean washed and picked, and a few raisins ftoned, all over the meat; by another layer of meat, put a little butter at the top, and a little water, juft enough to bake it, and no more. Have ready, againft it comes out of the oven, a white wine caudle made, very fweet, and fend it to table hot.

A favoury veal pie.

TAKE a breaft of veal, cut it into pieces, feafon it with pepper and falt, lay it all into your cruft, boil fix or eight eggs hard, take only the yolks, put them into the pie here and there, fill your difh almost full of water, put on the lid, and bake it well.

To make a favoury lamb or veal pie.

MAKE a good puff-paste crust, cut your meat into pieces, feafon it to your palate with pepper, falt, mace, cloves, and nutmeg finely beat ; lay it into your cruft with a few lamb ftones and fweetbreads feafoned as your meat, also fome ovsters and force-meat balls, hard volks of eggs, and the tops of afparagus two inches long, first boiled green : put butter all over the pie, put on the lid, and fet it in a quick oven an hour and a half, and then have ready the liquor, made thus: take a pint of gravy, the oyfter liquor, a gill of red wine, and a little grated nutmeg; mix all together with the yolks of two or three eggs beat, and keep it ftirring one way all the time. When it boils, pour it into your pie ; put on the lid again. Send it hot to table. You must make liquor according to your pie.

To make a calf's foot pie.

First fet four calves feet on in a fauce-pan in three quarts of water, with three or four blades of mace; let them boil foftly till there is about a pint and a half, then take out your feet, firain the liquor, and make a good cruft; cover your difh, then pick off the flefh from the bones, lay half in the difh, firew half a pound of currants clean wafhed and picked over, and half a pound of raifins floned; lay on the reft of the meat, then fkim the liquor, fweeten it to the palate, and put in half a pint of white wine; pour it into the difh, put on your lid, and bake it an hour and a half.

feafon them with falt, pepper, cloves, and mace: wafh over your collops with a bunch of feathers dipped in eggs, and have in readinefs a good handful of fweet herbs fhred fmall. The herbs must be thyme, parfley, and spinage, the yolks of eight hard eggs minced, and a few oyllers parboiled and chopped, some beef-suct fhred very fine; mix these together and firew them over your collops, then sprinkle a little orange-flower water over them, roll the collops up very clofe, and lay them in your pie, ftrewing the featoning over what is left, put butter on the top, and close your pie. When it comes out of the oven, have ready fome gravy hot, and pour into your pie, one anchovy disfolved in the gravy; pour it in boiling hot. You may put in artichoke-bottoms and chefauts, if you pleafe. You may leave out the orange-flower water, if you don't like it.

To feafon an egg pie.

Boil twelve eggs hard, and fhred them with one pound of beef-luct, or marrow, fhred fine. Seafon them with a little cinnamon and nutmeg beat fine, one pound of currants clean washed and picked, two or three spoonfuls of cream, and a little fack and role-water mixed all together, and fill the pic. When it is baked, flir in half a pound of fresh butter, and the juice of a lemon.

To make a mutton pie.

TAKE a loin of mutton, take off the fkin and fat of the infide, cut into fleaks, feafon it well with pepper and fait to your palate : lay it into your cruft, fill it, pour in as much water as will almost fill the dift; thea put on the cruft, and bake it well.

A beef-steak pie.

TAKE fine rump-steaks, beat them with a rolling-pin, then feafon them with pepper and falt, according to your palate. Make a good cruft, lay in your steaks, fill your dish, then pour in as much water as will hatt fill the dish. Put on the cruft, and bake it well.

Abam

A ham pie.

TARE fome cold boiled ham, and flice it about half an inch thick, made a good cruft, and thick, over the difh, and lay a layer of ham, fhake a little pepper over it, then take a large young fowl clean picked, gutted, walhed, and finged; put a little pepper and fait in the belly, and rub a very little falt on the outfide; lay the fowl on the ham, boil fome eggs hard, put in the yolks. and cover all with ham, then thake fome pepper on the ham, and put on the top cruft. Bake it well, have ready when it comes out of the oven fome very rich beef gravy, enough to fill the pie; lay on the cruft again, and fend it to table hot. A fresh ham will not be fo tender; fo that I always boil my ham one day and bring it to table, and the next day make a pie of it. It does better than an unboiled ham. If you put two large fowls in, they will make a fine pie; but that is accord. ing to your company, more or lefs. The larger the pie, the finer the meat eats. The cruft muft be the fame you make for a venifon pafty. You fhould pour a little ftrong gravy into the pie when you make it, juft to bake the meat, and then fill it up when it comes out of the oven. Boil fome truffles and morels and put into the pie, which is a great addition, and fome frefh mushrooms, or dried ones.

To make a pigeon pie.

MAKE a puff-pafte cruft, cover your dift, let your pigeons be very nicely picked and cleaned, feafon them with pepper and falt, and put a good piece of fine freth butter, with pepper and falt, in their bellies; lay them in your pan, the necks, gizzards, livers, pinions, and hearts, lay between, with the yolk of a hard egg, and beef iteak in the middle; put as much water as will almost fill the dift, lay on the top-cruft, and bake it well. This is the best way to make a pigeon pie; but the French fill the pigeons with a very high force-meat, and lay force-meat bails round the infide, with afparagustops, artichoke-bottoms, mushrooms, truffles and morels, and feafon high; but that is according to different palates.

If the head he rightly feasoned when it comes out of the oven, it will want very little more; put on the lid and bake it. When the cruit is done, your pie will be enough.

To make a Scropshire pie.

First make a good puff-pafte cruft, then cut two rabbits to pieces, with two pounds of fat pork cut into little pieces, feafon both with pepper and falt to your liking, then cover your difh with cruft, and lay in your rabbits. Mix the pork with them, take the livers of the rabbits, parboil them, and beat them in a moviar, with as much fat bacon, a little fweet herbs, and fome oyfiers, if you have them. Seafon with pepper, falt, and nutmeg; mix it up with the yolk of an egg, and make it into balls. Lay them here and there in your pie, fome artichoke-bottoms cut in dice, and cockscombs, if you have them; grate a finall nutmeg over the meat, then pour in half a pint of red wine, and half, a pint of water. Clofe your pie, and bake it an hour and a half in a quick oven, but not too fierce an oven.

To make a Yorkshire Christmas pier.

FIRST make a good flanding cruft, let the wall and bottom be very thick ; bone a turkey, a goofe, a fowl, a partridge, and a pigeon. Seafon them all very well, take half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of nutmegs, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, and half an ounce of black pepper, all beat fine together, two large fpoonfuls of falt, and then mix them together. Open the fowls all down the back, and bone them; first the pigcon, then the partridge, cover them; then the fowl, then the goofe, and then the turkey, which must be large; feafon them all well first, and lay them in the cruft, fo as it will look only like a whole turkey; then. have a hare ready cafed, and wiped with a clean cloth. Cut it to pieces, that is, joint it ; feason it, and lay it as close as you can on one fide ; on the other fide woodcocks, moor game, and what fort of wild fowl you can. get. Seafon them well, and lay them clofe ; put at. leaft four pounds of butter into the pie, then lay on YOUK.

your lid, which must be a very thick one, and let it be well baked. It must have a very hot oven, and will take at least four hours.

This cruft will take a bufhel of flour. In this chapter you will fee how to make it. Thefe pies are often fent to London in a box-as-prefents; therefore the walls muft be well built.

To make a goose pie:

HALF a peck of flour will make the walls of a goofe pie, made as in thereceipts for crufts. Raife your cruft juft big enough to hold a large goofe; firft have a pickled dried tongue boiled tender enough to peel, cut off the root, bone a goofe and a large fowl; take baif a quarter of an ounce of mace beat fine, a large teafpoonful of beaten pepper, three tea-fpoonfuls of falt; mix all together, feafon your fowl and goofe with it, then lay the fowl in the goofe, and the tongue in the fowl, and the goofe in the fame form as if whole. Put half a pound of butter on the top, and lay on the lid. This pic is delicious, either cold or hot, and will keep a great while. A flice of this pic cut down aerofs makes a pretty little fide-difh for fupper.

To make a venifon pafty.

TAKE a neck and breaft of venifon, bone it, feafon it with pepper and falt according to your palate. Cut the breaft in two or three pieces; but do not cut the fat of the neck if you can help it. Lay in the bread and neckend first, and the best end of the neck on the top, that the fat may be whole; make a good rich puff-patte cruft, let it be very thick on the fides, a good bottomcruft, and thick a top; cover the difh, then lay in your venison, put in half a pound of butter, about a quarter of a pint of water, close your pafty, and let it be baked two hours in a very quick oven. In the mean time, fet on the bones of the venifon in two quarts of water, with two or three blades of mace, an onion, a little piece of cruft baked crifp and brown, a little whole pepper; cover it clofe, and let it boil foftly over a flow fire till abovehalf is waited, then itrain it off. When the paity comesout of the even, lift up the lid, and pour in the gravy. 03: When

THE ART OF COOKERY

When your venifon is not fat enough, take the fat of a join of mutton, fleeped in a little rape-vinegar and red wine twenty-four hours, then lay it on the top of the verifon, and clofe your paily. It is a wrong notion. of iome people to think venifon cannot be baked enough ... and will first bake it in a falfe cruft, and then bake it. in the patty ; by this time the fine flavour of the venifon. is cone. No, if you want it to be very tender, wafh it in warm milk and water, dry it in clean cloths till it. is very dry, then rub it all over with vinegar, and hang it in the air. Keep it as long as you think proper; it will keep thus a fortnight good; but be fure there be no molituels about it; if there is, you muft dry it well and throw ginger over it, and it will keep a long time. When you ufe it, just dip it in lukewarm water, and dry it. Bake it in a quick oven ; if it is a large peliy, it will take three hours; then your venifon will be tender, and have all the fine flavour. The fhoalcer makes a pretty pafty, boned and made as above with the mutton fat.

The lein of mutton makes a fine pafty: take a large fut loin of mutton, let it harg for four or five days, then bone it, leaving the meat as whole as you can: lay the meat twenty-four hours in half a pint of red wine and half a pint of rape-vinegar; then take it out of the pickle, and order it as you do a pafty, and boil the tones in the fame manner to fill the pafty, when it: comes out of the oven.

To make a calf's-bead pic.

CLEANSE your head very well, and boil it till it is tender; then carefully take off the field as whole asyou can, take out the eyes, and flice the tongue; make a good puff-pafte cruft, cover the dift, lay on your meat, throw over it the tongue, lay the eyes cut in two at each corner. Scafon it with a very little pepper and falt, pour in half a pint of the liquor it was boiled in, lay a thin top-cruft on, and bake it an hour in a quick oven. In the mean time, boil the bonesof the head in two quarts of liquor, with two or three blades of mace, half a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper, pepper, a large onion, and a bundle of fweet herbs. Let it boil till there is about a pint, then firain it off, and add two spoonfuls of catchup, three of red wine, a piece of butter, as big as a walnut, rolled in flour, half an ounce of truffles and morels. Seafon with falt to your palate. Boil it, and have half the brains boiled with fome fage; beat them, and twelve leaves of fage chopped fine; itir all together, and give it a boil; take the other part of the brains, and beat them with fome of the fage chopped fine, a little lemon-peel minced fine, and half a finall nutmeg grated. Beat it up with an egg. and fry it in little cakss of a fine light brown; boil fix. eggs hard, take only the yolks; when your pie comes out of the oven, take off the lid, lay the eggs and cakesover it, and pour the fauce all over. Send it to table hot without the list. This is a fine difh ; you may put in it as many fine things as you pleafe, but it wants no more addition.

To make a tort:

First make a fine puff-pafte, cover your difh with: the cruft, make a good force-meat thus: take a pound of veal, and a pound of beef-fuet, cut them finall, and beat them fine in a mortar. Seafon it with a fmall nutmeg grated, a little lemon-peel flired fine, a few fweetherbs, not too much, a little pepper and fait, juft enough to feafon it, the crumb of a penny loaf rubbed fine; mix it up with the yolk of an egg, make one third into balls, and the reft lay round the fides of the difh. Get two fine large veal fweetbreads, cut each into four pieces; two pair of lamb-flones, each cut in two, twelve cocks-combs, half an ounce of truffles and morels, four artichoke-bottoms cut each into four pieces; a few afparagus-tops, fome frefh mufhrooms, and fome pickled; put all together in your difh.

Lay first your fweetbreads, then the artichoke-bottoms, then the cocks-combs, then the truffles and morels, then the afparagus, then the mushrooms, and then the force-meat balls. Seafon the fweetbreads with pepper and falt; fill your pie with water, and put on the cruft. Bake it two hours.

As to fruit and fifh pies, you have them in the chapter for Lent.

THE ART OF COOKERY

To make mince pies the best way.

TARE three pounds of fuet fored very fine, and chops ped as small as possible, two pounds of raisins stoned, and chopped as fine as poffible, two pounds of currants nicely picked, washed, rubbed, and dried at the fire, half a hundred of fine pippins, pared, cored, and chopped finall, half a pound of fine fugar pounded fine, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, two large nutmegs all beat fine; put all together into a great pan, and mix it well together with half a pint of brandy, and half a pint of fack; put it down close in a ftone pot, and it will keep good four months. When you make your pies, take a little dilb,fomething bigger than a foup-plate, lay a very thin. cruft all over it, lay a thin layer of meat, and then a thinlayer of citron cut very thin, then a layer of mincemeat, and a thin layer of orange-peel cut thin, over that a little meat, squeeze half the juice of a fine Seville orange or lemon, and pour in three fpoonfuls of red wine; lay on your cruft, and bake it nicely. These pies eat finely cold. If you make them in little patties, mix your meat and fweetmeats accordingly. If you; chufe meat in your pies, parboil a neat's tongue, peel it, and chop the meat as fine as poffible, and mix with the reft; or two pounds of the infide of a firlein of beef. boiled.

Tort de moy.

MARE puff-pafte, and lay round your difh, then as layer of bifeuit, and a layer of butter and marrow, and then a layer of all forts of fweetmeats, or as many asyou have, and fo do till your difh is full; then boil a quart of cream, and thicken it with four eggs, and afpoonful of orange-flower water. Sweeten it with fugarto your palate, and pour over the reft. Half an hour will bake it.

every day (without falt) for a fortnight, then boil them for two or three hours till they are tender, then cut them into half-quarters, and then cut them three corner-ways, as thin as you can : take fix pippins pared. cored, and quartered, and a pint of fair water. Let them boil till the pippins break; put the liquor to your orange or lemon, and half the pulp of the pippins well broken, and a pound of fugar. Boil thefe together a quarter of an hour, then put it in a gallipot, and squeeze an orange in it : if it be a lemon-tart, squeeze a lemon ; two spoonfuls is enough for a tart. Your -patty-pans must be small and shallow. Put fine puffpafte, and very thin ; a little while will bake it. Just as your tarts are going into the oven, with a feather or bruih do them over with melted butter, and then fift double-refined fugar over them; and this is a pretty iceing on them.

To make different forts of tarts.

IF you bake in tin-patties, butter them, and you. must put a little crust all over, because of the taking them out; if in china or glass, no crust but the top one. Lay fine fugar at the bottom, then your plumbs, cherries, or any other fort of fruit, and fugar at top ; then put on your lid, and bake them in a flack oven. Mince pies must be baked in tin-patties, becaufe of taking them out, and puff-pafte is belt for them. All fweet tarts, the beaten cruft is best; but as you fancy. You have the receipt for the crufts in this chapter. Apple, pear, apricot, &c. make thus: apples and pears, pare them, cut them into quarters, and core them; cut the quarters acrofs again, fet them on in a fauce-pan with juft, as much water as will barely cover them, let them. fimmer on a flow fire just till the fruit is tender; put a good piece of lemon-peel in the water with the fruit. then have your patties ready. Lay fine fugar at bottom, then your fruit, and a little fugar at top; that you must put in at your diferetion. Pour over each tart a tea-spoonful of lemon-juice, and three tea-spoonfuls of the liquor they were boiled in ; put on your lid, and bake them in a flack oven. Apricots do the fame way, only do not use lemon.

166 THE ART OF COOKERY

As to preferved tarts, only lay in your preferved fruit, and put a very thin cruft at top, and let them be baked as little as poffible; but, if you would make them very nice, have a large patty the fize you would have your tart. Make your fugar cruft, roll it as thick as a halfpenny; then butter your patties, and cover it. Shape your upper cruit on a hollow thing on purpole, the fize of your patty, and mark it with a marking-iron for that purpole, in what shape you please, to be hollow and open to fee the fruit through; then bake your cruft in a very flack oven, not to difcolour it, but to have it crifp. When the cruft is cold, very carefully take it out, and fill it with what fruit you pleafe, lay on the lid, and it is done; therefore, if the tart is not cat, your fweetmeat is not the worfe, and it looks genteel.

Pafte for tarts.

ONE pound of flour, three quarters of a pound of butter; mix up together, and beat well with a rollingpin.

. Another passe for tarts.

HALF a pound of butter, half a pound of flour, and half a pound of fugar; mix it well together, and beatit with a rolling-pin well, then roll it out thin.

Puff pafie.

TAKE a quarter of a peck of flour, rub fine half a pound of butter, a little falt, make it up into a light pathe with cold water, just ftiff enough to work it well up; then roll it out, and stick pieces of butter all over, and stew a little flour; roll it up and roll it out again; and fo do nine or ten times, till you have rolled in a pound and a half of butter. This crust is mostly used for all forts of pies.

and fuet, and as much of the liquor as will make it a light good cruft : work it up well, and roll it out.

A standing crust for great pies.

TAKE a peck of flour, and fix pounds of butter, boiled in a gallon of water; fkim it off into the flour, and as little of the liquor as you can; work it well up into a pafte, then pull it into pieces till it is cold, then make it up in what form you will have it. This is fit for the walls of a goole-pie.

A cold cruft.

To three pounds of flour rub in a pound and a half of butter, break in two eggs, and make it up with cold water.

A dripping cruft.

TAKE a pound and a half of beef-dripping, boil it in water, firain it, then let it fland to be cold, and take off the hard fat; fcrape it, boil it fo four or five times; then work it well up into three pounds of flour as fine as you can, and make it up into paste with cold water. It makes a very fine cruft.

A cruft for custards.

TAKE half a pound of flour, fix ounces of butter, the yolks of two eggs, three fpoonfuls of cream; mix them together, and let them ftand a quarter of an hour, then work it up and down, and roll it very thin.

Paste for crackling crust.

BLANCH four handfuls of almonds, and throw them into water, then dry there in a cloth, and pound them in a mortar very fine, with a little orange-flower water, and the white of an egg. When they are well pounded, pafs them through a coarfe hair-fieve to clear them from all the lumps or clods; then fpread it on a dith till it is very pliable; let it ftand for a while, then roll out a piece for the under cruft, and dry it in the oven on the pie-pan, while other paftry works are making, as knots, cyphere, &c. for garnifhing your pies.

CHAP.

C H A P. IX.

For Lent, or a fast dinner, a number of good dishes, which you may make use of for a table at any other time.

A pease soup.

BOIL a quart of fplit peafe, in a gallon of water; when they are quite foft, put in half a red herring, or two anchovies, a good deal of whole pepper, black and white, two or three blades of mace, four or five cloves, a bundle of fweet herbs, a large onion, and the green tops of a bunch of celery, a good bundle of dried mint; cover them clofe, and let them boil foftly till there is about two quarts; then ftrain it off, and have ready the white part of the celery wafhed clean, and cut fmall, and ftewed tender in a quart of water, fome fpinage picked and wafhed clean, put to the celery; let them ftew till the water is quite wafted, and put it to your foup.

Take a French roll, take out the crumb, fry the cruft brown in a little frefh butter, take fome fpinage, flew it in a little butter after it is boiled, and fill the roll; take the crumb, cut it into pieces, beat it in a mortar with a raw egg, a little fpinage, and a little forrel, a little beaten mace, and a little nutmeg, and an anchovy; then mix it up with your hand, and roll them into balls with a little flour, and cut fome bread into dice, and fry them crifp; pour your foup into your difh, put in the balls and bread, and the roll in the middle. Garnifh your difh with fpinage; if it wants falt, you muft feafon it to your palate; rub in fome dried mint.

A green-peafe foup.

TAKE a quart of old green peafe, and boil them, till they are quite tender as pap, in a quart of water; then firain them through a fieve, and boil a quart of young peafe in that water. In the mean time, put the old peafe into a fieve, pour half a pound of melted butter over them, and frain them through the fieve with the back of a fpoon, till you have got all the pulp. When the young peafe are boiled enough, add the pulp and butter to the young peafe and liquor; ftir them together till they are fmooth, and feafon with pepper and falt. You may fry a French roll, and let it fwim If you like it, boil a bundle of mint in in the difh. the peafe.

Another green peafs foup.

TAKE a quart of green peafe, boil them in a gallon of water, with a bundle of mint, and a few fweet herbs, mace, cloves, and whole pepper, till they are tender; then strain them, liquor and all, through a coarfe fieve, till the pulp is strained. Put this liquor into a faucepan, put to it four heads of celery clean walled and cut small, a handful of spinage clean washed and cut fmall, a lettuce cut small, a fine leek cut small, a quart of green peafe, a little falt, cover them, and let them boil very foftly till there is about two quarts, and that the celery is tender: then fend it to table.

If you like it, you may add a piece of burnt butter to it about a quarter of an hour before the foup is enough.

Soup-meagre.

TAKE half a pound' of butter, put it into a deep ftew-pan, shake it about, and let it stand till it has done making a noife; then have ready fix middling onions peeled and cut fmall, throw them in, and fhake them about. Take a bunch of celery clean washed and picked, cut it in pieces half as long as your finger. a large handful of fpinage clean washed and picked, a good lettuce clean washed, if you have it, and cut small, a little bundle of parsley chopped fine; shake all this well together in the pan for a quarter of an hour, then Thake in a little flour, ftir all together, and pour into the flew-pan two quarts of boiling water; take a handful of dry hard cruft, throw in a tea-fpoonful of beaten pepper, three blades of mace beat fine, flir all together, and let it boil foftly half an hour : then take it off the fire.

fire, and beat up the yolks of two eggs and flir in, and one fpoonful of vinegar; pour it into the foup difh, and fend it to table. If you have any green peafe, boil half a pint in the foup for change.

To make an onion foup.

TAKE half a pound of butter, put it into a stew-pan on the fire, let it all melt, and boil it till it has done making any noife; then have ready ten or a dozen middiing onions peeled and cut fmall, throw them into the butter, and let them fry a quarter of an hour; then fnake in a little flour, and flir them round; fhake your pan, and let them do a few minutes longer, then pour in a quart or three pints of boiling water, flir them round, take a good piece of upper cruft, the ftaleft bread you have, about as big as the top of a penny-loaf cut small, and throw it in. Seafon with falt to your palate. Let it boil ten minutes, ftirring it often; then take it off the fire, and have ready the yolks of two eggs heat fine, with half a spoonful of vinegar; mix fome of the foup with them, then ftir it into your foup and mix it well, and pour it into your difh. This is a delicious difh.

To make an eel foup.

TAKE eels according to the quantity of foup you would make: a pound of eels will make a pint of good foup; fo to every pound of eels put a quart of water, a cruft of bread, two or three blades of mace, a little whole pepper, an onion, and a bundle of fweet herbs; cover them clofe, and let them boil till half the liquor is waited; then firain it, and toaft fome bread, and cut it finalli, lay the bread into the difh, and pour in your foup. If you have a flew-hole, fet the difh over it for a minute, and fend it to table. If you find your foup not rich enough, you muit let it boil till it is as firong as you would have it. You may make this foup as rich and good as if it was meat : you may add a piece of carrot to brown it.

To make crawfish soup.

TAKE a carp, a large eel, half a thornback, cleanfe and wash them clean, put them into a clean fauce-pan, or little pot, put to them a gallon of water, the cruft of a penny loaf, fkim them well, featon it with mace, cloves, whole pepper, black and white, an onion, a bundle of fweet herbs, fome parsley, a piece of ginger, let them boil by themfelves close covered, then take the tails of half a hundred crawhih, pick out the bag, and all the woolly parts that are about them, put them into a fauce-pan, with two quarts of water, a little falt, a bundle of fweet herbs: let them flew foftly, and when they are ready to boil, take out the tails and beat all the other part of the crawfifh with the fhells, and boil in the liquor the tails came out of, with a blade of mace, till it comes to about a pint, ftrain it through a clean fieve, and add it to the fifth a boiling. Let all boil foftly till there is about three quarts ; then flrain it off through a coarfe fieve, put it into your pot again, and, if it wants fait, you must put fome in, and the tails of the crawfifh and lobfter : take out all the meat and body, and chop it very fmall, and add to it ; take a French roll and fry it crifp, and add to it. Let them flew all together for a quarter of an hour. You may flew a carp with them; pour your foup into your difh, the roll fwimming in the middle.

When you have a carp, there fhould be a roll on each fide. Garnifh the difh with crawfifh. If your crawfifh will not lie on the fides of your difh, make a little pathe, and lay round the rim, and lay the fifh on that all round the difh.

Take care that your foup be well feafoned, but not too high.

To make a muscle soup.

GET a hundred of muscles, walh them very clean, put them into a flew pan, cover them close: let them flew till they open; then pick them out of the fhells, flrain the liquor through a fine lawn fleve to your muscles, and pick the beard or crab out, if any.

flow fire, and keep flirring all the time for fear of curdling. When it is of a good thickness, and boils, take: it up. Keep flirring it till you put it into your diff.

To make a barley foup.

TAKE a gallon of water, half a pound of barley, a blade or two of mace, a large cruft of bread, and a little lemon-peel. Let it boil till it comes to two quarts, then add half a pint of white wine, and fweeten to your palate.

To make a tarnip-foup.

TAKE a gallon of water and a bunch of turnips, pare them, fave three or four out, put the reft into the water, with half an ounce of whole pepper, an onion,. fluck with cloves, a blade of mace, half a nutmegbruifed, a little bundle of fweet herbs, and a large: cruft of bread. Let thefe boil an hour pretty faft, then . ftrain it through a fieve, fqueezing the turnips through ;. wash and cut a bunch of celery very small, set it on in the liquor on the fire, cover it clofe, and let it flew. In the mean time, cut the turnips you faved into dice, and two or three fmall carrots clean fcraped, and cut in lit-tle pieces; put half these turnips and carrots into the. pot with the celery, and the other half fry brown in freih butter. You must four them first, and two or three onions peeled, cut in thin flices, and fried brown ; then put them all into the foup, with an ounce of vermicelli. Let your foup boil foftly till the celery is quite tender, and your foup good. Seafon it with falt to your palate.

To make an egg-soup.

To make fried toufis.

TAKE a penny-loaf, cut it into flices a quarter of an inch thick round-ways, toast them, and then take a pint of cream and three eggs, half a pint of fack, fome nutmeg, and fwectened to your taste. Steep the toasts in it for three or four hours, then have ready feme butter hot in a pan, put in the toasts and fry them brown, hay them in a dish, melt a little butter, and then mix what is left; if none, put in fome wine and fugar, and pour over them. They make a pretty plate or fide dish for fupper.

To stew a brace of carp.

SCRAPE them very clean, then gut them, wash them and the roes in a pint of good scale beer, to preferve all the blood, and boil the carp with a little falt in the water.

In the mean time flrain the beer, and put it into a fauce pan, with a pint of red wine, two or three blades of mace, tome whole pepper, black and white, an onion fluck with cloves, half a nutineg bruifed, a bundle of fweet herbs, a piece of lemon-peel as big as a fixpence, an anchovy, a little piece of houfe-raddith. Let thefe boil together foftly for a quarter of an hour, covered . clofe; then strain it, and add to it half the hard roe Leat to pieces, two or three fpoonfuls of catchup, a quarter of a pound of fresh butter, and a spoonful of mufhroom-pickle, let it boil, and keep ftirring it till the Luce is thick and enough. If it wants any falt, you muß put some in : then take the reft of the roe, and beat it up with the yolk of an egg, fome nutmeg, and a little lemon-peel cut small, fry them in fresh butter in little cakes, and fome pieces of bread cut three-cornerways, and fried brown. When the carp are enough, take them up, pour your fauce over them, lay the cakes round the difh, with horfe-raddifh fcraped fine, and fried partley. 'The reft lay on the carp, and the bread flick about them, and lay round them, then fliced lemon notched, and laid round the difh, and two or three pieces on the carp. Send them to table hot.

The

The boiling of carp at.all times is the beft way; they eat fatter and finer. The flewing of them is no addition to the fauce, and only hardens the fifh and fpoils it. If you would have your fauce white, put in good fifh-broth inftead of beer, and white wine in the room of red wine. Make your broth with any fort of fresh fish you have, and feason it as you do gravy.

To fry carp.

First feale and gut them, wash them clean, lay them in a cloth to dry, then flour them, and fry them of a fine light brown. Fry fome toast cut three-corner-ways, and the roes; when your fish is done, lay them on a coarfe cloth to drain. Let your fauce be butter and anchovy, with the juice of lemon. Lay your carp in the difh, the roes on each fide, and garnish with the fried toast and lemon.

To bake a carp.

SCALE, wash, and clean a brace of carp very well : take an earthen pan deep enough to lie cleverly in, butter the pan a little, lay in your carp; feafon it with mace, cloves, nutmeg, and black and white pepper, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, and anchovy; pour in a bottle of white wine, cover it close, and let them bake an hour in a hot oven, if large; if small, a lefs time will do them. When they are enough, carefully take them up, and lay them in a difh ; fet it over hot water to keep it hot, and cover it clofe, then pour all the liquor they were baked in into a fauce-pan; let it boil a minute or two, then strain it, and add half a pound of butter rolled in flour. Let it boil, keep flirring it, fqueeze in the juice of half a lemon, and put in what falt you want ; pour the fauce over the fifh, lay the roes round, and garnish with lemon. Observe to fkim all the fat off the liquor.

To fry tench.

SLIME your tenches, flit the fkin along the backs, and with the point of your knife raife it up from the bone, then cut the fkin across at the head and tail; then fkrip it off, and take out the bone; then take another ther tench or a carp, and mince the flefh fmall with mushrooms, chives, and parsley. Seafon them with falt, pepper, beaten mace, nutmeg, and a few favoury herbs minced fmall. Mingle thefe all well together, then pound them in a mortar, with crumbs of bread, as much as two eggs, foaked in cream, the yolks of three or four eggs, and a piece of butter. When these have been well pounded, fluff the tenches with this farce: take clarified butter, put it into a pan, set it over the fire, and when it is hot flour your tenches, and put them into the pan one by one, and fry them brown ; then take them up, lay them in a coarse cloth before the fire to keep hot. In the mean time, pour all the greafe and fat out of the pan, put in a quarter of a pound of butter, shake some flour all over the pan, keep stirring with a fpoon till the butter is a little brown; then pour in half a pint of white wine, flir it together, pour in half a pint of boiling water, an onion fluck with cloves, a bundle of fweet herbs, and a blade or two of mace. Cover them close, and let them flew as foftly as you can for a quarter of an hour; then strain off the liquor, put it into the pan again, add two fpoonfuls of catchup, have ready an ounce of truffles or morels boiled in half a pint of water tender, pour in truffles, water and all, into the pan, a few mufhrooms, and either half a pint of oyfters clean washed in their own liquor, and the liquor and all put into the pans or fome craw-filh; but then you must put in the tails, and, after clean picking them, boil them in half a pint of water, then strain the liquor, and put into the fauce: or take some fish milts, and tofs up in your fauce. All this is just as you fancy.

When you find your fauce is very good, put your tench into the pan, make them quite hot, then lay them into your difh, and pour the fauce over them. Garnifh with lemon.

Or you may, for change, put in half a pint of fale beer inftead of water. You may drefs tench just as you do carp.

Melt your butter, fcrape a good deal of horfe-raddifh fine, put it into the melted butter, grate half a nutmeg, beat up the yolk of an egg with one fpoonful of cream, pour it into the butter, keep it flirring, till it boils, then pour it directly into your bason.

To drefs little fifth:

As to all forts of little fifth, fuch as fmelts, roach, c. they fhould be fried dry and of a fine brown, and nothing but plain butter. Garnifh with lemon.

And to boiled falmon the fame, only garnifh with lemon and horfe-raddifu.

And with all boiled fifti, you fhould put a good deal of falt and horfe-raddifh in the water; except mackrel, with which put falt and mint, parfley and fennel, which you must chop to put into the butter; and fomelove fealded goofeberries with them. And be fure tobeil your fifth well; but take great care they don'tbreak.

To broil mackrel.

CLEAN them, cut off the heads, fplit them, feafone them with pepper and fak, flour them, and broil them of a fine light brown. Let your fauce be plainbutter.

To broil weavers:

Gut them, and wash them clean, dry them in a clean cloth, pour them, then broil them, and have melted butter in a cup. They are fine fish, and cut as firm as a foal; but you must take care not to hurt yourself with the two sharp bones in the head.

To boil a turbot.

LAY it in a good deal of falt and water an hour or two; and if it is not quite fweet, fhift your water five or fix times; first put a good deal of falt in the mouth and belly.

but take great care it is not too much done; when enough, take off the fifh kettle, fet it before the fire, then carefully lift up the fifh plate, and fet it acrofs the kettle to drain : in the mean time, melt a good deal of fresh butter, and bruise in either the body of one or two lobiters, and the meat cut small, then give it a boil, and pour it into basons. This is the best fauce; but you may make what you please. Lay the fifh in the dish. Garnish with scraped horse-raddish and lemon, and pour a few spoonfuls of fauce over it.

To bake a turbot.

TAKE a difh the fize of your turbot, rub butter all over it thick, throw a little falt, a little beaten pepper, and half a large nutmeg, fome parfley minced fine, and throw all over, pour in a pint of white wine, cut off the head and tail, lay the turbot in the difh, pour another pint of white wine all over, grate the other half of the nutmeg over it, and a little pepper, fome falt and chopped parsley. Lay a piece of butter here and there all over, and throw a little flour all over, and then a good many crumbs of bread. Bake it, and be fure that it is of a fine brown, then lay it in your difly, flir the fauce in your difh all together, pour it into a fauce pan, shake in a little flour, let it boil, then ftir in a piece of butter and two spoonfuls of catchup, let it. boil and pour it into bafons. Garnifh your difh with lemon; and you may add what you fancy to the fauce, as flirimps, anchovics, mushrooms, &c. If a fmall turbot, half the wine will do. It eats finely thus. Lay it in a difh, fkim off all the fat, and pour the reft over it. Let it fland till cold, and it is good with vinegar, and a fine difh to fet out a cold table.

To drefs a jole of pickled falmon.

THE best of this fort of fish are taken in the river Severn; and, when they are in feason, the fifhmongers and others in London have them from Gloucetter. But if you are where they are to be had fresh, you may drefs them as you pleafe.

To fry lampreys.

BLEED them and fave the blood, then walk them in hot water to take off the flime, and cut them into pieces. Fry them in a little fresh butter not quite enough, pour out the fat, put in a little white wine, give the pan a shake round, season it with whole pepper, nutmeg, falt, fweet herbs, and a bay leaf, put in a few capers, a good piece of butter rolled up in flour, and the

the blood; give the pan a fhake round often, and cover them close. When you think they are enough, take them out, firain the fauce, then give them a boil quick, iqueeze in a little lemon and pour over the fifh. Garnish with lemon, and drefs them just what way you fancy.

To pitchcock eels.

You mult fplit a large eel down the back, and joint the bones, cut it in two or three pieces, melt a little butter, put in a little vinegar and falt, let your eel lie in two or three minutes; then take the pieces up one by one, turn them round with a little fine skewer, roll them in crumbs of bread, and broil them of a fine brown. Let your faude be plain butter, with the juice of lemon.

To fry cels.

MAKE them very clean, cut them into pieces, feafon them with pepper and falt, flour them and fry them in butter. Let your fauce be plain butter melted, with the juice of lemon. Be fure they be well drained from the fat before you lay them in the difh.

To broil eels.

TAKE a large eel, fkin it and make it very clean. Open the belly, cut it in four pieces, take the tail end, ftrip. off the flefh, beat it in a mortar, feason it with a little beaten mace, a little grated nutmeg, pepper, and falt, a little parfley and thyme, a little lemon-peel, an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, roll it in a little piece of butter; then mix it again with the yolk of an egg, roll it up again, and fill the three pieces of belly with it. Cut the fkin of the eel, wrap the pieces in, and few up the fkin. Broil them well, have butter and an anchovy for fauce, with the juice of lemon.

To farce eels with white fauce.

Skin and clean your eel well, pick off all the flesh clean from the bone, which you must leave whole to the head. Take the flefh, cut it small and beat it in a mortar; then take half the quantity of crumbs of. bread, bread, beat it with the fifh, feafon it with nutmeg and beaten pepper, an anchovy, a good deal of parfley chopped fine, a few truffles boiled tender in a very little water, chop them fine, put them into the mortar with the liquor and a few mufhrooms; beat it well together, mix in a little cream, then take it out and mix it well together with your hand, lay it round the bone in the fhape of the cel, lay it on a buttered pan, drudge it well with fine crumbs of bread, and bake it. When it is done, lay it carefully in your difh, have ready half a pint of cream, a quarter of a pound of fresh butter, fir it one way till it is thick, pour it over your ecis, and garnifh with lemon.

To drefs eels with brown fauce.

SKIN and clean a large ecl very well, cut it in pieces, put it into a fauce-pan or flew-pan, put to it a quarter of a pint of water, a bundle of fweet herbs, an onion, fome whole pepper, a blade of mace, and a little falt. Cover it clofe, and when it begins to fimmer, put in a gul of red wine, a fpoonful of muthroom-piekle, a piece of butter as big as a walnut rolled in flour; cover it clofe, and let it flew till it is enough, which you will know by the ecl being very tender. Take up your eel; lay it in a dith, flrain your fauce, give it a boil quick, and pour it over your filh. You mult make fauce according to the largenels of your eel, more or lefs. Garnifh with lemon.

To roaft a piece of fresh sturgeon.

GET a piece of fresh slurgeon of about eight of ten pounds, let it lie in water and falt fix or eight hours, with its scales on; then fasten it on the spit, and bast it well with butter for a quarter of an hour, then with a little flour, then grate a nutmeg all over it, a little mace and pepper beaten fine, and fast thrown over it, and a few fweet herbs dried and powdered fine, and then crumbs of bread; then keep basting a little, and zirudging with crumbs of bread, and what falls From it till it is enough. In the mean time, prepare his fauce: take a pint of water, an anchovy, a little wiece of lemon-peel, an onion, a bundle of fweet S 2 herbs, mace, cloves, whole pepper, black and white, a little piece of horfe-raddifh; cover it clofe, let it boil a quarter of an hour, then ftrain it, put it into the faucepan again, pour in a pint of white wine, about a dozen oyfters and the liquor, two fpoonfuls of catchup, twoof walnut pickle, the infide of a crab bruifed fine, or lobfter, fhrimps or prawns, a good piece of butter rolled in flour, a fpoonful of mufirrom-pickle, or juice of lemon. Boil it all together; when your fifh is enough; lay it in your difh, and pour the fauce over it. Garnifh with fried toaths and lemon.

To roaf a fillet or collar of Aurgeon.

TAKE a piece of fresh sturgeon, scale it, gut it, takeout the bones, and cut in lengths about feven or eight inches; then provide fome farimps and oyfters chopped. finall, an equal quantity of crumbs of bread, and a little lemon-peel grated, fome nutmeg, a little beatenmace, a little pepper and chopped parfley, a few fiveet herbs, an anchovy, mix it together. When it is done, butter one fide of your fith, and ftrew fome of your mixture upon it; then begin to roll it up as clofe aspofible, and when the first piece is rolled up, roll upon that another, prepared in the fame manner, and bind it round with a narrow fillet, leaving as much of the filh apparent as may be; but you muft mind that the roll must not be above four inches and a half thick. or elfe one part will be donc besore the infide is warm : therefore we often parboil the infide roll before we roll it. When it is enough, lay it in your difh, and prepare fauce as above. Garnish with lemon.

To boil flurgeon.

CLEAN your flurgeon, and prepare as much liquor as will juft boil it. To two quarts of water, a pint of vinegar, a flick of horfe-radd.th, two or three bits of lemon-peel, fome whole pepper, a bay leaf, add a finallhandful of falt. Boil your fifth in this, and ferve it with the following fauce: melt a pound of butter, diffolve an anchovy in it, put in a bladz or two of mace, bruife the body of a crab in the butter, a few thrimps. or craw-fifth, a little catchup, a little lemon-juice; body, mix it fine with a fpoon in a little white wine: for example, a fmall lobfter, one fpoonful of wine, put it into a fauce-pan with the meat of the lobfter, four fpoonfuls of white wine, a blade of mace, a little beaten pepper and falt. Let it flew all together a fcw minutes, then flir in a piece of butter, fhake your faucepan round till your butter is melted, put in a fpoonful of vinegar, and firew in as many crumbs of bread as will make it thick enough. When it is hot, pour it into your plate, and garnifh with the chine of a lobfler cut in four, peppered, falted, and broiled. This makes a pretty plate, or a fine difh, with two or three lobiters. You may add one tea fpoonful of fine fugar to your fauce.

To rouft lobflers.

Boil your loblers, then lay them before the fire, and bafte them with butter, till they have a fine froth. Difh them up with plain melted butter in a cop. This is as good a way to the full as roafling them, and not half the trouble.

To make a fine difh of lelflers.

TAKE three lobiters, boil the largeft as above, and froth it before the fire. Take the other two boiled, and butter them as in the foregoing receipt. Take the two body-fhells, heat them hot, and fill them with the buttered meat. Lay the large lobiter in the middle, and the two fhells on each fide; and the two great claws of the middle lobiter at each end; and the four pieces of chines of the two lobiters broiled, and laid on each end. This, if nicely done, makes a pretty difh.

To drefs a crab.

HAVING taken out the meat, and cleanfed it fromthe skin; put it into a sew-pan, with half a pint of white wine, a little nutmeg, pepper, and falt over a flow sire. Throw in a few crumos of bread; beat up one yolk of an egg with one sponful of vinegar, throw it in, then shake the fauce-pan round a minute, and farve it up on a plate.

THE ART OF COOKERY.

To flew prawns, sprimps, or craw-fifb.

PICK out the tails, lay them by, about two quarts, take the bodies, give them a bruife, and put them into a pint of white wine, with a blade of mace. Let them flew a quarter of an hour, flir them together, and flrain them; then wash out the fauce-pan, put to it the flrained liquor and tails: grate a small nutmeg in, add a little falt, and a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in flour: shake it all together, cut a pretty thin toass round a quarter of a peck-loas, toass it boom on both fides, cut into fix pieces, lay it close together in the bottom of your diss, and pour your fish and fauce over it. Send it to table hot. If it be craw-fish, or prawns, garnish your dish with fome of the biggest claws laid thick round. Water will do in the room of wine, only add a spoonful of vinegar.

To make scollops of oysters.

Pur your oysters into scollop shells for that purpole, fet them on your gridiron over a good clear fire, let them flew till you think your oysters are enough, then have ready fome erumbs of bread rubbed in a clean napkia, fill your shells, and fet them before a good fire, and baste them well with butter. Let them be of a fine brown, keep them turning, to be brown all over alike; but a tin oven does them best before the fire. They cat much the best done this way, though nost people stew the oysters first in a fauce-pan, with a blade of mace, thickened with a piece of butter, and fill the shells, and then cover them with crumbs and brown them with a bot iron; but the bread has not the fine taste of the former.

To flew muscles.

WASH them very clean from the fand in two or three waters, put them into a flew-pan, cover them clofe, and let them flew till all the fhells are opened; then take them out one by one, pick them out of the fhells, and look under the tongue to fee if there be a crab; if there is, you must throw away the muscles; fome will only pick out the crab, and eat the muscle. When you you have picked them all clean, put them into a faucepan; to a quart of mufcles put half a pint of the liquor firained through a fieve, put in a blade or two of mace, a piece of butter as big as a large walnut rolled in flour; let them flew, toaft fome bread brown, and lay them round the difh, cut three-corner ways; pour in the mufcles, and fend them to table hot.

Another way to flew muscles.

CLEAN and flew your mufcles as in the foregoing receipt, only to a quart of mufcles put 'in a pint of liquor, and a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in a very little flour. When they are enough, have fome crumbs of bread ready, and cover the bottom of your dish thick, grate half a nutmeg over them, and pour the mufcles and fauce all over the crumbs, and fend them to table.

A third way to drefs mufcles.

STEW them as above, and lay them in your difh; ftrew your crumbs of bread thick all over them, then fet them before a good fire, turning the difh round and round, that they may be brown all alike. Keep bafting them with butter, that the crumbs may be crifp, and it will make a pretty fide-difh. You may do cockles the fame way.

To stew collops.

Boil them very well in falt and water, take them out and flew them in a little of the liquor, a little white wine, a little vinegar, two or three blades of mace, two or three cloves, a piece of butter rolled in flour, and the juice of a Seville orange. Stew them well, and dift them up.

To ragoo oysters.

TAKE a quart of the largest oysters you can get, open them, fave the liquor, and strain it through a fine fieve; wash your oysters in warm water; make a batter thus: Take two yolks of eggs, beat them well, grate in half a nutmeg, cut a little lemoh-peel small, a good deal of parsley, a spoonful of the juice of spinage, nage, two fpoonfuls of cream or milk, beat it up with flour to a thick batter, have ready fome butter in a ftew-pan, dip your oysters one by one into the batter, and have ready crumbs of bread, then roll them in it, and fry them quick and brown; fome with the crumbs of bread, and some without. Take them out of the pan, and fet them before the fire, then have ready a quart of chefnuts shelled and skinned, fry them in the butter; when they are enough take them up, pour the fat out of the pan, shake a little flour all over the pan. and rub a piece of butter as big as a hen's egg all over the pan with your fpoon, till it is melted and thick; then put in the cyfter liquor, three or four blades of mace, ftir it round, put in a few pistacho nuts shelled. let them boil, then put in the chefnuts, and half a pint of white wine, have ready the yolks of two eggs beat up with four spoonfuls of cream ; flir all well together, when it is thick and fine, lay the oysters in the dish, and your the ragoo over them. Garnish with chefnuts and lemon.

You may ragoo muscles the fame way. You may leave out the piftacho nuts, if you don't like them; but they give the fauce a fine flavour.

To ragoo endive.

TARE fome fine white endive, three heads, lay them in falt and water two or three hours, take a hundred of afparagus, cut off the green heads, chop the reft as far as is tender fmall, lay it in falt and water, take a bunch of celery, wash it and scrape it clean, cut it in pieces about three inches long, put it into a faucepan, with a pint of water, three or four blades of mace, fome whole pepper tied in a rag, let it flew till it is quite tender; then put in the asparagus, shake the fauce-pan, let it fimmer till the grafs is enough. Take the endive out of the water, drain it, leave one large head whole, the other pick leaf by leaf, put it into a flew-pan, put to it a pint of white wine ; cover the pan close, let it boil till the endive is just enough, then put in a quarter of a pound of butter rolled in flour, cover it close, shaking the pan when the endive is enough. Take it up, lay the whole head in the middle," and and with a fpoon take out the celery and grafs and lay round, the other part of the endive over that: then pour the liquor out of the fauce-pan into the flew pan, flir it together, feafon it with fait, and have ready the yolks of two eggs, beat up with a quarter of a pint of cream, and half a nutmeg grated in. Mix this with the fauce, keep it flirring all one way till it is thick; then pour it over your ragoo, and fend it to table hot.

To ragoo French beans.

TAKE a few beans, boil them tender, then take your flew-pan, put in a piece of butter, when it is melted fhake in fome flour, and peel a large onion, flice it and fry it brown in that butter; then put in the beans, flake in a little pepper and a little falt, grate a little nutineg in, have ready the yolk of an egg and fome cream; flir them all together for a minute or two, and dith them up.

To make good brown gravy.

TAKE half a pint of fmall beer, or ale that is not bitter, and half a pint of water, an onion cut fmall, a little bit of lemon-peel cut fmall, three cloves, a blade of mace, fome whole pepper, a fpoonful of mufhroompickle, a fpoonful of walnut pickle, a fpoonful of catchup and an anchovy; first put a piece of butter into a fauce-pan, as big as a hen's egg; when it is melted fhake in a little flour, and let it be a little brown; then by degrees ftir in the above ingredients, and let it boil a quarter of an hour, then flrain it, and it is fit for fifth or roots.

To fricafey skirrets.

WASH the roots very well, and boil them till they are tender; then the fkin of the roots must be taken off, cut in flices, and have ready a little cream, a piece of butter rolled in flour, the yolk of an egg beat, a little nutmeg grated, two or three fpoonfuls of white wine, a very little falt, and fkir all together. Your roots being in the difh, pour the fauce over them. It is a pretty fide difh. So likewife you may drefs root of falfify, and fcorzonera.

WASH and pare fome potatoes, and cut them in flices, peel fome onions, cut them in flices, pare fome apples, and flice them, make a good cruft, cover your difh, lay a quarter of a pound of butter all over, take a quarter of an ounce of mace beat fine, a nutmeg grated, a tea-fpoonful of beaten pepper, three tea-ipoonfuls of fait, mix all together, itrew fome over the butter, lay a layer of potatoes, a layer of onion, a layer of of apples, and a layer of eggs, and fo on till you have filled your pie, firewing a little of the feafoning between each layer, and a quarter of a pound of butter in bits, and fix fpoonfuls of water. Clofe your pie, and bake it an hour and a half. A pound of potatoes, a pound of onions, a pound of apples, and twelve eggs will do.

To make an orangeado pie.

MARE a good cruft, lay it over your difh, take two oranges, boil them with two lemons, till tender, in four or five quarts of water. In the laft water, which there must be about a pint of, add a pound of loaf fugar, boil it, take them out and flice them into your pie; then pare twelve pippins, core them and give them one boil in the fyrup; lay them all over the orange and lemon, pour in the fyrup, and pour on them fome orafigeado fyrup. Cover your pie, and bake it in a flow oven half an hour.

To make a skirret pic.

TAKE your fkirrets and boil them tender, peel them, flice them, fill your pie, and take to half a pint of cream the yolk of an egg, beat fine with a little nutmeg, a little beaten mace and a little fait; beat all together well, with a quarter of a pound of fresh butter melted, then pour in as much as your difh will hold, put on the top-crust, and bake it half an hour. You may put in fome hard yolks of eggs; if you cannot gee cream, put in milk, but cream is best. About two pounds of the root will do.

To make an apple pic.

MAKE a good puff-pafte cruit, lay fome round the fides of the difh, pare and quarter your apples, and take out the cores, lay a round of apples thick, throw in half the fugar you defign for your pie, mince a little lemon-peel fine, throw over and fqueeze a little lemon over them, then a few cloves, here and there one, then the reft of your apples, and the reft of your fugar. You must fweeten to your palate, and fqueeze, a little more lemon. Boil the peeling of the apples and the cores in fome fair water, with a blade of mace, till it is very good; (Irain it, and boil'the fyrup with a little fugar till there is but very little and good, pour it into your pie, put on your upper cruft, and bake it. You may put in a little quince or marmalade, if you pleafe.

Thus make a pear pie, but don't put in any quince. You may butter them when they come out of the oven; or beat up the yolks of two eggs and half a pint of cream, with a little nutmeg, iwestened with fugar, take off the lid, and pour in the cream. Cut the cruft in little three-corner pieces, flick about the pie, and fend. it to table.

To make a cherry pie.

MARE a good cruft, lay a little round the fides of your difth, throw 'ugar at the bottom, and lay in your fruit and fugar at top. A few red currants does well with them; put on your lid, and bake in a flack oven.

Make a rlumb pie the fame way, and a goofeberry pie. If you would have it red, let it ftand a goodwhile in the oven, after the bread is drawn. A cultarda is very good with the goofeberry pie.

To make a falt fish pie.

GET, a fide of a falt-fifh, lay it in water all night, nextmorning put it over the five in a pan of water till it is tender, drain it, and lay it on the dreffer, take off all the fkin, and pick the meat clean from the bones, mince it finall, then take the crumb of two French rolls, cut in flices, and boil it up with a quart of new milk, break . your bread very fine with a fpoon, put to it your minced falt fifth, a pound of melted butter, two fpoonfuls of minced parfley, half a nutmeg grated, a little beaten pepper, and three tea-fpoonfuls of multard, mix all well together, make a good cruft, and lay all over your dith, and cover it up. Bake it an hour.

To make a carp pie.

TAKE a large carp, fcale, walh, and gut it clean; take an eel, boil it just a little tender, pick off all the meat, and mince it fine, with an equal quantity of crumbs erumbs of bread, a few fweet herbs, a lemon-peel cut fine, a little pepper, falt, and grated nutmeg, an anchovy, half a pint of oysters parboiled and chopped fine, the yolks of three hard eggs cut fmall, roll it up with a quarter of a pound of butter, and dil the belly of the carp. Make a good cruft, cover the difh, and lay in your carp; fave the liquor you boil your eel in, put in the cel bones, boil them with a little mace, whole pepper, an onion, fome fweet herbs, and an anchovy. Boil it till there is about half a pint, strain it, add to it a quarter of a pint of white wine, and a lump of butter mixed in a very little flour; boil it up, and pour into your pie. Put on the lid, and bake it an hour in a quick oven. If there be any force-meat left after filling the belly, make balls of it, and put into the pie. If you have not liquor enough, boil a few finall eels, to make enough to fill your dish.

To make a foal pie.

MAKE a good cruft, cover your difh, boil two pounds of eels tender, pick all the flesh clean from the bones : throw the bones into the liquor you boil the eels in, with a little mace and falt, till it is very good, and about a quarter of a pint, then strain it. In the mean time, cut the flesh of your cel fine, with a little lemonpeel fired fine, a little falt, pepper and nutmeg, a few crumbs of bread, chopped parfley, and an anchovy ; melt a quarter of a pound of butter, and mix with it, then lay it in the dish, cut the flesh of a pair of large foals, or three pair of very fmall ones, clean from the bones and fins, lay it on the force-meat, and pour in the broth of the eels you boiled; put the lid of the pie on, and bake it. You fhould boil the bones of the foals with the eel bones, to make it good. If you boil. the foal bones with one or two little eels, without the force-meat, your pie will be very good, and thus you. may do a turbot.

To make an eel pie.

MAKE a good cruft, clean, gut, and wash your cels very well, then cut them in pieces half as long as your finger; feafon them with pepper, falt, and a little beaten beaten mace to your palate, either high or low. Fill your difh with eels, and put as much water as the difh will hold; put on your cover, and bake them well.

To make a flounder pie.

GET fome flounders, wash them clean, dry them in a cloth, just boil them, cut off the meat clean from the bones, lay a good crust over your dish, and lay a little fresh butter at the bottom, and on that the fish; feason them with pepper and falt to your mind. Boil the bones in the water your fish was boiled in, with a little bit of horse raddish, a little parsley, a very little bit of lemon-peel, and a crust of bread. Boil it till there is just enough of liquor for the pie, then strain it, and put it into your pie; put on the top-crust, and bake-it.

To make a herring pie.

SCALE, gut, and wash them very clean, cut off the heads, fins, and tails. Make a good cruft, cover your dish, then feason your herrings with beaten mace, pepper, and falt; put a little butter in the bottom of your dish, then a row of herrings, pare some apples, and cut them in thin flices all over, then peel some onions, and cut them in flices all over thick, lay a little butter on the top, put in a little water, lay on the lid, and bake it well.

To make a falmon pie.

MAKE a good cruft, cleanfe a piece of falmon well, feafon it with falt, mace, and nutmeg, lay a little piece of Butter at the bottom of the difh, and lay your falmon in. Melt butter according to your pie; take a lobfier, boil it, pick out all the flefh, chop it fmall, bruife the body, mix it well with the butter, which mult be very good; pour it over your falmon, put on the lid, and bake it well.

To make a lobfler pie.

MARE a good cruft, boil two lobflers, take out the tails, cut them in two, take out the gut, cut each tail in four pieces, and lay them in the difh. Take the bodies, bruise them well with the claws, and pick out all the reft of the meat ; chop it all together, feafon it with pepper, falt, and two or three fpoonfuls of vinegar, melt half a pound of butter, flir all together, with the crumb of a halfpenny roll rubbed in a clean cloth fmall, lay it over the tails, put on your cover, and bake it in a flow oven.

To make a muffel pie.

MARE a good cruft, lay it all over the difh, wafh your muffels clean in feveral waters, then put them in a deep flew-pan, cover them, and let them flew till they are all open, pick them out, and fee there be no crabs under the tongue; put them in a fauce-pan, with two or three blades of mace, firain the liquor juft enough to cover them, a good piece of butter, and a few crumbs of bread; flew them a few minutes, fill your pie, put on the lid, and bake it half an hour. So you may make an oyfter pie.

To make Lent mince pies.

Six eggs boiled hard and chopped fine, twelve pippins pared and chopped fmall, a pound of raifins of the fun floned and chopped fine, a pound of currants wafted, picked, and rubbed clean, a large fpoonful of fine fugar beat fine, an ounce of citron, an ounce of candied orange, both cut fine, a quarter of an ounce of mace and cloves beat fine, and a large nutmeg beat fine; mix all together with a gill of brandy, and a gill of fack. Make your cruft good, and bake it in a flack oven. When you make your pie, fqueeze in the juice of a Seville orange, and a glafs of red wine.

To collar falmoss.

TAKE a fide of falmon, cut off about a handful of the tail, wafh your large piece very well, dry it with a clean cloth, wafh it over with the yolks of eggs, and then make force-meat with what you cut off the tail; but take off the fkin, and put to it a handful of parboiled oyfters, a tail or two of lobfters, the yolks of three or four eggs boiled hard, fix anchories, a handful of fweet herbs chopped fmall, a little falt, cloves, mace, nuaneg, pepper beat fine, and grated bread. Work

Work all thefe together into a body, with the yolks of eggs, lay it all over the flefhy part, and a little more pepper and falt over the falmon; fo roll it up into a collar, and bind it with broad tape, then boil it in water, falt, and vinegar : but let the liquor boil first, then put in your collars, a bunch of fweet herbs, fliced ginger, and nutmeg; let it boil, but not too fast. It will take near two hours boiling. When it is enough, take it up into your fousing-pan, and when the pickle is cold, put it to your falmon, and let it stand in it till ufed, or otherwise you may pot it. Fill it up with clarified butter, as you pot fowls; that way will keep longest.

To collar eels.

TAKE your eel aid ent it open, take out the bones, cut off the head and tail, lay the eel flat on the dreffer, and fhred fome fage as fine as poffible, and mix with it black pepper heat, grated nutmeg and falt, lay it all over the eel, roll it up hard in little cloths; and tie both ends tight; then fet over the fire fome water, with pepper and falt, five or fix cloves; three or four blades of mace, a bay leaf or two. Boilt, bones, head, and tail well together; then takefut your heads and tails, put in your eels, and let them boil till they are tender; then take them out, and boil the liquor longer, till you think there is enough to cover them. Take it off, and when cold pour it over the eels, and cover it clofe. Don't take off the cloths till you ufe them.

To pickle or bake herrings.

SCALE and wash them clean, cut off the heads, take out the rocs, or wash them clean, and put them in again, just as you like. Season them with a little maceand cloves beat, a very fittle beaten pepper and falt, lay them in a deep pan, lay two or three bay leaves between each lay, then put in half vinegar and half water, or rape vinegar. Cover it close with a brown paper, and fend it to the oven to bake; let it ftand till cold, then pour off that pickle, and put fresh vinegar and water, and fend them to the oven again to bake. Thus

MADE PLAIN AND EASY. 263

Thus do fprats; but don't bake them the fecond time. Some use only all-fpice, but that is not fo good.

To pickle or bake mackrel, to keep all the year.

Gur them, cut off their beads, cut them open, dry, them very well with a clean cloth, take a pan which they will lie cleverly in, lay a few bay leaves at the bottom, rub the bone with a little bay-falt beat fine, take a little beaten mace, a few cloves beat fine, black and white pepper beat fine; mix a little falt, rub them infide and out with the fpice, lay them in a pan, and between every lay of the mackrel, put a few bay-leaves; then cover them with vinegar, tie them down clofe with brown paper, put them into a flow oven, they will take a good while doing : when they are enough, uncover them, let them fland till cold : then pour away all that vinegar, and put as much good vinegar as will cover them, and put in an onion fluck with cloves. Send them to the oven again, let them fland two hours in a very flow oven, and they will keep all the year; but you must not put in your hands to take out the mackrel, if you can avoid it, but take a flice to take them out with. The great bones of the mackrel taken out and broiled, is a pretty little plate to fill up the corner of a table.

To foufe mackrel.

You must wash them clean, gut them, and boil them in falt and water till they are enough; take them out, lay them in a clean pan, cover them with the liquor, add a little vinegar; and when you fend them to table, lay fennel over them.

To pot a lobster.

TAKE a live lobiler, boil it in falt and water, and peg it that no water gets in ; when it is cold, pick out all the flefh and body, take out the gut, beat it fine in a mortar, and feafon it with beaten mace, grated nutmeg, pepper, and falt. Mix all together, melt a little piece of butter as big as a large walnut, and mix it with the lobiler as you are beating it; when it is beat to a pafle, put put it into your potting-pot, and put it down as clofe and hard as you can; then fet fome frefh butter in a deep broad pan before the fire, and when it is all melted, take off the feum at the top, if any, and pour the clear butter over the meat as thick as a crown-piece. The whey and churn milk will fettle at the bottom of the pan; but take great care none of that goes in, and always let your butter be very good, or you will fpoil all; or only put the meat whole, with the body mixed among it, laying them as clofe together as you can, and pour the butter over them. You muft be fure to let the lobfter be well boiled. A middling one will take half an hour boiling.

To pot eels.

TARE a large cel, skin it, cleanse it, and wash it very clean, dry it in a cloth, and cut it into pieces as' long as your finger, feason them with a little beaten mace and nutmeg, pepper, falt, and a little fal-prunella beat fine; lay them in a pan, then pour as much good butter over them as will cover them, and clarified as above. They must be baked half an hour in a quick oven, if a flow oven longer, till they are enough, but that you must judge by the largeness of the eels. With a fork take them out, and lay them on a coarfe cloth to drain. When they are quite cold, feason them again with the fame feafoning, lay them in the pot close; then take off the butter they were baked in clear from the gravy of the fish, and set in a dish before the fire. When it is melted, pour the clear butter over the eels, and let them be covered with the butter.

In the fame manner you may pot what you pleafe. You may bone your eels if you chufe, but then don't put in any fal-prunella.

To pot lampreys.

SKIN them, cleanfe them with falt, and then wipe them dry; beat fome black pepper, mace, and cloves, mix them with falt, and feafon them. Lay them in a pan, and cover them with clarified butter. Bake them an hour; order them as the orls, only let them be feafoned, foned, and one will be enough for a pot. You must feafon them well, let your butter be good, and they will keep a long time.

To pot charrs.

AFTER having cleansed them, cut off the fins, tails, and heads, then lay them in rows in a long baking-pan; cover them with butter, and order them as above.

To pot a pike.

You must feale it, cut off the head, fplit it, and take out the chine-bone, then strew all over the inside fome bay falt and pepper, roll it up round, and lay it in a pot. Cover it, and bake it an hour. Then take it out, and lay it on a coarse cloth to drain; when it is cold, put it into your pot, and cover it with clarified butter.

" To pet falmon.

TAKE a piece of fresh falmon, scale it, and wipe it clean, (let your piece or pieces be as big as will lie cleverly on your pot,) scalon it with Jamaica-pepper, black pepper, mace, and cloves beat fine, mixed with falt, a little fal-prunella, beat fine, and rub the bone with. Season with a little of the spice, pour clarified butter over it, and bake it well. Then take it out carefully, and lay it to drain; when cold, feason it well, lay it in your pot close, and cover it with clarified butter, as above.

Thus you may do crap, tench, trout, and feveral forts of filh.

Another way to pot falmon.

SCALE and clean your falmon down the back, dry it well, and cut it as near the fhape of your pot as you can. Take two nutmegs, an ounce of mace and cloves beaten, half an ounce of white pepper, and an ounce of falt; then take out all the bones, cut off the jole below the fins, and cut off the tail. Seafon the fcaly fide first, lay that at the bottom of the pot; then rub the feasoning on the other fide, cover it with a difh, Z and and let it fland all night. It must be put double, and the fealy fide, top and bottom; put butter bottom and top, and cover the pot with fome fliff coarfe passe. Three hours will bake it, if a large fish; if a fmall one, two hours; and when it comes out of the oven, let it fland half an hour; then uncover it, and raife it up at one end, that the gravy may run out, then put a trencher and a weight on it to prefs out the gravy. When the butter is cold, take it out clear from the gravy, add fome more to it, and put it in a pan before the fire; when it is melted, pour it over the falmon; and when it is cold, paper it up. As to the feasoning of thefe things, it must be according to your palate, more or lefs.

N. B. Always take great care that no gravy or whey of the butter is left in the potting; if there is, it will not keep.

CHAP.X.

DIRECTIONS for the SICK.

I Don't pretend to meddle here in the phyfical way; but a few directions for the cook, or nuile, I prefume, will not be improper to make fuch diet, &c. as the doctor shall order.

To make mutton broth.

TAKE a pound of a loin of mutton, take off the fat, put to it one quart of water, let it boil and fkim it well; then put in a good piece of upper-cruft of bread, and one large blade of mace. Cover it clofe, and let it boil flowly an hour; don't flir it, but pour the broth clear off. Seafon it with a little falt, and the mutton will be fit to eat. If you boil turnips, don't boil them in the broth, but by themfelves in another fauce-pan.

To boil a fcraig of veal.

SET on the fcraig in a clean fauce-pan; to each pound of veal put a quart of water, ikim it very clean, then put in a good piece of upper cruft, a blade of mace to each pound, and a little parfley tied with a thread. Cover it clofe ; then let it boil very foftly two hours, and both broth and meat will be fit to eat.

To make beef or mutton broth for very weak people, who take but little nouriforment.

TAKE a pound of beef or mutton, or broth together :to a pound put two quarts of water ; first skim the meat, and take off all the fat; then cut it into little pieces, and boil it till it comes to a quarter of a pint. Seafon it with a very little corn of falt, fkim off all the fat, and give a spoonful of this broth at a time. To very weak people half a spoonful is enough, to some a tea-spoonful at a time, and to others a tea cupful. There is greater nousifhment from this than any thing elfe.

To make beef drink, which is ordered for weak people.

TAKE a pound of lean beef; then take off all the fat and skin, cut it into pieces, put it into a gallon of water, with the under cruft of a penny loaf, and a very little falt. Let it boil till it comes to two quarts, then strain it off, and it is a very hearty drink.

To make pork broth.

TAKE two pounds of young pork ; then take off the fkia and fat, boil it in a gallon of water, with a turnip and a very little corn of falt. Let it boil till it comes to two quarts, then strain it off, and let it stand till Take off the fat, then leave the fettling at the cold. bottom of the pan, and drink half a pint in the morning falling, an hour before breakfalt, and at noon, if the ftomach will bear it.

To boil a chicken.

LET your fauce-pan be very clean and nice; when the water boils, put in your chicken, which must be Ζ2 very nicely picked and clean, and laid in cold water a quarter of an hour before it is boiled ; then take it out of the water boiling, and lay it in a pewter difh. Save all the liquor that runs from it in the difh, cut up your chicken all in joints in the difh : then bruife the liver very fine, add a little boiled parfley chopped very fine, a very little falt, and a very little grated nutmeg : mix it all well together with two fpoonfuls of the liquor of the fowl, and pour it into the difh with the reft of the liquor in the difh. If there is not liquor enough, take two or three spoonfuls of the liquor it was boiled in, clap another difh over it; then fet it over a chaffingdith of hot coals five or fix minutes, and carry it to table hot with the cover on. This is better than butter. and lighter for the flomach, though fome chufe it only with the liquor, and no parfley, nor liver, or any thing elfe, and that is according to different palates. If it is for a very weak perfon, take off the fkin of the chicken before you see it on the chaffing-dish. If you roast it, make nothing but bread-fauce, and that is lighter then any sauce you can make for a weak stomach.

Thus you may drefs a rabbit, only bruife but a little piece of the liver.

To boil pigeons.

LET your pigeons be cleaned, washed, drawn, and skinned. Boil them in milk and water ten minutes, and pour over them fauce made thus: take the livers parboiled, and bruise them fine, with as much parfley boiled and chopped fine. Melt some butter, mix a little with the liver and parfley first, then mix all together, and pour over the pigeons.

To boil a partridge, or any other wild fowl.

WHEN your water boils, put in your partridge, let it boil ten minutes, then take it up-into a pewter plate, and cut it in two, laying the infide next the plate, and have ready fome bread fauce made thus: take the crumb of a halfpenny roll, or thereabouts, and boil it in half a pint of water, with a blade of mace. Let it boil two or three minutes, pour away most of the watera ter, then beat it up with a little piece of nice butter, a little falt, and pour it over the partridge. Clap a cover over it; then fet it over a chaffing-difh of coals four or five minutes, and fend it away hot, covered clofe.

Thus you may drefs any fort of wild fowl, only beiling it more or lefs, according to the bignefs. Ducks; take off the fkins before you pour the bread-fauce over them; and, if you roalt them, lay bread fauce underst them. It is lighter than gravy for weak flomachs.

To boil a plaice or flounder:

LET your water boil, throw fome falt in; then prein your fifh, boil it till you think it is enough, and take it out of the water in a flice to drain. Take two fpoonfuls of the liquor, with a little falt, a little grated nutmeg; then beat up the yolk of an egg very well with the liquor, and itir in the egg; beat it well together, with a knife carefully flice away all the little bon. round the fifh, pour the fauce over it; then fet it over a chaffing-difh of coals for a minute, and fend it hot away: or, in the room of this fauce, add melted butter in a cup.

To mince veal or chicken for the fick, or weak people.

MINCE a chicken or fome veal very fine, taking off the fkin : juft boil as much water as will moiften it, and no more, with a very little falt, grate a very little nutmeg ; then throw a little flour over it, and, when the water boils, put in the meat. Keep flaking it about over the fire a minute; then have ready two or three very thin fippets toafted nice and brown, laid in the plate, and pour the mince-meat over it.

To pull a chicken for the ficke

You must take as much cold chicken as you think proper, take off the skin, and pull the meat into stitle bits as thick as a quill; then take the bones, boil them with a little falt till they are good, strain it; then take a spoonful of the liquor, a spoonful of milk, a little but of butter, as big as a large nuture, rolled in shour, a Z_3 integer little chopped parfley as much as will lie on a fixpence; and a little falt, if wanted. This will be enough for half a fmall chicken. Put all together into the faucepan; then keep fhaking it till it is thick, and pour it into a hot plate.

To make chicken broth.

You must take an old cock or large fowl, flay it; then pick off all the fat, and break it all to pieces with a rolling-pin; put it into two quarts of water, with a good cruft of bread, and a blade of mace. Let it boul foftly till it is as good as you would have it. If you do it as it fhould be done, it will take five or fix hours doing; pour it off, then put a quart more of boiling water, and cover it clofe. Let it boil foftly till it is good, and ftrain it off. Seafon with a very little falt. When you boil a chicken, fave the liquor, and, when the meat is eat, take the bones, then break them, and put to the liquor you boiled the chicken in, with a blade of mace, and a cruft of bread. Let it boil till it is good, and ftrain it off.

To make chicken water.

TAKE a cock, or large fowl, flay it, then bruife it with a hammer, and put it into a gallon of water, with a cruft of bread. Let it boil half away, and strain it off.

To make white caudle.

You must take two quarts of water, mix in four fpoonfuls of oatmeal, a blade or two of mace, a piece of lemon peel, let it boil, and keep flirring it often. Let it boil about a quarter of an hour, and take care it does not boil over; then strain it through a coarse neve. When you use it, sweeten it to your palate, grate in a little nutmeg, and what wine is proper; and, if it is not for a fick person, squeeze in the juice of a lemon.

To make brown caudle.

MADE PLAIN AND EASY. 271

bitter; boil it, then fweeten it to your palate, and add half a pint of white wine. When you don't put in white wine, let it be half ale.

To make water gruel.

You must take a pint of water, and a large fpoonful of oatmeal; then flir it together, and let it boil up three or four times, flirring it often. Don't let it boil over, then ftrain it through a fieve, falt it to your palate, put in a good piece of fresh butter, brew it with a fpoon till the butter is all melted, then it will be fine and fmooth, and very good. Some love a little pepper in it.

To make panada.

You must take a quart of water in a nice clean faucepan, a blade of mace, a large piece of crumb of bread; let it boil two minutes, then take out the bread, and bruife it in a bason very fine. Mix as much water as will make it as thick as you would have it; the rest pour away, and sweeten it to your palate. Put in a piece of butter as big as a walnut, don't put in any wine, it spoils it; you may grate in a little nutmeg. This is hearty and good diet for fick people.

To boil fago.

Put a large spoonful of fago into three quarters of a pint of water, flir it, and boil it foftly till it is as thick as you would have it; then put in wine and sugar, with a little nummeg to your palate.

To boil (alup.

It is a hard ftone ground to powder, and generally fold for one fhilling an ounce: take a large tea-fpoonful of the powder, and put it into a pint of boiling water, keep ftirring it till it is like a fine jelly; then put wine and fugar to your palate, and lemon, if it will agree.

To make ifinglafs jelly.

TARE a quart of water, one ounce of isinglas, half an ounce of cloves, boil them to a pint, then strain it upcs upon a pound of loaf fugar, and, when cold, fweeten your tea with it. You may make the jelly as above, and leave out the cloves. Sweeten to your palate, and add a little wine. All other jellies you have in another chapter.

To make the pectoral drink.

TAKE & gallon of water, and half a pound of pearl barley, boil it with a quarter of a pound of figs fplit, a pennyworth of liquorice fliced to pieces, a quarter of a pound of raifins of the fun floned; boil all together till half is wafted, then flrain it off. This is ordered in the meafles, and feveral other diforders, for a drink.

To make buttered water, or what the Germans call eggfoup, who are very fond of it for fupper. You have it in the chapter for Lent:

TAKE a pint of water, beat up the yolk of an egg with the water, put in a piece of butter as big as a fmall walnut, two or three knobs of fugar, and keep firring it all the time it is on the fire. When it begins to boil, bruife it between the fauce-pan and a mug till it is fmooth, and has a great froth; then it is fit to drink. This is ordered in a cold, or where egg will a agree with the flomagh.

To make feed water.

TAKE a fpoonful of coriander feed, half a fpoonful of caraway feed bruifed and boiled in a pint of water; then ftrain it, and bruife it with the yolk of an egg. Mix it with fack and double refined fugar, according to your palate.

To make bread foup for the fick.

TAKE a quart of water, fet it on the fire in a clean fquce-pan, and as much dry cruft of bread cut to pieces as the top of a penny loaf, (the drier the better,) a bit of butter as big as a walnut; let it boil, then beat it with a fpoon, and keep boiling it till the bread and water is well mixed; then feafon it with a very little falt, and it is a pretty thing for a weak ftomach.

To make artificial affes milk.

TAKE two ounces of pearl-barley, two large fpoonfuls of hartfhorn fhavings, one ounce of eringo root, one ounce of China root, one ounce of preferved ginger, eighteen fnails bruifed with the fhells, to be boiled in three quarts of water, till it comes to three pints, then boil a pint of new milk, mix it with the reft, and put in two ounces of balfam of Tolu. Take half a pint in the morning, and half a pint at night.

Cows milk, next to affes milk, done thus :

TAKE a quart of milk, fet it in a pan over night, the next morning take off all the cream, then boil it, and fet it in the pan again till night, then skim it again, boil it, fet it in the pan again, and the next morning skim it, warm it blood-warm, and drink it as you do asses milk. It is very near as good, and with some confumptive people it is better.

To make a good drink.

Boil a quart of milk, and a quart of water, with the top cruit of a penny loaf, and one blade of mace, a quarter of an hour very foftly, then pour it off, and when you drink it let it be warm.

To make barley-water.

Pur a quarter of a pound of pearl-barley into two quarts of water, let it boil, fkim it very clean, boil half away, and ftrain it off. Sweeten to your palate, but not too fweet, and put in two fpoonfuls of white wine. Drink it lukewarm.

To make fage tea.

TAKE a little fage, a little baum, put it into a pan, flice a lemon, peel and all, a few knobs of fugar, one glafs of white wine, pour on thefe two or three quarts of boiling water, cover it, and spink when dry. When you think it flrong enough of the herbs, take them out, otherwife it will make it bitter.

To make it for a child.

A LITTLE fage, baum, rue, mint, and penny-royal, pour boiling water on, fweeten to your palate. Syrup of cloves, &c. and black-cherry water, you have in the chapter of Preferves.

Liquor for a child that has the thrush.

TAKE half a pint of fpring water, a knob of double refined fugar, a very little bit of allum, beat it well together with the yolk of an egg, then beat it in a large fpoonful of the juice of fage, tie a rag to the end of a flick, dip it in this liquor, and often clean the mouth. Give the child over-night one drop of laudanum, and the next day proper physic, washing the mouth often with this liquor.

To boil comfrey roots.

TAKE a pound of comfrey roots, forape them clean, eut them into little pieces, and put them into three pints of water. Let them boil till there is about a pint, then firain it, and, when it is cold, put it into a faucepan. If there is any fettling at the bottom, throw it away; mix it with fugar to your palate, half a pint of mountain wine, and the juice of a lemon. Let it boil, then put it into a clean earthen pot, and fet it by for use. Some boil it in milk, and it is very good where it will agree, and is reckoned a very great ftrengthener.

CHAPXI.

For Captains of Ships.

To make catchup to keep twenty years.

TAKE a gallon of firong stale beer, one pound of anchovies washed from the pickle, a pound of faalots, peeled, half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of cloves, a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper, three or four large races of ginger, two quarts of the large mushroom-flaps rubbed to pieces. Cover all this close, and let it fimmer till it is half wasted, then firain it through a flannel bag; let it fland till it is quite cold, then bottle it. You may carry it to the Indies. A spoonful of this to a pound of fresh butter melted, makes fine fish-fauce, or in the room of gravy fauce. The fironger and staler the beer is, the better the catchup will be.

To make fifth-fauce to keep the whole year.

You must take twenty-four anchovies, chop them, bones and all, put to them ten shallots cut small, a handful of scraped horse-raddish, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quart of white wine, a pint of water, one lemon cut into flices, half a pint of anchovy liquor, a pint of red wine, twelve cloves, twelve pepper corns. Boil them together till it comes to a quart; strain it off, cover it close, and keep it in a cool dry place; two spoonfuls will be fufficient for a pound of butter.

It is a pretty fauce either for boiled fowl, veal, &c. or in the room of gravy, lowering it with hot water, and thickening it with a piece of butter rolled in flour.

To pot dripping to fry fish, meat, or fritters, &c.

TAKE fix pounds of good beef dripping, boil it in foft water, strain it into a pan, let it stand till cold : then take off the hard fat, and fcrape off the gravy which flicks to the infide. Thus do eight times ; when it is cold and hard, take it off clean from the water, But it into a large fauce-pan, with fix bay leaves, twelve cloves, half a pound of falt, and a quarter of a pound of whole pepper. Let the fat be all melted, and just hot, let it stand till it is hot enough to strain through a fieve into the pot, and fland till it is quite cold, then cover it up. Thus you may do what quantity you pleafe. The best way to keep any fort of dripping, is to turn the pot upfide down, and then no rats can get If it will keep on thip-board, it will make as at it. fine puff-paste crust as any butter can do, or crust for puddings, Cc.

To pickle mushrooms for the fea.

WASH them clean, with a piece of flannel, in falt and water, put them into a fauce-pan, and throw a little falt over them. To Pot and Make HANS, Er.

To pot pigeons or foruls.

GUT off their legs, draw them and wipe them with a cloth, but don't wash them. Season them pretty well with pepper and falt, put them into a pot, with as much butter as you think will cover them; when melted, and baked very tender; then drain them very dry from the gravy; lay them on a cloth, and that will fuck up all the gravy; feason them again with falt, mace, cloves, and pepper, beaten fine, and put them down close into a pot. Take the butter, when cold, clear from the gravy, fet it before the fire to melt, and pour over the birds; if you have not enough, clarify some more, and let the butter be near an inch thick above the birds. Thus you may do all forts of fowl; only wild fowl should be boned, but that you may do as you pleafe.

To pot a cold tongue, beef, or venifon.

Cut it fmall, beat it well in a marble mortar, with melted butter, and two anchovies, till the meat is mellow and fine; then put it down clofe in your pots, and cover it with clarified butter. Thus you may do cold wild fowl; or you may pot any fort of cold fowl whole, feafoning them with what fpice you pleafe.

To pot venifon.

TAKE a piece of venifon, fat and lean together, lay it in a difh, and flick pieces of butter all over: tie brown paper over it, and bake it. When it comes out of the oven, take it out of the liquor hot, drain it, and lay it in a difh; when cold, take off all the fkin, and beat it in a marble mortar, fat and lean together, feafon it with mace, cloves, nutmeg, black pepper, and falt to your mind. When the butter is cold that it was baked in, take a little of it, and beat in with it to moiften it; then put it down close, and cover it with clarified butter.

You must be sure to beat it till it is like a paste.

To pot tongues.

TARE a neat's tongue, rub it with a pound of white falt, an ounce of faltpetre, half a pound of coarfe fugar, rub it well, turn it every day in this pickle for a fortnight. This pickle will do feveral tongues, only adding a little more white falt; or we generally do them after our hams. Take the tongue out of the pickle, cut off the root, and boil it well, till it will peel; then take your tongues, and feafon them with falt, pepper, cloves, mace, and nutmeg, all beat fine; rub it well with your hands whilft it is hot ; then put it in a pot, and melt as much butter as will cover it all over. Bake it an hour in the oven, then take it out, let it fland to cool, rub a little fresh spice on it; and, when it is quite cold, lay it in your pickling pot. When the butter is cold you baked it in, take it off clean from the gravy, fet it in an earthen pan before the fire; and, when it is melted, pour it over the tongue. You may lay pigeons or chickens on each fide; be fure to let the butter be about an inch above the tongue.

A fine way to pot a tongue.

TAKE a dried tongue, boil it till it is tender, then peel it ; take a large fowl, bone it ; a goofe, and bone it ; take a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an onnce of cloves, a large nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of black pepper, beat all well together; a fpoonful of falt; rub the infide of the fowl well, and the tongue. Put the tongue into the fowl; then feafon the goofe, and fill the goole with the fowl and tongue, and the geofe will look as if it was whole. Lay it in a pan that will just hold it, melt fresh butter enough to cover it, fend it to the oven, and bake it an hour and a half; then uncover the pot, and take out the meat. Carefully drain it from the butter, lay it in a coarle cloth till it is cold; and, when the butter is cold, take off the hard fat from the gravy, and lay it before the fire to melt, put your meat into the pot again, and pour the butter butter over. If there is not enough, clarify more, and let the butter be an inch above the meat; and this will keep a great while, eats fine, and looks beautiful. When you cut it, it must be cut crofs-ways down through, and looks very pretty. It makes a pretty corner-dift at table, or fide-dift for fupper. If you cut a flice down the middle quite through, lay it in a plate, and garnift with green parfley and aftertion-flowers. If you will be at the expence, bone a turkey, and put over the goofe. Obferve, when you pot it, to fave a little of the fpice to throw over it, before the last butter is put on, or the meat will not be feafoned enough.

To pot beef like venifon.

Cut the lean of a buttock of beef into pound pieces; for eight pounds of beef take four ounces of faltpetre ; four ounces of peter-falt, a pint of white falt, and an ounce of fal-prunella; beat the falts all very fine, mix them well together, rub the falts all into the beef; then let it ly four days, turning it twice a day, then put it into a pan, cover it with pump-water, and a little of its own brine; then bake it in an oven with houfehold bread till it is as tender as a chicken, then drain it from the gravy and bruife it abroad, and take out all the fkin and finews; then pound it in a marble mortar, then lay it in a broad diffy mix in it an ounce of cloves and mace, three quarters of an ounce of pepper, and one nutmeg, all beat very fine. Mix it all very well with the meat, then clarify a little fresh butter and mix with the meat, to make it a little moift; mix it very well together, press it down into pots very hard, set it at she oven's mouth just to fettle, and cover it two inches thick with clarified butter. When cold, cover it with white paper.

To post Chefhire cheefe.

TARE three pounds of Chefhire cheefe, and put it into a mortar, with half a pound of the beft fresh butter you can get, pound them together, and in the beating add a gill of rich Canary wine, and half an ounce of mace finely best, then fifted like a fine powder. When all is extremely well mixed, prefs it hard down B b into into a gallipot, cover it with clarified butter, and keep it cool. A flice of this exceeds all the cream-cheefe that can be made.

To collar a breast of veal, or a pig.

Bone the pig, or veal, then feafon it all over the infide with cloves, mace, and falt beat fine, a handful of fweet herbs flipped off the flaks, and a little pennyroyal and parfley fired very fine, with a little fage; then roll it up as you do brawn, bind it with narrow tape very close, then tie a cloth round it, and boil it. very tender in vinegar and water, a like quantity, with a little cloves, mace, pepper, and falt, all whole. Make it boil, then put in the collars, when boiled tender, take them up; and, when both are cold, take off the cloth, lay the collar in an earthen pan, and pour the liquor over ; cover it close, and keep it for use. If the pickle begins to fpoil, ftrain it through a coarie cloth. boil it, and fkim it; when cold, pour it over. Observe, before you strain the pickle, to wash the collar, wipe it dry, and wipe the pan clean. Strain it again after it . is boiled, and cover it very clofe,

To collar beef.

TAKE a thin piece of flank beef, and flrip the fkin to the end, beat it with a rolling pin, then diffolve a quarter of peter-falt in five quarts of pump-water, flrain it, put the beef in, and let it ly five days, fometions turning its then take a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a good nutmeg, a little mace, a little pepper, beat very fine, and a handful of thyme flripped off the flalks; mix it with the fpice, flrew all over the beef, lay on the fkin again, then roll it up very clofe, the it hard with tape, then put it into a pot, with a pint of claret, and bake it in the oven with the bread.

Another way to feafon a collar of beef.

TAKE the furioin or flank of beef, or any part you think proper, and lay in as much pump-water as will cover it; put to it four ounces of faltpetre, five or fix handfuls of white falt, let it ly in three days, then take it out, and take half an ounce of cloves and mace, one nutmeg,

nutmeg, a quarter of an ounce of coriander-feeds, beat thefe well together, and half an ounce of pepper, firew them upon the infide of the beef, roll it up, and bind it up with coarfe tape. Bake it in the fame pickle; and, when it is baked, take it out, hang it in a net to drain within the air of the fire three days, and put it into a clean cloth, and hang it up again within the air of the fire; for it muft be kept dry as you do neats tongues.

To collar falmon.

TAKE a fide of falmon, cut off about a handful of the tail, wash your large piece very well, and dry it with a cloth; then wath it over with the yolks of eggs, then make fome force-meat with that you cut off the tail, but take care of the skin, and put to it a handful of parboiled oysters, a tail or two of lobster, the yolks of three or four eggs boiled hard, fix anchovies, a good handful of fweet herbs chopped small, a little falt, cloves, mace, nutmeg, pepper, all beat fine, and grated bread. Work all these together into a body, with the volks of eggs, lay it all over the flefhy part, and a little more pepper and falt over the falmon : fo roll it up into a collar, and bind it with broad tape ; then boil it in water, falt, and vinegar, but let the liquor boil firft, then put in your collar, a bunch of fweet herbs, fliced ginger and nutmeg. - Let it boil, but not too faft. It will take near two hours boiling; and, when it is enough, take it up: put it into your fouling-pan, and, when the pickle is cold, put it to your falmon, and let it ftand in it till used : or you may pot it ; after it is boiled, pour clarified butter over it : it will keep longeit fo ; but either way is good. If you put it, be fure the butter be the nicest you can get.

To make Dutch beef.

TAKE the lean of a buttock of beef raw, rub it well with brown fugar all over, and let it ly in a pan or tray two or three hours, turning it two of three times, then falt it well with common falt and faltpetre, and let it ly a fortnight, turning it every day; then roll it very firait in a coarfe cloth, pat it in a cheefe-prefs a B b 2 day day and a night, and hang it to dry in a chimney. When you boil it, you must put it in a cloth, when it is cold, it will cut in flivers as Dutch beef.

To make sham brawn.

BorL two pair of neats feet tender, take a piece of pork of the thick flank, and boil it almost enough, then pick off the flesh of the feet, and roll it up in the pork tight, like a collar of brawn, then take a strong cloth and fome coarfe tape, roll it tight round with the tape, then tie it up in a cloth, and boil it till a straw will ron through it; then take it up, and hang it up in a cloth till it is quite-cold; then put it into fome fousing liquor, and use it at your own pleasure.

To foule a turkey in imitation of flurgeon.

You must take a fine large turkey, drefs it very clean, dry and bone it, then tie it up as you do florgeon, put into the pot you boil it in one quart of white wine, one quart of water, one quart of good vinegar, a very large handful of falt; let it boil, fkim it well, and then put in the turkey. When it is enough, take it out, and tie it tighter. Let the liquor boil a little longer; and, if you think the pickle wants more vinegar or falt, add it when it is cold, and pour it upon the turkey. It will keep fome months, covering it clofe from the air, and keeping it in a dry cool place. Eat it with oil, vinegar, and fugar, just as you like it. Some admire it more than flurgeon; it looks pretty, covered with fennel for a fide-difh.

To pickle pork. .

BONE your pork, cut it into pieces of a fize fit to lie in the tub or pan you defign it to ly in, rub your pieces well with faltpetre, then take two parts of common falt, and two of bay falt, and rub every piece well; lay a layer of common falt in the bottom of your veffel, cover every piece over with common falt, lay them one upon another as clofe as you can, filling the hollow places on the fides with falt. As your falt metts on the top, firew on more, lay a coarfe cloth over the veffel, a board over that, and a weight on the board to keep it down. Keep it clofe covered ; it will, thus ordered, keep the whole year. Put a pound of faltpetre and two pounds of bay falt to a hog.

A pickle for pork which is to be eat form.

You must take two gallons of pump-water, one pound of bay falt, one pound of coarfe fugar, fix ounces of faltpetre; boil it all together, and ikim it when cold. Cut the pork in what pieces you pleafe, lay it down clofe, and pour the liquor over it. Lay a weight on it to keep it clofe, and cover it clofe from the air, and it will be fit to use in a week. If you find the pickle begins to fpoil, boil it again, and skim it; when it is cold, pour it on your pork again.

To make veal hams.

Cur the leg of veal like a ham, then take a pint of bay falt, two ounces of faltpetre, and a pound of common falt; mix them together, with an ounce of juniperberries beat; rub the ham well, and lay it in a hollow tray, with the fkinny fide downwards. Bafte it every day with the pickle for a fortnight, and then hang it in wood-fmoke for a fortnight. You may boil it, or parboil it and roaft it. In this pickle you may do two or three tongues, or a piece of pork.

To make weef hams.

You must take the leg of a fat but small beef, (the fat Scots or Welsh cattle is best) and cut it Ham-fashion. Take an ounce of bay falt, an ounce of faltpetre, a pound of common falt, and a pound of coarfe fugar, (this quantity for about fourteen or fifteen pounds weight, and fo accordingly, if you pickle the whole quarter), rub it well with the above ingredients, turn it every day, and balte it well with the pickle for a month: take it out, and roll it in brawn or faw-duft, then hang it in wood-Imoke, where there is but little fire, and a conftant finoke for a month; then take it down, and hang it in a dry place, not hot, and keep it for use. You may cut a piece off as you have occafion, and either beil it or cut it in rafhers, and broil it with poached eggs, or boil a piece, and it eats fine cold, and will fliver like Bb 3 Dutch

Dutch beef. After this beef is done, you may do a thick brifeuit of beef in the fame pickle. Let it ly a month, rubbing it every day with the pickle, then boil it till it is tender, hang it in a dry place, and it eats finely cold, cut in flices on a plate. It is a pretty thing for a fidedith, or for fupper. A fhoulder of mutton laid in this pickle for a week, hung in wood-fmoke two or three days, and then boiled with cabbage, is very good.

To make mutton hams.

You must take a hind-quarter of mutton, cut it like ham, take one ounce of faitpetre, a pound of coarse fugar, a pound of common fait; mix them, and rub your ham, lay it in a hollow tray with the skin downwards, baste it every day for a fortnight, then roll it in faw-dust, and hang it in the wood-smoke a fortnight; then boil it, and hang it in a dry place, and cut it out in rashers. It does not eat well boiled, but eats finely broiled.

To make pork bams.

You must take a fat hind-quarter of pork, and cut b off a fine ham. Take an ounce of faltpetre, a pound of coarfe fugar, and a pound of common falt; mix all together, and rub it well. Let it ly a month in this pickle, turning and bafting it every day, then hang it in wood-fmoke, as you do beef, in a dry place, fo as no heat comes to it; and, if you keep them long; hang them a month or two in a damp place, fo as they will be mouldy, and it will make them cut fine and fhort. Never lay these hams in water till you boil them, and then boil them in a copper, if you have one, or the biggeft pot you have. Put them in the cold water, and let them be four or five hours before they boil. Skim the pot well and often till it boils. If it is a very large one, two hours will boil it; if a fmall one, an hour and a half will do, provided it be a great while before the water boils. Take it up half an hour before dinner, pull off the fkin, and throw raipings, finely fifted, all over. Hold a red-hot fire shovel over it, and, when dinner is ready, take a few rafpings in a fieve, and fift all over the diffi; then lay in your ham, and with Tour your finger make fine figures round the edge of the difh. Be fure to boil your ham in as much water as you can, and to keep it fkimming all the time till it boils. It must be at least four hours before it boils.

This pickle does finely for tongues, afterwards to ly in it a fortnight, and then hang in the wood-fmoke a fortnight, or to boil them out of the pickle.

Yorkthire is famous for hams; and the reafon is this: their falt is much finer than ours in London, it is a large clear falt, and gives the meat a fine flavour. I used to have it from Malden in Essex, and that falt will make any ham as fine as you can defire. It is by much the best falt for falting of meat. A deep hollow wooden tray is better than a pap, because the pickle swells best about it.

When you broil any of these hams in flices, or bacon, have fome boiling water ready, and let the flices ly a minute or two in the water, then broil them; it takes out the falt, and makes them eat finer.

To make bacon.

TAKE a fide of pork, then take off all the infide fat, lay it on a long board or dreffer, that the blood may run away, rub it well with good falt on both fides, let it ly thus a week; then take a pint of bay falt, a quarter of a pound of faltpetre, beat them fine, two pounds of coarfe fugar, and a quarter of a peck of common falt. Lay your pork in fomething that will hold the pickle, and rub it well with the above ingredients. Lay the fkinny fide downwards, and bafte it every day with the pickle for a fortnight; then hang it in wood-fmoke as you do the beef, and afterwards hang it in a dry place, but not hot. You are to obferve, that all hams and bacon fhould hang clear from every thing, and not againft a wall.

Observe to wipe off all the old fall before you put it into this pickle, and never keep bacon or hams in a hot kitchen, or in a room where the sun comes. It makes them all rufty.

To fave potted birds, that begin to be bad.

I HAVE feen potted birds which have come a great way, often fmell fo bad, that nobody could bear the fmell for the ranknefs of the butter, and by managing them in the following manuer, have made them as good as ever was eat:

Set a large fauce-pan of clean water on the fire; when it boils, take off the butter at the top, then take the fowls out one by one, throw them into that faucepan of water half a minute, whip it out, and dry it in a clean cloth infide and out; fo do all till they are quite done. Seald the pot clean; when the birds are quite cold, feafon them with mace, pepper, and falt to your mind, put them down clofe in a pot, and pour clarified butter over them.

To pickle mackrel, called caveach.

Cut your mackrel into round pieces, and divide one into five or fix pieces; to fix large mackrel you may take one ounce of beaten pepper, three large nutmegs, a little mace, and a handful of falt. Mix your falt and beaten fpice together, then make two or three holes in each piece, and thruft the featoning into the holes with yout finger, rub the piece all over with the featoning, fry them brown in oil, and let them fland till they are cold; then put them into vinegar, and cover them with oil. They will keep well covered a great while, and are delicious.

CHAP. XIV.

Of PICKLING:

To pickle walnuts green

TAKE the largeft and cleareft you can get, pare them as thin as you can, have a tub of fpringwater flanding by you, and throw them in as you do them. Put into the water a pound of bay falt, let them them ly in the water twenty-four hours, take them out of the water, then put them into a ftone jar, and be- tween every layer of walnuts lay a layer of vine-leaves at the bottom and top, and fill it up with cold vinegar. Let them fland all night, then pour that vinegar from them into a copper or bell metal skillet, with a pound of bay falt; fet it on the fire, let it boil, then pour it hot on your nuts, tie them over with a woollen cloth, and let them fland a week; then pour that pickle away, rub your nuts clean with a piece of flannel; then put them again in your jar, with vine leaves, as above, and boil freth vinegar. Put into your pot to every gallon of vinegar, a nutmeg fliced, cut four large races of ginger, a quarter of an ounce of mace, the fame of cloves, a quarter of an ounce of whole black pepper, the like of Ordingal pepper; then pour your vinegar boiling hot on your walnuts; and cover them with a woollen cloth. Let it ftand three or four days, fo do two or three times; when cold, put in half a pint of multardfeed, a large flick of horfe-raddifh fliced, tie them down clofe with a bladder, and then with a leather. They will be fit to eat in a fortnight. Take a large onion, flick the cloves in, and lay in the middle of the pot. If you do them for keeping, don't boil your vinegar, but then they will not be fit to eat under fix months; and the next year you may boil the pickle this way. They will keep two or three years good and firm.

To pickle walnuts white.

TAKE the largeft nuts you can get, just before the fhell begins to turn, pare them very thin till the white appears, and throw them into fpring water, with a handful of falt as you do them. Let them fland in that water fix hours, lay them on a thin board to keep them under the water, then fet a flew-pan on a charcoal fire, with clean fpring water, take your nuts out of the other water, and put them into the flew-pan. Let them fimmer four or five minutes, but not boil; then have ready by you a pan of fpring water, with a handful of white falt in it, flir it with your hand till the falt is melted, then take your nuts out of the flew-pan with a woode wooden ladle, and put them into the cold water and falt. Let them ftand a quarter of an hour, lay the board on them as before; if they are not kept under the liquor they will turn black, then lay them on a cloth, and cover them with another to dry; then carefully wipe them with a fost cloth, put them into your jar, or glafs, with Tome blades of mace and nutmeg fliced thin. Mix your fpice between your nuts, and pour diffilled vinegar over them; first let your glafs be full of nuts, pour mutton fat over them, and tie a bladder, and then a leather.

To pickle walnuts black.

You must take large full grown nuts, at their full growth before they are hard, lay them in falt and water; let them ly two days, then shift them into fresh water ; let them ly two days longer ; then shift them again, and let them ly three days; then take them out of the water, and put them into your pickling pot. When the pot is half full, put in a large onion fluck with cloves. To a hundred of walnuts put in haif a pint of muftard feed, a quarter of an ounce of mace, half an ounce of black pepper, half an onnce of allfpice, fix bay leaves, and a flick of horfe-raddifh ; then fill your pot, and pour boiling vinegar over them. Cover them with a plate, and when they are cold tie them down with a bladder and leather, and they will be fit to eat in two or three months. The next year, if any remains, boil up your vinegar again, and fkim it ; when cold, pour it over your walnuts. This is by much the best pickle for nfe; therefore you may add more vinegar to it, what quantity you pleafe. If you pickle a great many walnuts, and eat them faft, make your pickle for a hundred or two, the reft keep in a ftrong brine of fait and water, boiled till it will bear an egg, and as your pot empties, fill them up with those in the falt and water. Take care they are covered with pickle.

In the fame manner you may do a fmaller quantity; but if you can get ripe vinegar, ufe that initead of fait and water. Do them thus: put your nuts into the pot you intend to pickle them in, throw in a good handful of

of falt, and fill the pot with rape vinegar. Cover it clofe, and let them fland a fortnight; then pour them out of the pot, wipe it clean, and juft rub the nuts with a coarle cloth, and then put them in the jar with the pickle, as above. If you have the best fugar vinegar of your own making, you need not boil it the first year, but pour it on cold; and the next year, if any remains, boil it up again, skim it, put fresh spice to it, and it will do again.

To pickle gerkins.

TAKE what quantity of cucumbers you think fit, and put them in a ftone jar, then take as much fpring water as you think will cover them; to every gallon of water put as much falt as will make it bear an egg ; fet it on the fire, and let it boil two or three minutes, then pour it on the cucumbers, and cover them with a wool-Icn cloth, and over that a pewter difh; tie them down clofe, and let them fland twenty-four hours; then take them out, lay them in a cloth, and another over them to dry them. When they are pretty dry, wipe your iar out with a dry cloth, put in your cucumbers, and with them a little dill and fennel, a very fmall quantity. For the pickle, to every three quarts of vinegar, one quart of fpring water, till you think you have enough to cover them; put in a little bay falt and a little white, but not too much. To every gallon of pickle put one nutmeg cut in quarters, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, ,a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an ounce of , whole pepper, and a large race of ginger fliced; boil all these together in a bell-metal or copper pot, pour it boiling hot on your cucumbers, and cover them as before. Let them fland two days, then boil your pickle again, and pour it on as before; do fo a third time; when they are cold, cover them with a bladder and then a leather. Mind always to keep your pickles clofe covered, and never take them out with any thing but a wooden fpoon, or one for the purpose. This pickle will do the next year, only boiling it up again.

You are to observe to put the spice in the jar with the cucumbers, and only boil the vinegar, water, and falt, and pour over them. The boiling of your spice in all pickles spoils them, and loses the fine flavour of the spice.

To pickle large cucumbers, in flices.

TAKE the large cucumbers before they are too ripe, flice them the thicknefs of crown-pieces in a pewterdifh; to every dozen of cucumbers flice two large onions thin, and fo on, till you have filled your difh, with a handful of falt between every row; then cover them with another pewter difh, and let them fland twentyfour howrs, then put them in a cullendar, and let them drain very well; put them in a jar, cover them over with white-wine vinegar, and let them fland four hours; pour the vinegar from them into a copper fauce-pan, and boil it with a little falt, put to the cucumbers a little mace, a little whole pepper, a large race of ginger fliced, and then pour the boiling vinegar on. Cover them clofe, and, when they are cold, tie them down. They will be fit to eat in two or three days.

To pickle asparagus.

TAKE the largest asparagus you can get, cut off the white ends, and wash the green ends in spring-water, then put them in another clean water, and let them ly two or three hours in it; then have a large broad flewpan full of fpring-water, with a good large handful of falt; fet it on the fire, and when it boils put in the grafs not tied up, but loofe, and not too many at a time, for fear you break the heads. Just feald them, and no more, take them out with a broad fkimmer, and lay them on a cloth to cook Then for your pic-kle : to a gallon of vinegar put one quart of fpring-water, and a handful of bay-falt ; let them boil, and put your afparagus in your jar ; to a gallon of pickle two nutmegs, a quarter of an ounce of mace, the fame of whole white pepper, and pour the pickle hot over them. Cover them with a linen cloth three or four times double. Let them fland a week, and boil the pickle. Let them ftand a week longer, boil the pickle again, and pour it on hot as before. When they are cold, cover them up close with a bladder and leather.

To pickle peaches.

TAKE your peaches when they are at their full growth, Just before they turn to be ripe; be fure they are not bruiled; then take fpring-water, as much as you think will cover them, make it falt enough to bear an egg, with bay and common falt, an equal quantity each ; then put in your peaches, and lay a thin board over them to keep them under the water. Let them fland three days, and then take them out, and wipe them very carefully with a fine foft cloth, and lay them in your glafs or jar, then take as much white-wine vinegar as will fill your glafs or jar : to every gallon put one pint of the best well-made mustard, two or three heads of garlic, a good deal of ginger fliced, half an ounce of cloves, mace, and nutmeg ; mix your pickle well together, and pour over your peaches. Tie them close with a bladder and leather; they will be fit to eat in two months. You may with a fine penknife cut them acrofs, take out the ftone, fill them with made mustard and garlic, and horfe-raddifh and ginger; tie them together.

To pickle raddift pods.

MAKE a ftrong pickle, with cold fpring-water and bay-falt, ftrong enough to bear an egg, then put your pods in, and lay a thin board on them to keep them under water. Let them stand ten days, then drain them in a fieve, and lay them on a cloth to dry; then take white-wine vinegar, as much as you think will cover them, boil it, and put your pods in a jar, with ginger, mace, cloves, and Jamaica pepper. Pour your vinegar boiling hot on, cover them with a coarfe cloth, three or four times double, that the fleam may come through a little, and let them fland two days. Repeat this two or three times; when it is cold, put in a pint of muflard-feed and some horse-raddish; cover it close.

To pickle French beans.

PICKLE your beans as you do the gerkins.

To pickle cauliflowers.

• Take the largeft and fineft you can get, cut them in little pieces, or more properly pull them into little pieces, pick the fmall leaves, that grow in the flowers, clean from them; then have a broad flew-pan on the fire with fpring-water, and, when it boils, put in your flowers, with a good handful of white falt, and jott let them boil up very quick; be fure you don't let them boil above one minute; then take them out with a broad flice, lay them on a cloth, and cover them with another, and let time lie till they are quite cold. Then put them in your wide-mouthed bottles, with two or three blades of mace in each bottle, and a nutmeg fliced thin; then fill up your bottles with diffilled vinegar, cover them over with mutton fat, over that a bladder, and then a leather. Let them fland a month before you open them.

If you find the pickle tafte fweet, as may be it will, ponr off the vinegar, and put fresh in ; the spice will do again. In a fortnight they will be fit to eat. Observe to throw them out of the boiling water into cold, and then dry them.

To pickle beet-root.

SET a pot of fpring-water on the fire; when it boils, put in your heets, and let them boil till they are tender, then peel them with a cloth, and lay them in a ftone tar; take three quarts of vinegar, two of fpring-water, and fo do till you think you have enough to cover your beets. Put your vinegar and water in a pan, and falt to your tafte; ftir it well together till the falt is all melttd, then pour them on the beets, and cover it with a bladder; do not boil the pickle.

To pickle white plumbs.

TAKE the large white plumbs; and, if they have falks, - let them remain on, and do them as you do your peaches.

To pickle nectarines and apricots.

THEY are done the fame way as the peaches. All thefe flrong pickles will wafte with keeping; therefore you mult fill them up with cold vinegar.

To pickle onions.

TAKE your onions when they are dry enough to lay up in your houfe, fuch as are about as big as a large walnut; or you may do fome as fmall as you pleafe. Take off only the outward dry coat, then boil them in one water, without fhifting, till they begin to grow tender ; then drain them through a collendar, and let them coul; as foon as they are quite cold, flip off two outward coats or fkins, flip them till they look white from each other, rub them gently with a fine foft linen cloth, and lay them on a cloth to cool. When this is done, put them into wide-mouthed glaffes, with about fix or eight bayleaves. To a quart of onions a quarter of an ounce of mace, two large races of ginger fliced; all these ingredients must be interspersed here and there in the glasses among the onions; then boil to each quart of vinegar two ounces of bay-falt, fkim it well as the fcum rifes, and let it ftand till it is cold ; then pour it into the glas, cover it close with a wet bladder dipped in vinegar, and tie them down. They will eat well, and look white. As the pickle waltes, fill them with cold vinegar.

To pickle lemons.

TAKE twelve lemons, fcrape them with a piece of broken glafs; then cut them crofs in two, four parts downright, but not quite through, but that they will hang together; then put in as much falt as they will hold, rub them well, and firew them over with falt. Let them ly in an earthen difh for three days, and turn them every day; then flit an ounce of ginger very thin, and falted for three days, twelve cloves of garlic, parboiled and falted three days, a fmall handful of muftard-feeds bruifed and fearched through a hair fieve, and fome red India pepper; take your lemons out of the falt, fqueeze them very gently, put them into a jar, C c z with the fpice and ingredients, and cover them with the beft white-wine vinegar. Stop them up very close, and in a month's time they will be fit to eat.

To pickle mushrooms white.

TAKE fmall buttons, cut and prime them at the bottom, wash them with a bit of flannel through two or three waters, then set them on the fire in a stew-pan with spring water, and a small handful of salt; when it boils, pour your mushrooms in. Let it boil three or four minutes; then throw them into a cullendar, lay them on a linen cloth quick, and cover them with another.

To make pickle for mushrooms.

TARE a gallon of the best vinegar, put it into a cold fuil: to every gallon of vinegar put half a pound of bay falt, a quarter of a pound of mace, a quarter of an ounce of cloves, a nutmeg cut into quarters, keep the top of the still covered with a wet cloth. As the cloth drics, put on a wet one; don't let the fire be too large, lest you burn the bottom of the still. Draw it as long as you tasse the acid, and no longer. When you fill your bottles, put in your mushrooms, here and there put in a few blades of mace and a flice of nutmeg; then fill the bottle with pickle, and melt fome muttonfat, strain it, and pour over it. It will keep them better than oil.

You must put your nutmeg over the fire in a little vinegar, and give it a boil. While it is hot, you may flice it as you please. When it is cold, it will not cut ; for it will crack to pieces.

Note, In the ninetcenth chapter, at the end of the receipt for making vinegar, you will fee the best way of pickling mushrooms, only they will not be fo white.

To pickle codlings.

WHEN you have greened them as you do your pippins, and they are quite cold, with a fmall fcoop very carefully take off the eye as whole as you can, fcoop out the core, put in a clove of garlic, fill it up with multard-feed, lay on the eye again, and put them in 4 your your glaffes, with the eye uppermoft. Put the fame pickle as you do to the pippins, and tie them down clofe.

To pickle red currants.

THEY are done the fame way as barberries.

To pickle fennel.

SET fpring water on the fire, with a handful of falt; when it boils, tie your fennel in bunches, and put them into the water, just give them a feald, lay them on a cloth to dry; when cold, put it in a glafs, with a little mace and nutmeg, fill it with cold vinegar, lay a bit of green fennel on the top, and over that a bladder and leather.

To pickle graper.

GET grapes at the full growth, but not ripe; cut them in finall bunches fit for garaishing, put them in a flone jar, with vine leaves between every layer of grapes; then take as much fpring-water as you think will cover them, put in a pound of bay-falt, and as much white falt as will make it bear an egg. Dry your bayfalt and pound it, it will melt the fooner, put it into a bell-metal, or copper pot, boil it, and fkim it very well : as it boils, take all the black four off, but not the white fcum. When it has boiled a quarter of an hour, let it stand to cool and fettle ; when it is almost cold, pour the clear liquor on the grapes, lay vine-leaves on the top, tie them down close with a linen cloth, and cover them with a difh. Let them fland twenty-four hours; then take them out, and lay them on a cloth, cover them over with another, let them be dried between the clothe, then take two quarts of vinegar, one quart of fpring-water, and one pound of coarle fugar. Let it boil a little while, skim it as it boils very elean, let. it ftand till it is quite cold, dry your jar with a cloth, put fresh vine-leaves at the bottom, and between every bunch of grapes, and on the top; then pour the clear off the pickle on the grapes, fill your jar that the pickle may be above the grapes, tie a thin bit of board in a piece of flannel, lay it on the top of the jar, to keep the grapes under the pickle, tie them down with a bladder, and then a leather ; take them out with a wooden fpoon. Be fure to make pickle enough to cover them.

To pickle barberries.

TAKE of white-wine vinegar and water, of each an equal quantity; to every quart of this liquor put in half a pound of fix-penny fugar, then pick the worft of your barberries, and put into this liquor; and the beft into glaffes; then boil your pickle with the worft of your barberries, and fkim it very clean. Boil it till it looks of a fine colour, then let it fland to be cold before you ftrain; then ftrain it through a cloth, wringing it, to get all the colour you can from the barberries. Let it fland to cool and fettle, then pour it clear into the glaffes in a little of the pickle, boil a little fennel; when cold, put a little bit at the top of the pot or glafs, and cover it clofe with a bladder and leather. To every half pound of fugar put a quarter of a pound of white falt.

To pickle red cabbage.

SLICE the cabbage thin, put to it vinegar and falt; and an ounce of all fpice cold; cover it clofe, and keep it for use. It is a pickle of little use but for garnishing of dishes, fallads, and pickles, though some people are fond of it.

To pickle golden pippins.

TARE the fineft pippins you can get, free from fpots and bruifes, put them into a preferving-pan of cold fpring-water, and fet them on a charcoal fire. Keep them turning with a wooden fpoon, till they will peel; do not let them boil. When they are boiled, peel them, and put them into the water again, with a quarter of a pint of the beft vinegar, and a quarter of an ounce of allum, cover them very clofe with a pewterdift, and fet them on the charcoal fire again, a flowfire not to boil. Let them fland, turning them now and then, till they look green, then take them out, and lay them on a cloth to cool; when cold make your pickle kle as for the peaches, only inflead of made muftard, this muft be muftard-feed whole. Cover them clofe, and keep them for ule.

To pickle stortion buds and limes; you pick them off the lime trees in the fummer.

TAKE new flertion-feeds or limes, pickle them when large, have ready vinegar, with what fpice you pleafe, throw them in, and flop the bottle clofe.

To pickle oyfters, cockles, and muffels.

TAKE two hundred of oysters, the newest and best you can get, be careful to fave the liquor in fome pan, as you open them, cut off the black verge, faving the reft, put them into their own liquor; then put all the liquor and gysters into a kettle, boil them about half an hour on a very gentle fire, do them very flowly, fkimming them as the fkum rifes, then take them off the fire, take out the oyfters, firain the liquor through a fine cloth, then put in the oysters again; then take out a pint of the liquor whilst it is hot, put thereto three quarters of an ounce of mace, and half an ounce of cloves. Just give it one boil, then put it to the orfters, and ftir up the fpices well among the oyfters, then put in about a spoonful of falt, three quarters of a pint of the best white-wine vinegar, and a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper; then let them fland till they be cold, then put the oysters, as many as you well can, into a barrel; put in as much liquor as the barrel will hold, letting them fettle a while, and they will foon be fit to eat, or you may put them into ftone jars, cover them close with a bladder and leather, and be fure they be quite cold before you cover them up. Thus do cockles and muffels; only this, cockles are fmall. and to this fpice you must have at least two quarts, nor is there any thing to pick off them. Muffels you muft have two quarts, take great care to pick the crab out under the tongue, and a little fus which grows at the root of the tongue. The two latter, cockles and muffels, must be wathed in feveral waters, to clean them from the grit: put them in a flew-pan by thenifeives, cover them clofe, and when they are open, pick them out of the shells and strain the liquor.

To pickle young fuckers, or young artichokes, before the leaves are bard.

TAKE young fuckers, pare them very nicely, all the hard ends of the leaves and ftalks, just fcald them in falt and water, and when they are cold put them into little glafs bottles, with two or three large blades of mace and a nutmeg fliced thin, fill them either with diftilled vinegar, or the fugar vinegar of your own making, with half fpring water.

To pickle artichoke bottoms.

Boil artichokes till you can pull the leaves off, theze take off the chokes, and cut them from the ftalk ; take great care you don't let the knife touch the top, throw them into falt and water for an hour, then take them out and lay them on a cloth to drain, then put them into large wide-mouthed glaffes, put a little mace and fliced nutmeg between, fill them either with difilled vinegar, or your fugar vinegar and fpring-water; cover them with mutton fat fried, and tie them down with a bladder and leather.

To pickle famphire.

TAKE the famphire that is green, lay it in a clean pan, throw two or three handfuls of falt over, and cover it with fpring-water. Let it ly twenty-four hours, then put it into a clean brafs fauce-pan, throw in a handful of falt, and cover it with good vinegar. Cover the pan clofe, and fet it over a very flow fire; let it ftand till it is juft green and crifp, then take it off in a moment, for if it ftands to be foft it is fpoiled; put it in your pickling-pot, and cover it clofe. When it is cold, tie it down with a bladder and leather, and keep it for ufe. Or you may keep it all the year, in a very farong brine of falt and water, and throw it into vinegar juft before you ufe it.

Elder shoots, in imitation of bamboo.

TAKE the largeft and youngeft fhoots of elder, which put out in the middle of May, the middle ftalks are most tender and biggeft; the small ones are not worth doing.

doing. Peel off the outward peel or fkin, and lay them in a strong brine of falt and water for one night, then dry them in a cloth, piece by piece. In the mean time, make your pickle of half white-wine and half beer vinegar : to each quart of pickle you must put an ounce of white or red pepper, an ounce of ginger fliced, a little mace, and a few corns of Jamaica pepper. When the fpice has boiled in the pickle, pour it hot upon the fhoots, ftop them clofe immediately, and fet the jar two hours before the fire, turning it often. It is as good a way of greening pickles as often boiling; or you may boil the pickle two or three times, and pour it on boiling hot, just as you please. If you make the pickle of the fugar vinegar, you must let one half be fpring water. You have the receipt for this vinegar in the 19th chapter.

Rales to be observed in pickling.

- ALWAYS use stone jars for all forts of pickles that require hot pickle to them. The first charge is the leaft, for these not only last longer, but keep the pickle better; for vinegar and falt will penetrate through all earthen veffels; ftone and glass is the only thing to keep pickles in. Be fure never to put your hands in to take pickles out, it will foon spoil it. The best method is, to every pot tie a wooden spoon full of little holes, to take the pickles out with.

CHAP. XVI.

Of Cheefe-cakes, Creams, Jellies, Whipt-fyllabubs, . Ec.

To make fine cheefe-cakes.

TAKE a pint of cream, warm it, and put to it five quarts of milk warm from the cow, then put sunnet to it, and juft give it a flir about; and, when it is come, put the curd in a linen bag or cloth, let it diainwell away from the whey, but do not fqueeze it much; D d 3.

then put it in a mortar, and break the curd as fine as butter, then put to your curd half a pound of fweet almonds blanched and beat exceeding fine, and half a pound of mackeroons beat very fine. If you have no mackeroons, get Naples bifcuits, then add to it the yolks of nine eggs beaten, a whole nutmeg grated, two perfumed plumbs diffolved in rofe or orange-flower water, half a pound of fine fugar; mix all well together, then melt a pound and a quarter of butter, and ftir it well in it, and half a pound of currants plumped, to let fland to cool till you ufe it, then make your puff-pafte thus: take a pound of fine flour, wet it with cold water, roll it out, put into it by degrees a pound of frefh butter, and flake a little flour on each coat as you roll it. Make it juft as you ufe it.

You may leave out the currants for change, nor need you put in the perfumed plumbs, if you diflike them; and for variety, when you make them of mackeroons, put in as much tincture of faffron as will give them a high colour, but no currants. This we call faffron cheefe-cakes; the other without currants, almond cheefe-cakes; with currants, fine cheefe-cakes; with mackeroons, mackeroon cheefe-cakes.

To make lemon cheefe cakes.

TAKE the peel of two large lemons, boil it very tender, then pound it well in a mortar, with a quarter of a pound or more of loaf fugar, the yolks of fix eggs, and half a pound of fresh butter; pound and mix all well together, lay a puff-patte in your patty-paus, fill them half full, and bake them. Orange cheese-cakes are done the fame way, only you boil the peel in two or three waters to take out the bitternels.

A fecond fort of lemon cheefc-cakes.

TAKE two large lemons, grate off the peel of both, and fqueeze out the juice of one, and add to it half a pound of double refined fugar, twelve yolks of egge, eight whites well beaten, then melt half a pound of butter in four or five fpoonfuls of cream, then ftir it all together, and fet over the fire, ftirring it till it begins to be pretty thick; then take it off, and, when it is cold, fill your patty-pans little more than half full. Put a pafte very thin at the bottom of your patty-pans. Half an hour, with a quick oven, will bake them.

To make almond cheefe-cakes.

TAKE half a pound of Jordan almonds, and lay them in cold water all night, the next morning blanch them into cold water, then take them out, and dry them in a clean cloth, beat them very fine in a little orangeflower water, then take fix eggs, leave out four whites, beat them and firain them, then half a pound of white fugar, with a little beaten mace; beat them well together in a marble mortar, take ten ounces of good frefh butter, melt it, a little grated lemon-peel, and put them in the mortar with the other ingredients; mix all well together, and fill your patty-pans.-

To make fairy butter.

TARE the yolks of two hard eggs, and beat them in a marble mortar, with a large fpoonful of orange-flower water, and two tea-fpoonfuls of fine fugar beat to powder, beat this all together till it is a fine pafte, then mix it up with about as much fresh butter out of the churn, and force it through a fine strainer full of little holes into a plate. This is a pretty thing to set off a table at supper.

To make almond cuftards.

TARE a pint of cream, blanch and beat a quarter of a pound of almonds fine, with two fpoonfuls of rofewater. Sweeten it to your palate; beat up the yolks of four eggs, flir all together one way over the fire till it is thick, then pour it out into cups. Or you may bake it in little china cups.

To make baked cuftards.

ONE point of cream boiled with mace and cinnamon; when cold take four eggs, two whites left out, a little role and orange-flower water and tack, nutmeg and fugar to your palate; mix them well together, and bake them in china cups.

To make plain cuftards ...

TAKE a quart of new milk, sweeten it to your taste, grate in a little nutmeg, beat up eight eggs, leave out half the whites, beat them up well, fur them into the milk, and bake it in china basons, or put them in a deep china dille; have a kettle of water boiling, fet the cup in, let the water come above half way, but do not let it boil too fast for fear of its getting into the cups. To make hart forn jelly.

BOIL half a pound of hartfhorn in three quarts of water over a gentle fire, till it becomes a jelly. If you take out a little to cool, and it hangs on the spoon, it is enough. Strain it while it is hot, put it into a welltinned fauce-pan, put to it a pint of Rhenish wine, and a quarter of a pound of loaf-fugar; beat the whites of four eggs or more to a froth, flir it all together that the whites mix well with the jelly, and pour it in, as if you were cooling it. Let it boil for two or three minutes, then put in the juice of three or four lemons; let it boil a minute or two longer. When it is finely curdled, and of a pure white colour, have ready a Swan-Skin jelly-bag over a china bason, pour in your jelly, and pour back again till it is as clear as rock water; then fet a very clean china bafon under, have your glaffes as clean as poffible, and with a clean fpoon fill your glaffee. Have ready fome thin rhind of the lemons, and when you have filled half your glaffes, throw your peel into the bason; and when the jelly is all : un out of the bag, with a clean fpoon fill the reft of the glaffes, and they will look of a fine amber colour. Now, in putting in the ingredients there is no certain rule. You must put in lemon and fugar to your palate. Most people love them fweet ; and indeed they are good for nothing unlefs they are.

326 THE ART OF COOKERY

one colour must be thorough cold before you put another on, and that you put on must not be but bloodwarm, for fear it mix together. You must colour red with cochineal, green with fpinage, yellow with faffron, blue with fyrup of violets, white with thick cream, and fometimes the jelly by itfelf. You may add orangeflower water; or wine and fugar, and lemon, if you pleafe; but this is all fancy.

To make calves feet jelly.

BOIL two calves feet in a gallon of water till it comes to a quart, then firain it, let it fland till cold, fkim off all the fat clean, and take the jelly up clean. If there is any fettling in the bottom, leave it; put the jelly into a fauce-pan, with a pint of mountain wine, half a pound of loaf-fugar, the juice of four large lemons, beat up fix or eight whites of eggs with a whifk, then put them into the fauce-pan, and fir all together well till it boils. Let it boil a few minutes. Have ready a large flannel bag, pour it in, it will run through quick, pour it in again till it runs clear, then have ready a large china bafon, with the lemon-peels cut as thin as poffible, let the jelly run into that bafon; and the peels both give it a fine amber colour, and alfo a flavour; with a clean filver fpoon fill your glaffes.

To make bartforn flammery.

Bow half a pound of the flavings of hartfhorn in three pints of water till it comes to a pint, then flavin it through a fieve into a bafon, and fet it by to cool; then fet it over the fire, let it juft melt; and put to it half a pint of thick cream, fealded and grown cold again, a quarter of a pint of white wine, and two fpoonfuls of orange flower water; fweeten it with fugar, and beat it for an hour and a half; or it will not mix well; nor look well; dip your cups in water before you put in the flummery; or elfe it will not turn out well. It is beft when it flands a day or two before you turn it out. When you ferve it up, turn it out of the eups, and flick blanched almonds cut in long narrow bits on the top. You may eat them either with wine or cream.

A Second way to make hart forn fummery:

TAKE three ounces of hartfhorn, and put to it two quarters of fpring water, let it fimmer over the fire fix or feven hours, till half the water is confirmed, or eliput it into a jug, and fet it in the oven with household bread, then itrain it through a fieve and beat half a pound of almonds very fine, with fome orange-flower water in the beating; when they are beat, mix a little of your jelly with it and fome fine fugar ; ftrain it out and mix it with your other jelly, flir it together till it is little more than blood-warm, then pour it into halfpint basons or diffes for the purpose, and fill them but half full. When you use them, turn them out of the diffe as you do flummery. If it does not come out clean, fet your bason a minute or two in warm water. Yeu Ee 2

328 THE ART OF COOKERY

You may flick almonds in it or not, just as you pleafe. Eat it with wine and fugar. Or make your jelly this way: put fix ounces of hartfhorn in a glazed jug with a long neck, and put to it three pints of foft water, cover the top of the jug clofe, and put a weight on it to keep it fleady; fet it in a pot or kettle of water twenty-four hours, let it not boil, but be fealding hot, then frain it out and make your jelly.

To make oat-meal flummery.

GET fome oat meal, put it into a broad deep pan, then cover it with water, ftir it together, and let it fland twelve hours, then pour off that water clear, and put on a good deal of freih water, fhift it again in twelve hours, and fo on in twelve more; then pour off the water clear, and firain the oat-meal through a coarfe bair fieve, and pour it into a fauce-pan, keeping it ftirsing all the time with a flick till it boils and is very thick; then pour it into diffes; when cold turn it into plates, and eat it with what you pleafe, either wine and fugar, or beer and fugar, or milk. It eats very pretty with cyder and fugar,

You must observe to put a great deal of water to the oat meal, and when you pour off the last water, pour on just enough fresh as to strain the oat-meal well. Some let it fland forty-eight hours, fome three days, shifting the water every twelve hours; but that is as you love it for sweetness or tartness. Gruts once cut does better than oat-meal. Mind to flir it together when you put in fresh water.

To make a fine fyllabub from the conv.

MAKE your fyllabub of either cyder or wine, fweeten it pretty fweet and grate nutmeg in, then milk'the milk into the liquor; when this is done, pour over the top half a pint or a pint of cream, according to the quantity of fyllabub you make.

You may make this fyllabub at home, only have new milk; make it as hot as milk from the cow, and out of a tea-pot, or any fuch thing, pour it in, holding your hand very high.

Take the fap, and boil it as long as any feum rifes, fkimming it all the time; to every gallon of liquor put four pounds of good fugar, the thin peel of a lemon, boil it afterwards half an hour, fkimming it very well; pour it into a clean tub, and, when it is almost cold, fet it to work with yeaft fpread upon a toaft, let it fland five or fix days, flirring it often; then take fuch a cafk as will hold the liquor, fire a large match dipt in brimflone, and throw it into the cafk, flop it clofe till the match is extinguished, tun your wine, lay the bung on light till you find it has done working; flop it clofe, and keep it three months, then bottle it off.

To make quince wine.

GATHER the quinces when dry and full ripe ; take twenty large quinces, wipe them clean with a coarlecloth, and grate them with a large grate or rafp as near the core as you can, but none of the core; boil a gallon of fpring-water, throw in your quinces, let it boil foftly about a quarter of an hour, then frain them well into an earthen pan on two pounds of double-refined sugar, pare the peel off two large lemons, throw in and squeeze the juice through a fieve, flir it about till it is very cool, then toast a little bit of bread very thin and brown, rub a little yeast on it, let it stand close. covered twenty-four hours, then take out the toalt and lemon, put it up in a caig, keep it three months, and then bottle it. If you make a twenty-gallon cafk, let it stand fix months before you bottle it; when you strain. your quinces, you are to wring them hard in a coarfe cloth.

To make cowflip or clary wine.

TAKE fix gallons of water, twelve pounds of fugar, the juice of fix lemons, the whites of four eggs beat very well, put all together in a kettle, let it boil half an hour, fkim it very well; take a peck of cowflips, if dry ones, half a peck; put them into a tub with the thin peeling of the fix lemons, then pour on the boiling liquor, and flir them about; when almost cold, put in a thin toalt baked dry, and rubbed with yeaft. Let it fkand two or three days to work. If you put in before.

you turn it fix ounces of fyrup of citron or lemone, with a quart of Rhenifh wine, it will be a great addition; the third day firain it off, and fqueeze the cowflips through a coarfe cloth, then firain it through a flannel bag, and turn it up, lay the bung loofe for two or three days to fee if it works, and, if it don't, bung it down tight; let it fland three months, then bottle it.

To make turnip wine.

TAKE a good many turnips, pare them, flice them, put them in a cyder-prefs, and prefs out all the juice very well. To every gallon of juice have three pounds of lump fugar; have a veffel ready, juft big enough to hold the juice, put your fugar into a veffel, and alfo to every gallon of juice half a pint of brandy. Pour in the juice, and lay fomething over the bung for a week, to fee if it works. If it does, you must not bung it down till it has done working; then ftop it clofe for three months, and draw it off into another veffel. When it is fine, bottle it off.

To make rafpherry wine.

TAKE fome ripe rafpberries, bruife them with the back of a fpoon, then firain them through a flannel bag into a ftone jar. To each quart of juice put a pound of double-refined fugar, fiir it well together, and cover it clofe; let it fland three days, then pour it off clear. To a quart of juice put two quarts of white wine, bottle it off; it will be fit to drink in a week. Brandy made thus is a very fine dram, and a much better way than fleep ~ ing the rafpberries.

Rules for brewing.

CARE must be taken, in the first place, to have the malt clean; and, after it is ground, it ought to stard four or five days.

For firong October, five quarters of malt to three hogfheads, and twenty-four pounds of hops. This will afterwards make two hogfheads of good keeping fragit beer, allowing five pounds of hops to it.

For

For good middling beer a quarter of halt makes a hoghead of ale, and one of small beer; or it will make three hogheads of good small beer, allowing eight pounds of hops. This will keep all the year : or it will make twenty gallons of strong ale, and two hogsheads of small beer, that will keep all the year.

If you intend your ale to keep a great while, allow a pound of hops to every bulkel; if to keep fix months, five pounds to a hog/head; if for preferit drinking, three pounds to a hog/head, and the foftest and cleareit water you can get.

Observe the day before to have all your veffels very clean, and never use your tube for any other use except to make wines.

Let your cafks be very clean the day before with boiling water; and, if your bung is big enough, forub them well with a little birch, broom, or bruth; but, if they be very bad, take out the heads, and let them be forebbed clean with a hand-brufh, and fand, and fullers-earth. Put on the head again, and feald them well, throw into the barrel a piece of unflacked lime, and ftop the bung clofe.

The first copper of water, when it boils, pour into your mash-tub, and let it be cool enough to see your face in; then put in your malt, and let it be well mathed, have a copper of water boiling in the mean time, and, when your malt is well mashed, fill your mashing-tub, ftir it well again, and cover it over with the facks. Let it ftand three hours, then fet a broad shallow tub under the cock, let it run very foftly, and, if it is thick, throw it up again till it runs fine, then throw a handful of hops in the under tub, and let the main run into it, and fill your tubs till all is run off. Have water boiling in the copper, and lay as much more on as you have occafion for, allowing one-third for boiling and wafte. Let that fland an hour, boiling more water to fill the mafhtub for small beer; let the fire down a little, and put it into tubs enough to fill your math. Let the fecond maih be run off, and fill your copper with the first wort ; put in part of your hops, and make it boil quick. About an hour is long enough ; when it is half boiled, throw in a handful of falt. Have a clean white wand, Ff and and dip it into the copper, and, if the wort feels clammy, it is boiled enough ; then flacken your fire, and take off your wort. Have ready a large tub, put two flicks across, and fet your ftraining basket over the tub on the flicks, and flrain your wort through it. Put your other wort on to boil with the rest of the hops; let your mash be still covered again with water, and thin your wort that is cooled in as many things as you can; for the thinner it lies, and the quicker it cools, the better. When quite cool, put it into the tunning-tub. Mind to throw a handful of falt into every boil. When the math has flood an hour. draw it off, then fill your mash with cold water ; take off the wort in the copper, and order it as before. When cool, add to it the first in the tub; fo foon as you empty one copper, fill the other, fo boil your finall beer well. Let the last mash run off, and, when both are boiled with fresh hops, order them as the two first boilings; when cool, empty the math-tub, and put the finall beer to work there. When cool enough, work it, fet a wooden bowl full of yeaft in the beer, and it will work over with a little of the beer in the boil. Stir your tun up every twelve hours, let it ftand two days, then tun it, taking off the yeaft. Fill your veffels full, and fave fome to fill your barrels ; let it fand till it has done working, then lay on your bung lightly for a fortnight, after that ftop it as close as you can. Mind you have a vent-peg at the top of the veffel; in warm weather open it, and if your drink hiffes, as it often will, loofen it till it has done, then ftop it close again. If you can boil your ale in one boiling, it is best, if your copper will allow of it, if not, boil it as conveniency ferves. The strength of your beer must be according to the malt you allow, more or lefs ; there is no certain rule.

When you come to draw your beer, and find it is not fine, draw off a gallon, and fet it on the fire, with two ounces of ifinglais cut fmall, and beat. Difiolve it in the beer over the fire; when it is all melted, let it it and till it is cold, and pour it in at the bung, which must lay loofe on till it has done fomenting, then stop it close for a month.

Take great care your cafks are not mufty, or have any ill taile; if they have, it is the harden thing in the world to iweeten them.

You are to wash your casks with cold water before you feald them, and they should lie a day or two loaking, and clean them well, then feald them.

The best thing for roped beer.

Mix two handfuls of bean-flour, and one handful of falt, throw this into a kilderkin of beer, don't flup it close till it has done fermenting, then let it fland a month, and draw it off; but sometimes nothing will do with it.

When a barrel of beer has turned four.

To a kilderkin of beer, throw in at the bung a quart of oatmeal, lay the bung on loofe two or three days, then flop it down clofe, and let it fland a month. Some throw in a piece of chalk as big as a turkey's egg; and, when it has done working, ftop it close for a month, then tap it.

To make white bread after the London way.

You must take a bushel of the finest flour, welldreffed, put it in the kneading-trough at one end, ready to mix, take a gallon of water, (which we call liquor), and fome yeaft ; ftir it into the liquor till it looks of a good brown colour, and begins to curdle; ftrain it, and mix it with your flour till it is about the thicknefs of a good feed-cake; then cover it up with the lid of the trough, and let it stand three hours, and, as foon as you fee it begin to fall, take a gallon more of liquor, and weigh three quarters of a pound of falt, and with your hand mix it well with the water ; strain it, and with this liquor make your dough of a moderate thickness, fit to make up into loaves; then cover it again with the lid, and let it ftand three hours more. In the mean time, put the wood into the oven, and heat it. It will take two hours heating. When your fpunge has flood it: proper time, clear the oven, and begin to make your bread. not open the oven till the bread is baked, and observein fummer that your water be milk-warm, and in winter as hot as you can bear your finger in it.

Note, As to the exact quantity of liquor your dough will take, experience will teach you in two or threetimes making; for all flour does not want the fame quantity of liquor; and, if you make any quantity, it will raife up the lid, and run over, when it has flood its. time.

To make French bread.

TAKE three quarts of water, and one of milk; in winter fealding hot, in fummer a little more than milkwarm. Seafon it well with falt, then take a pint and a half of good ale yeaft, not bitter, lay it in a gallon. of water the night before, pour it off the water, itir in your yeast into the milk and water, then with your hand break in a little more than a quarter of a pound of butter, work it well till it is diffolved, then beat up two eggs in a halon, and ftir them in, have about a peck and a half of flour, mix it with your liquor; in winter make your dough pretty ftiff, in fummer more flack ; fo that you may use a little more or less flour, according to the fliffnels of your dough ; mix it well ; but the lefs you work it the better. Make it into rolls, and have a very quick oven, but not to burn. When they have lain about a quarter of an hour, turn them on the other fide, let them lie about a quarter longer. take them out, and chip all your French bread with a knife, which is better than rafping it, and makes it look fpungy, and of a fine yellow, whereas the raiping takes off all that, fine colour, and makes it look too fipooth. A receipt for making bread without barm by the help of a leaven.

TAKE a lump of dough, about two pounds of your last making, which has been raifed by barm, keen it by you in a wooden vessel, and cover it well with flour. This is your leaven ; then, the night before you intend to bake, put the faid leaven to a peck of flour, and work them well together with warm water. Let it lie in a dry wooden veffel, well covered with a linen cloth and a blanket, and keep it in a warm place. This dough kept warm will rife again next morning, and will be fufficient to mix with two or three bushels of flour, being worked up with warm water and a little fait. When it is well worked up, and thoroughly mixed with all the flour, let it be well covered with the linen and blanket, until you find it rife ; then knead it well, and work it up into bricks or loaves, making the loaves broad. and not fo thick and high as is frequently done, by which means the bread will be better baked. Then bake your bread.

Always keep by you two or more pounds of the dough of your laft baking, well covered with flour, to make leaven to ferve from one baking day to another; the more leaven is put to the flour, the lighter and fpungier the bread will be; the fresher the leaven, the bread will be the lefs four.

to that the air may get under to dry it. When that coat is very dry, then lay on another coat, and let it dry, and fo go on to put one coat upon another till you have a fufficient quantity, even two or three inches thick, to ferve for feveral months, always taking care the yeak in the tub be very dry before you lay more on. When you have occafion to make ufe of this yeak, cut a piece off, and lay it in warm water; fir it together, and it: will be fit for ufe. If it is for brewing, take a large handful of birch tied together, and dip it into the yeak, and hang it up to dry; take great care no dust comes to it, and fo you may do as many as you pleafe. When your beer is fit to fet to work, throw in one of thefe, and it will make it work as well asif you had frefh yeak.

You muft whip it about in the wort, and then let it ly; when the vat works well, take out the broom, and dry it again, and it will do for the next brewing.

Note, In the building of your oven for baking, obferve that you make it round, low roofed, and a little mouth; then it will take lefs fire, and keep in the heat better than a long oven, and high roofed, and will bake the bread better.

let it boil till it draws in hairs, which you may perceive by holding up your fpoon, then put in the flowers, and fet them in cups or glaffes. When it is of a hard candy, break it in lumps, and lay it as high as you pleafe. Dry it in a flowe, or in the fun, and it will look like fugar-candy.

To preferve goofeberries whole without ftoning.

TAKE the largest preferving gooseberries, and pick off the back eye, but not the stalk, then fet them over the fire in a pot of water to feald, cover them very close to feald, but not boil or break, and when they are tender take them up into cold water ; then take a pound and a half of double-refined fugar to a pound of goofeberries, and clarify the fugar with water, a pint to a pound of fugar, and when your fyrup is cold, put the gooseberries fingle in your preferving-pan, put the fyrup to them, and fet them on a gentle fire ; let them boil, but not too fall, left they break ; and when they have boiled, and you perceive that the fugar has entered them, take them off; cover them with white paper, and fet them by till the next day. Then take them out of the fyrup, and boil the fyrup till it begins to be ropy ; fkim it, and put it to them again, then let them on a gentle fire, and let them preferve gently, till you perceive the . fyrup will rope; then take them off, fet them by till they are cold, cover them with paper, then boil fome goofeberries in fair water, and when the liquor is ftrong enough, strain it out. Let it stand to settle, and to every pint take a pound of double refined fugar, then make a jelly of it, put the goofeberries in glasses, when they are cold; cover them with the jelly next day, paper them wet, and then half dry the paper, that goes in the infide, it closes down better, and then white paper over the glass. Set it in your flove, or a dry place.

To preferve white walnuts.

FIRST pare your walnuts till the white appears, and nothing elfe. You muft be very careful in the doing of them, that they don't turn black, and as fast as you do them throw them into fast and water, and let them ly ly till your fugar is ready. Take three pounds of good loaf-fugar, put it into your preferving-pan, fet it over a charcoal fire, and put as nuch water as will juft we? the fugar. Let it boil, then have ready ten or a dozen whites of eggs flrained and beat up to froth, cover your fugar with the froth as it boils, and fkim it; then boil it and fkim it till it is as clear as-cryftal, then throw in your walnuts, juft give them a boil till they are tender, then take them out, and lay them in a dift to cool; when cool, put them in your preferving-pan, and when the fugar is as warm as milk pour it overthem; when quite cold, paper them down.

Thus clear your fogar for all preferves, apricots, peaches, gooseberries, currants, &c.

To preferve walnuts green.

WIPE them very clean, and lay them in flrong fale and water twenty-four hours; then take them out, and wipe them very clean, have ready a fkillet of water boiling, throw them in, let them boil a minute, and takethem out. Lay them on a coarfe cloth, and boil yourfugar as above; then juft give your walnuts a feald inthe fugar; take them up and lay them to cool. Putthem in your preferving-pot, and pour on your fyrupas above.-

To preferve the large green plumbs.

FIRST dip the flaks and leaves in boiling vinegar, when they are dry have your fyrup ready, and first give them a feald, and very carefully with a pin take off the skin; boil your fugar to a sandy height, and dip in your plumbs, hang them by the flak to dry, and they will look finely transparent, and by hanging that way to dry, will have a clear drop at the top. You must take great care to clear your fugar nicely.

A nice way to preferve peaches.

Put your peaches in boiling water, just give them a feald, but don't let them boil, take them out and put them in cold water, then dry them in a fieve, and put them in long wide-mouthed bottles: to half a dozen-

peaches

352 THE ART OF COOKERY

peaches take a quarter of a pound of fugar, clarify its, pour it over your peaches, and fill the bottles with brandy. Stop them clofe, and keep them in a clofe place.

A second way to preferve peaches.

MAKE your fyrup as above, and when it is clear just dip in your peaches, and take them out again, lay them on a difh to cool, then put them into large wide-mouthed bottles, and when the fyrup is cold pour it over them; let them fhand till cold, and fill up the bottle with the best French brandy. Observe that you leaveroom enough for the peaches to be well covered with brandy; and cover the glass close with a bladder and heather, and tie them close down.

To make quince cakes.

You must let a pint of the fyrup of quinces with a quart or two of rafpberries be hoiled and clarified over a clear gentle fire, taking care that it be well fkimmed from time to time: then add a pound and a half of fugar, caufe as much more to be brought to a candy height, and poured in hot. Let the whole be continually ftirred about till it is almost cold, then fpread it on plates, and cut it out into cakes.

C H A P. XIX.

To make anchovics, vermicelli, catchup, vinegar; and to keep artichokes, French beans, & c.

To make anchovies.

TO a peck of fprats, two pounds of common fait, a quarter of a pound of bay fait, four pounds ot faitpetre, two ounces of fai-prunella, two pennyworth of cochineal, pound all in a mortar, put them into a ftone pot, a row of fprats, a layer of your compound, and fo on, to the top alternately. Prefs them hard down, cover them clofe, let them ftand fix months, and they

they will be fit for ufe. Observe that your sprats be very fresh, and don't wash nor wipe them, but just take them as they come out of the water.

To pickle fmelts, where you have plenty.

TARE a quarter of a peck of fmelts, half an ounce of pepper, half an ounce of nutmeg, a quarter of anounce of mace, half an ounce of peter-falt, a quarter of a pound of common falt, beat all very fine, wafn and clean the fmelts, gut them, then lay them in rows in a jar, and between every layer of fmelts flrew the feafoning with four or five bay leaves, then boil red wine, and pour over them enough to cover them. Cover them with a plate, and when cold the them down clofe. They exceed anchovies.

To make vermicelli.

Mix yolks of eggs and flour together in a pretty fliff pafte, to as you can work it up cleverly, and roll it as thin as it is poffible to roll the pafte. Let it dry in the fun; when it is quite dry, with a very tharp knife cut it as thin as poffible, and keep it in a dry place. It will run up like little worms, as vermidelli does; though the beft way is to run it through a coarte fieve, whilf the pafte is foft. If you want iome to be made in hafte, dry it by the fire, and cut it fmall. It will dry by the tire in a quarter of an hour. This farexceeds what comes from abroad, being frefher.

To make catchup.

TARE the large flaps of mufhrooms, pick nothing but the flraws and dirt from it, then lay them in a broad earthen pan, flrew a good deal of falt over them, let them ly till next morning, then with your hand break them, put them in a flew-pan, let them boil a minute or two, then flrain them through a coarfe cloth and wring ithard. To take out all the juice, let it fland to fettle, then pour it off clear, run it through a thick flannel bag, (fome filter it through brown paper, but that is a very tedious way), then boil it; to a quart of the liquor put a quarter of an ounce of whole genger, and half a quarter of an ounce of whole pepper. Boil G g.a.

it brickly a quarter of an hour, then firain it, and when it is cold, put it into pint bottles. In each bottle put four or five blades of mace, and fix cloves, cork it tight, and it will keep two years. This gives the beft flavour of the mufhrooms to any fauce. If you put to a pint of this catchup a pint of mum, it will tafte like foreign catchup.

Another way to make catchup.

TARE the large flaps, and falt them as above; boilthe liquor, farain it through a thick flannel bag: to a quart of that liquor put a quart of ftale beer, a large flick of horfe-raddifn cut in little flips, five or fix bayleaves, an onion fluck with twenty or thirty cloves, a quarter of an ounce of mace, a quarter of an onnee of nutmegs beat, a quarter of an ounce of black and white pepper, a quarter of an ounce of all-fpice, and four or five races of ginger. Cover it clofe, and let it finnmer very foftly till about one third is walted, then firain it through a flannel-bag, when it is cold bottle it in pint bottles, cork it clofe, and it will keep a great while : you may put red wine in the room of beer; fome put in a head of garlic, but I think that fpoils it. The other receipt you have in the chapter for the fea.

Artichokes to keep all the year.

Born as many artichokes as you intend to keep; boil them fo as juft the leaves will come out, then puil offall the leaves and choke, cut them from the firings, laythem on a tin plate, and put them in an oven where tarts are drawn, let them fland till the oven is heatedagain, take them out before the wood is put in, and fet them in again, after the tarts are drawn; fo do tillthey are as dry as a board, then put them in a paperbag, and hang them in a dry place. You thould laythem in warm water three or four hours before you ule them, flifting the water often. Let the laft water be boiling hot; they will be very tender, and eat as fine as frefh ones. You need not dry all your bottoms at once, as the leaves are good to eat; fo boil a dozen at a time, and fave the bottoms for this ufer.

To keep French beans all the year.

TAKE fine young beans, gather them on a very fine day, have a large ftone jar ready, clean and dry, lay a . layer of falt at the bottom, and then a layer of beans, then falt, and then beans, and fo on, till the jar is full;. cover them with falt. and tie a coarfe cloth over them. and a board on that, and then a weight to keep it close . from all air; fet them in a dry cellar, and, when you ule them, take fome out, and cover them close again : wash them you took out very clean, and let them lie in a foft water twenty-four hours, fhifting the water often ; when you boil them, don't put any falt in the water. - The best way of dreffing them is, boil them with just the white heart of a fmall cabbage, then drain them, chop the cabbage, and put both into a fauce-pan with . a piece of butter, as big as an egg, rolled in flour, fhake a little pepper, put in a quarter of a pint of good gravy, ... let them flew ten minutes, and then dish them up for a fide-difh. A pint of beans to the cabbage. You may do more or leis, just as you pleafe.

To keep green peafe till Christmas.

TAKE fine young peafe, shell them, throw them into boiling water with fome falt in, let them boil five or fix minutes, throw them into a cullendar to drain, then lay a cloth four or five times double on a table, and fpread them on ; dry them very well, and have your bottles ready, fill them, and cover them with muttonfat, tried; when it is a little cool, fill the necks almost to the top, cork them, tie a bladder and a lath over them, and fet them in a cool dry place. When you ufe them, boil your water, put in a little falt, fome fugar, and a piece of butter; when they are boiled. enough, throw them into a fieve to drain, then put them into a fauce-pan with a good piece of butter; keep shaking it round all the time till the butter is melted, then turn them into a difh, and fend them to table,.

Another way to preferve green peafor

GATHER your peafe on a very dry day, when they are neither old nor yet too young, thell them, and have ready fome quart bottles with little mouths, being well: dried; fill the bottles, and cork them well, have ready a pipkin of rofin melted, into which dip the necks of the bottles, and fet them in a very dry place that is, cool.

To keep green gooseberries till Christmas.

Pick your large green gooseberries on a dry day, have ready your bottles clean and dry, fill the bottles and cork them, fet them in a kettle of water up to the necks, let the water boil very foftly till you find the gooseberries are coddled, take them out, and put in the reft of the bottles till all are done; then have ready fome rosin melted in a pipkin, dip the necks of the bottles in, and that will keep all air from coming at the cork, keep them in a cool dry place where no damp is, and they will bake as red as a cherry. You may keep them without fealding, but then the fkins will not be fo tender, nor bake fo fine.

To keep red goofeberries.

Pick them when full ripe, to each quart of gooleberries put a quarter of a pound of Lifbon fugar, and to to each quarter of a pound of fugar put a quarter of a pint of water, let it boil, then put in your goofeberries, and let them boil foftly two or three minutes, then pourthem into little flone jars; when cold, cover them up, and keep them for ufe; they make fine pies with littletrouble. You may prefs them through a cullendar; to a quart of pulp put half a pound of fire Lifbon fugar, keep flirring over the fire till both be well mixed and boiled, and pour it into a flone jar; when cold, cover it with white paper, and it makes very pretty tarts or puffs.

To keep walnuts all the year.

TAKE a large jar, a layer of fea-fand at the bottom, then a layer of walnuts, then fand, then the nuts, and t fo on, till the jar is full, and be fure they don't touch each other in any of the layers. When you would use them, lay them in warm water for an hour, fhift the waters as it cools; then rub them dry, and they will peel well, and eat fweet. Lemons will keep, thus covered, better than any other way.

Another way to keep lemons.

TAKE the fine large fruit that are quite found and good, and take a fine packthread about a quarter of a yard long, run it through the hard nib at the end of the lemon, then tie the firing together, and hang it on a little hook in a dry airy place; fo do as many as you pleafe, but be fure they don't touch one another nor any thing elfe, but hang them as high as you can. Thus you may keep pears, &c. only tying the firing to the fialk.

To keep white bullice, pear-plumbs, or damfons, &c. for tarts or pies.

GATHER them when full grown, and just as they begin to turn. Pick all the largeft out, fave about two thirds of the fruit; the other third put as much water to as you think will cover the reft. Let them boil, and fkim them; when the fruit is boiled very fost, then ftrain it through a coarfe hair fieve, and to every quart of this Equor put a pound and a half of fugar, boil it and fkim it very well; then throw in your fruit, just give them a feald; take them off the fire, and, when cold, put them into bottles with wide mouths, pour your fyrup over them, lay a piece of white paper over them, and cover them with oil. Be fure to take the oil well off when you use them, and don't put them in larger bottles than you think you fhould make use of at a time, because all these forts of fruits spoil with the air.

To make vinegar.

To every gallon of water put a pound of coarfe Lifbon fugar, let it boil, and keep fkimming of it as long as the fcum rifes; then pour it into tubs, and, when it is as cold as beer to work, toaft a good toaft, and rub it over with yeaft. Let it work twenty-four hours; hen.

then have ready a veffel iron-hooped, and well painted, fixed in a place where the fun has full power, and fix it fo as not to have any occasion to move it. When you draw it off, then fill your veffel, lay a tile on the bung to keep the duft out. Make it in March, and it will be fit to use in June or July. Draw it off into little ftone-bottles the latter end of June or beginning. of July, let it ftand till you want to use it, and it willnever foul any more; but when you go to draw it off, and you find it is not four enough, let it ftand a monthlonger before you draw it off. For pickles to goabroad, use this vinegar alone ; but in England you will be obliged, when you pickle, to put one half cold fpring water to it, and then it will be full four with this vine -. gar. You need not boil, unleis you pleafe, for almost any fort of pickles, it will keep them quite good. It will keep walnuts very fine without boiling, even to go to the Indies; but then don't put water to it. For green pickles, you may pour it fealding hot on two or three. All other forts of pickles you need not boil it. times. Muthrooms, only wash them clean, dry them, put them into little bottles, with a nutmeg julk fealded in vine-gar and fliced (whilk it is hot) very thin, and a few blades of mace; then fill up the bottle with the cold' vinegar and fpring water, pour the mutton-fat tried over it, and tie a bladder and leather over the top. These mushrooms won't be fo white, but as finely tafted, as if they were just gathered : and a spoonful of thispickle will give fauce a very fine flavour.

White walnuts, fuckers, and onions, and all white pickles, do in the fame manner, after they are ready for the pickle.

To fry fineltr.

Lav your finelts in a marinade of vinegar, falt, pepper, and bay-leaves, and cloves, for a few hours; then dry them in a napkin, drudge them well with flour, and have ready fome butter hot in a flew-pan. Frythem quick, lay them in your difh, and garnish with stry'd parsley.

To roaft a pound of butter.

Lay it in falt and water two or three hours, then fpit it, and rub it all over with crumbs of bread, with a litfle grated nutmeg, lay it to the fire, and, as it roafts, bake it with the yolks of two eggs, and then with crumbs of bread all the time it is a-roafting; but have ready a pint of oyfters flewed in their own liquor, and lay in the difh under the butter; when the bread has foaked up all the butter, brown the outfide, and lay it on your oyfters. Your fire mult be very flow.

To raife a fallad in two hours at the fire.

TARE fresh horse-dung bot, lay it in a tub near the fire, then sprinkle some mustard-seeds thick on it, lay a thin layer of horse-dung over it, cover it close, and keep it by the fire, and it will rise high enough to cut in two hours.

CHAP. XX.

DISTILLING.

To difil walnut water.

AKE a peck of fine green walnuts, bruife them well in a large mortar, put them in a pan, with a handful of baum bruifed, put two quarts of good French brandy to them, cover them clofe, and let them lie three days; the next day diffil them in a cold ftill; from this quantity draw three quarts, which you may do in a day.

How to use this ordinary still.

You must lay the plate, then wood-afhes thick at the bottom, then the iron pan, which you are to fill with your walnuts and liquor, then put on the head of the fill, make a pretty brifk fire till the fill begins to drop, then flacken it fo as just to have enough to keep the fill at work, mind all the time to keep a wet cloth all over the head of the fill all the time it is at work, and always always observe not to let the fill work longer then the liquor is good, and take great care you don't burn the ftill; and thus you may diftil what you please. If you draw the fill too far, it will burn, and give your liquor a bad tafte.

To make treacle water.

TAKE the juice of green walnuts four pounds, of rue, cardue, marygold, and baum, of each three pounds, roots of butter-bur half a pound, roots of burdock one pound, angelica and makerwort, of each half a pound, leaves of foordium fix handfuls, Venice treacle and mithridate, of each half a pound, old Canary wine two pounds, white-wine vinegar fix pounds, juice of lemon fix pounds, and diffil this in an alembic.

To make black cherry water.

TARE fix pounds of black cherries, and bruile them Imall; then put to them the tops of rofemary, fweet marjoram, fpearmint, angelica, baum, marygold flowers, of each a handful, dried violets one ounce, annifeeds and fweet fennel-feeds, of each half an ounce bruifed; cut the herbs fmall, mix all together, and diffil them off in a cold'ftill.

To make hysterical water.

TARE betony, roots of lovage, feeds of wild parfnips, of each two ounces, roots of fingle piony four ounces, of milletoe of the oak three ounces, myrrh a quarter of an ounce, caftor half an ounce; beat all thefe together, and add to them a quarter of a pound of dried millepedes: pour on thefe three quarts of mugwort water, and two quarts of brandy; let them ftand in a clofe veffel eight days, then dittil it in a cold ftill posted up. You may draw off nine pints of water, and fweeten it to your tafte. Mix all together, and bottle it up.

To distil red-rofe buds.

WET your roles in fair water: four gallons of roles will take near two gallons of water, then ftill them in a cold fill; take the fame ftilled water, and put it inta

to as many fresh roles as it will wet, then still them again.

Mint, baum, parfley, and penny-royal water, diftil the fame way.

Fennel,

Roots. Angelica, Dragon, Maywort, Mint, Rue, Carduus. Origany, Winter-favoury, Broad thyme, Rolemary, Pimpernell, Sage, Fumatory, Coltsfoot, Scabeus, Burridge, Saxifrage, Betony, Liverwort, Jarmander.

Flowers. Seeds. Hart's tongues Wormwood, Horchound, Succory, E flop, Fennel, Melilot, Agrimonÿ, St. John wort, Cowflips, Comirey, Featherfew, Poppies, Phintain, Red-rofe leaves, Wood-forrel, Pellitory of the wall. Vocvain, Maidenhair, Heart's eafe. Centaury, Motherwort, Cowage, Sea-drink; a good handful of each of Golden-rod, the above things. Gromwell, Gentian-root, Dock-root, Butterbur-root, Piony-root, Bay-berries, Juniper berries; oF each a pound.

One ounce of nutmey, one ounce of cloves, and half an ounce of mace; pick the herbs and flowers, and fhred them a little. Cut the roots, bruile the berries. and pound the fpices fine ; take a peck of green walnuts, and chop them fmall; mix all these together, and lay them to fleep in fack lees, or any white-wine lees, if not, in good fpirits ; but wine-lees are beft. Let them lie a week or better; be fure to flir them once a day with a flick, and keep them close covered, then flil them in an alembic with a flow fire, and take care your still does not burn. The first, second, and third running are good, and some of the fourth. Let them Rand till cold, then put them together.

To make furfeit water.

You must take fcurvy-grafs, brook-lime, water-creffes, Roman wormwood, rue, mint, baum, fage, clivers, of each one handful; green merery, two handfuls; poppies, if freth, half a peck; if dry, a quarter of a peck; cochineal, fix-pennyworth; faffron, fix-pennyworth; anile-feeds, carraway-feeds, coriander-feeds, cardamomfeeds, of each an ounce; liquorice, two ounces foraped ; , figs fifit, a pound ; raifins of the fun ftoned, a pound ; juniper-berries, an ounce bruifed ; nutmeg, an ounce beat ; mace, an ounce bruifed ; fweet fennel-feeds, an ounce bruifed; a few flowers of rolemary, marygold, and fage-flowers; put all these into a large stone jar, and put to them three gallons of French brandy, cover it close, and let it stand near the fire for three weeks. Stir it three times a week, and be fure to keep it cloie stopped, and then strain it off; bottle your liquor, and pour on the ingredients a gallon more of French brandy. Let it stand a week, flirring it once a day, and diffil it in a cold flill, and this will make a five white forfeit water.

You may make this water at any time of the year, if you live at London, becaufe the ingredients are always to be had either green or dry; but it is the beft made in fummer.

To make milk water.

TAKE two good handfuls of wormwood, as much carduus, as much rue, four handfuls of mint, as much buum, half as much angelica, cut these a little, put them into a cold fkill, and put to them three quarts of muk. Let your fire be quick till your ftill drops, and then facken your fire. You may draw off two quarts. The tirtl quart will keep all the year.

How to MARKET:

And the feafons of the year for Butchers Meat, Poultry, Fifh, Herbs, Roots, &c. and Fruit.

Pieces in a bullock.

THE head, tongue, palate; the entrails are the fweetbreads, kidneys, fkirts, and tripe; there is the double, the roll, and the reed-tripe.

The fore-quarter.

First is the haunch, which includes the clod, marrow-bone, fhin, and the flicking-piece, that is, the neck end. The next is the leg-of-mutton-piece, which has part of the blade-bone, then the chuck, the britcuit, the four ribs, and middle rib, which is called the chuck. rib.

The hind-quarter.

FIRST, firloin and rump, the thin and thick flank, the veiny piece; then the chuck-bone, buttock, and leg.

In a sheep.

THE head and pluck, which includes the liver, lights, heart, fweetbreads, and milt.

The fore-quarter.

THE neck, breaft, and shoulder.

The hind-quarter.

THE leg and loin. The two loins together is called a faddle of mutton, which is a fine joint when it is the little fat mutton.

In a call.

The head and inwards are the pluck, which contains the head, liver, lights, nut, and milt, and what H h 2 they.

they call the fkirts, (which eat finely broiled), the throat fweetbread, and the wind-pipe fweetbread, which is the fineft.

The fore-quarter is the fhoulder, neck, and breaft.

The hind quarter is the leg, which contains the knuckle and fillet, then the loin.

In a house lamb.

THE head and pluck; that is, the liver, lights, heart, nut, and milt. Then there is the fry, which is the fweetbreads, lamb-flones, and fkirts, with fome of the liver.

The fore-quarter is the floulder, neck, and breaft together.

The hind-quarter is the leg and loin. This is in high feafon at Christmas, but last all the year.

Grafs lamb comes in in April or May, according to the feafon of the year, and holds good till the middle of August.

In a hog.

THE head and inwards; and that is the haflet, which is the liver and crow, kidney and fkirts. It is mixed with a great deal of fage and fweet herbs, pepper, falt, and fpice, fo rolled in the caul, and roafted; then there are the chitterlains and the guts, which are cleaned for fsufages.

The fore-quarter is the fore-loin and fpring; if a large hog, you may cut a fpare-rib off.

A bacon hog.

This is cut different, because of making ham, bacon, and pickled pork. Here you have fine fpare ribs, chines, and griskins, and fat for hog's lard. The liver and crow are much admired, fried with bacon; the feet and ears are both equally good, fourfed.

Pork comes in feafon at Bartholomew-tide, and holds good till Lady-day.

How

How to chufe Butchers Meat.

To chufe lamb.

In a fore-quarter of lamb mind the neck vein; if it be an azure blue, it is new and good, but, if greenith, or yellowith, it is near tainting, if not tainted already. In the hinder-quarter fmell under the kidney, and try the knuckle; if you meet with a faint fcent, and the knuckle be limber, it is stale killed. For a lamb's head, mind the eyes; if they be funk or wrinkled, it is stale; if plump and lively, it is new and fweet.

Veal:

If the bloody vein in the fhoulder looks blue, or abright red, it is new killed; but if blackifh, greenifh, or yellowifh, it is flabby and ftale; if wrapped in wet cloths, fmell whether it be mufty or not. The loin first taints under the kidney, and the fleft, if ftale killed, will be foft and flimy.

The breaft and neck taints firft at the upper end, and you will perceive fome dufky, yellowifh, or greenithappearance; the fweetbread on the breaft will be clainmy, otherwife it is frefh and good. The leg is known to be new by the ftiffnefs of the joint; if limber, and the flefh icems clammy, and has green or yellowifh fpecks, it is ftale. The head is known as the lamb's. The fielh of a bull-calf is more red and firm than that of a cow-calf, and the fat more hard and curdled.

Mutton.

If the mutton be young, the flefh will pinch tender ; if old, it will wrinkle and remain fo; if young, the fat will eafly part from the lean; if old, it will thick by ftrings and fkins; if ram-mutton, the fat feels fpungy, the flefh clofe-grained and tough, not rifing again when dented with your finger; if ewe-mutton, the flefh is pale: than wedder-mutton, a clofer grain, and eafly parting. If there be a rot, the flefh will be palith, and the fat a faint whitifh, inclining to yellow, and the flefh will be loofe at the bone. If you fgneeze it hard, fome H h 3, drops of water will fland up like fweat; as to the newnefs and flalenefs, the fame is to be observed as by lamb.

366

Beef.

Is it be right ox beef, it will have an open grain; if young, a tender and oily fmoothnefs: if rough and fpungy, it is old, or inclining to be io, except the neck, brifcuit, and fuch parts as are very fibrous, which in young meat will be more rough than in other parts. A carmation pleafant colour betokens good spending meat, the fuet a curious white; yellowish is not fo good.

Cow-beef is less bound and closer grained than the ox, the fat whiter, but the lean fomewhat paler; if young, the dent you make with your finger will rife again in a little time.

Bull-beef is of a clofe grain, deep dufky red, toughin pinching, the fat skinny, hard, and bas a rammish, rank smell; and, for newness and staleness, this steff bought fresh has but few signs, the more material is its clamminess, and the rest your smell will inform you. If it be bruised, these places will look more dusky or blackish than the rest.

Port.

Is it be young, the lean will break in pinching between your fingers, and, if you nip the fkin with your nails, it will make a dent; alfo, if the fat be foft andpulpy, in a manner like lard: if the kan be tough, and the fat flabby and fpungy, feeling rough, it is old, efpecially if the rhind be flubborn, and you cannot nip it with your nails.

If of a boar, though young, or of a hog gelded atfull growth, the flefh will be hard, tough, reddith, and raramish of fmell; the fat fkinny and hard; the fkim very thick and tough, and, pinched up, will immediately fall again.

As for old and new killed, try the legs, hands, and fprings, by putting your finger under the bone that comes out; for, if it be tainted, you will there find it i v fmelling your finger; befides, the fkin will be fweaty

If you find little kernels in the fat of the pork, like hail-thot, if many, it is meafly, and dangerous to be eaten.

How to chufe brawn, venifon, Westphalia hams, &c.

ERAWN is known to be old or young by the extraordinary or moderate thickness of the rhind; the thick is old, the moderate is young. If the rhind and fat be very tender, it is not boar brawn, but barrow or fow-Venifon.

Tay the haunches or fhoulders under the bones that • come out, with your finger or knife, and as the fcent is fweet or rank, it is new or flale; and the like of the fides in the moft fieldy parts: if tainted they will look greenifh in fome places, or more than ordinary black. Look on the hoofs, and if the clefts are very wide and tough, it is old; if clofe and fmooth, it is young.

The feafon for venifon.

The buck venifon begins in May, and is in highfeafon till All-Hallow's-day; the doe is in feafon from-Michaelmas to the end of December, or fometimes to the end of January.

Westphalia hams and English bacen.

Pur a knife under the bone that flicks out of the ham, and if it comes out in a manner clean, and has a curious flavour, it is sweet and good; if much smeared and duiled, it is tainted or rully.

English gammons are tried the same way; and for other parts try the fat; if it be white, oily in feeling, and does not break or crumble, and the fleih sticks well to the bone, and bears a good colour, it is good; but if the contrary, and the lean has forme little streaks of yellow, it is rulty, or will foon be for

To chuje butter, cheefe, and eggs.

WHEN you buy butter, truit not to that which will be given you to tatte, but try in the middle, and if your finell and taffe be good, you cannot be deceived. Cheefe

3687 THE ART OF COOKERY

Cheefe is to be chofen by its moilt and fmooth coat ; if old cheefe be rough coated, rugged, or dry at top, beware of little worms or mites. If it be over-full of holes, moilt or fpungy, it is fubject to maggots. If any foft or perifhed place appear on the outfide, tryhow deep it goes, for the greater part may be hid within.

Eggs, hold the great end to your tongue; if it feelswarm, be fure it is new; if cold, it is bad, and fo inproportion to the heat and cold, fo is the goodnefs of the egg. Another way to know a good egg is to put the egg into a pan of cold water, the frefher the egg, the fooner it will fall to the bottom; if rotten, it will fwim at the top. This is also a fure way not to be deceived. As to the keeping of them, pitch them alt with the fmall end dowhwards in fine wood afhes, turning them once a-week end ways, and they will keep fome months.

How

How to chufe Poultry.

To know whether a capon is a true one, young or old, new or flale.

IF he be young, his fpurs are fhort, and his lega finooth; if a true capon, a fat vein on the fide of his breaft, the comb pale, and a thick belly and rump; if new, he will have a close hard vent; if ftale, a loofe open vent.

A cock or ben turkey, turkey poults.

If the cock be young, his legs will be black and fmooth, and his fpurs fhort; if ftale, his eyes will be funk in his head, and the feet dry; if new, the eyes lively and feet limber. Obferve the like by the hen, and moreover if fhe be with egg, fhe will have a foft open vent; if not, a hard clofe vent. Turkey poults are known the fame way, and their age cannot deceive you.

A cock, ben, &c.

It young, his fpurs are fhort and dubbed, but take particular notice they are not pared nor feraped : if old, he will have an open vent; but if new, a clofe bard vent : and fo of a hen, for newnefs or ftalenefs; if old, her legs and comb are rough; if young, fmooth.

A tame goofe, wild goofe, and bran goofe.

IF the bill be yellowish, and she has but few hairs, she is young; but if full of hairs, and the bill and foot red, the is old; if new, limber footed; if stale, dry footed. And so of a wild goose, and bran goose.

Wild and tame ducks.

THE duck, when fat, is hard and thick on the belly, but if not, thin and lean; if new, limber-footed; if ftale, dry-footed. A true wild duck has a reddifh foot, fmaller than the tame one.

Goodwetts,

Goodwetts, marke, knots, ruffs, gull, dotterells, and wheatears.

Ir these be old, their legs will be rough; if young, fmooth; if fat, a fat rump; if new, limber-footed; if fale, dry footed.

Pheafant cock and hen.

THE cock when young, has dubbed fpurs; when old, fharp fmall fpurs; if new, a faft vent; and if ftale, an open flabby one. The hen, if young, has fmooth legs, and her flefh of a curious grain; if with egg, fhe will have a foft open vent, and if not, a clofe one. For newnefs or ftalenefs, as the cock.

Heath and pheafant poults.

Is new, they will be fiff and white in the vent, and the feet limber; if fat, they will have a hard vent; if fale, dry footed and limber; and if touched, they will peel.

Heath cock and ben.

IF young, they have 'mooth legs and bills; and if old, rough. For the reft, they are known as the foregoing.

Partridge, cock and hen.

THE bill white, and the legs bluifh, fhew age; for if young, the bill is black, and the legs yellowifh; if new, a faft vent; if stale, a green and open one. If their crops be full, and they have fed on green wheat, they may taint there; and for this smell in their mouths

Woodcock and fnipe.

THE woodcock, if fat, is thick and hard; if new, limber footed; when stale, dry-footed; or if their nofes are shotty, and their throats muddy and moorish, they are naught. A snipe, if fat, has a fat vent in the side under the wing, and in the vent feels thick; for the reft, like the woodcock.

Doves and pigeons.

To know the turtle dove, look for a bluish ring round his neck, and the rest mostly white; the stockdove is bigger; and the ring-dove is less than the stockdove. The dove-house pigeons, when old, are red legged; if new and fat, they will feel full and fat in the vent, and are limber-footed; but if stale a stabby and green vent.

And thus of green or grey plover, fieldfare, blackbird, thrufh, lark, &c.

Of bare, leveret, and rabbit.

HARE will be whitifh and ftiff, if new and clean killed; if ftale, the flefh blackifh in moft parts, and the body limber; if the cleft in her lips fpread very much, and her claws be wide and ragged, fhe is old, and, if the contrary, young; if the hare be young, the ears will tear like a piece of brown paper; if old, dry and tough. To know a true leveset, feel on the fore-leg near the foot, and if there be a fmall bone or knob it is right, if not, it is a hare: for the reft obferve as in a hare. A rabbit, if ftale, will be limber and flimy; if new, white and ftiff; if old, her claws are very long and rough, the wool mottled with grey hairs; if young, the claws and wool fmooth.

tollis, both land and fea flurgeon, feale, chubb, lob. Rers, and crabs.

Sturgeon is a fift commonly found in the northern feas; but now and then we find them in our great rivers, the Thames, the Severn, and the 'Tyne. This fifth is of a very large fize, and will fometimes measure eighteen feet in length. They are much efteemed when fresh, cut in pieces, and roafted or baked, or pickled for cold treats. The cavier is efteemed a dainty, which is the spawn of this fifth. The latter end of this quarter comes fmelts.

Michaelmas quarter.

Con and haddock, coal-fifh, white and pouting hake, lyng, tufk and mullet, red and grey weaver, gurnet, rocket, herrings, fprats, foals and flounders, plaice, dabs and fmeare dabs, cels, chare, fcate, thornback and homlyn, kinfon, oyfters and feollops, falmon, fea-perch and carp, pike, tench, and fea-tench.

Scate-maides are black, and thornback-maides white. Grey bafs comes with the mullet.

In this quarter are fine smelts, and hold till after Christmas.

There are two forts of mullets, the fea-mullet and river-mullet, both equally good.

Christmas quarter.

DOREY, brile, gudgeons, gollin, fmelts, crouch, perch, anchovy and loach, fcollop and wilks, periwinkles, cockles, muffels, geare, bearbet and hollebet.

How to chufe Fifh.

To chufe falmon, piks, trout, carp, tench, grailing, barbel, chub, ruff, vel, whiting, fmelt, fhad, &c.

ALL these are known to be new or stale by the colour of their gills, their casiness or hardness to open; the hanging or keeping up their fins, the standing out or finking of their eyes, &c. and by smelling their gills: Turbot.

Turbol.

He is chosen by his thickness and plumpness; and if his belly be of a cream colour, he must speud well; but if thin, and his belly of a bluith white, he will eat very loofe.

Cod and codlings.

CHUSE him by his thickness towards his head, and the whiteness of his fiesh when it is cut: and so of a codling.

Lyng.

For dried lyng, chufe that which is thickeft in the pall, and the fleft of the brighteft yellow.

Scate and thornback.

THESE are chosen by their thickness, and the shescate is the sweetest, especially if large.

Soals.

THESE are chosen by their thickness and fliffness i when their bellies are of a cream colour, they spend the firmer.

Sturgeon.

Is it cuts without crumbling, and the veins and griftles give a true blue where they appear, and the Hefh a perfect white, then conclude it to be good.

Fresh herrings and mackrel.

Is their gills are of a lively fhining rednefs, their byes fland full, and the fifh is fliff, then they are new; and if dufky and faded, or finking and wrinkled, and tails limber, they are flale.

Lobfters.

CHUSE them by their weight; the heavieft are beft, if no water be in them : if new, the tail will pull fmart, like a fpring; if full, the middle of the tail will be full of hard, or reddifh fkinned, meat. Cock lobfter is known by the narrow back part of the tail, and the li two uppermost fins within his tail are stiff and hard; but the hen is fost, and the back of her tail broader.

Prawns, Sprimps, and craw-fish.

THE two first, if stale, will be limber, and cast a kind of simy fmell, their colour fading, and they slimy : the latter will be limber in their claws and joints, their red colour turn blackish and dusky, and will have an ill smell under their throats; otherwise all of them are good.

Plaice and flounders.

IF they are fliff, and their eyes be not funk or look dull, they are new; the contrary when flale. The beff fort of plaice look bluifh on the belly.

Pickled falmon.

Is the flefh feels oily, and the fcales are ftiff and fhining, and it comes in flakes, and parts without crumbling, then it is new and good, and not otherwife.

Pickled and red herrings.

For the first, open the back to the bone, and if the flefh be white, fleeky, and oily, and the bone white, or a bright red, they are good. If red herrings carry a good glois, part well from the bone, and fmell well, then conclude them to be good.

CHAP. XXII.

A certain cure for the bite of a mad dog.

Let the patient be blooded at the arm nine or ten ounces. Take of the herb, called in Latin, licher cinercus terrefiris; in Englifh, afh-coloured ground liverwort; cleaned, dried, and powdered, half an ounce. Of black pepper powdered, two drams. Mix thefe welk together, and divide the powder into four dofes, one of which muit be taken every morning faking, for four mornings fucceffively, in half a pint of cow's milk warm. After thefe four dofes are taken, the patient muft go into the cold bath, or a cold fpring or river every morning fafting for a month. He muft be dipt all over, but not to flay in (with his head above water) lorger than half a minute, if the water be very cold. After this he muft go in three times a week for a fortnight longer.

N. B. The lichen is a very common herb, and grows generally in fandy and barren foils all over England. The right time to gather it is in the month of October and November. Dr. Mead.

Another for the bite of a mad dog.

For the bite of a mad dog, for either man or beaft, take fix ounces of rue clean picked and bruifed, four ounces of garlic peeled and bruifed, four ounces of Venice treacle, and four sunces of filed pewter, or foraped tim. Boil thefe in two quarts of the beft ale, in a pan covered clofe over a gentle fire, for the fpace of an hour, then flrain the ingredients from the liquor.

Give eight or nine fpoonfuls of it warm to a man or a woman, three mornings faiting. Eight or nine fpoonfuls is fufficient for the firongest; a leffer quantity to those younger, or of a weaker conflictution, as you may judge of their firength: ten or twelve spoonfuls for a horse or a bullock: three, four, or five, to a sheep, hog, or dog. This must be given within nine days after the bite; it feldom fails in man or beast. If you can conveniently bind fome of the ingredients on the wound, it will be so much the better.

Receipt against the plague.

TARE of rue, fage, mint, rolemary, wormwood, and lavender, a handful of each; infuse them together in a gallon of white-wine vinegar, put the whole into a ftone pot closely covered up, upon warm wood-aihes, for four days : after which draw off (or ftrain throughfine flannel) the liquid, and put it into bottles well corked, and into every quart bottle put a quarter of an ounce of camphire. With this preparation wash your mouth, and rub your loins and your temples every day ; fnuff a little up your nostrils when you go into the air, and carry about you a bit of fpunge dipped in the fame, in order to fmell to upon all occasions, effectially when you are near any place or perfon that is infected. They write, that four malefactors (who had robbed the infected houses, and murdered the people during the courfe of the plague) owned, when they came to the gallows, that they had preferved themiclyes from the contagion by using the above medicine only, and that they went the whole time from house to house without any fear of the diftemper.

How to keep clear from bugs.

FIRST take out of your room all filver and gold lace, then fet the chairs about the room, flut up your windows and doors, tack a blanket over each window, and before the chimney, and over the doors of the room, fet open all clofets and cupboard doors, all your drawers and hozes, hang the reft of your bedding on the chair-backs, lay the feather-bed on a table, then fet a large broad earthen pap in the middle of the room, and

and in that fet a chaffing-difh that flands on feet, full of charcoal well lighted: if your room is very bad, a pound of rolled brimitone ; if only a few, half a pound. Lay it on the charcoal, and get out of the room as quick as poffibly you can, or it will take away your breath. Shut your door close, with the blanket over it, and be fure to fet it fo as nothing can catch fire. If you have any India pepper, throw it in with the brimftone. You must take care to have the door open whilst you lay in the brimítone, that you may get out as foon as poffible. Don't open the door under fix hours, and then you must be very careful how you go in to open the windows; therefore let the doors stand open an hour before you open the windows. Then bruth and fweep . your room very clean, wash it well with boiling lee, or boiling water, with a little unflacked lime in it, get a pint of fpirits of wine, a pint of fpirit of turpentine, . and an ounce of camphire; thake all well together, and . with a bunch of feathers wash your bedilead very well, and fprinkle the reft over the feather-bed, and about the wainfcot and room.

If you find great fwarms about the room, and fome : not dead, do this over again, and you will be quite clear. Every fpring and fall wafh your beditead with half a pint, and you will never have a bug; but if you find any come in with new goods or boxes, &c. only wafh your beditead, and fprinkle all over your bedding and bed, and you will be clear; but be fure to do it as foon as you find one. If your room is very bad, it will be well to paint the room after the brimftone is burnt in it.

An effectual way to clear the bedflead of bugs. .

TARE quickfilver, and mix it well in a mortar, with be the white of an egg, till the quickfilver is all well mixt, and there is no blubbers; then beat up fome white of an egg very fine, and mix with the quickfilver till it is like a fine ointment, then with a feather anoint the bedflead all over in every creek and corner, and about the lacing and binding, where you think there is any. Do this two or three times: it is a certain cure, and : will not fpoil any thing.

ADDITIONS,

As printed in the FIFTH EDITION.

To drefs a turtle the Weft Indian way.

AKE the turtle out of water the night before you intend to drefs it, and lay it on its back, in the morning cut its throat or the head off, and let it bleed well; then cut off the fins, scald, scale, and trim them with the head, then raife the callepy (which is the belly or under shell) clean cff, leaving to it as much meat as you conveniently can; then take from the back-fhell all the meat and intrails, except the monficur, which is the fat, and looks green, that must be baked to and with the fhell; wash all clean with falt and water, and cut it into pieces of a moderate fize, taking from it the bones, and put them with the fins and head in a fouppot, with a gallon of water, fome falt, and two blades of mace. When it boils, ikim it clean, then put in a bunch of thyme, parfley, favoury, and young onions, and your veal part, except about one pound and a half, which must be made force-meat of, as for Scots collops, adding a little Cayan pepper; when the yeal has boiled in the foup an hour, take it out, and cut it in pieces, and put to the other part. The guts (which is reckoned the best part) must be split open, scraped, and made clean, and cut in pieces about two inches long. The paunch or maw must be scalded and skinned, and cut, as the other parts, the fize you think proper; then 2110 put them with the guts and other parts, except the liver, with half a pound of good fresh butter, a few shalots, a bunch of thyme, parlley, and a little favoury, feafoned with falt, white pepper, mace, three or four cloves beaten, a little Cayan pepper, and take care not to put too much; then let it slew about half an hour over a good charcoal fire, and put in a pint and a half of Madeira wine, and as much of the broth as will cover it, and let it stew till tender. It will take four or five hours doing. When almost enough, skim it, and thicken it with flour, mixt with fome yeal broth, about the thicknefs of a fricaley. Let your force-meat balls be fried about the fize of a walnut, and be flewed about half an hour with the reft; if any eggs, let them be boiled and cleaned as you do knots of pullets eggs, and, if none, get twelve or fourteen yolks of hard eggs: then put the flew (which is the callepath) into the back. shell, with the eggs all over, and put it into the oven to brown, or do it with a falamander.

The callepy muit be flashed in feveral places, and moderately feasoned, with pieces of butter, mixt with chopped thyme, parsley, and young onions, with fait, white pepper and mace beaten; and a little Cayan pepper; put a piece on each flash, and then some over, and a dust of flour; then bake it in a tin or iron dripping-pan, in a brisk oven.

The back-fhell (which is called the callepafh) muft be feafoned as the callepy, and baked in a dripping-pan, fet upright with four brick-bats, or any thing elfe. Anhour and a half will bake it, which muft be done before the flew is put in.

The fins, when boiled very tender, to be taken out of the foup, and put into a flew-pan, with fome good veal gravy, not high coloured, a little Madeira wine, feafoned and thickened as the callepath, and ferved in a difh by it(elf.

The lights, heart, and liver may be done the fame way, only a little higher feafoned; or the lights and heart may be flewed with the callepafh. and taken out before you put it in the fhell, with a little of the fauce, adding a little more feafoning, and difh it by itfelf.

The veal part may be made friandos, or Scots collops of. The liver fhould never be flewed with the callepafh, but always dreffed by itfelf after any manner you like, except you feparate the lights and heart from the callepafh, and then always ferve them together in one difh. Take care to firain the foup, and ferve it in a turcen, or clean china bowl.

Differs. A Callepy. Lights, &c .- Soup.-Fins. Callepafh.

N. B. In the Weft Indies they generally foule the fins, and eat them cold; omit the liver, and only fend to table the callepy, callepath, and foup. This is for a turtle about fixty pounds weight.

To make ice cream.

TAKE two pewter balons, one larger than the other; the inward oue mult have a clofe cover, into which you are to put your cream, and mix it with rafpberries, or whatever you like beth, to give it a flavour and colour. Sweeten it to your palate; then cover it clofe, and fet it into the larger balon. Fill it with ice, and a handful of falt : let it fland in this ice three quarters of an hour, then uncover it, and flir the cream well together; cover it clofe again, and let it fland half an hour longer; afier that turn it into your plate. Thefe things are made at the pewterers.

A turkey, &c. in jelly.

Boit a turkey or a fowl as white as you can, let it Rand till cold, and have ready a jelly made thus: take a fowl, fkin it, take (ff all the fat, don't cut it to pieces, nor break the bones; take four pounds of a leg of veal, without any fat or fkin, put it into a well-tinned faucepan, put to it full three quarts of water, fet it on a very clear fire till it begins to fimmer; be fure to fkim it well, but take great care it don't boil. When it is well fkimmed, fet it fo as it will but juft feem to fimmer, put to it two large blades of mace, half a nutmeg, and twenty corns of white pepper, a little bit of lemon-peel as big as a fixpence. This will take fix or feven hours doing.

doing. When you think it is a stiff jelly, which you will know by taking a little out to cool, be fure to fkint off all the fat, if any, and be fure not to flir the meat in the fauce-pan. A quarter of an hour before it is done, throw in a large tea-spoonful of falt, squeeze in the juice of half a fine Seville orange or lemon; when you think it is enough, ftrain it off through a clean fieve, but don't pour it off quite to the bottom for fear of fettlings. Lay the turkey or fowl in the difh you intend to fend it to the table in, and pour this liquor over it, let it ftand till quite cold, and fend it to table. A few naftertian flowers fluck here and there looks pretty, if you can get them; but lemon and all those things are entirely fancy. This is a very pretty difh for a cold collation, or a supper.

All forts of birds or fowls may be done this way.

To make citron.

QUARTER your melon, and take out all the infide, then put into the fyrup as much as will cover the coat; let it boil in the fyrup till the coat is as tender as the inward part, then put them in the pot with as much fyrup as will cover them. Let them fland for two or three days, that the fyrup may penetrate through them, and boil your fyrup to a candy height with as much mountain wine as will wet your fyrup, clarify it, and then boil it to a candy height; then dip in the quarters, and lay them on a fieve to dry, and fet them before a flow fire, or put them in a flow oven till dry. Observe that your melon is but half ripe, and, when they are dry, put them in deal boxes in paper.

To candy cherries or green gages.

Dir the stalks and leaves in white-wine vinegar boile ing, then feald them in fyrup; take them out, and boil them to a candy height ; dip in the cherries, and hang them to dry with the cherries downwards. Dry them before the fire, or in the fun. Then take the plumbs, after boiling them in a thin fyrup, peel off the skin and candy them, and fo hang them up to dry.

386 THE ART OF COOKERY

To prevent the infection among horned cattle.

MAKE an iffue in the dewlap, put in a peg of black hellebore, and rub all the vents both behind and before with tar.

NECESSARY DIRECTIONS,

Whereby the Reader may eafily attain the uleful ART of CARVING.

To cut up a turkey.

RAISE the leg, open the joint, but be fure not to take off the leg; lace down both fides of the breaft, and open the pinion of the breaft, but do not take it off; raife the merry-thought between the breaft-bone and the top, raife the brawn, and turn it outward both fides, but be careful not to cut it off, nor break it; divide the wing-pinions from the joint next the body, and flick each pinion where the brawn was turned out; cut off the fharp end of the pinion, and the middle-piece will fit the place exactly.

A builtard, capon, or pheafant, is cut up in the fame manner.

To rear a goofe.

Cur off both legs in the manner of shoulders of lamb; take off the belly-piece close to the extremity of the breast; lace the goose down both sides of the breast, about half an inch from the sharp bone: divide the pinions and the flesh, first laced with your knife, which must be raised from the bone, and taken off, with the pinion, from the body; then cut off the merry-thought, and cut another slice from the breast-bone quite through; lastly, turn up the carcase, cutting it asunder, the back above the loin boncs.

To

To unbrace a mallard or duck.

First raife the pinions and legs, but cut them not off; then raife the merry-thought from the break, and lace it down both fides with your knife.

To unlace a coney.

THE back must be turned downward, and the apron divided from the belly; this done, flip in your knife between the kidneys, loofening the ficth on each fide; then turn the belly, cut the back crofs-ways between the wings, draw your knife down both fides of the backbone, dividing the fides and leg from the back. Obferve not to pull the leg too violently from the bone when you open the fide, but with great exactnefs lay open the fides from the feut to the fhoulder, and theu put the legs together.

To wing a partridge or quail.

AFTER having raifed the legs and wings, use falt and powdered ginger for fauce.

To allay a pheafant or tail.

THIS differs in nothing from the foregoing, but that you must use falt only for fauce.

To difmember a hern.

Cut off the legs, lace the breaft down each fide, and open the breaft-pinion, without cutting it off; raife the merry-thought between the breaft-bone and the top of it; then raife the brawn, turning it outward on both fides; but break it not, nor cut it off; fever the wingpinion from the joint neareft the body, flicking the pinions in the place where the brawn was; remember to cut off the fharp end of the pinion, and fupply the place with the middle-piece.

In this manner fome people cut up a capon or pheafant, and likewife a bittern, using no fauce but falt.

To thigh a woodcock.

THE legs and wings must be raifed in the manner of a fowl, only open the head for the brains; and fo you thigh curlews, ployer, or fnipe, using no fauce but falt.

To difplay a crane.

AFTER his legs are unfolded, cut off the wings; take them up, and fance them with powdered ginger, vinegar, falt, and multard.

To lift a fewan.

SLIT it fairly down the middle of the breaft, clean through the back from the neck to the rump; divide it in two parts, neither breaking nor tearing the fiefh; then lay the halves in a charger, the flit fides downwards, throw falt upon it, and fet it again on the table. The fauce must be chaldron, ferved up in faucers.

APPENDIX

A P P E N D I X.

Observations on preferving Salt Meat, so as to keep it mellow and fine for three or four Month; and to preferve potted Butter.

AKE care, when you falt your meat in the fummer, that it be quite cool after it comes from the butcher's; the way is, to lay it on cold bricks for a few hours, and, when you falt it, lay it upon an inelining board to drain off the blood ; then falt it arreth, add to every pound of falt half a pound of Lifbon fugar, and turn it in the pickle every day; at the month's end it will be fine ; the falt which is commonly used hardens and fpoils all the meat; the right fort is that called Lowndes's falt ; it comes from Nantwich in Chefhire ; there is a very fine fort that comes from Malden in Effex, and from Suffolk, which is the reafon of that butter being finer than any other; and, if every body would make use of that falt in petting butter, we should not have fo much bad come to market ; obferving all the general rules of a dairy. If you keep your meat long in falt, half the quantity of fugar will do; and then beliow loaf fugar; it will eat much finer. This pickle cannot be called extravagant, becaufe it will keep a great while; at three or four months end boil it up; if you have no meat in the pickle, fkim it, and, when cold, only add a little more fall and fugar to the next mentyou put in, and it will be good a twelvemonth longer.

Take a leg-of-mutton piece, veiny or thick faidpiece, without any bone, pickled as above, only add to every pound of talt an ounce of faltpetre; after being a month or two in the pickle, take it out, and lay it in foft water a few hours, then roaft it; it cats fine. A leg of mutton or fhoulder of veal does the fame. It is a very good thing where a market is at a great diffance, K & 3 and and a large family obliged to provide a great deal of meat.

As to the pickling of hams and tongues, you have the receipt in the foregoing chapters; but use either of these fine falts, and they will be equal to any Bayonne hams, provided your porkling is fine, and well sed.

. To drefs a mock turtle.

TARE a calf's head, and feald off the hair, as you would do off a pig; then clean it, eut off the horny part in thin flices, with as little of the lean as poffible ; put in a few chopped oyfters and the brains ; have ready between a quart and three pints of ftrong mutton or veal gravy, with a quart of Madeira wine, a large tea-spoonful of Cayan butter, a large onion chopped very fmall; peel off an half of a large lemon, fhred as fine as poffible, a little falt, the juice of four lemons, and fome fweet herbs cut fmall; flew all these together till the meat is very tender, which will be in about an hour and an half, and then have ready the back shell of a turtle, lined with a passe of flour and water, which you must first fet into the oven to harden ; then put in the ingredients, and fet it into the oven to brown the top; and, when that is done, fuit your garnish at the top with the volks of eggs boiled hard, and force-meat balls.

N. B. This receipt is for a large head; if you cannot get the shell of a turtle, a china soup-dish will do as well; and, if no oven is at hand, the setting may be omitted, and, if no oysters are to be had, it is very good without.

It has been dreffed with but a pint of wine, and the juice of two lemons.

When the horny part is boiled a little tender, then put in your white meat.

It will do without the oven, and take a fine knuckle of veal, cut off the fkin, and cut fome of the firm lean into fmail pieces as you do the white meat of a turtle, and flew it with the other white meat above.

Take the firm hard fat which grows between the meat, and lay that into the fauce of fpinage or forrel, till half an hour before the above is ready; then take it out, and lay it on a fieve to drain: and put in juice to flew with the above. The remainder of the knuckle will help the gravy.

To stew a buttock of beef.

TARE the beef that is foaked, wash it clean from falt, and let it ly an hour in fost water; then take it out, and put it into your pot, as you would do to boil, but put no water in, cover it close with the lid, and let it stand over a middling fire, not fierce, but rather flow: it will take just the fame time to do, as if it was to be boiled; when it is about half done, throw in an onion, a little bundle of fweet herbs, a little mace and whole pepper; cover it down quick again; boil roots and herbs as usual to eat with it. Send it to table with the gravy in the difh.

To flow green peafs the Jows way.

To two full quarts of peafe put in a full quarter of a pint of oil and water, not fo much water as oil; a little different fort of fpices, as mace, clove, pepper, and nutmeg, all beat fine; a little Cayan pepper, a little falt; let all this flew in a broad, flat pipkin; when they are half done, with a fpoon make two or three holes; into each of these holes break an egg, yolk and white; take one egg and beat it, and throw over the whole when enough, which you will know by tashing them; and the egg being quite hard, fend them to table.

If they are not done in a very broad open thing, it will be a great difficulty to get them out to lay in a difh.

They would be better done in a filver or tin difh, on a flew-hole, and go to table in the fame difh : it is much better than putting them out into another difh.

To drefs haddocks after the Spanish way.

TARE a haddock, washed very clean and dried, and broil it nicely; then take a quarter of a pint of oil in a flew-pan, feason it with mace, cloves and nutmeg, pepper and falt, two cloves of garlic, fome love apples, where when in featon, a little vinegar; put in the fifh, cover it clofe, and let it flew half an hour over a flow fire. Flounders, done the fame way, are very good.

Minched baddocks after the same way.

Boil them, and take out all the bones, mince them very fine with parfley and onions; feelon with nutmeg, pepper and falt, and flew them in butter, just enough to keep moift, fqueeze the juice of a lemon, and when cold, mix them up with eggs, and put into a puff-palte.

To drefs haddocks the Jews way ...

TAKE two large fine haddoeks, wash them very clean, cut them in flices about three inches thick, and dry them in a cloth; take a gill either of oil or butter in a flew-pan, a middling onion cut small, a handful of parsley washed and cut small; let it just boil up in either butter or oil, then put in the fish; feason it with beaten mace, pepper and falt, half a pint of fost water; let it flew fostly, till it is thoroughly done; then take the yolks of two eggs, beat up with the juice of a lemon, and just as it is done enough, throw it over, and fend it to table.

A Spanish prase-foup.

TAKE one pound of Spanish peas, and lay them in water the night before you use them; then take a gallon of water, one quart of fine sweet oil, a head of garlic; cover the pot close, and let it boil till the peas are fost; then sealon with pepper and salt; then beat up the yolk of an egg, and vinegar to your palate; poach some eggs, lay in the dish on suppers, and pour the four on them. Send it to table.

To make onion foup the Spanish way.

TAKE two large Spanish onions, peel and flice them; het them boil very foftly in half a pint of fweet oil till the onions are very fost; then pour on them three pints of boiling water; feason with beaten pepper, falt, a boaten clove and mace, two fpoonfuls of vinegar; handful a handful of pariley washed clean, and chopped fine; let it boil fast a quarter of an hour: in the mean time, get fome fippets to cover the bottom of the dish, fried quick, not hard; lay them in the dish, and cover each sippet with a poached egg; beat up the yolks of two eggs, and throw over them; pour in your scup, and fend it to table.

Garlic and forrel done the fame way, eats well.

Milk foup the Dutch way.

TAKE a quart of milk, boil it with cinnamon and moift fugar; put fippets in the difh, pour the milk over it, and fet it over a charcoal fire to fimmer till the bread is foft. Take the yolks of two eggs, beat them up, and mix it with a little of the milk, and throw it in; mix it all together, and fend it up to table.

Fifs pafies the Italian way.

TARE fome flour, and knead it with oil; take a flice of falmon; feafon it with pepper and falt, and dip into fweet oil, chop onion and parfley fine, and flrew over it; lay it in the pafte, and double it up in the fhape of a flice of falmon: take a piece of white paper, oil it, and lay under the pafty, and bake it; it is beft cold, and will keep a month.

Mackrel done the fame way; head and tail together folded in a pafty, cats fine.

Asparagus dressed the Spanish way.

TAKE the alparagus, break them in pieces, then boil them foft, and drain the water from them; take a little oil, water and vinegar, let it boil, feafon it with pepper and falt, throw in the alparagus, and thicken with yolks of eggs.

Endive done this way, is good : the Spaniards add fugar, but that fpoils them. Green peafe done as above, are very good; only add a lettuce cut fmall, and two or three onions, and leave out the eggs.

Red

Red calbage dreffed after the Dutch way, good for a cold in the breaft.

TARE the cabbage, cut it fmall, and boil it foft, then drain it, and put it in a flew-pan, with a fufficient quantity of oil and butter, a little water and vinegar, and an onion cut finall; feafon it with pepper and falt, and let it fimmer on a flow fire, till all the liquor is wafted.

Cauliflowers dreffed the Spanish way.

Boit them, but not too much ; then drain them, and put them into a flew-pan; to a large cauliflower, put a quarter of a pint of fweet oil, and two or three cloves of garlic; let them fry till brown; then feafon them with pepper and falt, two or three fpoonfuls of vinegar; cover the pan very close, and let them fimmer over a very flow fire an hour.

Carrots and French Beans dreffed the Dutch way.

SLICE the carrots very thin, and just cover them with water; feafon them with pepper and falt, cut a good many onions and parsley small, a piece of butter; let them simmer over a slow fire till done. Do French beans the same way.

Beans dreffed the German way.

TARE a large bunch of onions, peel and flice them, a great quantity of parsley washed and cut fmall, throw them into a flew-pan, with a pound of butter; feasion them well with pepper and falt, put in two quarts of beans; cover them clofe, and let them do till the beans are brown, flaking the pan often. Do pease the fame way.

Artichoke fuckers dreffed the Spanish way.

CLEAN and wash them, and cut them in halves; then boil them in water, drain them from the water, and put them into a flew-pan with a little oil, a little water, and a little vinegar; feason them with pepper and falt; flew them a little while, and then thicken them with yolks of eggs.

To dry pears without fugar.

TARE the Norwich pears, pare them with a knife, and put them in an earthen pot, and bake them not too foft; put them into a white plate pan, and put dry ftraw under them, and lay them in an oven after bread is drawn, and every day warm the oven to the degree of heat as when the bread is newly drawn. Within one week they muft be dry.

To dry lettuce-stalks, artichoke-stalks, or cabbage-stalks.

TAKE the ftalks, peel them to the pith, and put the pith in a ftrong brine three or four days; then take them out of the brine, boil them in fair water very tender, then dry them in a cloth, and put them into as much clarified fugar as will cover them, and fo preferve them as you do oranges; then take them and fet them to drain; then take frefh fugar, and boil it to the height; take them out and dry them.

Artichokes preferved the Spanish way.

TAKE the largest you can get, cut the tops of the leaves off, wash them well and drain them; to every artichoke pour in a large spoonful of oil; seasoned with pepper and falt. Send them to the oven, and bake them, they will keep a year.

N. B. The Italians, French, Portuguele, and Spaniards, have variety of ways of dreffing of fifh, which we have not, viz.

As making fish-soup, ragoos, pies, &c.

For their foups, they use no gravy, nor in their fauces, thinking it improper to mix flesh and fish together; but make their fish soups with fish, viz. either of crawfish, lobsters, &c. taking only the juice of them.

TARE the meat and fuet as above, and flour, with beaten mace, cloves, and nutmeg, to your palate, a pound of currants washed very clean, a pound of raisinsthoned, and chopped fine, half a pint of fack; mix all well together, and boil it is the calf's bag two hours.-You must carry it to table in the bag it is bailed in.

To make four crout.

TAKE your fine hard white cabbage, cut them very fmall, have a tub on purpose with the head out, according to the quantity you intend to make ; put them in the tub : to every four or five cabbages throw in a large handful of falt; when you have done as many asyou intend, lay a very heavy weight on them to prefs. them down as flat as possible, throw a cloth on them, and lay on the cover; let them fland a month, then you may begin to use it. It will keep twelve months, but be fure to keep it always close covered, and the weight on it ; if you throw a few carraway-feeds pounded fine amongst it, they give it a fine flavour. The way to drefs it is with a fine fat piece of beef flewed together. It is 'a difh much made use of amongst the Germans, and in " the north countries, where the froft kills all the cabbages ;; ges; therefore they preferve them in this manner before the frost takes them.

Cabbage-ftalks, cauliflower-ftalks, and artichokeftalks, peeled and cut fine down in the fame manner, are very good.

To keep green peafe, beans, &c. and fruit, fresh and good till Christmas.

OBSERVE to gather all your things on a fine clear day in the increase, or full moon; take well-glazed earthen or flone pots quite new, that have not been laid in water, wipe them clean, lay in your fruit very carefully, and take great care none is bruifed or damaged in the leaft, nor too ripe, but just in their prime; stop down the jar close, and pitch it, and tie a leather over. Do kidney beans the fame ; bury them two feet deep in the earth, and keep them there till you have occafion for them. Do peafe and beans the fame way, only keep them in the pods, and don't let your peafe be either too young or too old; the one will run to water, and the other the worm will eat; as to the two latter, lay z layer of fine writing land, and a layer of pods, and fo on till full; the relt as above. Flowers you may keep the fame way.

To make paco lilla, or Indian pickle, the fame the mangos come over in.

TAKE a pound of race ginger, and lay it in water one night; then fcrape it, and cut it in thin flices, and put to it fome falt, and let it fkmd in the fun to dry; take long pepper, two ounces, and do it as the ginger. Take s pound of garlic, and cut it in thin flices, and falt it, and let it ftand three days; then wafh it well, and let it be falted again, and ftand three days more; then wafh it well and drain it, and put it in the fun to dry. Take a quarter of a pound of muftard-fceds bruifed, and half a quarter of an ounce of turmeric: put thefe ingredients, when prepared, into a large ftone or glafs jar, with a gallon of very good white-wine vinegar, and thir it very often for a fortnight, and tie it up clofe.

In this pickle you may put white cabbage, cut in quarters, and put in a brine of falt and water for three days, days, and then boil fresh falt and water, and just put in the cabbage to fcald, and press out the water, and put it in the fun to dry in the fame manner as you do cauliflowers, cucumbers, melons, apples, French beans, plumbs, or any fort of fruit. Take care they are all well dried before you put them in the pickle: you need never empty the jar but as the things come in feason, put them in, and supply it with vinegar as often as there is eccasion.

If you would have your pickle look green, leave out the turmeric, and green them as usual, and put them into this pickle cold.

In the above you may do walnuts in a jar by themfelves; put the walnuts in without any preparation, tied close down, and kept fome time.

To prefere cucumbers equal with any Italian fweetmeat.

TAKE fine young gerkins of two or three different fizes; put them into a ftone jar, cover them well with vine-leaves, fill the jar with spring-water, cover it close ; let it stand near the fire, fo as to be quite warm, for ten days or a fortnight; then take them out, and throw them into fpring water; they will look quite yellow, and flink, but you must not mind that. Have ready your preferving-pan; take them out of that water, and put them into the pan, cover them well with vine leaves, fill it with fpring water, fet it over a charcoal fire, cover them clofe, and let them fimmer very flow; look at them often, and when you fee them turned quite of a fine green, take off the leaves, and throw them into a large fieve, then into a coarfe cloth, four or five times doubled; when they are cold, put them into the jar, and have ready your fyrup, made of double-refined fugar, in which boil a great deal of lemon-peel and whole ginger; pour it hot over them, and cover them down close; do it three times; pare your lemon-peel very thin, and cut them in long thin bits, about two inches long ; the ginger must be well boiled in water before it is put in the fyrup. Take long cucumbers, cut them in half, fcoop out the infide ; do them the fame way : they eat very fine in minced pics or puddings; or bail the fyrup to a candy, and div them on fieves.

The Jews way of preferving falmon and all forts of file.

TAKE either falmon, cod, or any large fill, cut off the head, wash it clean, and cut it in flices as crimp'd cod is, dry it very well in a cloth; then flour it, and dip it in volks of eggs, and fry it in a great deal of oil, till it is of a fine brown, and well done; take it out and lay it to drain, till it is very dry and cold. Whitings, mackrel, and flat fifh, are done whole ; when they are quite dry and cold, lay them in your pan or vessel, throw in between them a good deal of mace, cloves, and fliced nutmeg, a few bay-leaves ; have your pickle ready, made of the beft white wine vinegar, in which you must boil a great many cloves of garlic and shalot, black and white pepper, Jamaica and long pepper, juniper-berries and fait ; when the garlic begins to be tender, the pickle is enough : when it is quite cold, pour it on your filh, and a little oil on the top. They will keep good a twelvemonth, and are to be eat cold with oil and vinegar: they will go good to the Eaft Indies. All forts of fish fried well in oil, eat very fine cold with fhalot, or oil and vinegar. Observe, in the pickling of your fish, to have the pickle ready: first put a little pickle in, then a layer of fifh, then pickle, then a little fifh, and fo lay them down very clofe, and to be well covered; put a little faffron in the pickle. Frying fish in common oil is not fo expensive with care ; for present use a little does ; and if the cook is careful not to burn the oil, or black it, it will fry them two or three times.

To preferve tripe to go to the East Indies.

GET a fine belly of tripe quite freih. Take a fone gallon cafk, well hooped, lay in your tripe, and have your pickle ready made thus: take feven quarts of fpring water, and put as much falt into it as will make an egg fwim, that the little end of the egg may be about an inch above the water; (you must take care to have the fine clear falt, for the common falt will fpoil 00 it.); it); add a quart of the best white-wine vinegar, two fprigs of rolemary, an ounce of all-spice, pour it on your tripe; let the cooper fallen the cask down directly; when it comes to the Indies, it must not be opened till it is just a-going to be dressed ; for it won't keep after the cask is opened. The way to dress it is, lay it in water half an hour; then fry or boil it as we do here.

434 THE ART OF COOKERY

The manner of dreffing various forts of dried fifs, as flock-fifth, cod, falmon, whitings, &c.

ALL the kinds, except flock-fifh, are falted, or either dried in the fun, as the most common way, or in prepared kilns, or by the imoke of wood-fires in chimney corners; and in either cafe require the being foftened and freshened in proportion to their bulk or bignels, their nature or drynels; the very dry fort, as, balacao, cod-fifth or whiting, and fuch like, should be fteeped in lukewarm milk and water; the fteeping kept as near as poffible to an equal degree of heat. The larger fish should be steeped twelve, the small, as whiting, &c. about two hours. The cod are therefore laid to fleep in the evening, the whitings, &c. in the morning before they are to be dreffed; after the time of fleeping, they are to be taken out, and hung up by the tails until they are dreffed : the reafon of hanging them up is, that they foften equally as in the fleeping, without extracting too much of the relish, which would make them infipid; when thus prepared, the fmall fifh, as whiting, tulk, and fuch like, are flowered and laid on the gridiron; and when a little hardened on the one fide, must be turned and basted with oil upon a feather: and when bafted upon both fides, and well hot through, taken up, always observing, that as sweet oil supples, and supplies the fish with a kind of artificial juices, fo the fire draws out those juices and hardens them; therefore be careful not to let them broil too long; no time can be preferibed, because of the diffesence of fires, and various bigness of the fish. A clear charcoal charcoal fire is much the beft, and the fifh kept at a good diftance to broil gradually : the beft way to know when they are enough is, they will fwell a little in the bafting, and you must not let them fall again.

The fauces are the fame as ufual to fait fifh, and garnish with oysters fried in batter.

But for a supper, for those that like sweet oil, the best fauce is oil, vinegar, and mustard beat up to a confistence, and ferved up in faucers.

If boiled as the great fifth ufually are, it fhould be inmilk and water, but not fo properly boiled as kept juit fimmering over an equal fire; in which way, half an hour will do the largest fifb, and five minutes the fmafleft. Some people Broil both forts after fimmering, and fome pick them to pieces, and then tofs them up in a pan with fried onions and apples.

They are either way very good, and the choice depends on the weak or ftrong ftomach of the eaters.

Dried falmon must be differently managed ;

For though a large fifh, they do not require more fleeping than a whiting ; and when laid on the gridiron, should be moderately peppered.

The dried herring,

INSTEAD of milk and water, should be steeped the like time as the whiting, in fmall beer; and to which, as to all kind of broiled falt-fifh, fweet oil will always. be found the best basting, and no way affect even the: delicacy of those who do not love oil

Stock-fifb

ARE very different from those before-mentioned; they being dried in the frost without falt, are in their kind very infipid, and are only eatable by the ingredients that make them fo, and the art of cookery; they should be first beat with a sledge hammer on an iron. anvil, or on a very folid fmooth oaken block; and when reduced almost to atoms, the skin and bones taken away, and the remainder of the fifh fleeped in milk and warm water until very foft ; then strained out, and put into 0 o 2. a lour-

'a foup-dish with new milk, powdered cinnamon, mace, and nutineg; the chief part cinnamon, a paste round the edge of the difh, and put in a temperate oven to fimmer for about an hour, and then ferve it up in the place of pudding.

N. B. The Italians eat the fkin boiled, either hot or cold, and most usually with oil and vinegar, preferring the fkin to the body of the fifh.

The way of curing mackrel.

Buy them as fresh as possible, split them down the backs open them flat : take out the guts, and wash the fifth very clean from the blood, hang them up by the tails to Brain well; do this in the cool of the evening, or in a very*cool place; ftrew falt at the bottom of the pan, fprinkle the fifh well with clean falt, lay them in the pan, belly to belly, and back to back; let them ly in the falt above twelve hours, walh the falt clean off in the pickle, hang them again up by the tails half an hour to drain; pepper the infides moderately, and lay them to dry on inclining flones facing the fun; never leaving them out when the fun is off, nor lay them out before the fun has disperfed the dews, and the stones you lay them on be dry and warm. A week's time of fine weather perfectly cures them ; when cured, hang them up hy the tails, belly to belly, in a very dry place, but not in sea-coal smoak, it will spoil their flavour.

To drefs cured mackrel.

EFTHER fry them in boiling oil, and lay them to drain, or broil them before, or on a very clear fire : in the last case, baste them with oil and a feather; fauce will be very little wanting, as they will be very moift and mellow, if good in kind : otherwife you may ufe melted better and crimped parsley.

Calves feet Stewed.

Cur a calf's foot into four pieces, put it into a faucepan, with half a pint of foft water, and a middling potatoe; scrape the outlide skin clean off, flice it thin, and a middling onion peeled and fliced thin, fome beaten pepper and falt, cover it clofe, and let flew very foftly for about two hours after it boils: be fure to let it fimmer as foftly as you can: eat it without any other fance; it is an excellent dift.

To pickle a buttock of beef.

TAKE a large fine buttock of well fed ox beef, and with a long narrow knife make holes through, through which you must run square pieces of fat bacon, about as thick as your finger, in about a dozen or fourteen places, and have ready a great deal of parfley clean washed and picked fine, but not chopped; and in every hole where the bacon is, fluff in as much of the parfley as you can get in, with a long round flick; then take half an ounce of mace, cloves and nutmegs, an equal quantity of each, dried before the fire; and pounded : fine, and a quarter of an ounce of black pepper beat fine, a quarter of an ounce of cardamum-feeds beat fine, and half an ounce of juniper-berries beat fine, a quarter of a pound of loaf-fugar-beat fine, two largespoonfuls of fine falt, two rea-spoonfuls of India pepper, mix all together, and rub the beef well with it; let it lie in this pickle two days, turning and rubbing it twice a-day, then throw into the pan two bay-leaves ; fix shalots peeled and cut fine, and pour a pint of fine white-wine vinegar over it, keeping it turned and rubbed as above; let it lie thus another day; then pour over it a bottle of red port or Madeira wine ; let it lie thus in this pickle a week or ten days; and when you . drefs it, flew it in the pickle it lies in, with another bottle of red wine; it is an excellent difh, and eats befb cold, and will keep a month or fix weeks good.

To make a fine bitter.

TARE an ounce of the fineft Jefuit powder, half a quarter of an ounce of fnake-root powder, half a quarter of an ounce of falt or wormwood, half a quarter of faffron, half a quarter of cochineal; put it into a quart of the best brandy, and let it ftand twenty-four hours; every now and then fnaking the bottle.
